VANDERBILT BEATS TENNESSEE, 20 TO 3

Spears and Hendrix Star in Hard-Fought Contest on Nashville Gridiron.

Special to The New York Times.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 13.—Vanderbilt today defeated the University of Tennessee by a score of 20 to 3. Bill Spears, hero of the Vanderbilt victory over Georgia Tech a week ago, furnished the feature of the game today with a 40-yard run through the entire Tennessee team for a touchdown, on the first play after Vanderbilt had intercepted a Tennessee forward pass in the second period. Vanderbilt's two other touchdowns were made by Hendrix, playing at fullback, when he pounded through the Tennessee line.

Three times Tennessee turned Vanderbilt back when they were within striking distance of the goal line in the first quarter. The touchdowns came in the second, third and fourth periods. Tennessee's score was a place kick from the 15-yard line.

W. VIRGINIA TRIMS CENTRE BY 21 TO 0

Latham Blocks Punt and Falls on Ball for First Touchdown of Game.

Special to The New York Times.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 13.—West Virginia University beat Centre College, 21 to 0, here today by playing strictly orthodox football and with several regulars saved for ensuing games with Carnegie Tech and Washington and Jefferson.

The Mountaineers scored early in the first quarter when Latham blocked Goings's kick and fell on the ball behind the goal line. West Virginia scored again in the second quarter after a march of sixty yards which was featured by a 22-yard pass from Hardy to Murrin. The final score came in the fourth quarter on a march of 77 yards, which was concluded by a 23-yard dash by Ryan for the touchdown. Hardy kicked all of the goals after touchdown.

Centre was never dangerous, only twice getting past midfield and never within the Mountaineer's 25-yard line. Glenn featured the game with consistent kicking.

NEBRASKA VICTOR ON DROP KICK, 3-0

SCORES FROM 30-YARD LINE

Game Is Played in Rain on Field of Mud, Which Prevents Gains Through Line.

Special to The New York Times.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 13.—A drop kick by Stephens from the 30-yard line brought victory by 3 to 0 to Nebraska over the Kansas Aggies here today. Nebraska was on the defensive much of the time. The game was played in the rain on a muddy field, which interfered with the vision of players and spectators.

Line plunges were ineffective and end runs, often tried, resulted in only small gains, kicking alone provided real gains. Near the end of the game Kansas got the ball on the Nebraska 3-yard line, but lost the ball on downs. The Nebraska score was made in the third quarter.

FORDHAM IS VICTOR ON FORWARD PASS

playing guard for the Lavender boasts an educated toe, who furnished the sensation and sent the Lavender delegation wild. With the ball deep in Fordham territory, the Maroon braced. Halpern stepped back to his 24-yard mark and with Borckman holding the ball, sent it spinning over the bar for a perfect placement kick. These three points which the Lavender guarded so carefully for three periods marked a new epoch in City College football, for it was the first time that the Lavender had ever scored on Fordham.

Fordham showed its most powerful offense in the second half when the Maroon began to fling passes. Nine first downs were reeled off by a ram that was vicious in this second half, while the Lavender, fighting to hold its lead, could net only four. But the first half was the same story reversed, for City College tolled off eight first downs to the Maroon's three.

Much of the contest was fought overhead and generally it was an intercepted forward pass that lost the ball. Very little kicking was done by either team on this account. City College completed eleven out of twenty-six attempts, as compared to the brilliant exhibition of the Maroon, which made sixteen out of twenty-five attempts good.

Both college bands were on hand and the Stadium nearly full to its capacity when Captains Seidler and Leary walked out to flip the coin to decide the kick-off. Seidler won the toss and elected to kick off.

Clarke tried an onside kick, but Fordham recovered the ball in midfield. After three unsuccessful thrusts at the line Baut got away a long punt which stopped dead on the one-yard line.

Raskin, standing behind his own goal line as though to kick, surprised the Maroon defense by flipping a 20-yard pass to Donstein, who, bowling over two Maroon tacklers, dashed another 45 yards for the longest gain of the day, putting the ball on the 35-yard stripe. Another forward caught Fordham napping, this time to Rosner, and put the ball 15 yards closer to the Maroon goal posts. But Fordham braced and Halpern came back to boot a perfect placement kick from the 24-yard line.

The Maroon had its first chance to score a few minutes later when, after an exchange of kicks, Fordham had the ball only 25 yards from the objective, but the Lavender held and immediately brought the ball to midfield, using a well-expected forward pass attack as the period ended.

The entire Fordham first team was rushed in to stem the tide. The Lavender kept up its drive. Cohen dashing through the middle of the line for a first down, and a pass from Raskin to Clark putting the ball on the 30-yard mark. But the march was halted when De Lany intercepted a forward. Fordham brought the ball to midfield, but lost it when Graham fumbled, and Borckman recovered. Borckman pounded the Maroon wall for a first down, and two passes from Raskin to Rosner put the ball on the Fordham 22-yard line, but again the Maroon held.

Fordham opened up a pass attack in the second half, but was temporarily held when Cohen intercepted a forward on the 48-yard mark. Zakszewski intercepted a pass and made 13 yards on a flip from Graham, bringing the ball to midfield, but Rosner caught a Maroon pass and traveled to the Fordham 30-yard mark before he was downed and the period ended.

The Maroon held and Halpern again was called back for a placement kick, but he was nervous and missed by a wide margin. Fordham took the ball on the 20-yard mark and for the first time showed marked offensive strength. A pass, Graham to Zakszewski, was good for 28 yards and another to De Lany made 15 yards. De Lany made a third successive first down, carrying the ball to the 16-yard line.

A forward, Graham to Zakszewski, put the ball on the 10-yard line, but the Lavender held for downs. C. C. N. Y. was penalized, and kicked, Graham bringing the ball to the 25-yard mark. Graham made 5 through the line, but again C. C. N. Y. held. On the last down De Lany tossed a 20-yard pass to Leary, who was over the line. C. C. N. Y. protested, declaring that the ball had been grounded, but Referee Hastings allowed the score.

GEORGETOWN GAINS MORE

SHAPLEY CROSSES GOAL

His Dash in Third Quarter Brings Touchdown—Hamilton Kicks Winning Goal.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 13.—A resourceful, fighting, never-say-die Navy team refused to accept defeat from a team that had outplayed it in the first half, and kept its season's record clean by overcoming Georgetown's lead through the use of pass and kick in the second half and winning by 10 to 7.

The running attack and the individual performances of the Georgetown backs were superior to the Navy's. This showed when Nork ran back the first kick-off for thirty-five yards, putting the ball in Navy's territory and compelling it to fight with its back to the wall during almost the entire first period.

Georgetown's line was heavier and just as strong and aggressive as the Navy's, and for at least half of the game it had a shade the better of the battle of the forwards. It weakened somewhat in the second half, particularly on the offense, and the visiting backs had to trust to their own efforts in advancing the ball to a greater extent.

Georgetown Gains More.

Georgetown won a far greater total of yards through the running attack than the Navy, and extremely brilliant work was done by the Georgetown backs, particularly Nork and O'Neill. The former seemed to be the hardest man for the Navy to stop, and he made telling gains both in running back kicks and in running from scrimmage.

At the end of the first half, made up of a rather drab first quarter and a second quarter in which Georgetown could not be stopped, the Navy was an outplayed team and looked like a beaten one, and those who did not know the fighting spirit and resourcefulness of the Midshipmen were talking about a Georgetown victory by two or three touchdowns, and no scoring for the Navy.

The Navy, with Ransford and Shapley in the backfield, and with Hamilton and Hannegan remaining in the game, showed renewed power in the second half, Shapley scoring a touchdown in the third quarter, after running 40 yards on receiving a pass from Hamilton, and the reliable Hamilton winning the crucial points by kicking a drop kick after the touchdown and, in the final quarter with but a minute to play, a field goal from the 15-yard line.

Shapley Shows Up Well.

Shapley, who was hurt early in the season, played during a larger part of the game, including the whole of the second half, during which the Navy did its scoring. He was, after Hamilton, the most useful member of the Navy team today, and was particularly alert in intercepting or knocking down Georgetown's passes.

On the offense Shapley figured chiefly in getting passes and running after receiving them. Running from scrimmage, Shapley tried long turning efforts, and was not able to get around Georgetown's flanking groups.

Ransford ran extremely well after he succeeded Caldwell, while the latter player, generally the most reliable Navy ground gainer, after making a run of 30 yards early in the first quarter, was ineffective.

Receiving Eddy's kick-off, Nork ran to the Navy's 45-yard line. Making small success on line plays, O'Neill attempted a placement goal from that point, the ball going behind the line.

On the first line-up Caldwell, going over his right tackle, ran 45 yards. Georgetown, however, took the ball down on its own 32-yard point. From there to the end of the quarter, neither gained effectively, and the punting duel between Hamilton and Gormley ended somewhat in the latter's favor. The quarter ended as Hamilton punted to his own 43-yard point.

The punting continued early in the second quarter, Georgetown getting the ball at mid-field. From this point nine yards were made on a delayed pass by Gormley, and Thompson added five by an off tackle drive. The visitors were held, however, and the punting duel continued, the Navy frequently putting the ball on its 20-yard line.

Blocked Punt Paves Way.

A blocked punt put Georgetown in position for its touchdown drive, Sauer getting in front of Hamilton's attempt and McGrath falling on the ball eighteen yards from Navy's goal line. Two plays, a pass from Gormley to O'Neill and Nork's sprint around Navy's right end, carried the ball over the line. O'Neill added a point with a placement goal.

Georgetown perceptibly slowed up in the second half. The yards gained by Nork, Thompson and O'Neill slipped gradually below the yardage of Caldwell, Shapley and Hamilton, while the Navy's passing game was more accurate and effective as the game progressed.

Toward the close of the half Shapley intercepted a pass of Gormley's and ran 23 yards to Georgetown's 40-yard line. After one line play Shapley received a short pass from Hamilton and ran for a touchdown, Hamilton tying the score with a dropkick. The kickoff went to Mosko, who was stopped on his 30-yard line as the period ended.

Gormley punted and Ransford ran back 20 yards, putting the ball on Navy's 34-yard line as the final quarter opened. Hamilton punted high, the ball going less than 10 yards. The

BREAKS HELP BOTH SIDES

Gilbert's Fumble Paves Way to Field Goal—Marek's Miss of Bound Aids Foes.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 13.—More than 90,000 persons looked on today as Michigan shaded Ohio State 17 to 16. It was a game of thrills, not the least of which came in the last moments, when Meyers Clark and Ohio State faced Michigan with only one point needed to tie the score.

Byron Eby had just scooted across the last white line for a touchdown after a brilliant march of 70 yards by State. Signals were called again and Quarterback Meyers Clark kicked and the ball went sailing—under the crossbar, so near and yet so far. A few moments later the game ended.

One point after touchdown was the difference between Ohio and Michigan in this titanic combat today. A tie appeared to be the logical result after the traditional foes had surged up and down the field with two touchdowns and a goal from the field the harvest of each. But the fates that smiled first on Ohio and then on Michigan in the end gave their favor to the invaders.

Michigan Has the Edge.

Whatever superiority there was rested with Michigan. There was a noticeable edge in their attack and in their defense, and it may be that the fates weighed this in the final reckoning.

Michigan brought to Ohio Field a superb line that halted Ohio's running attack from the very start, and, of course, Michigan brought along the incomparable Bennies—Friedman and Oosterbaan. Anyway it was these two who forged a Michigan victory out of what at the start looked like a parade for Ohio State.

Benny Friedman passed all afternoon like only Benny Friedman can, and Benny Friedman booted a goal from the 42-yard line that brought his team abreast of Ohio shortly before the first half ended. In the minutes before this feat Ohio rooters were speculating on the probable size of the score by which the Scarlet and Gray would win.

Oosterbaan was around as usual plucking Friedman's passes out of the air and otherwise making himself useful. In the march down the field that brought Michigan's first score after Ohio had rolled up a lead of 10 to 0 it was his magnificent catch of one of Friedman's passes that placed the ball in the shadow of the Ohio goal, and a moment later it was Oosterbaan who snagged another pass beyond the goal line after the Ohio line had halted the pounding of the Maize and Blue backs for three downs.

Breaks Help Both.

The fates, it seems, had a hand in the scoring of Ohio's first score, and in Michigan's last. In other words, first Ohio had the breaks of the game and then Michigan.

Gilbert, flashy Michigan halfback, gave the first break to Ohio when he was sent on a foray around Ohio's left end. He fumbled and Robin Bell, Buckeye wing, recovered on Michigan's 12-yard line. The invading line held the Ohio onslaught to negligible gains here, but Clark stepped back to the 16-yard line and drop-kicked his team into a three-point lead.

The break for Michigan came a few seconds before the end of the third quarter. Elmer Marek tried to scoop up a bounding ball and failed and a Michigan man recovered it on Ohio's 7-yard line, and shortly after there was a second Michigan touchdown.

Friedman Guesses Wrong.

Friedman elected to try for yardage on the fourth down just beyond midfield when the game was only a few minutes old. He held Ohio cheaply. It might be said. The smash at the line failed, and Ohio had the ball in its possession on its 40-yard line when almost any kind of kick would have placed it back at least another 20 yards. A magnificent 19-yard sally by Freddy Grim of Toledo followed this bit of audacity and then a pass and one buck by Marty Karow and Ohio was over for the touchdown.

In the last analysis it was Michigan's superiority that brought about the fourth consecutive triumph of the Maize and Blue.

It appeared that in strategy Ohio was worsted. Friedman followed the overhead route throughout, and persevered to victory with it. Ohio scored its first touchdown through the use of the pass, and then neglected the aerial road until late in the combat. When it resorted to passing again, Ohio once more rode with the tide, and scored a second touchdown.

BADGERS BEAT IOWA AT MADISON, 20 TO 10

EACH BRINGS A TOUCHDOWN

Wisconsin Captures Second of Big Ten Series on Rain-Soaked Field —Kutsch Losers' Star.

Special to The New York Times.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 13.—Wisconsin won its second Big Ten victory here this afternoon, defeating the University of Iowa, 20 to 10, on a rain-soaked field which made fast running hazardous.

The Hawkeyes took the lead before the first quarter was well under way, when "Cowboy" Kutsch booted a field goal from the 27-yard line. Both teams showed up well on offensive, but were miserably weak on defense. The Badgers took the lead early in the second period, when Rose passed to Crofoot, over the goal line, for a touchdown. Harmon missed the extra point.

Passes brought touchdowns for Wisconsin in each of the last two periods. Rose passing to Cameron for both the scores, and Harmon kicking the extra points.

MINNESOTA SWAMPS BUTLER ELEVEN, 81-0

Runs Wild Against Lighter Team, Almquist, Peplaw and Joesting Starring.

Special to The New York Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—Minnesota's Galloping Gophers ran wild this afternoon, piling up an 81 to 0 victory over Butler College's light eleven which provided little opposition even for the second and third string Gophers, who took the field in the second half.

The game was featured by long runs for touchdown, Almquist making one of 75 yards and another of 43 yards. Peplaw made a 43-yard dash and Hoyde ran 44 to score. Joesting, leading ground gainer, scored two touchdowns.

NIAGARA ELEVEN WINS, 21-0.

Captain Hecker Tosses Two Passes That Result in Touchdown.

Special to The New York Times.

OLEAN, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Sheldon Hecker, quarterback and captain of Niagara University, was a team himself against St. Bonaventure here today and Niagara won the game, 21 to 0.

The game was a battle, with the Saints holding well against a much heavier line until the end of the third quarter, when Schreiber carried over the ball. In the last quarter he hurled two long forward passes into the arms of Moran, who completed them for touchdowns.

Frank Hennessey, Waterbury, Conn., St. Bonaventure player, was carried from the field with one hip severely injured.

Triumphs Before 20,000 at San Francisco—Intercepted Pass Helps the Losers.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Twenty thousand persons saw the University of California football team defeat the University of Nevada in the California Memorial Stadium this afternoon by a score of 20 to 6. California from start to finish showed the greatest strength and had the ball for two-thirds of the game. It was Towle's punting that kept the score down.

The first score came four minutes after play started. Nevada's only score came late in the first period, when Larson intercepted a pass on his 40-yard line. It was not until the final period that California again scored, when Jabs was forced over for the touchdown. Jabs also made the final touchdown for California a few minutes before time was called:

FIELD GOAL BEATS COLUMBIA AT PENN

made first down on the fourth try, but more often Columbia took the ball on downs.

Columbia kicked off to start the game at 2 o'clock. Murphy received and ran the ball back to the 35-yard line. Flashing its hidden-ball plays at once, Pennsylvania gained a first down in three plays, with Scull and Rogers carrying the ball. On the next series Penn tried to pass, which was intercepted by Kaplan on the Columbia 34-yard line.

Columbia Starts Well.

The New Yorkers made an excellent start by gaining their first down in two plays. Rieger went round right end for 2 yards and Bill Madden hit the line for 8 more. Rieger made a nice zig-zag run for 8 yards on the next play and it looked as if Columbia would not have much trouble with the famed Pennsylvania line. A fumble by Rieger lost ground on the next play and although he recovered Columbia was forced to punt.

After the teams had exchanged kicks, Penn advanced the ball for another first down, with Rogers doing most of the ball carrying. The advance was stopped when Rogers was nailed in his tracks and a pass fell uncompleted. Columbia, however, could not advance the ball in two plays and punted.

Pennsylvania received the punt on its own 45-yard line and worked the hidden-ball play between Scull and Murphy for 9 yards. Two more attempts at the hidden-ball trick resulted in a first down. Wascolonis dented the line for 5 yards next and put the ball down on the Columbia 36-yard line. Scull dropped back on the next play and drop-kicked a field goal from the 45-yard line.

The kick was beautifully placed and calculated and sailed over the crossbar fair by inches. Cheers rolled from both sides of the field in appreciation of the effort. The quarter ended shortly after Kaplan had made 5 yards around left end. Penn had made three first downs in the quarter and Columbia one.

Both Sides Resort to Kicks.

At the resumption of play Rieger punted, but Penn could not make first down on three plays and kicked in turn. When Rieger lost 5 yards on the first down Columbia kicked the ball back at Penn. On the next series of plays Penn made little headway, but gained first down with the aid of an offside penalty. Wascolonis and Murphy reeled off another first down.

With the ball on the 25-yard line every one expected another try for field goal by Scull. Penn elected to rush the ball, however, and gamble for the touchdown. Penn lost the gamble. Columbia's line held and the Lions took the ball on downs.

Unable to advance the ball, Columbia kicked. The Penn player receiving the ball signaled for a fair catch, but Furey, the Columbia end, evidently did not see the signal and getting possession of the ball ran for the Columbia goal. The play was not allowed, of course, and Columbia suffered a 15-yard penalty. The half ended with neither able to advance materially against the other. Penn made one first down in the second quarter and Columbia none.

Columbia could not advance the ball after Penn kicked off to start the second half and punted in turn. Another exchange of kicks ensued. In possession of the ball on the 13-yard line Rieger was thrown for a 6-yard loss and was forced to punt from far behind his goal line.

Penn Passes Trail to Gain.

Starting from the Columbia 30-yard line after this kick Penn tried passing but failed to advance to a first down. Rogers's punt carried to Columbia's 5-yard line, but Columbia had to return the kick after losing a yard on the first down. This again gave Penn possession of the ball on the Columbia 30-yard line, but again Penn made no use of its opportunity.

After Rogers's punt Columbia gained a first down by working a successful pass from Kaplan to Rieger. After the first down, however, Columbia lost 20 yards in penalties due to holding and two incompleted passes and Rieger kicked out of danger.

Wascolonis dented the Lion line for 4 yards when Penn took the ball, but passes failed and another kick resulted. That Columbia was not as aggressive as expected was the opinion of many when the Columbia receiver signaled for a fair catch on his own 15-yard line with no Penn tacklers near.

Neither team could gain before the quarter ended, with the score unchanged, 3 to 0 in favor of Penn. In this period Columbia scored one first down, due to the forward pass from Kaplan to Rieger. Penn made no first downs.

One of the thrilling runs of the game followed the first Columbia punt in the final quarter. Rogers ran back Rieger's kick from the 50-yard line to the 20-yard line, evading most of the Columbia team before he was downed.

Rogers ripped off 10 yards on the next play, but his team was offside and Penn suffered a 5-yard loss instead of getting a 10-yard gain. Wascolonis got the 5 yards back on a line plunge, but Penn lost the ball on downs when a pass of Murphy's went over the goal line and was knocked down by Kaplan. Another exchange of kicks ensued, and then Columbia made its only real threat of the game.

Columbia Makes Threat.

A pass, Kaplan to Rieger, gained 5 yards and line plunges by Madden and Sesit made it a first down. Columbia had the ball on its own 31-yard line to start with. Madden ripped through tackle for 10 yards and another first down, and then Penn suffered a 15-yard penalty.

This brought the ball to the Penn 33-yard line and the Penn rooters to the verge of distraction. The band clamored for a stone-wall defense. Madden hit the stone wall and went through for 4 yards. The next down, with Madden rushing the ball, gained 2 yards. One more down and Madden bumped through for another 2 yards.

Would that Penn line hold? They ran out the linesman's tape at this time and measured it. Madden took the ball again and smashed into line for a yard and a half only.

In possession of the ball, Penn speedily kicked, and Columbia kicked back after being unable to gain. Then Penn reeled off three first downs in a row, due largely to Rogers's great playing. Penn was stopped on the Columbia 20-yard line. As Columbia got possession of the ball the game ended.

Crimson Tide Rides Rough Shod Over Florida to Gain 49-0 Conference Victory.

PASSES DAZZLE ALLIGATORS

Pepper Makes One Heave Good for 45-Yard Gain — Barnes and Winslett Also Shine.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 13.—The University of Alabama won its seventh consecutive Conference victory here today by defeating the University of Florida Alligators, 49 to 0. Alabama raced through the Florida line at will, and gained consistently on end runs. Florida held the Crimson Tide in the first quarter, but after that they were unable to stop the Alabama line.

The entire Alabama squad was used in the game. Pepper, substitute for Alabama, tossed a pass in the fourth quarter to Smith for a total gain of forty-five yards. Barnes, Winslett, Caldwell and Brown starred in the Alabama backfield. Alabama's passes were completed on nearly every attempt.

Florida showed a fighting team, but was unable to score. The only first downs made by Florida came as the result of completed passes.

Failure to Make Point After Touchdown Defeats Kentucky.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 13.—Failure of Ott, Kentucky fullback, to kick goal after a touchdown resulted in a defeat for the Colonels today in the annual clash with Virginia Military Institute by a one-point margin, the Cadets winning, 10 to 9.

The Kentuckians drew first blood in the initial quarter when Mohney drop-kicked a goal. Virginia Military came back in the third quarter, tying the score, when Harner executed a drop-kick from his 25-yard line. The score did not long remain a tie, however, Smith of Kentucky intercepting a forward pass from Barnes and racing 50 yards for a touchdown.

The Cadets scored again in the third quarter when Nabers caught a pretty pass from Barnes, running 34 yards to Kentucky's one-yard marker. Barnes pushed the oval across through the line. R. Smith kicked the winning point.

MUHLENBERG VICTOR, 13-0.

Outplays Dickinson on Heavy Field That Hampers Back Field.

Special to The New York Times.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 13.—Muhlenberg won from Dickinson College, 13 to 0, here today. The game was played on a heavy field that hampered the work of both back fields.

A recovered ball after a blocked kick accounted for the first touchdown, on which a point on goal from the field was scored. The second touchdown, on which the try at goal failed, came after line plunges had put the ball in position for an end run that sent it over.

Westerners' Drives Roll Back Eagles —Cronin, Weston, Colby and Ward Are Stars of Contest.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—After trailing 21 to 0, Haskell Indians opened up a whirlwind rushing attack and tied Boston College 21 to 21 this afternoon at Braves Field as the two unbeaten teams fought to uphold their prestige.

Even with Maye McLean, their star, not in uniforms, the Indians, although outplayed in the first half, came back with a touchdown in the third period and with two more in the final quarter.

Straight line plunges, with Colby and E. Ward carrying on the major share of the attack, were good for two touchdowns, while a fumble by Boston College, which was recovered by the Indians, was also turned into a score.

Cronin and Weston, the two Boston star backs, did some fine ball carrying in the first half as the Eagles forged ahead. Then in the third and fourth quarters, as if instilled with a new vigor, the Indians let go a rushing attack that penetrated the Boston College line almost at will.

Princeton Beats Yale Eleven by 10-7 in Palmer Stadium as 55,000 Look On yards before they were checked and Baruch was forced to spin a drop kick between the goal posts.

By JAMES R. HARRISON.

Ten points ahead, Princeton was sitting on top of the world, but in his hour of triumph Denny Caulkins, quarterback extraordinary, tried a rash manoeuvre that led to Yale's touchdown. Behind his own goal line Caulkins elected to pass, and Hoben, the Yale back, intercepting the fling on the 23-yard line, raced twenty-one yards before they nailed him two yards from the goal.

On the third down after the teams had lined up, Goodwine circled Princeton's right end for a touchdown which all but proved ruinous to the Tiger's hopes.

Caulkin's strategy in passing from behind the goal line was too much of a gamble, and Princeton was then in a position where it did not have to gamble. Had the score been reversed, the Tiger field general might have been justified.

Still later, in the second quarter, a blocked kick gave Yale the ball on Princeton's 21-yard line, but a failing offensive forced the Blue to pass, and the pass hit the ground with a melancholy thud beyond the goal line.

In the third period the powerful Yale attack began to gather speed and force. The boys in blue swooped down in two or three giant strides from the 45-yard line to the 4-yard line, but here Bunnell lost 5 yards and a pass from centre, which was not covered by any Eli, sailed back into open country, where Princeton fell on the ball.

Baruch's Passes Dazzling.

While Baruch was in the game, which was only during the first two periods, Princeton uncovered a wonderful forward passing attack. In fact it is to be doubted if Jakie Slagle was missed very much. Baruch could not carry the ball like the Baltimore pugilist, but if there is a better passer than this lad of 20 on the American gridirons Yale would like to have his name and adress.

His accuracy was so canny, his judgment of distance so unerring, that when he threw the ball it sailed straight for the broad chest of his human target. Baruch made forward passing look easy. Yale knew every time he was going to pass, but the slippery work of the receivers and Baruch's cool manipulation of the pigskin left the Elis helpless.

It was an excellent game of football, embodying all the good points of the modern game. Roper gave his team a cleverly conceived passing attack. Jones confounded his critics by producing an unusually fine running attack, based on trick plays which had Princeton guessing. In particular a combination forward pass and lateral pass proved highly effective.

It was almost as great a victory for Jones as for Roper. Jones's Yale team had lost three straight games, was being severely criticized by the old graduates and had received a thorough shaking up. Out of this disorganized squad of discouraged boys the Yale coach produced a team that might easily have beaten Princeton this afternoon. One little shift in the tide and Yale would have won. It is still a recognized fact that a coach cannot go out on the field and take the ball himself whenever his team gets inside the 10-yard line.

The Yale line held up well, but the Elis' great weakness was in defending against the forward-pass. Sturhahn, Benton, Richards and other linemen played magnificently. Kline and Goodwine stood out in the back field.

Still, there was no Yale back as good as Baruch. Princeton had the better back field, with Caulkins on his game and Bridges putting up a dashing exhibition at right half. The Tiger ends, Lawler, Moeser and Stinson, were heavily battered, but they held up well.

Pay Tribute to Camp.

A solemn note was struck between the halves when a ceremony of tribute to Walter Camp was held. From the topmost ramparts of the Palmer Stadium a bugler played "Taps" while the spectators and the players stood with bared heads. The Princeton band stood at the far end of the gridiron, spelling the human letters C-A-M-P. When the last sad note of "Taps" had died away the Yale and Princeton bands joined together to play "Bright College Years," the Elis' alma mater song.

The social amenities of the day were strictly observed and there was even more than the usual cordiality and good-fellowship displayed. No doubt was left in the minds of a neutral observer that Yale and Princeton are very fond of each other.

Before the game the Yale band, formed into a huge letter "P," gathered in front of the Princeton stands, while on the opposite side of the field the Tiger musicians spelled out a "Y." The Yale harmonists then played a Princeton song and Princeton returned the compliment. Each cheering section gave the other a hearty cheer, followed by appreciative applause.

Bright, golden sunshine greeted the football folks as they rolled into Princeton this morning on special trains and in autos. You couldn't ask for better weather. There was just a hint of Winter in the air—enough to tint the cheek of the football damsels and put a sparkle in the eye of the old grad, who was back today to find out how the old university ever managed to worry along after he was graduated.

The stadium was entirely surrounded by automobiles filled, many of them, with luncheon parties, who nibbled at sandwiches before going into the arena.

The Yale-Princeton football game is getting to be a venerable institution. Today's was the fiftieth game over a stretch of fifty-three years, making this the oldest football game of them all.

Yale and Princeton were playing football before there was a Big Three, and they will be playing next year. As long as there are games and crowds such as there were today, it matters little whether there is a Big Three or a Big Four or a Big Five. In fact, on the basis of today's performance, it looks as if Princeton is a Big One in itself.

Yale Starts Impressively.

Early in the first period a fumble by Caulkins was recovered by Sturhahn, the heroic left guard of Yale, and the Elis took the ball in Princeton territory at the 42-yard line. On the second down Failing went back and flipped a pass to Scott, who missed making a first down only by inches. Failing rectified matters by hitting the line for a first down on the 30-yard line.

The Elis turned on their passing attack again and Holabird chucked the ball to Bunnell. Princeton was badly fooled and Bunnell was out on the right flank with nobody around him, but he slipped and was sat upon after he had traveled only 4 yards.

Attempting to skirt the Tigers' right end, Bunnell again skidded. Holabird contributed 3 yards, but it wasn't enough, and Bunnell tried a drop kick which missed the target by several eyelashes.

Princeton couldn't gain from its own 20-yard line and Baruch punted, but Sturhahn, who was playing like a wild man, blocked the kick and the ball rolled back toward the Princeton goal line, bobbing to the left with twenty-two athletes in mad pursuit. Princeton recovered, but lost the ball anyway on downs. It was Yale's ball 10 yards from the touchdown zone, and the Blue cheering section went into advanced stages of delirium.

Yale Punch Misses.

But at this point it developed that Yale had not yet found its scoring punch, and the attack fizzled out after three line jabs and an attempted pass.

Following that there was a kicking duel, with Princeton getting the better of it. As the period ended Baruch kicked to Bunnell, who was felled on Yale's 29-yard line. The round was even.

Goodwine's punt to open the second quarter was partly blocked, and in the frenzied scramble which ensued Rosengarten recovered the ball for Princeton on the Yale 37-yard mark.

Here Baruch began oiling up his right arm and tossing forward passes right across the middle of the plate. One of his tosses gently glided into the arms of Brother Miles, who tore off a 6-yard run to the 31-yard line. Again Baruch hauled back with his right wing and threw the ball at Lawler as straight as a string.

Lawler was standing just inside the side line as he grabbed the pass and he was thrown out of bounds before you could say Jack Robinson. The pass, however, yielded 18 yards. Princeton had a first down on Yale's 13-yard strip and the Orange and Black rooters tore their hair in joy.

Bridges crashed left guard for 4 yards, left tackle for 3 more and left tackle again for 2½. The measuring chain was brought out, but there were still several inches to go for a first down, so Caulkins pulled the unexpected and ordered a pass when Yale was all set for another charge at the line.

Caulkins Gets Touchdown.

Baruch did the passing, and it was Caulkins himself who slipped over to the right and pulled the pigskin in just as he half staggered, half fell over the goal line for a touchdown. Baruch did a neat piece of work when he drop-kicked the extra point.

Princeton kicked off and the Elis punted back to the Tiger 25-yard line. From this point the Orange and Black machine rolled 47 yards before Yale called a halt on its own 18-yard line.

A pass from Baruch to Caulkins brought 20 yards. Caulkins skirting the right flank and speeding to Princeton's 46-yard line. Another toss by Baruch over the dead centre of the line found Moeser waiting at the appointed spot. The Tiger profit out of this was 17 yards, and the ball now was on Yale's 37-yard ribbon.

The Tigers were detected offside and punished for 5 yards, but Moeser made that up and 9 yards to boot when he clutched another heave from Baruch and galloped to the 27-yard line. With only three feet to go for a first down, Bridges stabbed through the line for a first down on the 23-yard line.

A Tiger pass was knocked down by Phil Bunnell, but a toss from Baruch to Caulkins netted 5 yards. With another first down almost out of the question, the industrious Mr. Baruch drop-kicked a field goal from the 27-yard line. It was a perfect attempt, high, fast and straight.

It was only a few minutes later that Yale broke into the scoring column. Goodwine of Yale punted to Princeton's 4-yard line, where an Eli downed the ball. From behind his own goal line Caulkins foolishly ordered a pass. Considering that the Tigers were ahead and didn't have to gamble, it was a rash and foolhardy move, even if it had succeeded.

As it was, Hoben intercepted the ball on the 23-yard line and wiggled loose to scurry 21 yards through a disorganized Princeton team. The Eli darted straight down the side line, which lay only a few feet to his right. On the 2-yard line the Tiger horde overwhelmed him and rode him roughshod out of bounds.

No Stopping the Blue.

But there was no stopping the blue-clad boys now. Goodwine catapulted through left tackle but made only a yard. Kline smashed at right tackle, but the Princeton line, charging in low, upset the play, and Yale didn't gain more than half a yard.

There was still another three feet to go and Bunnell wisely decided to cross up the opposition by shooting his attack at the ends. He gave the ball Goodwine and this clever runner ran wide around Princeton's right end. Three yards from the goal he was beset by tacklers, but they missed him. Goodwine tore from their clutches and just at the goal line another Tiger jumped on him, but Goodwine slipped out and left the Princetonian holding nothing more than his headgear.

As Sturhahn place-kicked the goal making it 10-7, the Yale cheering section passed away in a frenzy of delight, convinced that the big Blue team was finally on the march.

The enthusiasm of the Elis seemed justified when Yale gained the ball on Princeton's 22-yard line in the same period. Bridges, before he could pass the ball, was tackled by Sturhahn and fumbled. Sturhahn recovered for Yale, but the Elis couldn't score. After three fruitless attempts Kline tried a pass, which went over the goal line.

In the third quarter Yale returned to the battle with renewed vigor and seriously threatened the Princeton goal line. Taking the ball on the Tiger 46-yard line, Yale tried a very tricky forward pass. Brandenburg hurled the ball to Fishwick, who turned and threw a lateral pass to Goodwine. Princeton was bewildered and Goodwine ran to the 12-yard line. However, Yale was penalized 15 yards for offside, sending the ball back to the 33-yard line.

Here Bunnell shook himself loose around Princeton's right end and sprinted 29 yards through a broken field to the 4-yard line. It was beautiful work by the Yale captain, who was aided by splendid interference.

Only 4 yards to go and a touchdown looked certain, but Yale's hopes were rudely jolted when Bunnell was thrown for a 5-yard loss by Lawler. A line plunge netted nothing, and on the next down a bad pass from the centre, Harvey, sailed behind the scrimmage line. After a frantic chase Lawler, Tiger end, fell on the ball at the 25-yard line, and Yale's last chance to win had evaporated in the chill November air.

For the rest of the game Princeton dominated. In fact, the Tigers almost collected another touchdown themselves. A Princeton punt in the fourth period was downed by Stinson on Yale's 1-yard line. The Elis kicked from behind the goal line and Caulkins ran it 14 yards to the 20-yard line. But after three vain sorties the Tigers had to pass and the ball grounded over the goal line.

DETAIL SHOWS HOW PRINCETON BEAT YALE

Play-by-Play Story of Battle Tells Graphically of Tiger Victory.

By RICHARDS VIDMER.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 13.—How the Princeton eleven defeated Yale in Palmer Stadium here this afternoon in a bitterly fought battle is described in the play-by-play story which follows:

FIRST PERIOD.

Baruch, the Princeton halfback, kicked off to Yale's 10-yard line and Holabird ran back 18 yards before being downed. Kline made a yard through the line. Holabird punted 40 yards to Princeton's 40-yard line and Caulkins was downed without a gain. A forward pass, Baruch to Caulkins, gained 19 yards, giving Princeton a first down on Yale's 41-yard line. On a kick formation Baruch fumbled, but recovered with a loss of 4 yards. On a criss-cross play Miles lost 2 more yards. Baruch punted 55 yards over the Yale goal line. Yale put the ball in play on her 20-yard line. Kline made 2 yards through the line. Holabird plunged another yard. Holabird punted 50 yards and Caulkins fumbled the ball. Sturhahn recovered the ball for Yale on Princetone' 42-yard line.

Holabird tried a pass which Caulkins knocked down. Failing plunged over for a first down on Princeton's 30-yard line. A pass from Holabird to Bunnell gained 4 yards. Bunnell slipped after he caught the ball. Holabird swung wide around left end and also slipped after he had gained 2 yards. Holabird gained another yard through the left side of Princeton's line. Bunnell tried a dropkick from the 32-yard line which had sufficient height and distance but was wide of the post. Putting the ball in play on its 20-yard line, Princeton gained a yard on Baruch's plunge and added 3 more on a pass from Baruch to Caulkins. On third down Baruch made a yard on a plunge. Sturhahn broke through the line and blocked Baruch's punt, which rolled back to Princeton's 10-yard line end though it was recovered by Caulkins of Princeton, the ball went to Yale on downs.

Yale 8 Yards From Tiger Goal.

Holabird went wide around his left end for 2 yards. And the touchdown was only 8 yards away. Holabird charged off right tackle and lost a yard. Yale failed to gain on another plunge. A double pass lost 5 yards more and the ball went over to Princeton on downs. It was on the Tigers' 14-yard line. Bridges made 3 yards on a plunge. Baruch punted 49 yards to Bunnell, who was downed on his 4-yard line without a return. Starting from a kick formation, Holabird was thrown for a 2-yard loss. On a fake kick and a double pass behind the line Failing made a yard around Princeton's right end. Holabird punted 45 yards to Caulkins, who signaled for a fair catch on Princeton's 27-yard line. A pass from Baruch to Caulkins was completed for a 27-yard gain, giving Princeton a first down on Yale's 46-yard line. Bridges made a yard through the line. Another pass from Baruch was knocked down by Failing.

On the next play Princeton completed a pretty pass, but it was called no play and the Tigers were penalized five yards for offside. Princeton lost five yards more for offside on the next play. Goodwine replaced Holabird in the Yale backfield. On a fake kick, Baruch was thrown for a 10-yard lose and it was fourth down with thirty to go. Baruch punted 55 yards and Bunnell twisted his way back nine before he was tackled on Yale's 29-yard line as the quarter ended.

Score—Princeton, 0; Yale, 0.

SECOND PERIOD.

Goodwine tried a plunge and lost 2 yards. Goodwine got one of those back on another plunge. Goodwine's punt was partly blocked and went only 17 yards, Rosengarten recovering for Princeton on Yale's 32-yard line. Baruch gained a yard through the line and a pass to Miles gave Princeton six more. Another Princeton pass, Baruch to Lawler, was completed for an 18-yard gain, giving Princeton a first down on Yale's 13-yard line. Bridges made 4 yards on a plunge through the line. Bridges plowed through for 3 more. Baruch made 2 on a third plunge and it was fourth down with about 1 yard to go for a first down. A pass from Baruch to Caulkins was completed for a touchdown. Baruch drop-kicked the extra point.

Score—Princeton, 7; Yale, 0.

Baruch kicked off to Bunnell, who caught the ball on his goal line and came back 23 yards. Goodwine punted 60 yards to Princeton's 25-yard line, where Caulkins downed the ball without making a return. Bridges went through the line for a yard. A pass from Baruch to Caulkins was completed for a 20-yard gain, giving Princeton a first down on its own 46-yard line.

Another pass from Baruch to Moeser was completed for a 17-yard gain and Princeton had a first down on Yale's 37-yard line. Princeton lost 5 yards for off-side on the next play. Moeser caught another pass for a 14-yard gain, which was a yard short of being another first down. But Bridges plunged over to Yale's 23-yard line. A plunge lost a yard and Bunnell knocked down an attempted pass. A pass to Caulkins gained 7 yards and it was fourth down with 4 to go. Baruch dropped back to the 27-yard line and drop-kicked a field goal.

Score—Princeton 10, Yale 0.

Yale Gets First Down.

Baruch kicked off to Failing, who returned 25 yards to his own 32-yard line before being downed. On the first play Kline tore through tackle for a first down on Yale's 45-yard line. Failing tore through the line for 5 yards. Failing lost 5 yards on a wide swing around the end. Hoben replaced Failing, who was hurt on the play. Goodwine gained 7 yards through the line. Goodwine punted 57 yards and the ball was downed on Princeton's 4-yard line. Bridges was thrown without a gain. Hoben intercepted a pass and ran back 21 yards to Princton's 2-yard line before Moeser brought him down. Goodwine made a yard through Princton's right tackle. Kline was stopped without a gain. Goodwine swung wide around Princeton's right end, shook off two Tiger tacklers and squirmed over for a touchdown. Sturham place-kicked the extra punt.

Score—Princeton 10, Yale 7.

Harvey replaced Look at centre for Yale. Sturhahn kicked off to Bridges, who came back 23 yards to Princeton's 39-yard line. Baruch went through the line for 4 yards, Hoben was hurt after making the tackle. Brandenburg replaced Hoben in the Yale back field. A pass was blocked by Sturhahn before it left Baruch's hands and Sturhahn recovered for Yale, on Princeton's 22-yard line. Noble replaced Goodwine in the Yale back field. A pass was knocked down. Another pass, Noble to Kline, was completed for a 2-yard gain. Kline threw a pass that was incompleted over the goal line. It was Princeton's ball on her own 20-yard line. Two plunges gained 6 yards for Princeton. Baruch punted 40 yards and Bunnell came back 12 to Princeton's 48-yard line. Noble's pass was grounded. Another pass from Kline to Fishwick gained 8 yards as the half ended.

THIRD PERIOD.

At the start of the third quarter Cox replaced Kline in the Yale backfield and Requardt replaced Bridges for Princeton. Look returned to centre in place of Harvey and Ewing took Baruch's place in the Princeton backfield. Ewing kicked off to Bunnell, who came back 15 yards to Yale's 25-yard line. Williams replaced Ewing. Ryan replaced Benton. Goodwine made 8 yards in two running plays. Bunnell went over for a first down on Yale's 37-yard line. On the next play Yale lost 5 yards for off side. Goodwine went around right end and twisted back toward his left for a 25-yard gain and a first down in Princeton's 43-yard line.

Two charges at the line gained 6 yards. A pass from Goodwine to Bunnell was completed for a 2-yard gain. Goodwine punted over the Princeton goal line and the ball was brought out to the Tigers' 20-yard mark. Williams made 2 yards off tackle. Requardt added 6 more on a plunge. Williams was stopped after gaining a yard and it was fourth down with one to go. Requardt punted 50 yards and Bunnell squirmed back 19 before he was hauled down on Yale's 49-yard line. An off side penalty gave Yale 5 yards. Brandenburg went through tackle for two.

Goodwine, on a delayed pass, swung around Princeton's right end for 7 yards, giving Yale a first down on the Tiger's 35-yard line. Bridges replaced Williams in the Princeton back field. Goodwine was thrown for a 5-yard loss in attempting to make a pass. Stinson replaced Moeser at end for Princeton. Goodwine was thrown for a yard loss on a drive off tackle. Goodwine punted 31 yards and the ball was downed on Princeton's 19-yard line. Requardt gained 3 yards on a wide sweep. Miles failed to gain on a double pass. Requardt punted 36 yards and the ball was downed on Princeton's 36-yard line. Goodwine was stopped without a gain on a plunge.

Pass Gains Four Yards.

A pass from Brandenburg to Scott gained 4 yards. A forward pass, Brandenburg to Fishwick, followed by a lateral pass from Fishwick to Goodwine, gained a first down on Princeton's 12-yard line. There Yale was penalized 15 yards. Bunnell went wide around Princeton's right end and, shaking off a series of Princeton tacklers wriggled his way to Princeton's 4-yard line. Bunnell was thrown for a 5-yard loss by Lawler when he tried to circle Princeton's left end. Brandenburg made a yard off tackle. A wild pass from the Yale centre was recovered for Princeton by Lawler on the Tigers' 25-yard line. Two plunges by the Princeton backs gained 4 yards.

Requardt punted 48 yards to Bunnell, who came back six before being downed on Yale's 44-yard line. Goodwine gained a yard off tackle. Bartoll intercepted a pass on Yale's 43-yard line. Bridges made 4 yards through the line. Requardt made 3 more off tackle. Brandenburg was hurt making the tackle and was replaced by Failing. Requardt made 2 more yards and it was fourth down with one to go. Bridges plunged through for 5 yards and a first down on Yale's 29-yard line. Bridges made 2 yards through the line. Requardt added two more as the quarter ended.

FOURTH PERIOD.

Requardt was thrown for a 6-yard loss and it was fourth down with 12 to go. Requardt punted 26 yards to the 14-yard line, where the ball was downed. Goodwine went around Princeton's left end for a first down on Yales 26-yard line. Bunnell lost 3 yards when he ran into his interference. Goodwine punted 37 yards and the ball was downed on Princeton's 48-yard line. Requardt gained 3 yards through the line. Bridges gained 3 more on a plunge. Bridges was stopped without a gain. Requardt punted 50 yards and Stinson downed it on Yale's 1-yard line. Goodwine punted 45 yards and Caulkins came back 14 before he was downed on Yale's 20-yard line. Prendergast replaced Bridges in the Princeton back field. Prendergast went out of bounds without a gain. Prendergast failed to gain on a plunge. A pass to Caulkins was completed for a 4-yard gain. Requardt's pass was incompleted over the goal and it was Yale's ball on their own 20-yard mark. Goodwine punted 40 yards and Caulkins came back 3 before he was downed on Yale's 48-yard line. Prendergast made 2 through the line. Miles lost 2 yards on a double pass.

Prendergast gained 3 on a plunge. On a bad pass from centre, Princeton lost 3 yards more and the ball went over to Yale on Princeton's 49-yard line. Noble replaced Goodwine in the Yale back field. On two plunges Yale gained 2 yards. Kline replaced Cox in the Yale back field. Noble punted 45 yards and the ball was downed on Princeton's 10-yard line. Requardt gained 2 yards through the line. Requardt made 2 more. Requardt punted 53 yards and Bunnell was thrown on Yale's 37-yard line without a return. Bunnell made a yard through centre. A forward pass, followed by a lateral pass, Failing to Fishwick to Noble, gained 8 yards.

Willauer Intercepts Pass.

Willauer replaced Miles in the Princeton lineup. Noble made 7 yards and was on Princeton's 47-yard line. Noble failed to gain on the next play. Willauer intercepted a Yale pass on Princeton's 48-yard line, but a penalty gave Yale the ball and a first down on Princeton's 42-yard line. Yale lost 15 yards on a penalty. Wadsworth replaced Kline in the Yale back field. Failing's pass was grounded. Willauer intercepted a Yale pass and ran to the Blue's 34-yard line before he was tackled. Prendergast made 4 on a plunge.

Prendergast added three more. Prendergast went off tackle for two. And on fourth down with one to go he was stopped without a gain and the ball went over on Yale's 23-yard line. Failing made five yards off tackle. Wortham replaced Sturhahn in the Yale line. Yale was penalized five yards. A pass to Bunnell was incompleted. A pass from Wadsworth went over Bunnell's head and was grounded, Yale losing five yards for incompleting two passes before making a first down. Noble punted forty-two yards and the ball was downed on Princeton's 49-yard line. Prendergast failed to gain. Prendergast plunged through for four yards. Prendergast made two more through the line. Requardt punted seventeen yards, the ball going out of bounds on Yale's 34-yard line. Meislahn went in for French in the Princeton back field. A pass to Bunnell was incompleted. Noble tore off tackle for five yards. A pass to Bunnell gained fifteen yards as the game ended.

Score, Princeton 10, Yale 7.

CAMP EXERCISES HALT UPROAR AT PRINCETON

Impressive Scene Enacted at Palmer Stadium Mid Noise-Provoking Thrills of Game.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J. Nov. 13.—A glittering tapestry of 55,000 spectators was flung over Palmer Stadium as Princeton and Yale fought it out today.

All morning long the spectators had been drifting into the town and they took their time about getting to the field. A half hour before the start, the dull looking brown of the concrete showed through in big splotches and then the charge began.

The crowd was still coming in when the game started, but it was hard to see where they were going to sit. There wasn't a bare spot in sight, but they kept coming until several plays had been completed. They found seats somewhere, though all along the top of the rim they seemed to prefer standing.

All through the game this mass of figures swayed and waved in a seething torrent of excitement. It is doubtful that any game has held more thrills this season for the crowd as play surged back and forth. There was a constant roar all during the play that swallowed up the announcer's voice in the press box and never relented for a moment.

There were just about five minutes of quiet during the whole afternoon and that was between the halves during the ceremonies of the Camp Memorial.

Snake Dance Follows Victory.

But that noise was dwarfed in the uproar that followed when the Tigers poured forth from the stands at the close for the snake dance of victory. They surged up and down the field, throwing away perfectly good hats over the goal posts, and then formed into a parade behind the gayly tooting band, ending by the singing of "Old Nassau" and a cheer for Yale in front of the stands.

Yale stood bareheaded there, for the Tiger band, even before it had played "Nassau," played "Bright College Years" for their defeated friends. The Tigers cheered them for minutes at the end, the last touch of an exceedingly friendly day.

This was the Walter Camp Memorial game, and between the halves impressive ceremonies were held. Both bands paraded out to the open end of the stadium, and then, with Yale's band standing at attention, the Tigers spelled out the word "Camp."

The bands and the entire audience stood with bared heads while a bugler, far up on the horseshoe, sounded "Taps" across a field as silent as death.

There was a moment of silence, and then Aime McGuinness, Princeton's concert leader, turned to the massed bands and led them in "Bright College Years."

Town Seethes Before Noon.

This venerable town, that once was famous for nothing save that a General named Washington fought a battle here, woke from its slumbers again today for its day of the year. Last night a sleepy, peaceful hamlet, with occasional footsteps echoing along deserted streets, this morning it was a seething cross-section of life in our better subways long before noon had arrived and brought the always gallant but generally losing struggle to find luncheon.

The suddenness of the thing down here at Princeton is always more noticeable than at a big game in another town. Most of the crowd for games here come the morning of the game and leave that evening. There are very few hotels within reaching distance of the campus and the result is that the usual descent of the day before is almost totally lacking.

The railroad brings at least 50 per cent. of the crowd. Forty-three specials from New York, Trenton, Philadelphia and way stations came sliding into the yards this morning and deposited 25,000 of the 54,000 who jammed the Palmer Memorial Stadium.

The first of the specials began arriving just before 10 o'clock and they kept coming in a steady stream until just before the whistle brought silence in the Stadium. But long before these trains arrived the roads leading into town held a steady procession of automobiles. There was everything in that procession. Huge foreign looking limousines with liveried chauffeurs fought for space in the road with battered and ramshackle Fords.

Horse-Drawn Hack There.

There was even one open-faced hack drawn by a pair of extremely ancient horses that made its way through Prospect Street with Yale banners and students hanging all over it and a large sign reading, "All the way from New Haven, believe it or not."

The sun lost its arguments with the clouds and had to compete with the flaming yellow flowers and the inevitable banners, tigers, bulldogs, balloons and ribbons that the ubiquitous street vendors were hawking at every corner.

The chrysanthemums this year seem bigger and better than ever. The Princeton flowers made the most vivid showing, but there was a strong undertone of the more sombre violets of Yale.

The bands were out early. In preparation for the Walter Camp services the two bands, Yale and Princeton, had a morning workout in the Stadium under the direction of Aime McGuinness, Princeton's concert master, and the crowds trooping up from the field had the strains of brass and drum to greet them even before they reached the campus.

Steel Posts Arouse Interest.

The steel goal posts of Princeton drew the curiosity of the crowds before the game started. One suspicious looking chap in a long fur coat was chased away during the Yale pre-game practice on the suspicion that he had acetylene torches concealed in the robes of the coat.

Yale had a warm greeting for its team when it came in, but there were more on hand when the Tigers appeared and the bellow that greeted them must have been heard in Trenton.

Yale confined itself to its usual practice all over the field, but the Tigers did some "mental angle" stuff. They lined up at the goal posts and, with Baruch passing, made practice touchdowns on forward passes for a few minutes.

Both bands reached the entrance at the same time, but Princeton, a genial host, waited for Yale to reach its place before intruding any further than the portals.

The Tigers formed a Y and played Yale songs and the Bulldogs formed a P and played Princeton songs, and then they wandered among each other for a while and finally went into their places.

There were at least fifty unofficial spectators in the trees behind the wooden stands, swinging in clusters of four and five and risking their necks to see what all this fuss was going on inside.

There were automobiles parked all over the place. All of the clubs had their yards filled with them and the meadows around the Stadium were a shining mass of metal.

The entry of Kline was dramatic, for he didn't appear on the field at all until the Blue came out for the start of the game. When he was recognized both sides cheered him for several minutes.

Eddie Collins, deposed manager, and Ray Schalk, new manager of the Chicago White Sox, sat together as guests of Moe Berg, former Princetonian, who plays shortstop with the Sox.

The press stand, behind its protection of barbed wire, looked like a dugout of the late war with the business-like nozzles of movie cameras furnishing the machine gun element. No mention was made of whether the wire was to protect the public or the writers.

PRINCETON PLAYERS SILENT IN VICTORY

Depart Quickly but Happily After Game—Roper Smiles Joyously.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 13.—The men who gave Princeton its victory today, and the first to repeat in a Big Three championship, were the quietest men on the campus tonight. The players dressed in Osborn Field House and after the game it was the only place where you could hear yourself think. The players took their victory calmly and quietly, dressed quickly and left in ones and twos, several of them breaking training with the first cigarette in weeks between their lips as they walked out to the street, the season ended.

The broadest grin in all New Jersey adorned the features of Bill Roper as he came in to greet the men. "Satisfied? Sure, I'm satisfied," he said. "But it certainly was a tough game. Let's not have any criticisms of anybody. We won the game and that's that. It was tough for Yale to lose the chances it did, but I'm sure glad they didn't win."

The players seemed to be in good shape despite the hard, fast play throughout. Jake Slagle was the most disappointed man in the place, but nothing was said by anybody as to why he wasn't in the game. The general belief seemed to be that he had aggravated his hurt too much in the Harvard encounter.

The rest of the players, though some were bruised and pretty well exhausted, seemed to have come through in good shape.

YALE SQUAD ACCEPTS DEFEAT WITH SMILES

Has Nothing to Say After Game and Coach Jones Refuses Interview.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 13.—Yale took its defeat at the hands of Princeton today with a smile, a grim smile, it's true, but a smile nevertheless.

As the stalwarts who had played and lost on the field at Palmer Stadium a few minutes before made their way out of the dressing rooms they came with heads held high and their faces toward the sun. Not one had any complaint to offer and in their attitude was an indication that they had done their best but that their best wasn't enough.

Coach Tad Jones refused to be interviewed and kept in seclusion, with two sons of Eli barring the door. They had instructions to pass no one and they obeyed to the letter.

HARVARD FRESHMEN DEFEAT YALE CUBS

Forward Passes and Runs Are Responsible for 19 to 7 Score at New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 13.—The Harvard freshmen defeated the Yale yearlings, 19 to 7, under an avalanche of forward passes and runs here today. Yale's only score was the result of a brilliant piece of open field running by Bob Hall, Yale sub. Catching a pass, he ran 60 yards through the entire Harvard team. Aldrich kicked the succeeding goal.

A sweeping march of the Harvard yearlings in the first quarter led to the first Crimson tally when Hitch went through for 25 yards, Holbrook for 13 and Hitch went across for the touchdown.

At the end of the first quarter Mason tore loose for 50 yards to the Yale 7-yard line. Wetmore went across for the second touchdown. Wetmore kicked goal. The third Harvard touchdown came at the end of the first half, when Wetmore ran back a Yale punt from the 40-yard line.

MAINE IS DEFEATED BY NEW HAMPSHIRE

State Champions Experience First Setback, Losing, 14-7, in Final Period.

Special to The New York Times.

DURHAM, N. H., Nov. 13.—The University of New Hampshire eleven upset New England football predictions here today by registering the first victory of the season over Maine, winners of the Pine Tree State title. New Hampshire's aerial attack in the last quarter broke a 7-all tie, sending Maine to a 14 to 7 defeat. The victors made seventeen first downs to fourteen for the losers; both elevens appeared weak on the defense.

The Maine eleven was the first to tally, scoring after a series of forward passes from Coltrat to Mannigan, followed by a cross buck in which Young carried the ball over.

Abblatti was a tower of strength in the New Hampshire back field. After pounding the Maine line for successive gains, he made 14 yards through centr for a touchdown and Nicora kicked the point to tie the score.

The score remained tie until late in the fourth quarter, when New Hampshire's aerials brought the Wildcats within scoring distance. A pass, Reynolds to Roy, brought the touchdown and Nicora again kicked the point.

AMHERST RETAINS LITTLE THREE TITLE

FALL GETS 2 FIELD GOALS

Ties Score at 6-All in Third Period With Second One—Losers Make 11 First Downs.

AMHERST, Mass., Nov. 13 (AP).—Amherst retained its Little Three title here today by downing an obstinate Williams eleven, 20 to 6. The score does not indicate the battle that was waged.

One of the largest crowds ever assembled at Pratt Field, 7,000, watched the encounter.

The first score was made by Amherst in the opening period after an attack that showed the Purple backs at the peak of their form. They started out aggressively and carried the ball to the Williams 9-yard line, where the Berkshire team tightened, but Priddy finally went over on a yard pluege off tackle.

Williams's first tally came from a 25-yard drop-kick by Fall. The Sabrina team kept up its flashing attack through the first period, but Williams was stubborn in the second and held, the half ending, 6 to 3, in Amherst's favor.

Fall Again Scores.

In the third frame Fall again tallied with a drop-kick, this time from the 20-yard line, tying the score.

Williams again started to push the Lord Jeffs back, but Richardson intercepted a pass on the 40-yard marker and the drive broke down. Amherst then opened up its overhead attack and Walker went 15 yards for a touchdown and then secured the extra point. Williams rallied in the fourth, but the Berkshire backs were held by the Amherst forward line, and again Williams used the aerial attack, but it failed.

Priddy intercepted one of Fall's passes and was stopped on the Williams 20-yard line after racing 35 yards. The Lord Jeff backs started a fresh drive, Parker gaining 9 yards through the centre. Priddy made 3 and Parker brought it to the last yard marker and Priddy made the touchdown. Walker kicked the goal for the final point.

Williams's Passing Weak.

The Williams backs were clever, time after time making long end runs. They made eleven first downs, against Amherst's seven. The Berkshire passing attack was very weak, for out of fourteen attempts only one was completed, while three were intercepted.

The Amherst air attack was more conservative but more effective. Four were attempted and all were completed, one scoring a touchdown.

Five of the seven first downs made by the Purple came in the first period. Walker featured for Amherst, both on offense and defense. Captain Cadigan and Priddy were good ground gainers. Brown was the best of the flashy Williams back field, and he shared honors with Howe, Fall and Boynton. Just before the final whistle Boynton contributed a 70-yard run-back of a kick-off, but was thrown by Brittain on the 20-yard line.

The line-up:

DAVIDSON SCORES UPSET.

Defeats North Carolina Eleven by Score of 10 to 0.

Special to The New York Times.

DAVIDSON, N. C., Nov. 13.—The Davidson College Wildcats upset the University of North Carolina football team 10 to 0. By virtue of their victory the Wildcats maintain a clean slate in North Carolina and made one step nearer a tie with Wake Forest for State championship honors.

Only a few minutes had elapsed when the little Wildcats had scored their seven points. Taking the ball on Carolina's 44-yard line they passed their way to a touchdown when Dick Grey hurled three times to Davidson players. In the third, Bracket recovered a Carolina fumble on the Tarheel 30-yard line. The ball was advanced fifteen yards when Dick Grey, flashy halfback, kicked a field goal, his sixth of the season.

GEORGIA UNIVERSITY BEATS TECH, 14 TO 13

After Trailing Atlanta Rival, 13-0, at First Half, Comes to Front With Rush.

TWO PASSES BRING VICTORY

Attempt to Carry Off Goal Posts Brings in Police, Who Halt Budding Hostilities.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 13.—University of Georgia beat Georgia Tech here today in their annual football classic, 14 to 13, by a last-minute rush. Each team now has won ten games. Approximately 30,000 people witnessed the contest.

Tech got away in the lead and at the end of the second quarter was leading 13 to 0. Tech supporters considered the battle virtually over. Then Georgia came back. By a beautiful and varied attack the university scored once in each period. The winning points came as a result of two well-executed passes by Morton, back field star of the Red and Black.

An attempt by the victors at the close of the game to capture Tech's goal posts almost caused a battle royal, but police and student leaders intervened. The game gave each of the two teams a leg on a cup which will go to the first team winning three games.

YELLOW JACKETS BEAT DULUTH, 10-0

Youngstrom Scores Touchdown and Budd Gets Field Goal Against Nevers's Stars.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The Frankford Yellow Jackets defeated Ernie Nevers's Duluth Eskimos by 10 to 0 this afternoon at the Frankford Stadium before a crowd of 6,000 in a National Professional League game.

Frankford's scoring was done in the first and third periods, a touchdown by Youngstrom and a field goal by Budd. Near the end of the second period the visitors worked the ball within one yard of the goal line, but the Eskimos were unable to penetrate Frankford5s line, and the period ended with the ball only inches from the line.

This was the nearest Nevers and his stars came to scoring.

YALE BARN PARTY SOON.

Preparations Under Way for Annual Football Rally Dec. 11.

Workmen have already begun to make ready the historic Nick Roberts Yale Barn at Montclair for the annual win, lose or draw football rally and smoker under the auspices of the Yale Club of Montclair. This year's event will be in honor of Captain Tibby Bunnell, who last week accepted an invitation to attend. Yale men of national prominence are listed among the guests of the barn party, which has been set for Dec. 11.

The fame of these barn parties has spread far and each year it is more difficult to accommodate all of the Yale alumni who wish to attend. The prospect is that there will have to be a waiting list or a larger barn.

Besides Bunnell, Coach Tad Jones and other football stars will come from New Haven. They will be conveyed from the Yale Club of this city by motor buses to New Jersey.

QUANTICO MARINES DEFEAT DETROIT, 24-7

Use Battering Attack to Score Victory—Buckoway Gets 99-Yard Run.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Nov. 13.—The University of Detroit football team lost to the Quantico Marines by a score of 24 to 7 here this afternoon.

The university team employed a dazzling forward pass attack that scored one touchdown and twice threatened the Marines' goal, but the Marines' bone-crushing assault against the Detroit line paved the way for three of their four touchdowns.

One Detroit pass was intercepted by Buckoway on the one-yard line and he ran it 99 yards for the other touchdown.

LAFAYETTE SMOTHERS SUSQUEHANNA, 68 TO 0

Wilson Scores 5 Touchdowns as Maroon Rips Rivals' Line to Shreds.

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 13.—Susquehanna offered the weakest kind of opposition to Lafayette here this afternoon, and the Maroon eleven ran up its highest score of the season in defeating the visitors, 68 to 0. Susquehanna was completely outplayed and never threatened to score.

The weak opposition gave Mike Wilson, Lafayette's sensational sophomore halfback an opportunity to add thirty points to his total in the race for individual scoring honors. Wilson five times slipped across the Susquehanna goal line for touchdowns. The other four touchdowns were registered by Kirkleski and Guest, who each got one, and Chimenti, who contributed two.

The Maroon forwards tore huge holes in the forward line of Susquehanna through which the Lafayette backs romped almost at will. The visitors' efforts to gain ground by rushing were helpless. Although several of their passes were successful when they took to the air, four tosses were intercepted by Lafayette and quickly converted into touchdowns.

On three of the attempts by Cothran and Schellenberger to add the extra points after Lafayette touchdowns, Susquehanna was offside and Lafayette received the extra tallies.

The line-up:

NAVY PLEBES BEATEN.

Lose, 34-13, to Kiski Springs in Game Marked by Passes.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 13.—Kiski Springs School, an unbeaten football team this season, put up a brilliant exhibition of passing this afternoon and defeated the Naval Academy Plebes, 34 to 13. Bennett and Day alternated in tossing and receiving the ball, and Clark also was on the receiving end of some plays. Three touchdowns were made by this method, and it figured in putting the visitors in position for all of their other scores.

The Navy took a decided brace in the last quarter scoring touchdowns when Welchel blocked a punt and after a series of line gains by Springs, Cass and Welchel.

SCORE AT HALF IS 7 TO 0

Cardinals Clinch Contest in Final Period When Shipkey, Bogue and Hoffman Cross Line.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 13.—Stanford University defeated the University of Washington eleven, 29 to 10, here this afternoon. The Cardinals were never behind.

Murphy scored the first touchdown for Stanford in the opening period and the score stood 7 to 0 at half time. Bogue made it 10 to 0 for Stanford in the third period.

Guttormsen scored for Washington on a 65-yard run, following an intercepted pass in the third quarter and also kicked a field goal for the Huskies to tie the score at 10 to 10. Shipkey, Bogue and Hoffman scored touchdowns in the final period to bring Stanford a final score of 29 to 10.

M'EWAN'S CHARGES BEATEN ON COAST

Washington State Turns Back Oregon University by a Score of 7 to 0.

Special to The New York Times.

PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 13.—Captain John McEwan's University of Oregon team bowed to the Washington State College Cougars by a 7 to 0 score on Rogers Field today.

The noted Oregon passing attack went into the mud as the powerful Cougar line continually used its strength to rush through. Washington State scored its touchdown and kicked the point in the second period.

The touchdown came as a result of the Cougars' steady march down the field on a maze of line bucks that featured Koenig and Rohwer. Rohwer carried the ball over the line on a vicious thrust through the forward wall. Washington State completely outplayed its opponents on scrimmage plays.

The line-up:

WASHINGTON AND LEE BEATS VIRGINIA TECH

Victors Outplay Foes Nearly All the Way to 13-0 Score—Rauber Outkicks Pecke.

Special to The New York Times.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 13.—Washington and Lee upset the dope here this afternoon and defeated Virginia Tech, 13 to 0, before 8,000. The Generals outplayed Tech nearly all the way. Washington gained 225 yards and made 11 first downs. Tech gained 102 yards and made eight first downs.

The first score resulted from an offside penalty which gave the Generals first down in the second quarter in midfield. Old-time football carried the play up to the 22-yard line, where a pass, Rauber to Palmer, got the touch down.

In the last quarter Elgelbach intercepted a pass on Tech's 35-yard line and ran 25 yards. Then three downs allowed Rauber to score.

Rauber outkicked Peake generally through the game.

MORGAN TO DEFEND TITLE THIS WEEK

Junior Lightweight Champion Will Meet Carl Duane in the Garden Friday Night.

DUNDEE RECLAIMS LAURELS

Says He Is Willing to Meet Winner of Featherweight Tourney—Other Ring News.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

The snort of the bucking bronco and the plunging steer, with the cowboy's yell of the plains, will be replaced at Madison Square Garden this week with the old, familiar thud of padded fists and the yell of the fight crowd thrilling to the spectacle of two perfectly trained lads locked in battle. Promoter Tex Rickard brings boxing back to his famous arena on Friday night with a championship battle. He has paired Tod Morgan, Seattle lad who holds the junior lightweight title, with Carl Duane, the Bronx steam-roller. The lads are to battle for fifteen rounds as the feature of an attractive card.

Supporting this title struggle will be a ten-round bout in which the spectacular Eddie Anderson, Wyoming featherweight, will face Frankie Fink, Texas lad, and another ten-round bout in which Solly Seeman, Harlem lightweight, signalizes his return to local boxing against Les Murray, Australian fighter.

The Morgan-Duane battle, postponed from earlier in the season because of an injury to the Bronx lad, is attracting unusual attention. On this account there is every reason to believe that a packed house will witness the struggle. Duane supporters are to be out in force to see their favorite in his championship effort. The Bronx lad has purchased $10,000 worth of tickets for the fight and has not enough to meet the demands made upon him.

Morgan the Favorite.

Duane has undertaken a considerable assignment in attempting to dislodge Morgan, but this is the year in which champions have been toppled from their thrones without ceremony in various sports and it would not be altogether surprising to see another knocked from his lofty pedestal as the year approaches its end. Morgan will enter the ring favorite to beat Duane. The Seattle [illegible] has everything necessary to bring him victory. Against Steve (Kid) Sullivan, former champion, and Joe Glick, rugged Williamsburg lad, Morgan proved himself a wonderful little fighting machine, with speed, cleverness, hitting accuracy, endurance and a fighting head. Against this Duane is to match his plodding, methodical, battering style. The Bronx lad's best chance of victory will lie in his ability to get close and pound Morgan's body, for Duane has demonstrated his ability to stand up under the blows of a rival and remain dangerous. Morgan, however, is no novice at infighting and with his superior work at long range is expected to keep Duane at bay.

Johnny Dundee, veteran Italian fighter, is not taking seriously the attitude of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission in officially recognizing tomorrow night's bout in Boston between Honeyboy Finnegan and Chick Suggs as for the world's featherweight title. Nor is Dundee alarmed over the proposal of our own State Athletic Commission to sanction a bout between Benny Bass and Red Chapman here to produce an opponent for the winner of the Finnegan-Suggs battle in a bout to determine a champion.

Dundee has found it possible to scale down to 126 pounds without weakening himself, and he accordingly intends to reclaim the title he surrendered two years ago when he said he could no longer make the weight. Dundee stands today as the undefeated featherweight champion, and, on the established theory that championships are won and lost only in the ring, the Italian veteran appears to have a justifiable claim. He announced yesterday he will be ready, when this elimination series is concluded, to meet the survivor in a bout for the title, and quoted the precedent established by Jim Jeffries to support his contention.

Says He Never Retired.

"Jeffries tried to give his title to Hart, but though Tommy Burns and Jack Johnson went to the top subsequently as champions, the claim to the title was not recognized until after Johnson beat Jeff," said Dundee. "Jeff retired and gave up boxing. I simply surrendered the title when I thought I could no longer make the weight and fight at my best. I find I can now, and I will be ready when my arm improves to defend it."

Dundee right now has his right arm in a plaster cast. He broke the arm in his fight against Fred Bretonnel and broke it again recently in his bout against Tod Morgan on the Coast. He will not be able to box until January at the earliest, from present indications.

Mike McTigue, former world's light-heavyweight champion, is reported in excellent condition for his ten-round bout against Billy Vidabeck, rugged Bayonne lad, which features the bill at the New Broadway Arena, Brooklyn, tomorrow night. This contest will witness the first step by McTigue in a campaign for a return match against Jack Delaney, present champion, who boasts a knockout victory over the Irish gladiator.

Julius Weiss, Germany's middleweight champion, and Abd-el Kedir, Moroccan, are paired in another ten-round bout. The third ten-rounder will be between Yale Okun, east side light-heavyweight, and George Smith of Brooklyn.

Pete Latzo, world's welterweight champion, is scheduled to return to the ring on the night of Dec. 3 in Newark, when he is to battle the rugged Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont., in a bout under the auspices of the National Sportsmen's Club.

Matchmaker Joe McKenna has arranged an attractive card of six-round bouts for his first show at the New Manhattan S. C. on Wednesday night. In five matches the principals will be: Teddy Baldock vs. Billy Reynolds, Al (Rube) Goldberg vs. Tommy Lorenzo, Joey Knapp vs. Eddie McLaughlin, Willie Singer vs. Bob Nelson and Jimmy Doyle vs. Charles Caserta.

A six-round bout between Nat Kawler and Johnny Pilkington, witnessing the third meeting between these two ring rivals, will feature the program tomorrow night at the Star Sporting Club. In four other six-round engagements Matchmaker Eddie McMahon has paired Eddie Elkins vs. Pete Nebo, Eddie Guida vs. Manny Rosen, Al Del Gaido vs. Frankie Santa, and Al Matera vs. Tom Di Gand.

Louis (Kid) Kaplan, Meriden, Conn., lad, who relinquished the leadership of the featherweight class when he outgrew the division, is scheduled to tackle Billy Wallace in a ten-round bout at Cleveland on Dec. 2.

Murray Gitlitz, Dan Caplin's promising light heavyweight, has been engaged to battle Jeff Smith, Bayonne veteran, for ten rounds tomorrow night at the Arena, Philadelphia.

Harry Felix, east side lightweight, returns to the ring in Jersey City on Tuesday night, when he is scheduled to face Al Maresca in a ten-round bout.

Harry Ebbets, Freeport's promising young welterweight, and Johnny Curcia, New England lad, have been signed for a ten-round bout in Holyoke, Mass., on Nov. 22.

Ruby Goldstein's return to the ring will be signalized at the Pioneer A. C. on the night of Nov. 23, when the east side youngster is scheduled to battle Mickey Travers.

Four eight-round bouts have been arranged for the 102d Medical Regiment Armory on Thursday night. The principals will be Jimmy Kelly vs. Frankie Cronin; Willie Dillon vs. Johnny Darcy; Charles Nelson vs. Bud Rogers and Eddie Enos vs. Frankie McGloin.

Some of the leading amateur boxers of the district are entered for the amateur tournaments to be held Tuesday night at the Hunts Point Palace. Ten bouts are listed for decision.

Sammy Tisch and Georgie Nickfor, bantamweight rivals, have been engaged to furnish the action Tuesday night at the Twenty-second Engineers Regiment Armory. They are signed for twelve rounds. Jacques Pettibone and Carroll Setti are matched for the eight-round semi-final.

Entry blanks have been distributed by the New York A. C. for the Mercury Foot organization's next amateur boxing tournament, to be held on Friday and Nov. 22. Bouts are scheduled in six classes.

Halted by Police in Battles on Field After St. John's of Annapolis Loses, 34-0.

TRY TO WRECK GOAL POSTS

They Are Saved, However, as Crowd of 4,000 Watches—Aerial Attack Wins the Game.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 13.—Johns Hopkins, using forward passes, defeated St. John's College of Annapolis, its traditional rival, 34 to 0, this afternoon.

The game was marred after the end of the play by several fist fights on the field between St. John's and Johns Hopkins students. At one time there were nearly a dozen separate battles which verged on a free-for-all. The police succeeded in dispersing the students.

An attempt was made to destroy the Johns Hopkins goal posts but this was averted. A crowd of 4,000 saw the contest.

In the opening period neither team scored but in the second quarter Johns Hopkins ran up 19 points and added 6 in the next and nine more in the final session. Lawrence made two of the five touchdowns. A safety gave Johns Hopkins 2 of its points.

TIGER SOCCER TEAM DEFEATS YALE, 4-0

Princeton Scores Once in Each Period and Keeps Blue Safely in Check Throughout.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 13.—Scoring a tally each period, the Princeton soccer team defeated Yale here this afternoon, 4 to 0, in an Intercollegiate Soccer Association game. Jack Packard, centre forward, scored three of the goals.

The Eli booters were best in the initial period.

Captain Whitey McCabe, left half on the Princeton team, was a strong defender and frustrated the Blue attack time and time again. Dud Squires was a mainstay of the Tiger forward line, breaking up the Yale dashes and dribbling the ball within striking distance of the goal. Dud Barnouw made the final Nassau tally in the closing period, when he kicked the ball into the Blue goal after Sam Emlen had passed the ball directly in front of the posts.

Notre Dame Triumphs Over Army by 7-0 Before 72,000 at the Yankee Stadium quarter when he took the ball two and three times in succession and gained substantially every time.

It was O'Boyle who, with almost negligible assistance, carried the ball 46 yards down the field in the first quarter to Army's 21-yard line, where the first menace to the Army goal line was checked as Niemic failed by a yard to gain a fourth successive first down.

This was the only time that Notre Dame carried the ball within striking distance of Army's goal line, with the exception of Flanagan's run, and Army's only chance to score was during that march of Murrell'a for 47 yards that ended on the Hoosiers' 33-yard line, where the ball was lost on downs.

In the second and third periods Army did not make a single first down, and although Notre Dame made the greater gain in the second quarter, it was in far more danger than was Army, for, thanks to the cleverly placed kicks of Harrell, one of which went out of bounds on Notre' Dame's 3-yard line, the Westerners were forced to kick from behind their goal line.

Army Weak Through Air.

Words of criticism were heard directed at Quarterback Harding for his failure to use the forward pass after Notre Dame had scored and it was evident that Army could not hope to gain through ths line. But in the final quarter, when Army opened up, it was evident that Harding had not had any too great confidence in his passing game.

Seven passes were attempted by the Cadets in this quarter and only one completed. Army has made extremely little use of the air attack all season, and it is probable that Coach Jones had enough reliance in his powerful backs to make all the touchdowns needed without resorting to overhead play.

Notre Dame, to the general surprise, also failed to make as much use of the pass as was expected and competed only five, to one hy the Army. Rockne's running attack, however, was more impressive than Army's. One always looks for the unusual in Rockne's offense, and the combination of the Notre Dame shift with hidden ball trickery lent far more deceptiveness to the Hoosiers' attack than Army's appeared.

The Army forwards were fooled repeatedly in the first quarter by the hidden-ball plays, which were directed at the centre of the line largely, but as the game progressed the cadet linemen solved these plays and the Notre Dame gains became fewer and fewer except when Rockne injected his new backfield into ths fray.

Had been expected that with both teams using the shift the game would be marred hy penalties, hut the officials found little to object to in Notre Dame's movements and nothing at all to the Army's more elementary shift. Notre Dame suffered only 25 yards in penalties, to 5 for ths Army, and that is pretty nearly a record, considering the losses that some teams have been penalized with this season.

Rockne's Strategy Effective.

No crowd may have been disappointed in the failure of Notre Dame to make more use than it did of the pass, of which it is one of the leading exponents of the country, hut Rockne did not disappoint them entirely. One always looks for the unexpected from the shrewd Notre Dame coach, and his move in sending in his second back field to act as the shock troops and launch ths knocks until the Army line had been weakened for the appearance of Flanagan was a canny piece of generalship.

To further stump Army, Rockne kept both of his captains on the side line. Layden, Army's captain, was on the left side line, but Rockne went one better than that and kept two there until he was ready to use them.

A few words of commendation are in order for some of the men who played heroic roles in the line. Wallace, Notre Dame end, was outstanding from the moment he was substituted in the first period for Maxwell. Whether he was making back an end run around his mates or smothering another from behind around the other flank or tearing down the field under a punt to down the receiver in his tracks, Wallace was deadly decisive.

But contributing more directly to Notre Dame's victory than Wallace, was Voedisch, ths other end. It was Voedisch who made it possihle for Flanagan to maks his touchdown. As Flanagan started down ths side line the Army forwards set sail after him. Foremost amoog them was Born, who was ready to catapault himself at the legs of Flanagan when Voedisch, who was running alongside of his teammate, threw himself in Born's path and brought the pursuit to an end.

Harding played a marvelous game for Army. He must have made a third of the tackles in the line and broke through the interference to na' the runner again and again. Down field he was equally effective, although Daly, Army centre, made his share of the tackles.

Miller and Mayer also were conspicuous throughout the afternoon in the line play, and there is not a forward on either team who does not merit some. praise for standing up against such savage battering as was administered.

Here was a throwback to the Neolithic age when men took their knocks on the head and thought nothing about them. The Army and Notre Dame men didn't think about them. At that, however, the injuries were surprisingly few considering the fierceness of the play.

Lines Take Punishment.

Much had been said about the strength of the lines of the two teams and it was well that they were strong and rugged, for they certainly had to take punishment. No less than four first downs were made by each team in the opening quarter and every one of them was hewed out with straight rushing football by powerful, pile-driving backs.

Rockne, in accordance with his habitual practice of springing surprises, started an entirely different back fleld than had been announced. Neither of the two captain, Edwards and Hearndon, was in at the opening gun. Riley-O'Boyle, Dahman and Niemic composed the back field, and it was soon evident that if they were only the second string set the first one must be a honor.

That O'Boyle boy was a back field in himself. There were occasions when he took the ball three times in succession, running like a streak, low to the ground, to tear the centre and right side of Army's line apart. But before Notre Dame showed its wares the Army quartet, Harding, Wilson, Cagle and Murrell, got into action, and when the burly, pile-driving Murrell was active he was very much so.

The game wasn't two minutes old when, standing in kick formation, the former Minnesota mauler drove through Notre Dame's right tackle found open territory and thundered on down the field for a gain of 28 yards and a first down. Ths same Mr. Murrell, with the aid of a 5-yard penalty on Notre Dame, made another first down with a drive through left tackle for 5 yards and a minute later got another 5, but Wallacs went into the play at end for Notre Dame, and Army was forced to give up the ball on downs on the Hoosiers' 33-yard line after a march of 47 yards.

Wallace forced the Cadets to do much more than they wanted to, for his defensive play, both on the line of scrimmage and down under kicks, was deadly in its decisiveness, Hoosiers Start to Work.

It was now Notre Dame's turn to deal a little punishment to the Army line, employing hidden ball deception along with its shift. O'Boyle, Dahman and Niemic, who isn't to be confused with anemic, nipped the Army lins to shreds as it marched 46 yards up the field on three first downs. Failure to make a fourth first down by the margin of a yard ended Notre Dame's first threat on the Cadets' 21-yard line.

Army started a counter-attack that netted two first downs, Wilson and Cagis making both on dashes of 10 and 9 yards each. But the Cadets were unable to sustain this advance, and the period ended with Notre Dame taking the aggressive.

For the next two periods Army failed to make a first down, but in spite of the fact that the Hoosiers registered three in the second quarter they never threatened in this quarter, and, strange as it may seem, were twice in a dangerous position, compelled to kick from behind their goal line.

Rockne sent in a new back field early in ths second quarter, except that O'Boyle maintained his position as halfback.

The wisdom of keeping O'Boyle on the job was demoostrated when he took the ball three times in succession for a total gain of 16 yards; and then Mr. Flanagan introduced himself with a run around his own left end for 12 yards. A fumble by Captain Hearnden stopped this second Notre Dame advance. Murrell recovered on his own 44-yard line.

Murrell Sets the Pace.

Murrell continued to be the greater part of the Army team, and now his beautifully placed kick went out of bounds on Notre Dame's 3-yard mark. No sooner had Edwards kicked out of danger than Murrell punted the ball back down into the shadow of Notre Dame's goal posts, and once more Captain Edwards's strong, reliable toe came through with a boot of 50 yards to midfield.

The half ended with Notre Dame holding the ball deep in its territory and glad to escape from this third adverse position.

The second half had hardly got under way when Flanagan made his spectacular run. Receiving the kick-off, Notre Dame started from its 33-yard line, made four yards on two rushes and then the ball was given to Flanagan. Cutting through Army's right tackle, the brilliant Notre Dame back turned out to the side line and ran straight down the field.

Army men wers hot on his heels, and, as fast as Flanagan is, he could have been overtaken had not Voedisch, left end, thrown himself in the path of the nearest pursuer. Flanagan continued on to finish his run of sixty-three yards at the goal line, but it three yards at the goal line, but it three yards at the goal line, but it was Voedisch who had made the score possible. O'Boyle kicked the goal for the extra point, and that was the end of the scoring.

For the rest of the period neither team was able to make any headway on the attack and except for Flanagan's run not a first down was made.

Backs Held by Lines.

The play in both lines was decisive, and Flanagan and O'Boyle, no less than Wilson and Murrell, found it impossible to break loose.

Army, in spite of the fact that it could not gain through the line, refused to open up until the final quarter had got well under way. Baby Dahl was sent in for Murrell, and the way this giant line-breaker ripped through Notre Dame'a line for gains of eight and five yards made many wonder why he had been kept under cover so long.

Their wonder increased when Dahl took a pass from Cagie for 14 yards and as he gained 5 yards more on two rushea that brought the ball to Notre Dame's 37-yard line. Here Army opened up, only to fail on two passes and the frenzied Cadets in the cheering section gave up hope.

Army attempted no less than seven passes in this quarter but could complete only one, and so its doom was sealed, for that Notre Dame line, with victory at hand, was not to be penetrated. A stream of substitutes was sent in by both sides, but Army never improved enough to make any headway and its last-minute efforts to gain through the air resulted in the only intercepted pass of the game Dahman snaring the ball out of the air on Army's 40-yard line just before the crack of the pistol sounded the end of the game.

The [illegible] moment the Cadets were filing silently out of the field to march back to their train, and after their departure the Notre Dame cheering section added the final touch by tearing down ths goal posts.

STORY OF THE GAME SHOWS ARMY'S DEFEAT

Detailed Description Tells of Notre Dame's Victory Over Cadets in the Stadium.

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

The detailed description of the football games between Army and Notre Dame at the Yankee Stadium yesterday follows:

FIRST PERIOD.

Flanagan kicked off to Wilson, who fumbled and recovered the ball on the Army 7-yard line. Standing behind his own goal line, Murrell punted outside on Army's 34-yard line. After gaining two yards off tackle, Niemic attempted an end run and was thrown for a 3-yard loss. A forward pass was grounded and Niemic punted outside, but the ball rolled over the goal line and was brought out and put in play hy Army on its 20-yard line.

Murrell broke loose for a 28-yard run, giving Army its first down on Army's 48-yard line. Notre Dame was penalized five yards for offside.

On the next play Murrell mads another first down through the line, carrying the ball to the Notre Dame's 42-yard line. Cagle attempted a forward, which was grounded. Murrell made five through centre and Wilson added two. Maxwell of Notre Dame was hurt and Wallace took his place. Army failed to gain on fourth down and Notre Dame took the ball on its own 35-yard line.

Two thrusts at the Army line gave Notre Dame 9 yards and O'Boyle made it a first down, breaking through tackle and going to Notre Dame's 47-yard line. O'Boyle crashed through the line for a 5-yard gain, putting the hall on Army's 48-yard line. Niemic made four through the lioe and O'Boyle made it a first down on Army's 42-yard line.

Dahman and O'Boyle gave Notre Dame another first down on Army's 30-yard line, Dahman added five on an end run. On a triple pass, Niemic sprinted around right end to Army's 27-yard line. Notre Dame attempted a forward pass, which was intercepted by Murrell on Army's 21-yard line.

Murrell punted forty yards to Riley, who ran it back eleven yards. Notre Dame lost fivs yards on an offside pecalty, offsetting a previous 5-yard gain by Riley. Failing to gain, Niemic dropped back to his 30-yard line and punted outside on Army's 36-yard line.

Cagle sprinted around right end for nine yards. Harding, on a sneak, made a first down at mid-field. On a beautiful end run, Wilson made eleven yards before he was downed. Murrell lost three at centre. Cagle made it up and two more through the line.

Cagle again carried the ball for a 4-yard gain off tackle. On fourth down with two to gain Murrell punted from Notre Dame's 40-yard line out of bounds on Notrs Dame's 14. Niemic gsined five through centre and O'Boyle plunged through Army's centre for a first down on Notre Dame's 24-yard line. Niemic gained four yards as the period ended, with the ball on Notre Dame's 18-yard line. Score—Army, 0; Notre Dame, 0.

SECOND PERIOD.

Dahman shot off tackle for a 4-yard gain and Niemic mads it first down with a 2-yard smash at the line. Riley fumbled but recovered. Niemic lost six yards on an attempted end run and he then punted forty-three yards to Harding who carried the ball back five to Army's 45-yard line.

Coach Rockne then made almost a complete backfield substitution, Edwards going in at quarter, Flanagan replacing Niemic and Hearndon going in for Dahman. O'Boyle remained at fullback.

Cagle gained two yards but was then thrown for an 8-yard loss. Wilson made four through the line and then Murrell punted to Notre Dame's 22-yard line.

O'Boyle smashed centre for four yards and then hit tackle for four more. He took the ball again for a first down on his own 34-yard line. Flanagan dodged through the left side to the Army team for another first down on Notre Dame's 45-yard line. O'Boyle gained three, but Hearndon fumbled and Murrell recovered for Army on Army's 44-yard line.

Wilson gained five yards in two plays and then hit Notre Dame's centre for four more. Murrell dropped back and punted outside on Notre Dame's 4-yard line.

Standing behind his own goal line Edwards faked a punt and O'Boyle took a short pass for a 2-yard gain. Edwards again went back and punted to Army's 46-yard line. Murrell failed again on a fake punt formation but Wilson made three over tackle. Army's attempted forward pass was knocked down by O'Boyle. Murrell then punted to Edwards who was downed in his tracks on Notre Dame's 14-yard line by Daly.

Notre Dame lost five for taking out too much time and Flanagan, on a fake, made four yards. He added one and then Edwards went back to Notre Dame's 5-yard line from where he punted to Army's 42-yard line. Harding ran the kick back thirteen yards to Notre Dame's 45-yard mark.

Hewitt replaced Murrell in the Army backfield and in two smashes gained five yards. Wilson lost five on an attempted end run. Hewitt then went back to Army's 43-yard line and punted over the Notre Dams goal line. Notre Dama put it in play on the 20-yard line. After Notre Dame had gained six yards, ths half ended with the score 0 to 0.

THIRD PERIOD.

Army kicked off to O'Boyle, who returned 21 yards to Notre Dame's 33-yard line. Aftsr Hearndon and O'Boyle had made fonr yards, carrying the ball to Notre Dame's 37-yard line, Flanagan broke loose and ran 63 yards down the side lines for a touchdown. O'Boyle placed kicked, making the score Notre Dame 7, Army 0.

Sprague kicked to Hearndon, who returned 17 yards to Notre Dame's 34-yard line. Notre Dame gained 7 yards in line plunges and Edwards went back to his 30-yard line and punted to Harding, who returned ten yards to Army's 25-yard line.

Army made four and Murrell punted from his 20-yard line outside on Notre Dame's 36. Notre Dame was off side and was penalized five yards.

Harbold stopped Hearndon for no gain on an end run and Edwards went back to his 20-yard line and punted to Harding, who returned it 14 yards to Army's 44-yard line.

Wilson failed to gain on a double pass. Army couldn't gain and Murrell punted 35 yards to Edwards who fumbled, but Hearndon recovered for Notre Dame on the Notre Dame 36-yard line. The ball bounced toward the Army and Edwards muffed it. Several cadets had a chance to recover it but failed.

Flanagan gained five yards around right end and O'Boyle made two off left tackle. Sprague nailed Flanagan for no gain and Edwards punted 45 yards to Harding, who ran it back five to Army's 25-yard line.

Wilson gained four on a fake kick and Murrell four more from a punt formation. After Wilson had made a yard Murrell went back to Army's 25-yard line and punted 41 yards to Edwards, who made a fair catch on Notre Dame's 34-yard line.

O'Boyle hit centre for four yards, but was hurt on the play and replaced hy Wynns. Harbold dropped Flanagan for a loss of two yards. Edwards went back to his own 30-yard line and punted 45 yards to Harding, who ran it back 10 yards to Army's 35-yard line. Murrell fumbled Cagle's forward pass. Wilson ran outside of tackle for a five-yard gain as the period ended with the ball on Army's 40-yard lins. Score: Notre Dame 7, Army 0.

FOURTH PERIOD.

Wilson failed to gain on an end run and Murrell punted 45 yards to Notre Dame's 29-yard line. Wynne and Hearndon made 7 yards through Army's line and Wynne added three more for a first down on Notre Dame's 39-yard line. Hearndon made six yards but Notre Dame was off-side and penalized five yards.

With eleven yards to gain, Niemic punted 40 yards to Harding, who returned 8 yards to his own 38-yard line.

Army could not gain through Notre Dame's line and Murrell went back to his 35-yard line and punted 37 yards to Notre Dame's 28-yard line. Niemic made five yards over right tackle. Hearndon made three but was thrown yards to Wilson, who was downed in for a 3-yard loss. Niemic punted 48 his tracks on Army's 26-yard line.

Dahl, substituting for Murrell, smashed Notre Dame's line for 8 yards. Harding added 5 for a first down on Army's 39-yard line. Dahl again crashed through centre for 4 yards. Dahl took a forward pass from Cagle for a net gain of 16 yards, putting the ball on Notre Dame's 41-yard line. Dahl plowed through centre for 5 yards and then Harding dropped a forward pass from Cagle. It was an inglorious muff—the ball was right in his hands. Army tried another forward which was incompleted, giving Notre Dame the ball on its 36-yard line.

Notre Dame tried a forward pass which was incompleted, and Niemic punted 50 yards to Wilson, who ran the kick back 11 yards to Army's 26-yard line. Another Army forward was battered down. Cagle attempted an end run, reversed, and lost 5 yards when he stumbled over the refsred. Another forward pass was incompleted and Army was penalized 5 yards. Dahl went back of his goal and punted outside on Army's 41-yard line.

Notre Dame made a first down on Army's 29-yard line. Roach replaced Niemic in the Notre Dame backfield and on the play lost 5 yards. On the fourth down, with 13 yards to gain, Roach punted 37 yards out of bounds on Army's 8-yard line.

Trapnell made 9 yards and then an Army forward pas was incompleted. Dahl made two yards at centre, giving Army first down, and then an Army forward pass was intercepted by Notre Dame on Army's 43-yard line. After ths next play, which gained 2 yards, the gun was fired, ending the game. Score—Notre Dame 7, Army 0.

ARMY ATMOSPHERE DOMINATES SCENE

High Military Officers Among 72,000 at Game—Mayor Walker Also Attends.

By SEABURY LAWRENCE.

Rockne's Rough Riders from Notre Dame galloped into the open spaces of the Yankee Stadium yesterday to try conclusions with the well-known Army mule before a vast crowd of probably 72,000 persons, one of the biggest gatherings that has ever seen a football gams in this country.

With the gray-coated cadet divisions from West Point on hand to cheer their speedy players on, the cadet band staging a pre-game concert and the stands well-sprinkled with officers in uniform, the big crowd had a decidedly military aspect. There were many other notables present also, including Mayor Walker, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey.

The military leaders who came to see what the husky Notre Dame eleven could do with the fast-traveling cadets incluading Assistant Secretary of War Divison, Major General John L. Hines Chief of Staff of the Army; Major General Charles P. Summerall, commander of the Second Corps Area; Brig.-General March L. Stewart, Superintendent of the Military Academy, and Lieut.-Col. Campbell B. Hodges, commandant of cadets.

The game which had attracted wide interest among football lovers was reported to be a complete sell-out so far as the "coveted pasteboards" were concerned, and when this crowd was seated the stands became a spectacle of color, in which the black and gold of the Army and the light blue and gold of Notre Dame dominated ths picture. For some reason many of the spectators were late in arriving, possibly laboring under the impression that play started at 2:30.

Cadet March Enlivens Scene.

A lot of pep was put into the proceedings by ths marching of the Cadet Corps and later by the cheering of the lusty-lunged future generals. They arrived on schedule at 1:20 led by their dark-coated hand, which was playing that lively French marching song "The Samhre and Meuse." The band formed under the north goal posts and played the vivid march, while the gray-coated Cadet division circled the field following their gold and black guidons.

Following their march around the field the Cadets took their places on the west side of the field back of the Army benches and began their cheering and singing activities. The Cadet Corps has not suffered any loss of lung power and 'ts noise producing faculties were the most remarkable heard in this vicinity in many moons. Th songs of the Cadets, such as "The Army Team," "Victory" and others went over with a bang and were loudly applauded.

The usual happy hawkers of little footballs, feathers, pennants, &c., formed a cordon around the Stadium, and did quite a business in the souvenirs. But nobody could have sold a coonskin coat, it might be said, for the price of a pennant. The crowd came to the field in mellow sunshine and while the skies clouded later there was never much market for the coonskins at any stage of the afternoon.

13 Augurs Badly for Some One.

It was the thirteenth game between the teams and the thirteenth of the month, which mads it look like hard luck for somebody.

At 1:30, when the big parade of the cadets started, the main stands were far from being filled, although the bleachers or binocular seats were pretty well crowded.

A big sign near the scoreboard announced "Next Sunday, New York Yankees and Boston Braves."

Some of the baseball folks thought they might be in for another post season series, hut it was explained the sign referred to a pro football game.

The Army Band did not play that famous tune, "The Girl I Left Behind Me." Apparently none of the girls had been left behind.

The roar that was cut loose by the Army cheering section when the West Point team ran on the field brought back vivid memories of the world's series pandemonium in St. Louis.

The present cadet personnel is said to be equipped collectively with ths highest powered lungs in the history of the academy.

And the megaphones used hy Army cheer leaders were the latest thing in prismatic noise producers.

The weather still remained unfavorable to the coonskin coat industry.

Cheer Leaders Natty.

Wearing black sweaters with a gold "A" on the chest and white duck trousers, the Army cheer leaders looked pretty natty, not to say summery.

During the pre-game Army activities nobody seemed to think to give Notre Dame a cheer. The South Bend activities did not really begin until the game started.

The Army madhonse was going great guns when the team was going down the field in the first period. They settled down to serious noisemaking at this stage of the proceedinge.

It was just as well that the starting time was set ahead half an hour. The shades of night began to fall quite early in the game.

The visibility was rather low in the second half.

Army-Notre Dame Record.

NOTRE DAME HAPPY; ROCKNE VANISHES

Coach Flees Congratulations Immediately After Game—Old Grads Most Jubilant.

PLAYERS PRAISE THE ARMY

Flanagan, Hailed by Team-Mates, Returns Compliment for Giving Him Interference.

There was a wild scene in the Notre Dame dressing room in the Yankee Stadium after ths victory over the Army yesterday. Most of the demonstration, however, came from the alumni. Quite in contrast was the attitude of the players. They were juhilant, to be sure, but less noisily so than the old grads.

The players seemed to take the victory as more or less a matter of course. To them it was just another football game that had been won and won by good, hard, clean foothall.

Considerable ado, though, was made over Chris Flanagan, the star halfback whose senational run early in the third period gave the men from the Middle West their only points against the Army and enabled Rockne's men to travel nearer the national champlonship goal.

The dash made hy Rockne after the game was even faster than the ona Flanagan made with the whole Army pursuing him. In less thafi a minute after the men reached the dressing room, Rockne had vanished in thin air. Playing to a 72,000 throng has its drawbacks. Before game-time the ticket-requesters are husy and after the game the shoulder-slappers and hand-wringers get in their deadly work. Rockne evaded both during his stay here.

Flanagan was modest in his hour of greatness, passing the glory to his mates, who opened up the hole ha went through and who rendered first aid on the way down ths field.

All the Notre Dame players were magnanimous in their praise of the way Army fought and the clean game that the Cadets played.

Following the transformation from foothall toggery into mufti, the players were plied into automobiles and buses, bearing Notre Dame banners and, escorted by motorcycle police, dashed to the Hotel Vanderbilt, where they partook of a dinner tendered by the alumni. Tha squad will leave for home today to begin preparations for the remainder of the season.

So far as could be learned, the men came out of the fray in good condition. There were a few bruises. Ona or two were limping, but nothing serious.

'WE HAVE NO ALIBIS,' SAYS JONES OF ARMY

'Notre Dame Has a Fast Team and the Better Eleven Won,' He States.

The members of the Army football squad were a tired bunch of players when they came back to their dressing room at the Yankee Stadium after the game. They were followed by Captain L. M. (Biff) Jones who was in military uniform and who had no excuses to offer for his team'a defeat.

"Notre Dame has a very fast eleven and we were beaten by a better team today," was the statement of the Army coach following the game. "There is no use offering any alibis."

Soon after he looked his own players over and found that there were no serious injuries among them, Captain Jones went into the Notre Dame dressing room to congratulate Knute Rockne, head coach of the Sonth Bend eleven.

TICKETS SOUGHT IN VAIN.

As High as $25 Apiece Offered, Though There Are Few Available.

Eleventh hour seekers for tickets to the Notre Dame-Army game were generally out of luck and fancy prices were offered yesterday morning for almost any kind of a seat. Quotations for grandstand tickets ran as high as $25 apiece and some transactions were reported at this figure.

NAVY DRIVES BACK GEORGETOWN, 10-7

Navy braced, however, and took the ball on its own 25-yard line.

On delayed pass plays Ransford who had taken Caldwell's place, ran 12 and 5 yards and a pass on the fourth down from Hamilton to Hannegan just made first down. A pass from Hamilton to Lloyd then accounted for 40 yards, taking the ball to Georgetown's 18-yard point.

Shapley ran to the 8-yard point, and Hamilton dropped back and lifted a drop goal, scoring the winning points. With a minute to play, Eddy kicked outside, and then Woerner took his place and kicked to the 15-yard line, Nork running it back for 25 yards, the game ending as the ball was down.

Morris High School Eleven Falls Before Clinton, 14-7, in 24th Annual Clash

CARLSTEN'S WORK WINS FOR CLINTON

Back's Runs and Plunges Beat Morris, 14-7, in Rivals' 24th Football Clash.

MANUAL HAS EASY TIME

Undefeated Eleven Trims Jefferson 34-0, Socolow Starring—Commerce Downs Stuyvesant, 25-0.

The De Witt Clinton High School team came one step nearer to the Manhattan-Bronx championship yesterday by downing its ancient and traditional foe, Morris High School, by the score of 14 to 7 at the Catholic Protectory Oval. This is the twenty-fourth annual clash of the two rivals and Clinton followed its post-war custom of outclassing the Maroon. Commerce now is the only team to stand in the way of the Red and Blue's drive for the title.

As in all his games this season, Swede Carlsten, the brilliant halfback of the Clinton array, starred for the Manhattan eleven. Although he yielded the scoring limelight to his mates, he was for the most part responsible for the excellent showing of the Clinton troupe. He hit the line, rounded the ends and did all the kicking in stellar fashion. His two points after touchdown gave him a streak of nine in a row without a miss.

After a scoreless first period a straight march down the field was too relentless for the Maroon to stop and Robinson smashed the Morris line for the first touchdown of the day. In the second period Fishel's forward went into the waiting arms of Hines, Clinton end, who sprinted 25 yards for the second score.

In the final quarter Applebaum, the Morris right tackle, broke through the Clinton line just as Carlsten was about to punt. He hurled himself in front of the Red and Blue star and blocked the kick, which was 8 yards from the goal. Instead of falling on the pigskin he scooped it up and traversed the short distance to the goal-line for Morris's lone touchdown of the day.

Another for Manual.

The Manual Training eleven kept its record for the season clean yesterday afternoon by blanking the strong Thomas Jefferson aggregation by the score of 34 to 0 at Jefferson Field. A crowd of 7,000 saw Manual out-rush the Jefferson eleven, and by exhibiting more alertness on the defense convert two Jefferson plays into touchdowns for themselves.

Al Socolow, the sturdy quarterback of the Manual ensemble, was the star of the game. He scored three touchdowns himself and helped materially in the tallying of the others.

In the second period Manual marched down the field and Socolow cut through centre for 5 yards and a tally. Manual again marched down the field only to have Jefferson stiffen and hold on the 15-yard line. Jefferson took the ball on downs, but Gunsten intercepted a pass and ran 25 yards for a touchdown.

A 5-yard plunge by Socolow brought in the third score, and he also added the fourth when he intercepted a forward and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Aronowski tallied the final marker on the plunge through the line.

Curtis Held to a Tie.

The Curtis High School and the Staten Island Academy played a 6—6 tie yesterday afternoon at the Thompson Stadium at Stapleton. Curtis entered the fray a pronounced favorite, but could not seem to get going at proper speed.

For the greater part of the battle, the ball was deep in Staten Island territory, but Curtis failed to produce a winning offensive. Both teams tallied on passes.

In the first quarter, Redman tossed to Long, who ran 5 yards for a touchdown. The kick for the extra point was blocked. In the third period Ericson passed to Devlin, who also sprinted 5 yards to a tally. The kick which would have meant victory was blocked and the score remained deadlocked.

$275,000 Football Stadium Is Gift to North Carolina

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—A gift of $275,000 to build a football stadium at the University of North Carolina has been made by William Rand Kenan Jr., of New York, President of the Florida East Coast Railway.

Dr. H. W. Chase, President of the University, making this announcement tonight, said the stadium will seat 24,000. Construction is to begin immediately, and be completed in time for the opening of the next football season.

The gift is in memory of the late Mary Hargrove and William Rand Kenan, mother and father of the donor. It will be known as the Kenan Memorial Stadium.

Baldwin Takes Contest.

BALDWIN, L. I., Nov. 13.—Baldwin High School defeated the Westbury High School team, 15 to 0, here this afternoon in a well-played game. Baldwin had the edge, however, and registered a score in each of the first three periods. In the first quarter DeLaney tackled Crocter behind the goal line for a safety, the initial tally of the contest.

Early in the next session McDermott blocked a kick in midfield and scooping up the ball ran 45 yards for a touchdown. The last touchdown was made in the third quarter when Clark rounded end for 10 yards and a score.

Commerce the Better.

Commerce handed Stuyvesant a complete 25-0 trouncing yesterday afternoon at the New York Oval in a traditional encounter which is of some twenty-four years' duration. This marks the first victory Commerce has been able to attain in seven years. Largely through some magnificent work by Groeling were the Commerce players able to gain their triumph.

It was Groeling who tallied all of the Commerce touchdowns. Not only was he directly responsible for these tallies, but he placed the ball in scoring distance on all of these occasions. His accurate forward passing moved the ball down the field several times and most of them resulted in touchdowns. His team-mate, Kozera, the right end, was on the receiving end of these passes and his catching of the long tosses by Groeling brought the ball within scoring distance on three occasions.

In the first, second and third periods the Commerce attack waxed at its fiercest. Then the combination of Groeling's passing and his running of the ball registered the touchdowns.

Erasmus Wins, 33—0.

The Erasmus Hall High School eleven ran roughshod over the Alexander Hamilton team yesterday afternoon at Commercial Field, winning by the score of 33 to 0. The Flatbush team launched a steady offensive against the Scarlet and gradually grew stronger as the game progressed.

The Erasmus attack was rather futile during the first period, but under the masterful direction of Vinnie de Angeleis it grew stronger, so that three touchdowns were scored in the final period.

De Angeleis scored the first touchdown for Erasmus in the second period on an end run after his comrades advanced the ball from midfield on straight plunges. Caulkins scored the second touchdown on a forward pass from de Angeleis in the third period.

In the final quarter, de Angeleis, Jacobs and King carried the ball over for the Buff and Blue.

Boys' High Is Beaten.

James Madison High School football team defeated the Boys' High team yesterday afternoon at Hawthorne Field by the score of 26 to 0. The Madison eleven relied chiefly on the forward pass to win, and its work in this department of the game was excellent, perfecting eight passes out of twelve attempts.

Sonny Balber of the Madison eleven was the outstanding performer on the field, scoring three of his team's touchdowns. Al Grossman also acquitted himself well, scoring one touchdown, and making all the points after touchdown.

Textile High in Front.

Scoring all but six of the total points of his team, Benny Gellis led Textile High to victory over Brooklyn Prep at Commercial Field yesterday, 16 to 0. Gellis drop-kicked a field goal in the first quarter to give his team a slim lead of three points. After two scoreless quarters had followed, Gellis made a touchdown and kicked the extra point. So with ten points to his credit he stepped aside to let Kaufman bring the ball over on a line plunge for the final marker.

Flushing Is Conqueror.

Special to The New York Times.

FLUSHING, L. I., Nov. 13.—The Flushing High School team buried the Far Rockaway eleven under a 30 to 6 count here this afternoon at the Flushing Memorial Stadium. Flushing scored in the first three periods, while Far Rockaway tallied in the first and the last quarters on field goals.

Dugan, the left halfback of the Flushing array, starred for the home gridiron lads. He made two touchdowns while Gerts, a tackle, tallied the other two. Gerts broke through the Far Rockaway line to block two kicks which he converted into touchdowns. A safety was also scored through the vigilance of the Flushing tackles.

Jamaica H. S. Triumphs.

Scoring in every period the Jamaica High School eleven easily vanquished the Richmond Hill aggregation by the score of 22 to 0 at Dexter Park yesterday afternoon. Richmond Hill could not stop the Jamaica lads, who tallied on line plunges and once on a forward pass.

In the first period Deneen plowed through the Richmond line and crossed the final marker. In the second period, after Jamaica had worked the ball down the field, he duplicated his performance of the first quarter by again going over the line. A thirty-yard drop kick by Wagner enabled the Jamaica outfit to score in the third session and Catzeflix tallied in the last quarter on a ten-yard forward pass.

GORTON H. S. TAKES YONKERS CITY TITLE

Field Goal Beats Mt. Vernon Team—Police Quell Riot Over Goal Posts—Other Westchester Games.

The Gorton High School won the Yonkers city championship yesterday afternoon by downing the neighboring rival, the Yonkers High School, by the score of 19 to 7. Stellar playing by Theiss, who tallied all of the Gorton touchdowns, was in the main responsible for the Gorton victory. Smithers, a team mate, also did commendable work. For Yonkers, Ball and Kosky starred. Long punting by De Salvo featured the Yonkers defense.

After the opening kick-off Yonkers failed to gain and De Salvo punted to the Gorton 40-yard line. Theiss gathered in the ball and ran 60 yards for the initial tally of the fray.

Near the end of the first half Gorton carried the ball from its own 8-yard line down the field for its second touchdown. Theiss again carried the ball 60 yards around right end for the tally.

In the third quarter Yonkers was going for a touchdown when Murphy intercepted a pass on his own 28-yard line. After a series of line bucks on the part of both teams Gorton finally got the ball on the 18-yard line, where Theiss again made an end run for a touchdown.

Yonkers opened up its aerial attack and carried the ball to the 20-yard line, where it lost the ball on downs. Then Yonkers held Gorton and a pass from Acropolis to Kosky covered the remaining 20 yards for a touchdown.

The line-up:

Port Chester on Top.

Special to The New York Times.

PELHAM, N. Y., Nov. 13.—An early lead which Port Chester rolled up in the first half of the game enabled it to down Pelham High School here this afternoon by the score of 13 to 9.

Pelham rallied after being on the short end of a 13—0 count but, although it scored 9 points in the final quarter, fell short of moving up on even terms with its adversaries. A 60-yard run by Aloffin resulted in one Port Chester touchdown and Caviola's line plunge brought the second. Thomas who starred for Pelham gained their only touchdown.

Victory for White Plains.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Aided by the stellar offensive play of Keegan, White Plains High School was able to edge out its rival Pleasantville here this afternoon by the score of 6 to 0. Although it would appear from the final count that the fray was very closely contested, the White Plains eleven clearly outclassed its adversary. The Orange and Black goal line was never in danger, the nearest the Pleasantville aggregation could approach to it was the 40-yard mark.

Although its own territory was well protected the Orange and Black could not manage to penetrate deeply into the White Plains sector of the field. Great line-plunging by Keegan began to have its effect in the third quarter when the White Plains outfit drove down the gridiron for a score. Another score was prevented when Pleasantville repelled a White Plains drive one foot from the goal line. Pleasantville made only one first down throughout the game.

Death of a Girl Player Cancels Soccer in England

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Co. By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Owing to the death of Miss C. V. Richards from injuries received while playing soccer football, all women's matches in Glamorgan have been canceled and football among women has received a severe setback. The game was becoming increasingly popular among women. Association teams of working girls are to be found in many parts of the country and leagues have been formed. The Women's Football League in the course of formation in Wales will not now be proceeded with and those who have all along condemned the game as too strenuous are temporarily sustained.

GENEVA LOSES, 3-0, TO GROVE CITY TEAM

Victors Intercept Pass in Final Quarter and Pflug Boots Ball From 20-Yard Line.

Special to The New York Times.

BEAVER FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The toe of Pflug, right tackle and punter extraordinary for the Grove City College football team, proved the decisive factor in the annual battle here this afternoon between the Groves and Bo McMillin's Geneva team. Pflug had three tries for a placement kick and, while he scored but one, the three points thus gained proved sufficient to give Grove City the game.

The deciding score of one of the hardest struggles ever witnessed on the local field came in the final period. Grove City intercepted one of Flenniken's passes on Geneva's 20-yard line and here Pflug made his victorious placement kick.

ANDOVER TRIUMPHS OVER EXETER, 20 TO 3

Trails by 3 to 0 at End of First Half, but Scores Heavily at the Close.

FRIGARD OVER THE LINE

Tallies After Lyons Put Ball in Position by Gathering Up an Exeter Fumble.

Special to The New York Times.

ANDOVER, Mass., Nov. 13.—Andover took a lesson in football from Exeter in the first half of the forty-sixth annual battle here today, but came back after the half, overcame a 3-to-0 lead, and smothered Exeter, 20 to 3. It was Andover's first victory since 1920.

Exeter got a break in the second period, when Richardson kicked and Andover was penalized 15 yards for spoiling an opportunity for a fair catch and Exeter started from Andover's 40-yard line. Gilligan hit right end for seven yards and was forced to try a drop-kick. Standing on his 45-yard line, he lifted it over.

In the second half Exeter got one lone first down and Andover got eight first downs and three touchdowns. Lyons recovered an Exeter fumble for Andover on the 22-yard line and Frigard went over. Richardson's kick was blocked.

In the fourth period a 35-yard pass from Frigard to Lyons landed Andover on the 5-yard stripe. On last down Frigard reached the goal for a touchdown. Luce then intercepted an Exeter pass on the Exeter 40-yard line. He then took a forward from Frigard for 15 yards and followed it up by crashing the Exeter centre for 15 yards more.

A forward from Frigard to Crandall went for a first down. Luce carried to the one-yard line and Crandall went over for the final touchdown. Richardson topped off a fine day by kicking the point.

PRELETZ IS FORCED OUT

Scarlet Star Injured in First Period—O'Callahan Gains on Punting Exchanges.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 13.—Resorting to a running attack, in which the Rutgers ends were circled for long gains, Lehigh University concluded its home season today with its first victory of the year, defeating Rutgers by 14 to 0.

Behind a well-arranged interference, the Lehigh backs kept the ball in Rutgers territory most of the time. O'Callahan, punting for Lehigh, also [illegible] big gains in the exchanges.

[illegible], a light but speedy back, and [illegible] excelled at circling the ends, while Gene O'Callaghan and Charlis [illegible] frequently plunged through the Rutgers line for big gains.

Lehigh provided a surprise with its [illegible] attack. Rutgers gained ground steadily in its territory, but was generally forced to kick or lost the ball on downs when in Lehigh's territory. Seldom did Rutgers get within 30 yards of the Brown and White goal line.

The Scarlet back field was handicapped early in the first quarter when Preletz, its best ground gainer, was injured and forced to leave the game.

the goal for the first Brown touchdown. Mishel kicked the goal.

Sayles made a pretty run back of Mishel's kick off, carrying the ball 35 yards to Brown's 45-yard line after cutting across the field and outsprinting several Brown players. The Bruin defense threw the Crimson ball carriers for big losses. French's first kick was poor but an exchange of kicks favored Harvard. The first quarter ended with the ball on Brown's 36-yard line.

French and Randall waged a kicking duel in the second quarter, leaving Harvard in possession of the ball on its 25-yard line. With 1 yard to go on the third down, Harvard kicked, but Meadows recovered a fumble in midfield French completed a pass to Stafford for a 10-yard gain, but on the next play French was thrown for a 10-yard loss by Broda. Another poor kick by French put the ball back in midfield.

Brown's Aerials Deadly.

A forward pass, again by Mishel to Randall, gained 23 yards for Brown. The ball was on Harvard's 25-yard line. Mishel threw another pass to Randall, who picked it out of the air, 5 yards from the goal, and easily cleared the line for his second touchdown. Mishel kicked his second extra point.

A 16-yard run by E. Clark, and short gains by the other Harvard backs put the ball in midfield. Chauncey attempted a field goal from this point but the ball fell under the goal posts. Mishel threw a pass to Cornsweet for a gain of 20 yards as the first half ended.

Harvard began to play better football in the second half. After Brown kicked off, Chauncey got off one of the best punts of the game, the ball going 68 yards and coming to rest on Brown's 22-yard line. Brown kicked out of danger. Clark made 10 yards around end, but the Harvard march stopped there. In an exchange of punts Stafford made a pretty run back of Brown's return to the Bears' 42-yard line.

With Chauncey and Clark hitting the line, Harvard rushed the ball to Brown's 20-yard line, but the visitors' defense tightened, and they took the ball on downs. After a punt, Chauncey was thrown for a 12-yard loss around midfield. Smith then intercepted Chauncey's pass, but Brown relinquished possession of the ball when Mishel's attempted drop kick went wide of the posts.

The Crimson could do nothing against Brown's defense, and Randall made a spectacular catch and run-back of Chauncey's punt to midfield as the third quarter ended.

Chauncey's Long Punting.

Clark intercepted Mishel's pass on his 44-yard line, but followed that by fumbling for a 6-yard loss. Chauncey made another beautiful punt, the ball rolling outside on Brown's 12-yard line. Brown punted to its own 32-yard line. Lawrence intercepted Chauncey's pass at the line of scrimmage.

A passing and rushing game carried Brown down the field to Harvard's 33-yard line, where the Crimson braced and took the ball on downs. Harvard's backs carried the ball back to the midfield, but lost it on an intercepted pass. Harvard took the ball on its 20-yard line when Mishel's try for field goal went awry. Chauncey punted to Brown's 33-yard line. Mishel ran 40 yards around right end.

Coach McLaughry then sent in four substitutes. Edes carried the ball to Harvard's 8-yard line. A double reverse play, Eisenberg, Randall to Edes, brought the ball over the line for Brown's third touchdown. Eisenberg kicked the goal.

The game ended several minutes later, with the ball in Brown's possession near its own goal line.

CLINTON SWIMMERS SMASH RELAY MARK

Clip One Second Off P. S. A. L. 200-Yard Event, but Record Will Not Stand.

DEADLOCK STILL UNBROKEN

Stuyvesant and Erasmus Teams Each Win and Remain in Tie for First Place.

Taking a day off from individual effort, George Kojac, sterling swimmer of De Witt Clinton High School, who has bagged five aquatic records since the start of the schoolboy swimming season, yesterday contributed to his team's earning record distinction. In the seventh of the series of high schools dual swimming meets held under the auspices of the Public Schools Athletic League in the pool of Columbia University, the De Witt Clinton relay four returned the day's most significant performance when it swam the 200-yard relay in the unprecedented time of 1 minute 46 1-5 seconds. This time clipped one full second off the best previous P. S. A. L. standard of 1:46 1-5, made by Stuyvesant High School's four in a meet last Nov. 6.

The mark, however, will not receive recognition, although it will stand as a season's standard. The Clintonians, winning this race in their meet against Textile H. S. by default, simply enjoyed a swim-over, racing against time as they went through the motions of going through with the event despite the absence of the Textile team.

This record performance was the outstanding event in a hollow victory the De Witt Clinton lads scored over Textile. The score favored the west side school by 52 to 10.

The deadlock for first place existing between the teams of Stuyvesant H. S. of this city and Erasmus Hall H. S. of Brooklyn went unbroken when each team annexed its seventh straight victory. Stuyvesant vanquished New Utrecht H. S. rather handily by the score of 45 to 17 and Erasmus Hall had a similarly easy time beating the swimmers of James Madison H. S. by a similar score.

2 MARKS ECLIPSED IN P. S. A. L. SWIMS

3 OTHERS ARE EQUALED

Wolf Ties 20-Yard Breast-Stroke Time, Prospect and Elijah Clark Teams Equal Record.

Five seasons' record performances were returned yesterday morning in the fifth series of dual meets in the Public School Athletic League's junior high schools tournament. In the first division competitions held in the pool of Public School 11, Manhattan, one mark was broken and another equaled, and in meets conducted in the pool of Public School 70, Bronx, in the second division of the tournament, three record performances were returned.

The distinction for shattering the record of the first division went to Datakowsky of Lew Wallace Junior High School, who, in winning the 40-yard swim, in 24 2-5 seconds, clipped one second off the season's best previous mark. Wolf of Henry O'Neil Junior High School equaled the season's best mark for the 20-yard breast stroke event when he won in 13 seconds.

In the second division competition Weller of Yorkville Junior High School broke the 60-yard swim mark when he won this event in 32 4-5 seconds. The best previous mark was 36 2-5 seconds. Prospect Junior High School and Elijah Clark Junior High School relay teams equaled the season's best mark for the 200-yard relay swim, each team winning in its respective meet in 42 3-5 seconds.

DICKINSON UPSETS LINCOLN HIGH, 38-0

Takes Jersey City Football Title by Trampling Opponents in Unexpected Defeat.

SPRINGS VERSATILE ATTACK

Devlin and Mulligan Star as Crowd of 6,000 Looks On—Other New Jersey Scholastic Games.

Dickinson High furnished one of the biggest scholastic football upsets of the 1926 season in New Jersey yesterday by tearing through Lincoln's undefeated team to a 38 to 0 victory at Jersey City.

Dickinson showed a consistent and varied attack and scored two touchdowns in every period except the first. The game was for the city championship and was played before a crowd of 6,000 enthusiastic football fans who saw the hitherto unbeaten Lincoln eleven break before a savage and versatile Dickinson attack.

Devlin and Mulligan starred for the winners, the former scoring two touchdowns and the latter one. The other points were made by Zaremba, James and Chason.

The line-up:

Point Wins for Hackensack.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 13.—Hackensack High School today scored its second successive victory in two years over the East Side High School football team by a score of 7 to 6.

Hackensack made its only score in the second quarter on a 25-yard forward pass from Tallman to Hall for a touchdown. Tallman kicked the extra point, making it seven.

Paterson scored in the last quarter when, after a series of line plunges, Cole went over for a touchdown. Ross tried for the extra point, but went wide of the mark, costing Paterson the game.

Nutley Swamps South Side.

Special to The New York Times.

NUTLEY, N. J., No 13.—Nutley High School's eleven swamped the South Side High team of Newark here this afternoon, 39 to 0. The visitors were no match for the home team which used a fine aerial attack coupled with some hard-line plunging.

The Nutley team's interference was the finest shown by any scholastic eleven in years. South Side High made several costly fumbles, the alert Nutley ends recovering three of them.

Easy for South Orange.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 13.—South Orange High School's speedy eleven scored a hollow victory over its ancient rivals from Orange High School here today, the final count registering 35 to 0.

South Orange presented a fast running attack that fairly swept the Orangeites off their feet. The Orange eleven tried many forward passes nearly all of which were uncompleted. South Orange has not lost a game this season.

Barringer Victor, 26—6.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 13.—Barringer High School ran roughshod over the Montclair High eleven in their annual New Jersey Interscholastic League game here today, the Big Blue winning 26 to 6.

East Orange High is at present leading the loop and Barringer now has a chance to tie the Red and Blue for the titular honors by triumphing over East Orange in their annual classic on Thanksgiving Day.

Barringer's diversified attack had the Montclair lads on the run in the few times that Montclair had the ball it was unable to penetrate the Big Blue defense.

12 GAMES BOOKED FOR C. C. N. Y. FIVE

Lavender Will Open Its Season Against St. Francis College on Nov. 26.

VILLANOVA A NEWCOMER

Will Play Here on New Year's Eve—Holman Drills Squad Against the Celtics.

Twelve games will be played by the 1926-27 City College basketball team, according to the schedule announced by Professor Walter W. Williamson, Faculty athletic manager of athletics at the Lavender institution. Inasmuch as Coach Nat Holman prefers to have his charges play their games on the City College court, rather than travel, only two games will be played away from home, one at the Fordham gymnasium with the Maroon and the other on a neutral court, probably the 22d Regiment Armory, in the annual game with New York University.

St. Francis College will open the Lavender season on Nov. 26. The Brooklyn five has held this position on C. C. N. Y. schedules for the past few years and has always provided keen opposition, but has yet to gain a victory against the Lavender, last year going down 33—16. St. John's, which plays on the following Saturday, did not face the Lavender last year. On Dec. 11, Dickinson, who last year broke a four-year losing streak and conquered the C. C. N. Y. five, 29 to 24, again comes to New York.

Union College will come back to avenge the beating it received last year on Dec. 18. Christmas Eve will find the varsity facing the alumni in their annual battle. On New Year's Eve, Villanova, a newcomer on the City College schedule, meets the Lavender. The annual game with Rutgers will be played on Jan. 8. Last year C. C. N. Y. triumphed, 19 to 15.

Manhattan Again Listed.

On the following Saturday, Manhattan will be played. Last season the Green and White defeated the Lavender by the biggest score a Nat Holman team has ever suffered. On Jan. 22 Fordham will be engaged, the first game away from home. Last year two contests were played with the Maroon, each team winning on its own court. On Lincoln's Birthday, the Lavender five engages Catholic University and closes its home season on the 19th against Carnegie Tech. N. Y. U. will be met on Feb. 26.

The Lavender squad has rounded into fine condition after a month's intensive training. More than forty men answered Coach Holman's first call, but the squad has been steadily reduced, inasmuch as the Lavender mentor does not believe in carrying many men, so that now it numbers only fifteen. Three more men will be dropped during the week, and the remaining twelve will be carried through the year.

Coach Holman has pitted his men against the Original Celtics and the University Five almost daily during the past four weeks. Regular games were not held and no scores kept, but the workouts were featured by fast scrimmages, the Lavender mentor frequently halting the session to instruct and correct his men.

Raskin to Get Short Rest.

Captain-elect Tubby Raskin and Jack Goldberg will report for the first time, but Holman will excuse them for a few days, inasmuch as both men have just finished a long and hard football season.

The first team, that has been playing against the professional teams, includes Bob Liss, who played on last year's freshman team, and Sid Lechner, a substitute last year, forwards; Hick Rubinstein, a veteran from last year, at centre, and Bill Hirsch, a reserve man last season, and Teddy Meisel, guards. The line-up will be shifted as soon as Raskin and Goldberg return to the court.

The schedule:

Nov. 27, St. Francis. Dec. 4, St. John's; 11, Dickinson; 18, Union; 24, Alumni; 31, Villanova; Jan. 8, Rutgers; 15, Manhattan; 22, Fordham at Fordham; Feb. 12, Catholic University; 19, Carnegie Tech; 26, N. Y. U. at Twenty-second Regiment Armory.

Florida Gold Beaten a Neck by Thistle Gold in the Lexington Club Handicap

THISTLE GOLD WINS IN DRIVE BY A NECK

WINNER PAYS $40 FOR $2

Candy Queen, the Favorite, Unplaced —General Haldeman Sets Pace, but Tires in Stretch.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 13 (AP).—Thistle Gold captured the Lexington Club Handicap for two-year-olds, with $3,000 added, here today. Fourteen went to the post. Candy Queen was favorite but she had top weight of 120 pounds and seemed to be anchored by it. General Haldeman was away in front and held his advantage to the stretch. As the field swung around the last bend, General Haldeman weakened and Thistle Gold and Florida Gold came away, the former winning in a drive by a neck. Anita M., coupled in the field with Thistle Gold, was a poor third. Mary Jane was fourth. The winner paid $40 even for $2. Thistle Gold ran the Futurity course on the fast track which prevailed in 1:09 1-5.

Handy Mandy, favorite in the second race, dwelt when the barrier went up and was away poorly. She came like a wild horse in the stretch and ran second to O Girl. She was unlucky to lose.

Norseman was left at the post in the third Longchamps winning by a nose from Lady Carolyn. In the fourth Broadway Jones was a 4 to 5 favorite but was outrun until the last sixteenth when he passed the pacemakers and won by a head from Ledge.

German Horse, First to Race In England Since War, Second

LIVERPOOL, England, Nov. 13 (AP).—Baron Oppenheimer's Weissdorn, the first German racehorse to compete on an English race course since the war, took second place in the running of the Grosvenor Cup for £1,000 here today. The race, at a mile, was won by Reid Walker's Inca. Mrs. Bancroft's Purple Shade was third in the field of thirteen.

CRUSADER IS BEATEN IN HIS LAST RACE

and Crusader stepped a little faster, quickly taking the measure of The Clown.

By this time Edith Cavell had opened a lead of some ten lengths on Princess Doreen, Crusader running closely behind the mare. That was the final order of the race, with the exception that Crusader passed the Princess a little later in his long stern chase after the flying leader.

On the final trip down the back stretch Crusader gradually improved his position, running with great ease and smoothness. Sande made his move on the far turn, Crusader responding gallantly to the call. At every stride he cut down the filly's lead a little until he caught her on the final turn.

A great shout rose from the stands as the son of Man o' War moved up, for hardly a person that watched the contest believed that Crusader could be beaten. There was a roar of approval as he gained inch by inch until his nose was at her saddle.

That was his supreme effort. Courageous as he is, he was unable to hold the pace. Sande asked him for everything that he had and he freely gave it; but it was not enough. Bourassa saw the menace and rode for all that he was worth. Crusader faltered for a moment and the filly shot away from him.

Crusader could not come on again and Edith Cavell flashed past the winning post with a lead of three full lengths. The rest of the field was nowhere. Princess Doreen, under her 110 pounds, trailed in twenty lengths back of Crusader, just lasting to nose her stable companion out of third money. The fractional times of the race were as follows: 24 4-5, 49 1-5, 1:15 1-5, 1:41 3-5, 1:57 1-5, 2:33 3-5, 3:00, 3:26, 3:52 1-5.

Willie Munden rode a bang-up race to win the Roland Park Purse for all ages at a mile and a sixteenth with William Ziegler's filly, Gamble. This consistent daughter of Sir Martin and Guesswork is right at the top of her form. She beat such good ones as the Greenbrier Stable's Mino, the Glen Riddle Farm's filly Taps, Mrs. E. Wayland's Cogwheel, her own stable companion Fletchita, and A. C. Bostwick's old Shuffle Along to gain her second consecutive victory here.

Gamble broke well from an inside position, Munden quickly taking her back to berth her on the rail. He saved all possible ground with the filly and on the turn for home eased Gamble into an opening on the rail. She challenged Mino, and then Callahan came on with Taps on the outside. It was a thrilling struggle down the stretch, the three locked and running head and head.

NINETEEN STAKES TO CLOSE SATURDAY

Suburban Heads List of Belmont Park Events With $10,000 in Added Money.

METROPOLITAN COMES NEXT

Weights for This Classic Will Be Given Out Feb. 1—Toboggan Also Is Popular Race.

Announcement of the closing of nineteen stake events to be run at Belmont Park during 1927, 1928 and 1929 under the auspices of the Westchester Racing Association was made yesterday by Racing Secretary V. E. Schaumberg. These events are to close on Saturday at the office of the association, 250 Park Avenue. A perusal of the list of stake fixtures emphasizes the desire of the association to continue its liberal policy. Of the nineteen stakes, seven are to be contested at the 1927 Spring meeting at the Westchester Racing Association's mammoth plant at Belmont Park.

As usual, the Suburban Handicap heads the list of stakes. This ever popular event is to be continued at a mile and a quarter and will carry an added value of $10,000. The Suburban, of course, is one of the most important of the Spring races, since it is the first of the distance tests of the season. Ranking in popularity and in importance next to the Suburban is the Metropolitan Handicap. The Metropolitan is run over a distance of a mile and has an added value of $5,000. Mr. Schaumburg will announce the weights for this event on Feb. 1.

The Toboggan Handicap, $5,000 added, at six furlongs; the Ladies' Handicap for fillies and mares exclusively at a mile, with $2,500 added; the Speed Handicap at five and a half furlongs, $2,500 added; the Harlem Claiming Stakes, $2,000 added, at one mile, and the Hollis Stakes at six furlongs, $2,000 added, are among the other races for three-year-olds to be run at the Spring meeting at Belmont Park. The list also includes the Swift Stakes for three-year-olds which were two-year-olds at the time of entry.

Juvenile Attracts Interest.

During the Spring meeting there also will be run the Juvenile, the Keene Memorial, the Fashion Stakes and the Boquet, a claiming event. These all are for two-year-olds (now yearlings) and interest is bound to centre on the Juvenile, which is at five furlongs and has an added value of $5,000. There is always great interest in this race for the simple reason that it seldom has failed to bring out a representative field.

The Keene, Fashion and Boquet are over the four-and-one-half furlong route and while the Keene has earned a place in the seasonal racing program, there is unusual interest of a romantic turn, perhaps, in the running of the Fashion Stakes, which is exclusively for fillies. This race is named in honor of the mare that was the toast of the day in a generation fast passing. The Keene and the Fashion each carry an added value of $2,500. The Boquet has an added value of $2,000.

Only one fixture scheduled for the Autumn meeting is to close on Saturday. This is the classic Jockey Club Gold Cup, which carries an added value of $10,000 in addition to the gold cup which is valued at $2,500. As usual the distance will be two miles. Joseph E. Widener, President of the Westchester Racing Association, is one of the scores of turf lovers who look upon the Jockey Club Gold Cup as one of the most important racing events of the season in this country for the reason that it is doing so much good for the turf in general. It is considered one of the few real tests of thoroughbred quality in these days which show an ever-increasing tendency toward sprint offerings, despite the efforts of the devoted few who want the traditions of other days preserved.

Several Classics in 1928.

The Spring meeting of 1928 will witness the running of several classic events, nominations for which are due on Saturday. Not the least interesting of these is the historic Withers Stakes, $5,000 added, which is for three-year-olds at one mile. Then comes the Coaching Club American Oakes, which has an estimated value of $15,000, of which $2,500 is in added money in addition to a cup. This is for three-year-old fillies (now yearlings) and is to be run at a mile and three furlongs.

The National Stallion Stakes is one certain to produce no end of speculation and conjecture, since it is for the produce of a list of stallions whose names are held in the highest esteem on the American turf. The race has an added value of $5,000, is for two-year-olds (now weanlings) and is to be contested over a distance of five furlongs.

The produce from the following stallions are eligible for nomination to this event:

Apprehension, Audacious, Black Servant, Black Tony, Broomstick, Bud Lerner, Bunting, Campfire, Captain Alcock, Chatterton, Chicle, Donnacona, Dunlin, Ed Crump, Eternal, Fair Play, Friar Rock, Golden Broom, Golden Guinea, Grey Lag, High Cloud, High Time, John P. Grier, Kale Sang, Last Coin, Leonardo 2d, Lucky Hour, Lucullite, Mad Hatter, Man o' War, Master Charlie, Meridian, Mont d'Or, Morvich, Negofol, North Star 3d, Oceanic, Olambala, Omar Khayyam, Over There, Pennant, Peter Pan, Pillory, Playfellow, Polymelian, Burchase, Rockminster, Royal Canopy, Sir Barton, Sir Martin, Spanish Prince 2d, Sporting Blood, Spur, Star Hampton, Star Master, Stefan the Great, St. Henry, St. James, Sun Briar, Sunference, Sweep, Sweep On, Tall Timber, Trap Rock, Tromps la Mort, Tryster, Under Fire, Upset, Vulcain, Whisk Broom 2d, Wildair, Wrack, Zev.

Lawrence Also to Close.

Another event that will close on Saturday but which will not be contested until the Autumn meeting in 1928 is the Lawrence Realization, always one of the top-line offerings at Belmont Park. The Lawrence has an added value of $7,500 and an estimated total value of $35,000. The race is for three-year-olds at one mile and five furlongs. This is the second closing for the event, the first being for weanlings, while this is for yearlings of 1926.

Stakes that are to be run in 1929, for which nominations may now be made, are the ever-popular Belmont Stakes and the Lawrence Realization.

a Wm. Ziegler entry.
Scratched—Lancaster, Son of John, Edith Cavell and Nedana.
Gamble ran as if much the best. She was rated along to the far turn, where she went up on the inside. She then came around Flechita on the turn and slipped through next to the rail in the stretch. She closed gamely and won going away. Mino showed plenty of speed, forced a fast pace and held on well. Taps closed gamely on the outside. Flechita ran well for six furlongs, but then stopped. Shuffle Along displayed good speed for seven furlongs and then quit. Cogwheel was outclassed.
Owners—1, Wm. Ziegler; 2, Greenbriar Stable; 3, Glen Riddle; 4, Mrs. E. Wayland; 5, W. Ziegler; 6, A. C. Bostwick.

GREENLEAF TAKES LEAD IN CUE PLAY

Beats Harmon for His Sixth Victory in a Row in Pocket Billiard Championship.

Keeps Close to Leaders by Defeating Woods—Ponzie Scores Over Natalie, Pindle Stops Hueston.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—Ralph Greenleaf, striving to regain his former laurels, took undisputed possession of first place in the world's championship pocket billiard tournament here tonight when he annexed his sixth straight victory at the expense of Charles Harmon of Glendale, L. I. The score was 125, Greenleaf completing his string in nineteen innings. The victory gave Greenleaf one more than Erwin Rudolph, who did not play today.

Greenleaf played his usual style of game, working along carefully and waiting for the breaks. Harmon took the lead at the start with a run of 19 and in the eighth ran 21, his high mark of the match, to lead by 57 to 34. Greenleaf assumed the lead in the tenth inning when he clicked off 41, virtually assuring him the match, although he made matters certain in the sixteenth frame by running off 23.

Frank Taberski, former world's champion, kept himself close to the lead when he defeated Arthur Woods by a score of 125 to 65 in fifteen innings. It was Taberski's fifth victory of the tournament in which he has suffered only one setback.

Taberski and Woods were in good stroke and, playing each shot with care, gave a pleasing display. Although Taberski gained the lead by pocketing eighteen in the second inning, Woods fought back gamely and had the high run of the match, a pretty cluster of thirty-six, in the eighth inning. The Schenectady star rallied in the tenth and eleventh innings and recorded runs of eighteen and twenty-six to gain an advantage of 82 to 54, and in the fourteenth inning added 25, which put him in front, 107 to 63. An unfinished run of eighteen won the game.

Andrew Ponzi, a Philadelphia entry, gained his third victory in seven starts by defeating Pasquale Natalie, of Baltimore, in the first of the night matches, 125 to 92, in 42 innings.

Harold Pindle of Appleton, Wis., defeated Tom Hueston in the afternoon by 125 to 95 in thirty-seven innings. The Westerner previously was a mere stepping stone for those intent upon reaching the top of the ladder in the tournament and it was not until his game this afternoon that he showed the ability to play winning billiards. The veteran, Tom Hueston, on the other hand, put up a mediocre brand of cue work. The victor had a high run of 24 in the thirteenth frame and also came through with a string of 22 in the thirty-fifth. Hueston's best was 20 in the fourteenth.

HAMMER WINS TROPHY.

Defeats Stern in the Play-Off for Poggenburg Memorial Cup.

Herbert Hammer won his play-off match with Harry Stern in their 18.2-balkline competition for the Poggenburg Memorial Cup at Lawler's Academy last night by scoring 250 to Stern's 118. Hammer had a high run of 61, to Stern's 22. Not only did Hammer make his one fine run of the evening, but he also tallied 48, 34 and 30. The match required twenty-four innings.

Hammer was playing for 250 to Stern's 175. Hammer tied Stern on Friday night.

SARAZEN TO START IN BRYAN MEMORIAL

Will Be Called Upon to Face a Strong Field in $25,000 Feature at Bowie Meeting.

Sarazen will be a starter in the Gadsden Bryan Memorial when that race is renewed during the meeting which starts tomorrow at the Bowie track and the gelding will face a smart field, barring wholesale withdrawals. The race, at a mile for all ages, has an added value of $20,000 and a gross value of $25,000, making it a strong attraction. Sarazen was the winner of this event last year and in that effort he lowered the Bowie track record for one mile from 1:41 to 1:40 2-5.

Peanuts, Mars, Son of John, Prince of Wales, Croyden, Backbone, Nedana, Celidon, Macaw, Ingrid, Extra Dry, Superletta, Golden Spire, King Nadi, Display, Edisto, Joe Smoke and Gaffman are the three-year-olds from among which the field to oppose Sarazen is likely to be drawn, while the two-year-old brigade that may furnish a stiff opponent consists of Valorous, winner of the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes and the Champaigne; Whiskery, winner of the Ardsley Handicap; Sweepster, which captured six straight races on the Metropolitan tracks; Sunkari, Teheran, Maid o' the Mist and Jock.

Another which will make a bid for one of the prizes during the Bowie meeting is Adios, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney. Mrs. Whitney's colt is one of a fine string that will be raced under the Greentree Stable's colors during the meeting. Saxon, Arrogant and Overlooked are three fine colts that will be campaigned while Lodina, Tip Top and Tigress are fillies which may be expected to give good accounts of themselves.

Edward F. Cooney of Morristown, N. J., will send only one horse to Bowie, but he is a star two-year-old that may prove a sensation. He is Dolan, a son of Huon and Rockingchair. He began the season in the stable of Gifford A. Cochran but was claimed by Edward Heffner, who trains for Cooney, bringing $4,000 at Saratoga. Dolan is an upstanding colt. He has a victory to his credit over Whiskery and Easy Money, and Poly only recently chased home behind him.

A.A.U. to Pass on Paddock's Mark of 9 5-10 Seconds for 100-Yard Dash Tonight

PADDOCK'S MARK UP FOR SANCTION

217 APPLICATIONS MADE

Committee Will Pass on 152 Swimming and 65 Track and Field Records at Session in Baltimore.

The figure of 9 5-10 seconds for the 100-yard dash, a time which, if accepted, will wipe out the long-standing American 9 3-5-second performances now on the books, is sought by Charley Paddock, the Los Angeles A. C.'s "fastest human," among the hundreds of applications for record distinction submitted to the Amateur Athletic Union's Record Committee. This mark is one of 217 record applications on which Chairman Lou Goldsmith of Philadelphia and the other members of the Record Committee will act at the A. A. U. convention today, tomorrow and Tuesday in Baltimore.

The mark for which Paddock seeks official approval was made by the star last May 15 in a race against Charley Borah, Hollywood A. C., at Los Angeles. Whether the committee will accept the time or reject it should be known tonight, when the Record Committee holds its pre-convention meeting and decides on its recommendations.

The list of 217 record applications announced yesterday by Chairman Goldsmith reflects one of the most successful competitive years the A. A. U. has sponsored. The total is short of last year's record number of applications, when 300 marks were applied for.

Swimmers led in record performances, shattering 152 marks, while the wearers of the spiked shoe accounted for 65 records. Men swimmers established 88 marks and women swimmers 64.

The complete list of applications for records and recognition of noteworthy performances follows:

Columbia Cross-Country Race Won by Schenectady H. S. Team in Record Time

SCHENECTADY WINS COLUMBIA 'CHASE

Gets Low Score of 28 in Beating 17 Teams Over Course at Van Cortlandt Park.

GRODMAN BREAKS RECORD

Captain of Victorious Team Clips 16 Seconds Off 2½-Mile Mark in Time of 12:40.

Samuel Grodman led the Schenectady High School cross-country team to a sweeping victory yesterday morning in the fourteenth annual Columbia University interscholastic cross-country race, held over the two and one-half mile scholastic trail at Van Cortlandt Park. The sturdy, fleet-footed lad from up State earned the signal honor of leading a pack of 154 rival schoolboys over the finish line in a record victory and had the additional satisfaction of knowing that his supreme effort paved the way for a Schenectady team triumph.

Schenectady's lads emerged from the race with the winning low score of 28 points. This wonderful score in a race that attracted 200 schoolboys and was more representative than any previous Columbia run with its number of teams from New York, as well as from New Jersey, Pennsylvania annd New Hampshire, gave Schenectady its second successive leg on the new Gustavus T. Kirby Trophy, offered in competition for the first time last year when Schenectady scored its first leg on the award.

Beats Seventeen Teams.

With its 28 points, the Schenectady team led seventeen rival teams from sixteen rival schools, its nearest rival being St. Benedict's Prep School with 86 points. New Rochelle H. S. was third with 133 points and George Washington H. S., the first of the city's schools to finish a team, was fourth with 143 points.

The triumph of his team could not dim the lustre of the individual triumph scored by Grodman. Taking Roland Ritchie, a team-mate, with him, the Schenectady captain broke trail for the large pack practically over the entire course and finished the victor in 12 minutes 40 seconds, sixteen seconds faster than the race record set last year by Gus Moore, whose time was 12:56. Grodman, to all intents and purposes intended to make a dead heat finish of the struggle for individual honors, but his plans in this direction were upset by a last-minute sprint by Elmer Fogg, New Hampshire schoolboy, who won the Harvard interscholastic race of last year. Fogg, who headed the pursuit of the two Schenectady boys from the start, flashed a spectacular sprint in the closing quarter mile and from a point twenty-five yards back of Grodman and Ritchie advanced to within two yards of the leaders. Then Grodman met the emergency with a sprint of his own and, pulling Ritchie with him, dashed on the finish line amid the cheers of the assembled schoolboys, winning from Ritchie by about two feet. Fogg, sustaining his sprint, but lacking the speed and strength necessary to overhaul his rivals, finished third.

Fogg Just Misses Mark.

Ritchie, Fogg, R. A. Barringer of Manlius School, who finished fourth, and K. Proctor of New Rochelle, in fifth position, also got home under the old race record of 12:56. Henry Fogg, brother of Elmer, and winner of the Harvard interscholastic race this year, just missed beating the old mark. He found the going over the hilly northern trail too stiff and lost ground after being a contender for the greater part of the race. Henry carried the colors of New Hampton (N. H.) H. S. home in sixth position in 12:57.

The order of finish:

Pro Game Improves Tennis, Declares Suzanne Lenglen

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP).—Suzanne Lenglen believes in assured success for professional tennis because "it is so much better sport."

"In amateur tournaments," the French star explained, "one plays a great many poor—what you call them?—hum—players, and your game gets ragged."

BARNARD SENIORS WIN FIELD GAMES

Sophomores Are Second, Juniors Third and Freshmen Fourth in New Class Contests.

The senior class at Barnard College made the highest score in the first field tests for all classes conducted under a new athletic policy, according to an announcement at Columbia University yesterday. The total score of the seniors was 35; the sophomore class was second with 30, while the juniors and freshmen took third and fourth places with scores of 9 and 7 respectively.

The new athletic plan aims "to make athletics a part of every girl's college course and to have a team for every one and every one on a team." Scoring is possible on three levels. Those who excel earn five points, the average earn three points and those of lesser ability earn one point.

Fifty-six girl students took part in the events, which included 40-yard hurdle race, high jump, javelin throwing, hurling the ball, 40-yard dash, basketball throwing, 20-yard dash, hurdling for form, archery and tenakoit.

The class of '27 won first place in five events, javelin throw, ball hurl, 40-yard dash, basketball throw and 20-yard dash. The class of '28 won the 40-yard hurdle, archery and tenakoit contests. The high jump and hurdling for form were won by '29. Each first place in these events gave the winning class five points.

First honors in the senior class went to Francis Gedroice and Evelyn Hoffman, who were tied for first place. Hannah Semmel was second and Judy Cauffman third. Among the juniors Adele Gilbert was first, Helen Rubino second and Mary Chapman third. Helen Bures had the highest score in the sophomore class. Mary Campbell and Gertrude Kahrs tied for second place and Evelyn Atkinson was third. Among the freshmen Isabel Travers was first, Marion Jacobson second and Irene Friedman third.

The results follow:

Hurdle for Form—Winifred Cullen, 1929, first; Elizabeth Metzger, 1927, second; Helen Festiner, third.

Javelin Throw—Hannah Semmel, 1927, first; Lenore Moolten, 1929, second; Helen Bures, 1929, third; Marion Jacobson, 1930, fourth.

Ball Hurl—Francis Gedroice, 1927, first; Herrietta Jungman, 1927, second. Others who ranked high were Helen Bures, 1929; Irene Friedman, 1930; Marion Jacobson, 1930, and Ruth Parker, 1930.

40-Yard Hurdles—Mary Chapman, 1928, first; Adele Gilbert, 1928, second; Helen Rubino, 1928, third; Helen Bures, 1929, fourth; Isabel Travers, 1930, fifth.

40-Yard Race—Adele Garmise, 1927, first; Nan Hair, 1927, second; Hannah Semmel, 1927; third, and Evelyn Atkinson, fourth.

Basketball Throw (five seniors)—Judy Cauffman, Francis Gedroice, Doris Goss, Evelyn Hoffman and Hannah Semmel, made the best showing. Others who ranked high were Amelia Abele, 1930; Adele Eichberger, 1930; Helen Bures, 1929; Mary Campbell, 1929; Ruth Hoyt, 1929, and Lewellyn Miller, 1929.

The freshman-sophomore speed ball game was won by the freshmen by a score of 4 to 1.

N. Y. U. CUB HARRIERS WIN.

Lead City College Freshmen at Van Cortlandt Park, 21-34.

New York University's yearling cross-country squad defeated the freshmen of City College yesterday morning in their dual chase over the three-mile trail at Van Cortlandt Park. The Violet youngsters, finishing a team among the first seven runners home, emerged with the winning score of 21 points. City College's freshman five had 34 points.

N. Lerner of City College showed the way home after a spirited struggle with L. Weaver of New York University. Lerner finished the course in 16 minutes 44 seconds. Weaver came home two seconds later.

FINNISH TEAM WINS 64-MILE RELAY RACE

Ritola First to Finish in the Atlantic City-Philadelphia Grind in 5:39:35.

MEADOWBROOK CLUB 2D

Is Far Ahead of Seven Other Teams as Worthington Races Last Lap With Ritola.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—Runners of the Finnish-American Athletic Club of New York triumphed today in the 64-mile grind from Atlantic City to Philadelphia, it's eleven members covering the distance over the White Horse Pike and through the streets of the Quaker City to the Penn Athletic Club in 5 hours 39 minutes 35 seconds.

Meadowbrook Club of the John Wanamaker store of this city finished second, with seven other clubs more than a mile behind when Willie Ritola, the Finn's famous anchor man, arrived at the final checking-in station.

From Waterford to Berlin, the seventh lap, which was six and three-tenths miles, the Finns gained a half mile on Meadowbrook, Davis Fagerlund outrunning W. Dewitt easily. On leaving Berlin the Philadelphians began to come back. Bill Ruttler, picking up ground on John Moybeau with every stride, came into Stratford, the next relay point, five and a half miles away, only a quarter of a mile in the rear.

Shanahan, at this point, was more than a mile back of Meadowbrook, holding third place against Millrose and Nativity.

Then Benny Merembeck, the University of Pennsylvania harrier, took the baton from Ruttler and shot forward toward Haddon Heights, the ninth relay point, four and six-tenths miles ahead. He, too, gained ground on the Finns, coming in only 50 yards behind Carl Willberg and handing his baton to Blondy Romig, former star of Penn State.

Auto Hits Runner.

One of the runners, Maurice Chandres, former Penn State athlete, was injured at Egg Harbor, the third relay point. Within 300 yards of the finish, where he was trailing John Moybeau of the Finns, Chandres, running for Meadowbrook, was knocked down by an automobile driven by Jean Moretti of Pleasantville. Moretti was driving behind Chandres and suddenly increased his speed, throwing Chanres to the ground.

George Ramsey, fourth man for Meadowbrook, ran back and took the baton from Chandres's hand and continued on to Amatol. He was unable to make up the ground lost through the accident, however, although Al Roebuck later offset the loss.

Moretti was arrested. Chandres's injuries were only bruises sustained in the fall.

The oldest individual contestant in the run was William Kennedy, who ran first for the Cygnet Club of East Port Chester, Conn., and finished ninth at the first control, Ilmar Prim of the Finns being the first to check in at Absecon in 36 minutes 55 seconds. Carl Koski took up the baton on the next 5.6 miles stretch and covered it in 30 minutes 1 second.

Moybeau then took the baton for the Finns and reeled off the 5.2 miles from Pomona to Egg Harbor in 30 minutes 14 seconds. From Egg Harbor to Amatol, L. Tikkeman ran for the Finns and did the 7.5 miles in 43 minutes 27 seconds. John Tounduski came next and covered 4.5 miles in 23 minutes 30 seconds. Gunnar Nilsson was next, running from Hammonton to Waterford, 6.4 miles, in 36 minutes 11 seconds. Romig, running for Meadowbrook, overtook C. Sandkulla, the Finnish man, on the tenth lap, and was leading by half a mile when he reached the corner of Haddon Avenue and Fortieth Street.

Romig Loses His Way.

In Camden, where a policeman stopped him and told him the relay point had been changed from the armory to the Y. M. C. A., Romig lost his way in going to the Y. M. C. A. and traveled an extra half mile before getting there, the Finn consequently getting there thirty seconds earlier and handing his baton to Willie Ritola.

Frank Worthington took Romig's baton and raced after Ritola and they were not far separated as they crossed the bridge and set out west in Vine Street toward Seventeenth Street, where they turned south for the Penn A. C. clubhouse.

The winning Finns carried a message of greetings from Mayor Edward Bader of Atlantic City to Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick of Philadelphia.

Ten teams started and all but the Cygnets finished the grueling course. The teams finished in the following order and time:

Finnish-American A. C., New York	5:39:35
Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia	5:42:45

BALLERINO BOXES DRAW.

Shares Honors With Glick In Bout at Ridgewood Grove S. C.

Joe Glick of Williamsburg and Mike Ballerino of Bayonne fought a ten-round draw in the feature bout at the Ridgewood Grove Sporting Club last night. Glick scaled at 132 pounds and Ballerino at 130. In the semi-final ten-round bout the spectators were treated to the best battle of the evening, a slashing affair in which the honors were shared evenly between Joey Silvers and Bobby Barrett of Philadelphia. Silvers weighed 146 to 150 pounds for Barrett.

Pal Silvers, a brother of Joey, won the decision from Jimmy Deluca in a six-round bout and in another six Jack Horner was the winner over Joe Knapp. Joe Kelly scored a knockout in the second round of his scheduled four-round bout with Mickey Werner.

COLUMBIA HARRIERS OUTRUN BY QUAKERS

Payne Leads Pennsylvanians to Easy Victory, With Team Among First Seven.

Russel Payne, former national steeplechase champion, led the Red and Blue harriers of the University of Pennsylvania to an easy victory over the Columbia University harriers yesterday in their annual dual chase over the six-mile course at Van Cortlandt Park.

The Quaker City collegians finished the race with the low winning score of 20 points, scoring its team among the first seven runners to finish. Columbia's squad was not completed at the finish until the tenth position was reached and the Morningside Heights score had grown to 35 points.

Payne romped off with the individual honors, scoring his victory in impressive fashion, after leading over the entire course. The Red and Blue leader crossed the finish line in 31 minutes 16 seconds, about 100 yards ahead of W. H. Glenn, a team-mate. Ed Roche, star Columbia runner, raced home in third position after a gallant effort to overhaul his rivals.

Position, Name and College.	Time.
1—Russell Payne, Pennsylvania	31:16

Beats Richmond Hill High Golf Team by 2 Points to 1.

After five years of athletic reverses, Curtis High School, Staten Island, gained a championship yesterday, when its golf team defeated Richmond Hill High School, 2 points to 1, over the Marine and Field Golf Course.

Captain John Siclari, No. 1 player on the Curtis team, was the star of the day, defeating Archies, the Richmond Hill No. 1 player, 10 and 9 in 36 holes. His scores were 68 and 70. Harold Graham ran Siclari a close race for honors, defeating his opponent, Martin, by the same margin and scoring 69 and 70.

Kinsky was the only loser on the Curtis side, Mohler of Richmond Hill defeating him, 2 up. Mohler had scores of 75 and 77 against Kinsky's 79 and 78. Archies's scores were 83 and 86 and Martin's 77 and 79.

C. C. N. Y. HARRIERS LOSE.

Peltzer Is First, but Nine Rensselaer Runners Finish Next, to Win.

Special to The New York Times.

TROY, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Although Peltzer of College of the City of New York finished first in the dual cross country meet this afternoon, the next nine runners were from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, which won handily by 20 to 35.

Peltzer, coming in just ahead of Clulee and Buckley, who tied for second place, covered the 6.5 miles course in 36 minutes, 23 2-10 seconds. The others in order were Day, Spieser, Halbert, Wait, Goetz, Owen and Schofield, all of Rensselaer Tech.

NAVY HARRIERS WIN CHASE.

Beat Georgetown, 13 to 24, in Race at Annapolis.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 13.—Naval Academy harriers were successful over Georgetown, 13 to 24, in a cross-country race of three and a half miles. O'Connor of the Navy, who finished first, did the course in 18 minutes 25¼ seconds, and finished more than 200 yards ahead of the next man, Desault, of the visitors.

This was the order of the finish: O'Connor, Navy; Desault, Georgetown; Tedechi, Navy; Bailey, Navy; Lipper, Navy; Fillbeck, Georgetown; Kaiser, Georgetown; Herlihy, Georgetown.

HOCKEY LEAGUE FORMED.

Comprises Five New England Colleges—Mass. Tech Included.

BOSTON, Nov. 13 (AP).—Representatives of five colleges and universities today organized the New England Intercollegiate Hockey League. The members are: Providence College, Springfield College, Boston College, Boston University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The league may be enlarged by the addition of Brown and Amherst, it was said.

At Amherst the players have signified a desire to enter and the question will come before the college authorities on Thursday. The Massachusetts Aggies also were invited to enter, but sent notice that they had decided to remain out of the league. Brown has not replied to the invitation to enter.

ALFRED TEAM KEEPS ITS HARRIER TITLE

Has 36-Point Margin Over Union in Winning Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Run.

Johns Hopkins Star Lowers Course Mark by 3 Seconds—Lehigh Third, N. Y. U. Fourth.

The orange-clad band of harriers from Albert University retained its title yesterday in the ninth annual running of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Association cross-country championship race over the six-mile trail at Van Cortlandt Park, and Johns Hopkins University sent up from Baltimore another Verne Booth to carry off the individual title in association record time for the Van Cortlandt Park course.

Alfred's well-balanced, fleet-footed quintet, finishing a team among the first eleven runners home, romped off with its second title in as many years with the low winning score of 28 points. Union College's maroon-clad runners from Schenectady, picked to give stern opposition to the Alfred lads, finished runners-up to the victors, but Coach Harold A. Bruce's team lacked the balance and power of the Alfred lads and were 36 points behind with 64 tallies. Lehigh's harriers were third and the violet wearers of New York University fourth. Trailing in the ruck were the teams of Rutgers, Lafayette and Manhattan.

To G. Richard Gwinn of Johns Hopkins went the individual title. He scored his victory in 30 minutes 26 seconds, clipping three seconds off the association mark for the Kingsbridge trail, set last year by Herrick of Alfred.

Dark Horse First Home.

In scoring his victory Gwinn gave to Johns Hopkins the distinction of nominating a winner in the event for the first time in three years, or since the race of 1923, when Booth gained attention with a victory. Gwinn entered the race a dark horse, but he raced like a champion, finishing a winner, by 100 yards over H. Boulton of Alfred. Struggle along 100 yards back of Boulton was Philip Edwards, negro star of New York University, who arrived at the course just in time to doff his street clothes and don a running suit before the field was sent away on its chase. Arthur Totten of Union, runner-up for last year's title and choice of many to win yesterday's event, had to be content with tenth position, faltering badly in the last half of the two-lap course. P. Burdette Lewis of Swarthmore, winner of the title two years ago, came home in twelfth position, back of Loring McMillian of Union, another of the favorites.

The Baltimore collegian, holder of the South Atlantic A. A. U. cross-country record of 30:36 made three years ago, and winner in the Annapolis and Maryland cross-country races this year, was making his first effort over the Van Cortlandt Park trail, but lack of familiarity didn't interfere with his running. Gwinn gauged his pace superbly, contented himself with following the pace of rivals through the early stages of the race and then through the trying closing mile uncorked a burst of speed which [illegible] off all opposition and enabled [illegible] win in hollow fashion.

Boulton Takes the Lead.

NEW MANGER HOTEL OPENS TOMORROW

ACTIVE CIVIC CENTRE

Twenty Stories In Height, the New Structure Covers Seventh Avenue Block Front.

With the opening of the new Manger Hotel tomorrow an important addition will be made to the hotel facilities of the city between Times Square and Columbus Circle. Occupying the eastern block front on Seventh Avenue, from Fiftieth to Fifty-first Street, the new twenty-story hostelry is the first improvement to be finished on the large car barn block extending easterly to Sixth Avenue. Directly in the rear of the hotel, on Fiftieth Street, the new Roxy Theatre is nearing completion, and an entrance to the large amusement house is provided from the lobby of the hotel.

The Manger Hotel as it will be opened tomorrow contains 1,250 rooms. When the original plans for the building were made, William and Julius Manger considered that capacity ample for the neighborhood. As a later survey of the business growth and hotel conditions in the locality, combined with the fact that other hotels operated by the Manger Brothers in that section were occupied to capacity ten months of the year, led them to conclude that the original plan would not meet the requirements, they purchased a large plot in the rear of the Fifty-first Street portion and construction work is now in progress on an annex containing 500 rooms. This will give the Manger Hotel when fully completed next Spring a total of 1,750 guest rooms, making it the largest hotel in the Times Square district and the third largest hotel on Manhattan Island.

The Hotel Manger heads the list of eighteen hotels owned and operated by the Manger Brothers in New York and gives them approximately 10,000 rooms in the metropolitan system. Some of the other units in the group are the Great Northern, Times Square, Martha Washington, Endicott, York, Wolcott, Woodstock, Hermitage, Cumberland, Navarre and Grand.

Elevation of 246 Feet.

The new building is Spanish Renaissance in style and is constructed of steel, granite, limestone and ornamental brick. The height of twenty stories gives the structure an elevation of 246 feet from the street to the top of the tower. It is erected in four wings facing Seventh Avenue, assuring each room of light and air from street or outside court. The lobby occupies the width of three wings, measuring 50 by 90 feet, and is finished in polished marble and bronze, unobstructed by columns.

A new innovation installed in the hotel is a "key chute" on every floor, so that keys found by hotel attendants in the doors or rooms can be placed in this chute, which immediately deposits them at the main desk in the lobby. The Hotel Manger is the first in New York City to use this device.

The building has been financed by a first mortgage loan of $3,600,000 made by the Prudence Bonds Corporation, which is making an issue of 5½ per cent. guaranteed Prudence certificates--legal for trust funds in New York--covering the amount of the loan. When the annex is completed, the Prudence Company, it is announced, will make a similar issue of $1,050,000 covering a first-mortgage loan on that building.

The hotel was designed by H. Craig Severance, architect, and constructed by Bing & Bing.

Building Activity Centre.

As a result of the large operations in the recent construction of new hotels, apartment houses, theatres and commercial buildings in the upper Forties and Fifties, between Times Square and Central Park, the Hotel Manger is virtually in the heart of the hotel and amusement centre of the metropolis. Just to the east, the Sixth Avenue blocks north of Fifty-third Street, due to the removal of the elevated tracks, have been completely transformed. On the northwest corner of Fifty-fourth Street the thirty-six-story Warwick, an apartment hotel, is nearing completion, and directly opposite is the Ziegfeld Theatre, which will probably be opened before the close of the year. On the westerly block front between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Streets, Cortlandt T. Bishop is finishing a huge fifteen-story apartment structure. Three or four similar buildings were completed and opened during the last two years.

Just north of the Manger, on the easterly Seventh Avenue block front, between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Streets, the towering Park Central apartment hotel is nearing completion, one of the largest structures of its kind in the city. On the southeast corner of Seventh Avenue and Fifty-sixth Street the Carnegie Plaza Hotel has just been completed. Another new hotel, the Chesterfield, is about ready to open on the south side of Forty-ninth Street between Sixth and Seventh Avenues. A block or so to the west, on the north side of Forty-eighth Street, just west of Eighth Avenue, is the new eighteen-story Belvedere apartment hotel, completed this season.

Several new theatres are also under construction in the blocks between Broadway and Eighth Avenue, among the latest to be completed being the John Golden Theatre in Fifty-eighth Street and the Mansfield in Forty-seventh Street.

The hotel accommodations of the locality will also be enhanced next season when the large structure being erected by the Chanin Corporation on the Eighth Avenue easterly block front between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Streets is finished and that operation also involves the addition of three theatres on the street frontages.

IMPORTANT DECISION EXPECTED ON ZONING

Case Now Pending Before U. S. Supreme Court of Interest Throughout Country.

The United States Supreme Court is expected to render a decision this month that may be a very important ruling on the constitutional limitations of "zoning" and possibly have a bearing on heigbt limitation and setback of the upper stories of higb buildings which is of great local New York interest now, as well as on "zoning" generally througbont the country.

The case in which the decision le expected is that of the appeal of this Village of Euclid, Ohio, against the Ambler Realty Company, a case which was argued first on Jan. 27 and specially reargued before the court last Oct. 12.

Euclid, Ohio, is a suburb of Cleveland and adjoins it on the east along the Lake Erie shore as part of Cleveland's metropolitan and industrial district.

After being comprehensively zoned with a variety of use, beight and area district restrictions on buildings, along the familiar linee of our New York City zoning restrictions, the whole plan was overthrown by a notable decision of Judge Westenhaver of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio.

In January, 1924, he declared the Euclid zoning ordinances wholly null and void as unconsiitutional under botb the Ohio State Constitution and the United States Constitution, which protect owners against the taking of private property without compensation and without due process of law because, in his opinion, upon the right to uee property depends its value.

He remarked that in New York the validity of zoning is assumed rather than decided.

The property owner's case was argued by Newton D. Baker, who presented the constitutional pointe and urged that the zoning power affected the right of an owner by unduly controlling the uses to which he might devote bis property. He declared that zoning was limited to a power to negative anti-social uees dangerous to the safety, health and morals of the community and could not be, under our forms of Constitution, a power to eelect, among various admittedly harmless uses, those which the political power deems the most popular and prohibit all others.

In view of the widely differing State court decisions in New York, New Jereey and all over the country, and now that the important question has reacbed the court of last resort, realty men in general are anxious for a full opinion defining the constitutional limitations of zoning for the future guidance of cities and property owners.

"The value of zoning," eaid Theodore L. Waugh, counsel for the Building Owners and Managers' Association of New York, discussing zoning yesterday, ""depends upon its permanence, in order that one may rely upon these restrictions as fixed and be sure that, once complied with, loss may not be euffered by adjoining property owners waiting and profiting by vital changes in the reguletione due to attempted unlawful prohibitions as to use, height and area in buildings on zoned land."

NEW BANK BUILDING NEAR TIMES SQUARE

Tall Corn Exchange Structure on Eighth Avenue and Forty-Second Street.

For the new Forty-second Street branch of the Corn Exchange Bank a twelve-story bank and office building is being erected on an unusually shaped plot covering the present bank structure at 303 West Forty-second Street and the abutting parcel of 669 Eigbth Avenue. The new etructure is now being erected on the latter plot and when completed temporary quarters will be taken there while the Forty-second Street portion is under construction.

The new building will be L shaped, fronting twenty-five feet on Forty-second Street and twenty feet on Eighth Avenue. Tbe etreet frontages, finished in stone and giess, will show practically a solid glass front from the sidewalk up, as the glass will cover approximately 90 per cent. of the wall eurface. The side walls will be faced with light colored brick in two shades arranged in panels, giving a pleasing effect. The treatment of the rear walls is interesting by reason of the elope given to the rear wall of the Forty-second Street wing to secure more light and air for office space.

The avenue and street façades will be a granite base with limestone above.

The ground floor and basement will be occupied by the usual banking facilities and safe deposit department. There will be the usual entrances to both the Forty-eecond Strcet and the Eighth Avenue wings and, in addition, a connection on the Eighth Avenue side to the new eubwey.

The banking room on the ground floor will have a high vaulted ceiling and floors. The women's department will be in the Forty-second Street wing.

The basement of the Eighth Avenue wing will contain the safe deposit department with burglar-proof vaults and a burglar-proof etorage vault for silver and valuables.

The office entrance will be on the Forty-second Street side. The office floors provide large areas for subdivision to suit tenants. There will be two high-speed electric elevators.

The business of the bank will be conducted without interruption et its present location during the construction of the Eighth Avenue wing. On the completion of that wing temporary banking quarters will be provided on the ground floor until the completion of the Forty-second Street wing.

The Corn Exchange Bank, in undertaking the building project at this season, has recognized the importance of Winter building, advocated by the American Building Congress.

BUY MERRICK (L. I.) TRACT.

Brockett Terrell, Inc., to Build Small Homes.

Brockett Terrell, Inc., of Merrick, L. I., bave purchased the large tract holdings of the Realty Associates in Merrick, L. 1. This tract of land, owned by the Realty Associates at Merrick, L. I., fronting on the Hempstead and Babylon Turnpike, has been ourchased for home improvement by the Brockett Terrell Company from the Realty Associates. It comprises several hundred lots, fully improved with sidewalks, streets, gas, water and all city conveniences.

The property's main frontage le on Hempstead and Babylon Turnpike, also Pine Street, Oak Street, Rose Court and Central Parkway. Plans have been laid by the buyers for new developing in a section of this same tract of property purchased last month from the Realty Associates.

They have sold nine of their homes and fifty more are planned for immediate construction. Many foundations are already under way.

ANTI-SKYSCRAPER LAW

Declared Unconstitutional by Wisconsin Court Decision.

A law enacted by the State Legislature of Wisconsin forbidding the erection of buildings more than 125 feet high has been declared unconstitutional by tbe State'e Supreme Court.

Decision was made on the ground that a State anti-skyseraper law would be an interference wilh the individual city's right to write its own building code.

The presenl decision ls a reversal of a previous position taken by the court.

The decision will be of interest to many who are studying the question of how far the vertical piling of downtown construction may best be permitted to go on in consideration not only of economy of building operation but of the effect of building height limitation on the traffic problem and the distribution of light and air.

LONG ISLAND CITY'S CASTLE.

Passing of Landmark Built in 1815 by French Baron.

Ths famous old Bodine Manelon at Vernon and Harris Avenues, Long Island City, has been turned into an office building by W. P. Youngs & Bro., inc., lumber dealers, who have leased the building and the three acree of land surrounding lt.

Standing in the midst of scores of big manufacturing plants and overlooking the East River and Welfare Island, and dwarfed by the big span of the Queensboro Bridge, tbe romance and mystery which hover around the old castle are recelled by the old residents of Long Island City.

History tells us tbat a nobleman who fled from France with his daughter to escepe the Revolution, built the castle on the river front in about 1815.

At that time Long Island City was only a small hamlet and acres of vacant land surrounded the castle.

The Baron and his deughter lived in seclusion until 1860, when they returned to France, and the castle was bought by Colonel John Bodine.

The Colonel was a great entertainer and for years his house was the gathering place for his friends.

This continued until 1885 when the Standard Oil Company built an oil reserve close by. Colonel Bodine saw the doom of the Ravenswood section as a place of residence and moved away, and later the property came into the possession of Young & Metzner, who have just leased a portion of it to William P. Youngs & Broe.

PLAN HOSPITAL ANNEX.

Two-Story Structure for Wyckoff Heights Hospital.

Witb the work on the new two-story and basement annex to the Wyckoff Heights Hospital, Brooklyn, rapidly progressing, the board of trustees decided at a recent meeting to add two more stories, one to connect with the maternity department, the other to increase facilities of the children's ward.

The change of the building committee's plans, which originally called for a new pathological laboratory and a unit dining room for the nurses in the building just reaching the second story, was approved by the trustees.

Further additions to the male and female wards, and an extension with modern rooms on the private floor of the institution are also considered by the hospital board.

SIMONSON ELECTED TO WESTCHESTER BOARD

President of United States Bond and Mortgage Corporation Joins Committee on Development.

Henry J. Simonson Jr., President of the United States Bond and Mortgage Corporation, was yesterday elected a member of the Advisory Committee of the Westchester County Development Board.

In a letter to Thomas J. Steen, President of the Mahlstedt-Steen Securities Corporation and Chairman of the Westchester County Development Board, Mr. Simoneon stated that while he was primarily interested in real estate in the metropolitan area from an equity standpoint, he was pleased to lend his efforts to the advancement of Westchester Couoty. He said:

"From a real estate standpoint I have observed the rapid appreciation in property values due to the increased transit facilities that Westchester County is enjoying, and tbe splendid parkway eyeteme gradually being expanded, and the many golf courses that are offering eo much of health value to the population. Realty, from my standpoint, can be well considered in three classifications:

"The vacant acreage, of which in Westchester County there is an abundance, and because of ite rolling hills and wooded country, lende so much to development.

"A recent motor trip in Westchester County has revealed to me the many estates and farms now highly developed into a high-class residential section. The homes in Westchester County are of such substantiel nature that it has been my expcrience that although hundreds and thousande of dollars have been invested never a dollar has been lost.

"During the Summer months of July and August, feeling closely the pulse of activity in homes, I noticed a slight slackening in demand and turnover. In September and October and in the early part of this month there has been a continuel increase in activity, resulting in the demend absorbing the apparent supply of homes available."

REALTY BROKERS LICENSED.

An Increase of 133 Per Cent. for Past Fiscal Year.

Ioteresting figures showing the increase in the State of New York in the number of brokers' licenees granted as between the period beginning in 1922 and ending in 1926 have been submitted by Frank S. McCaffrey, who has charge of the license bureau in the New York State Tax Administration Office.

There was an increase in the fiscal year ending in 1926 totaling 84 per cent. as compared to the fiscal year ended in 1923, when the law was put into effect, this percentage applying to brokers' licenees only.

The grand total of all licensee issued under the variouc classifications obeerved in New York exhibits an increase as for the past fiecal year of 133 per cent. compared to the first twelve months period in which the law was in effect.

BOARD INCREASES DUES.

Brooklyn Realtors Raise Fee to $100 a Year.

The members of the Brooklyn Real Estate Board, at a meeting held last week, voted to amend the by-lawe, increasing the dues to $100 annually and at the same time creating a sustaining membership at $250 annually which is open to the large property owners of the borough. More than 100 "active" members were present at the meeting and only three votes were recorded against the proposed increase.

President Charles Partridge, in a statement issued yesterday, said: "The officere and directors of the Brooklyn Real Estate Board feel deeply gratified at tbe action of their members voting to provide additional funds in order that the activities of the board may be further expanded and that they may take a more active part in all matters which make for the progress and growtb of Brooklyn."

Paving Rockaway Parkway.

The Board of Estimate has approved a resolution authorizing preliminary work for the pavement of Rockaway Parkway from East New York Avenue to Winthrop Street at an estimated cost of $35,600. No work is to be done, however, until all subsurface structures sucb as water mains, gas mains, electric mains, &c., have been installed.

SMALL HOMES FINANCED BY PRUDENTIAL CO.

Loans on Dwellings Total $123,218,001 for First Ten Months of Year.

Lending further endorsement to real estate as a medium for investment, the Prudential Insurance Company of America during the month of October made real estate mortgage loans to the amount of $22,556,675, it was announced at the company's home offices in Newark, N. J., yesterday by A. M. Woodruff, Vice President in charge of that department.

Of the amount loaned, which represents investments made in both the United States and Canada, $18,814,525 was on 2,396 dwelling houses and 141 apartments which furnished accommodations for 5,157 families. Farm loans made during the month reached a total of $2,136,750, while the remainder, $1,605,400, represents loans on city property other than those to be used for residential purpoeee.

The trend toward individual home ownership is graphically reflected in Prudential figures. During the period from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31, inclusive, of this year, the underwriting organization mede loans totaling $123,218,001.90 on 20,692 dwellings and 1,138 apartments which accommodated 35,286 families.

This record exceede that made during simllar period last year by nearly $37,000,000. During tbe first ten months of 1925 the total of loans made on dwellinge and apartment houses was $86,383,488.90, this eum representing investment in 15,041 dwellings and 783 apartments which houeed 25,275 families.

DELAY IN RECORDING.

An Effort to Speed Up Work in Nassau County.

At a meeting of the Long Island Real Estate Board, held at Lynbrook last week under the auspices of the Nassau South Shore Chapter, it was decided that an effort be made to arrange a conference with Thomas S. Cheshire, County Clerk of Nassau County, to consider ways and means of speeding up the recording of deeds and other real property instruments in that county.

The real estate activity of recent months has had the effect of effectually slowing down the recording of documents in the offices of all county clerks.

The installation of the Register's office in Queens County on Jan. 1 is expected to meet the situation in that county, but the heavy demands made on County Clerk Cheshire's staff have resulted in delaying the recording of documents from six to eight months.

PLACES NO AGE LIMIT ON STEEL BUILDINGS

Col. J. R. Kilpatrick Says They Will Be Standing a Hundred Years Hence.

CHANGES MADE IN DESIGN

America Now in the Age of Permanent Construction—Building in the Future.

That the age of permanency in building conetruction is dawning, and that one hundred years from now our children's great-grandchildren will be working and living in the same steel, brick and concrete office and apartment buildings that today are towering twenty, forty, fifty-seven stories above us, was the prediction made by Colonel John Reed Kilpatrick of New York City, Vice President of the George A. Fuller Company, speaking before the fifth annual convention of the American Construction Council at Cleveland, Ohio, last week.

Arrangements on the roofs of our buildings for heating and lighting by harneesing up the sun's rays and bottling up of Winter's blasts for cooling our buildings during the warm months may not be far distant, according to Colonel Kilpatrick. As Vice President of one of the largest building companies in the world, the George A. Fuller Company, which is carrying out at present in twenty-two cities of the United States and Canada a big building program of more than $100,000,000 of construction, he stated that he voiced the general opinions of leading engineers and financiers in this field.

"America is now in the age of permanency in construction, just dawning," Colonel Kilpatrick said, "and far ahead of any other country in the world. It was American-built buildinge that successfully withstood the Japanese earthquake in Tokio in 1924. The modern fireproof, steel and masonry buildinge, intelligently planned, competently designed and honestly built in Florida, for example, were not damaged by the terrific hurricane two months ago. I am proud to say that none of the many structures built by the George A. Fuller Company, three in Tokio and twenty-one in Florida including a number that received the full force of the hurricane in Miami suffered other than trifling damage confined to broken glass and water damage resultant therefrom. Structurally slighted or 'jerry-built' buildings suffered severely or went down before the storm."

Disputes 27-Year Limit.

Colonel Kilpatrick took violent exception to the etatement made by Frank W. Skinner at the recent convention of the American Institute of Steel Construction that the average skyscraper outlives its usefulness in twenty-seven years. "With this I disagree most emphatically," he stated. "Were this statement to be taken out of its context and accepted as a truth an owner might well stop to consider very carefully before embarking on a building venture.

"Should he consider the improvement of his property practically a permanent one or should he endeavor to scale down his initial investment by skimping the construction and finish of his building so that it would just last out the twenty-seven years of useful life allotted to it? This would be ridiculous, even granting the correctness of the twenty-seven-year obsolescence theory, which I most assuredly do not.

"Fortunately, we need not accept this theory. While in this day and age it is dangerous to attempt to forecast what changes the grouping of populations and modes of living will bring about, I will make the prediction that our modern buildings will be faithfully serving our great-great-grandchildren one hundred years hence.

Referring to the possible changes in design of buildings which may come with the development of air transportation, Colonel Kilpatrick drew some interesting comparisons: "Perhaps several blocks of modern buildings will be razed to provide for a towering airplane or dirigible landing stage high above the housetops," but he does not believe that new buildings of the future or our present-day buildings will generally be altered for private airplane landings.

"All of this makes for permanence," he said. "It justifies an owner in building for his grandchildren. Ours is an age of permanency in construction., The architect, engineer, builder, subcontractor, materials manufacturer and craftsman must stand together to uphold the best traditions of the industry for better buildings built to endure. Just as the builders of ancient Greece left behind them monnments to their skill and craftsmanship throughout the ages, so the towering results of our labor will be the marvel of generations to come."

NEW JERSEY COOPERATIVE.

Town House Residence Is Planned for East Orange.

A town house cooperative residence building will be erected at 35-43 Prospect Street, East Orange, N. J., at a cost of $1,500,000, according to an announcement made yesterday by Harrison R. Van Duyne, Inc.

Building operations will begin in the early Spring. The building will be erected by the 39 Prospect Street Corporation, which has purchased the Prospect Street property and adjoining land at 48 Morton Street. The plot has a frontage of 276 feet on Prospect Street and an average depth of 374 feet.

This will be one of the fineet fireproof cooperative residencc buildings to be erected in New Jersey. Plans are now being executed by John B. Peterkin, architect, who is designing a building ten stories high, in Tudor architecture, containing forty townhouse residences of from five to fifteen rooms, which will be sold to tenant-owners on the 100 per cent. cooperative plan. The investment in land and buildings will exceed $1,500,000.

Will Build L. I. City Warehouse.

The Bayonne Steel Ceiling Company of New York has bought tbe entire block in the Degnon Terminal section, Long Island City, bounded by Hunter, Point Avenue, Anable Avenue, Orton and Manley Streets.

The purchasers will erect a concrete werehouse for distribution of their product.

REALTY BOND MEN ADVOCATE REFORMS

UNIFORMITY NOW LACKING

Agreement Will Be Sought on Standardized Proceedings for New Construction Valuation.

Builders, bankers, economists and many others vitally interested in the building industry of the country have shown great interest in the recommendations made by S. W. Straus, President of S. W. Straus & Co., for various changes and reforms in connection with the issuance and sale of first mortgage real estate bonds. Mr. Straus made public his recommendations in an address before the American Construction Council in Cleveland last week.

Immediately following his recommendations, the council adopted a resolution calling for the immediate appointment of a committee to bring together representatives of the Securities Commissioners of the various States to meet with representatives of the first mortgage real estate bond houses, building interests and real estate brokers prominent in the appraisal field to consider the whole subject of appraisals and endeavor to reach an agreement upon a standardized procedure for appraising new construction projects.

These resolutions were for the purpose of giving definite effect to Mr. Straus's recommendations for greater uniformity in the definition of the items of investment costs that should be included in the appraisal of a new construction project.

"There is on the part of appraisers, and particularly on the part of the securities commissioners of the various States," Mr. Straus said in the course of his address, "a serious lack of uniformity in the definition of the items of investment costs that should be included in the appraisal of a new construction project. Certain items of cost that have been recognized as legitimate by the courts and regulating bodies in the public utility and railroad fields may be disallowed altogether in the real estate bond field.

Interest During Construction.

To take a single instance, interest during construction is universally allowed in these other fields, and the uniform system of action prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for steam railroads calls for the inclusion of interest not only on borrowed funds but also on the carriers' own funds expended for construction purposes during the construction period, besides providing in the estimate of cost for a development period while the industry is developing its income.

What is legitimate in one field of investment should not be illegitimate in other fields. If the builder of a railroad or an electric power plant is allowed, as in all logic and fairness he ought to be, to include interest during construction or general contractor's fee or builder's profit in his costs for appraisal purposes, the builder of an apartment house or an office building should have the same privilege.

"It is the lack of any uniformity—of any standardized procedure—which is in part responsible for some of the abuses that exist in the matter of appraisals. Obviously, these conditions increase enormously the costs and difficulties which a real estate bond house operating on a national scale is forced to meet in qualifying its issues in many States.

"It would be my recommendation that at the earliest possible moment a committee be appointed by the Securities Commissioners of the various States to meet with representatives of the first mortgage real estate bond houses, the building interests and real estate brokers prominent in the appraisal field, to consider the whole subject of appraisals and endeavor to reach an agreement upon a standardized procedure for appraising new construction projects."

One of the most important recommendations offered by Mr. Straus was with regard to the segregation by real estate bond houses of the proceeds of construction loans. Mr. Straus explained his views on this point as follows:

Deplores General Criticism.

"Unfortunately, there has been criticism of all types of investment, including first mortgage real estate bonds. We are all aware that these attacks upon first mortgage real estate bonds, both direct and by innuendo, have been going on for some time, particularly during the last few weeks. While these whisperings have been aimed only at the real estate bond business, they will, if continued, not only attract the great building industry of the country, but also will bring suspicion and loss of public confidence upon all forms of investment and, through this destruction of public confidence in investments, steadily undermins the entire business structure of the country.

"In a department of business of such magnitude as the real estate bond industry it is only natural that here and there loans may have been made that did not conform to the principles of sound banking. There has been a tendency, however, in this connection to place too much emphasis on these shortcomings and thus subject the entire bond business to censure because of the falinre and shortcomings of a very few. Criticism that is just and conetructive is to be welcomed.

"Any business which cannot stand such criticism is truly in a bad way. The real estate bond business should at all times be prepared to face criticism and to make such reforms or advances as the changing times require. But much of the criticism of recent weeks has not been of this character. Rather it has been uninformed or lacking in perspective. Such attacks or censure are to be deplored from every point of view.

Handling Construction Funds.

"One of the points that has received considerable attention in connection with the issuance of first mortgage bonds has been the handling of construction funds. While I do not believe that in the case of responsible first mortgage bond houses, with ample financial resources and capable management, the adoption of the practice followed by the ordinary commercial banks in connection with depositors' funds involves any danger to the public, I am convinced that some form of State supervision is desirable, in order to insure at all times the solvency and liquidity of such houses. In fact, if you will pardon me a personal reference, we have for several years made public declaration of our advocacy of banking supervision of vency and liquidity of such houses, and when our New York corporation was organized some ten years ago we at that time voluntarily placed its affairs under the supervision of the State Banking Department. Since that time we have been subject to periodical examination and audit by the State banking examiners.

"I am heartily in favor of the policy of segregating the proceeds of construction loans and believe that the leading bond houses, by reason of the position of leadership which they enjoy in their field and in view of the magnitude to which the business has now attained, should be willing to adopt this policy for the benefit of the entire real estate bond business, the building industry and the investing public.

"I would, however, amplify this recommendation by insisting that this segregation of funds must be under State or Federal supervision. By segregation with supervision I mean that it shall be the legal duty of certain lawfully constituted officials of the State or nation to know at all times exactly what is being done with the funds derived from the sale of construction bond issues and to see that sound and approved assets are set apart to meet all liabilities for the construction of the buildings upon which the loans have been made.

"The respective States should accord proper recognition to adequate segregation and supervision in other States to the end that the conduct of the business on a national scale may not be impeded."

Mr. Straus was strong in his contention that the fundamentals of the building situation are sound.

"There is a strong national demand for more buildings, costs are well stabilized, rental conditions generally are satisfactory and the entire industry stands on a firm and solid foundation."

CITES CHANGES ON MADISON AVENUE

Pease & Elliman Executive Explains Reasons for Moving to New Home.

Announcement is made by the realty firm of Peass & Elliman that it expects to move into its new building on the west side of Madison Avenne between Sixtieth and Sixty-first Streets about Dec. 15, moving from the present home, which was sold a short time ago, in Madison Avenue near Forty-third Street.

"The new site was chosen," said Robert A. Grannis, Vice President of Pease & Elliman, "because it has every practical advantage as to accessibility. The Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, the Lexington Avenue subway, the Fifth Avenue buses, the Madison Avenue cars, the Lexington Avenue cars, the Fifty-ninth Street cars, all serve the immediate neighborhood.

"There is a great advantage not only to our own personnel but to many of our clients in the fact that Sixtieth Street is a west-bound traffic street from Queensborough Bridge. In the immediate vicinity there are being built at present, or are contemplated, five new hotels.

"Many startling changes have been made within recent years in the immediate neighborhood. The corners of Fifty-seventh Street and Madison Avenue have undergone notsworthy improvements. There was, not long ago, a notable residence at the northwest cornar of Madison Avenue and Fifty-esventh Street. This is now the site of the Bankers Trust Company's office building.

"At the southwest corner of Madison Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street were two residences, the corner one being occupied by Henry H. Rogers. The northeast corner of Madison Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street is still occupied by a church.

"Experienced buyers of real estate took an interest in the neighborhood; notably the Hearst interests and Arthur Brisbane. One of the notable contributions to the changing skyline is the new Ritz Tower at the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street. It has been rumored that the present Ritz-Carlton Hotel will be remodeled into an office building when the new Ritz Tower begins to serve its clientele.

"The fact that Madison Avenne below this point is showing definite signs of a change in character is significant of the demand for business structures further uptown. The Grand Central development and its immediate neighborhood have seen the most noteworthy improvement of real estate that can be instanced anywhere in the world, but so rapid has it been that it has brought upon itself certain difficulties, the most conspicuous being the great traffic congestion.

"Business of a purely retail nature, or what used to be known as a 'carriage trade,' finds that it cannot cater to that class today, with the inability of the streets to care for the greatly increased vehicular congestion and especially because of lack of spacs for parking vehicles.

"Certain classes of business which are definitely committed to the uss of offics space do not find that this difficulty embarrassee them to any great extent, but a business like ours and like thoss of many who have been our immediate neighbors for the past fifteen years are finding that it is a very serious problem."

NEW FLATS IN QUEENS.

Apartment Houses Are Centring in Flushing.

From a community almost entirely without apartment houses three years ago, Flushing is today fast becoming the apartment house centrs of the Borough of Queens and the North Shore of Long Island.

Today there are compisted in Flushing more than forty apartments, with plans in the making for the starting of eeveral more during the coming Winter months and the Spring. Of the latter two classes there are ten or more apartment houses now under way, with an equal number to be erected later. All of these are at highly desirable vantage points of Flushing, where growth has been steady and consistent during the last few years.

Recognizing the great demand that has arisen in Flushing during the last year for apartments of from two to five rooms, Quinlan, Terry & Johnson, Inc., realtors of Flushing, with a change in past policies, instituted the development of eeveral departmente of their office, each department to care for a particular phase of their business. They have placed a competent and experienced woman in charge of their rental department and procured the leasing of the Ellwood Apartments in Crocheron Avenue and Twenty-eighth Street, four blocks from the Broadway Station of the Long Island Railroad. Since that time more then twenty-five apartments in these houses have been leased.

HEMPSTEAD DEEDS LAND FOR PARKWAY

Offers Facilities for Extensive South Shore Improvements to Babylon.

The taxpayers of the town of Hempstead, L. I., voted on election day to deed the lands that they own on Short Hill Beach and Jones Beach to the Stats of New York, in consideration of which the State is to build a causeway linking up the twelve mile beach front facing on the Atlantic Ocean, with the mainland of the South Shors. This will make it possible for thousands of people to enjoy one of the best beach fronts close to New York.

"This will also open up an opportunity," said Joseph Frankel, manager of the Biltmore Shores development at Massapequa, "to improve the South Shore from Freeport to Babylon. While no definite point has been selected for the site of the canseway, the commission is figuring on putting it somewhere between Freeport and Seaford. This means that new opportunities will present themselves for the development of this section of Long Island, and will make available, within commuting distance of New York, thousands of homesites.

"There is only a certain amount of waterfront property in close proximity to the commuting distance of New York, and this section, with the improvement contemplated, will create a great deal of activity in the near future.

"It does not take much vision to see that the towns lying directly east of Freeport are within easier commuting distance than the Bronx or Washington Heights, and that this territory, where the land is still to be had at reasonable prices, makes it possible for developers and builders to place within the reach of the masses great opportunities for popular price housing.

"It is also my belief that the most constructive thing for solidifying the citizenship of this country is to get more people to own their own homes, as they would becoms better citizens and take a greater interest in the activities of the nation.

"Ons of the biggest steps for the future progress of Long Island is the formation of the Long Island Chamber of Commerce, headed by Arthur S. Somers, and has on its board sixty Directors selected from all parts of Long Island. The policy of this organization is to look after the welfare of the entire island, some of the major items of which are transportation, roads, sewers, &c. The plan is to have in its membership representative citizens of every community on Long Island.

The State Park Commission is busily engaged in the construction and widening of seven major boulevards, which will make a tour by automobile throughout the island one of convenience and pleasure."

Edgar Guest to Address Realtors.

Edgar Guest of Detroit, whose inspirational poems on "Hems" and "Home Life" are widely read throughout the country, will be the only speaker at the annual dinner of the Long Island Real Estate Board, according to an announcemsot just made by William J. Gilliland, Chairman of the committee. The dinner, which will be held this year in honor of J. Wilson Dayton, retiring President, will take place on Thursday evening, Dec. 9, at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

BUILDING GAIN IN WESTCHESTER

Building operations in Westchester continue at a pace which, during October, again increased the lead this county has piled up in 1926, as compared with the banner year of 1925 or any previous year, according to the monthly survey made by Leverett S. Miller, President of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railway.

The aggregate of building permits issued in leading municipalities of Westchester from Jan. 1 to Nov. 1 mounted to $34,640,328. Mr. Miller reports. This is a gain of $26,497,056, or 45.5 per cent, over the total of permits issued during the first ten months of 1925. In fact, it exceeds what was a record total of $70,000,000 reported for the entire year 1925.

The value of permits issued in sixteen municipalities last month was $5,631,834, which, by comparison with the $5,468,685 total for October, 1925, represents a gain of $163,149, or 2.9 per cent.

Mr. Miller's conclusion is that, while the value of new construction projects authorized throughout the nation has shown a considerable falling off in recent months, the development of Westchester, with the construction of the new apartment buildings and dwellings, continues at a highly satisfactory rate.

"Furthermore," says Mr. Miller's report, "as it is gensrally reported by building supervisors throughout Westchester that the first days of November indicate that applications for authority to begin new construction projects are more numerous than during October, there is every prospect the year 1926 will record a whirlwind finish.

"Eastchester furnished the surprise figurs of October. It entered the million-dollar class for the first time, permits issued for a single large apartment project having swollen its total to $1,983,202, which was a gain of $979,277, or 942.3 per cent., over the October, 1926, figure.

"Yonkers remained in the million-dollar class with $1,087,065 of permits issued, although this was a loss of 16.4 per cent. from the total of Ootober of last year. White Plains jumped from $627,340 in Octobsr, 1925, to $950,380 for that month thie year. Other municipalities to show gains included New Rochelle, with $588,387 of permits; Pelham, with $36,800; Peekskill, with $65,390; Rye, with $122,000, and Tuckahoe, with $151,650.

Tabulated results of ths survey, with figures for North Tarrytown included with those for Tarrytown and with Pelham including North Pelham, follow:

MURPHY ANNOUNCES THREE AUCTION SALES

Offerings Include Upper West Side Flats—An Optimist on the Market.

Tomorrow at noon in the Exchange Salesrooms, 56 Vesey Street, James R. Murphy will sell 540-542 West 146th Street, a six-story brick apartment house, and on next Thursday Mr. Murphy will sell 54 West 125th Street, a three-story and basement brick dwelling with store on first floor.

On Thursday evening, Dec. 2, in the Brooklyn Real Estate Exchange, 189 Montagus Street, Mr. Murphy will sell at auction fourteen parcels of improved and unimproved real estate in Brooklyn, Queens and Long Beach. The sale is to be held for a prominent operator anxious to liquidate his holdings.

Optimism was the keynote struck by Mr. Murphy last week in the opening lecture of the school of real estate, which he has sponsored. The lecture was held in ths Exchange Salesrooms at 56 Vesey Street.

Although maintaining that the real estate market is in a normal condition and has merely readjusted itself to pre-boom standerds, Mr. Murphy said that at all times optimism is necessary to the man who would achieve success in real estate, whether he be broker or investor.

"Ths story of the East Bronx," he said, "is a striking example of the triumph of optimism. Land that went begging for buyers a few years past has increased more than 400 per cent. in value in a short period. The optimists reaped the tremendous profits made in this section and such men as Louis Gold earned the reward of their foresight."

CONCRETE FIRE TEST.

Wall Stands Seven-Hour Exposure to 1,900 Degrees of Heat.

A seven-hour exposure to 1,900 degrees of heat at ths Underwriters' Laboratories in Chicago has just proved conclusively the extraordinary fire resistance of hollow concrete building units.

This temperature, sufficient to melt either silver or brass, was maintained in a test to determine the fire resistance of stone tile, a widely used form of lightweight concrete block. The test, which will be accepted by insurance companies, showed that the wall prevented the passage of heat to such an extent that combustible materials on the opposite side of the wall failed to ignite for at least seven hours.

In order to make the test aspecially severe the wall carried a load of approximately six tons per square foot during the entire test, this being considered by most building codes the maximum allowable for hollow concrete masonry.

The wall, built into a steel frame in which the load was maintained by hydraulic jacks was swung into place in front of a specially built furnace and the blaze turned against one side of the wall while observers watched the pyrometers, which indicated a rise in temperature and an intensity of heat far greater than would be encountered in anything but the most extraordinary conflagration.

Within five minutes from the beginning of the test a temperature of 1,000 degrees was recorded; this had risen in one-half hour to 1,600 degrees, and at the end of three hours a temperaturs of 1,900 degrees was indicated, which was maintained to the end of the test.

To the insurance people the outstanding feature of the test was the slowness with which the temperature rose on the room side of the test wall and it was not until seven hours had passed that the critical temperature was reached, this being the point at which easily combustible materials are ignited.

The average temperature of the room sids of the wall, however, was well below the critical point of 300 degrees.

COMMUTING TRAFFIC PROVES BIG PROBLEM

Suggestion Made That Port Authority Have Power to Formulate Plan.

LOCAL RELIEF NEGLIGIBLE

System Must Care for Needs of the Entire City Area, Says Charles M. Dutcher.

Charles M. Dutcher, Chairman of the Committee on Commuting Traffic of the Thirty-fourth Street-Midtown Association, suggested last week that proper measures should be taken to give the Port of New York Authority additional powers to permit a thorough study of the needs of the commuting territory, to formulate a plan, to finance the plan and to construct the necessary rapid transit facilities. The Port of New York Authority, it was stated, is the logical and proper body to solve the commuting transit problem.

Mr. Dutcher's suggestion was made at a luncheon meeting given by his committee to representatives of twenty civic organizations from the various city boroughs. The object was to start a cooperative movement on the part of all civic associations in the metropolitan district to solve the commuting traffic problem and thus afford relief from congestion in the city subways.

"The commuting traffic problem demands immediate attention," said Mr. Dutcher. "Appreciable relief of congestion on the city subways, apparently, can only be obtained by eliminating the commuting traffic.

"Records show that the greatest number of commuters enter the city subways at the Grand Central and the Pennsylvania Stations, and the trains operating in and out of these stations at peak hours of the day are packed to the doors. Although the city is building additional subways they will not be placed in operation for three or four years.

Traffic Relief Urgent.

"The cessation of subway building in the past eight years, during which time the city as well as the entire metropolitan area has greatly increased in population, forces upon us a situation which must be met promptly. The city's subways are now called upon to transport nearly a million commuters daily, mostly during the peak hours, in addition to several millions of intra-city passengers, thereby creating unprecedented conditions. It is therefore obvious that if some transit facility could be constructed that will care for the commuting traffic within and without the city limits, eliminating them from the city subways, the congestion on the city subways will be materially reduced.

"Various plans purporting to accomplish this result have been proposed. But all are intended to care for commuting traffic in a particular section. What we need is a broad and comprehensive plan caring for the commuting traffic in the entire metropolitan area.

"The only feasible method is to place the entire subject in the hands of a super-body or commission for solution with sufficient authority over the entire metropolitan area to devise a comprehensive plan, secure the necessary finances and to construct the required facilities.

Looks to Port Authority.

"There is already in existence the Port of New York Authority, which is fully organized and functioning, and its personnel is capable of planning and constructing a commuting railway system. Inasmuch as the City of New York and the entire metropolitan area are embraced within the territory over which the Port of New York Authority has jurisdiction, primarily over the facilities for transportation of freight and inasmuch as New York and New Jersey have delegated to this body the power to construct bridges and to issue bonds to finance the projects, they have thereby given to the Port Authority jurisdiction, at least in part, over the interstate vehicular traffic. It is but a short step to extend their jurisdiction over passenger transportation.

"Certain additional legislation by New York and New Jersey is necessary before the Port Authority can fully exercise this power and the influence of public opinion will be needed to indnce the Legislatures of the two States to take the necessary action. The Thirty-fourth Street-Midtown Association, believing that the Port of New York Authority will be found an agency that can procure relief, has referred the subject to a special committee."

Lawrence Elliman, President of the Real Estate Board of New York, disclosed that the Westchester County-Madison Avenue commuting railway plan had met its most serious obstacle in the matter of financing. He said that plans had progressed to the point where bankers were willing to interest themselves in it if the subway could be continued from the Battery into New Jersey.

Gage E. Tarbell, Chairman of the Transit Committee of the Fifth Avenue Association, favored Mr. Dutcher's proposal.

The only differing point of view was given by Robert F. Higbie, Chairman of the Transit Committee of the Queensborough Chamber of Commerce, who expressed a lack of confidence in the ability of the Port Authority to carry through such a project.

A resolution was passed that the representatives at this meeting should ask their organizations to consider the subject and to approve of the idea.

BROADCASTING REAL ESTATE

New Jersey Boards to Continue Their New Policy.

The Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood went on the air over WAAM on Tuesday evening, Nov. 9, from a temporary studio at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters, despite the explosion and fire which last wrecked the newly completed broadcasting studio.

James H. Muchmore, Chairman of the Multiple Listing System, spoke for half an hour on various properties for sale in the Oranges and Maplewood and on the advantages of the Oranges and Maplewood as a home centre.

The Oranges and Maplewood board is said to be the first to use radio broadcasting as a means of bringing before the general public specific information on the offerings in a locality.

The realtors will continue to broadcast on each Tuesday evening at 7:30 over WAAM. The committee in charge comprises Charles E. Rousek, James H. Muchmore, Howard M. Raymond and Robert E. Dudley.

That is, we have only 24 lots left in Section A, which we consider in fit condition to live on now. We do not offer for sale any lots that we do not think fit for immediate use. The few remaining lots in Section A, we will put in condition as soon as we can reach them; but meantime, we desire to sell for immediate building these 24 lots at

CASTLE HILL ESTATE

Overlooking Westchester Bay

These 24 lots, we would be particularly glad to sell to reliable builders, and, to induce them to come at once, we will do what we never did before, namely, SUBORDINATE.

The price on these lots is very low compared to neighboring property because we hope that our buyers will realize profits and buy more lots from us later and we are satisfied with a reasonable profit. Besides we have sold the property across Castle Hill Avenue to a developer and we want to get out of his way.

We also have five very finely built houses now completed and ready for occupancy and four nearing completion and these are the last that we expect to build; as other builders have taken up the work and we try not to compete with our customers. These houses are built in a thoroughly workmanlike manner and we will sell them very cheap; and, to respectable, responsible buyers, the terms will be made very easy.

Take Lexington Avenue Subway (Pelham Bay Division) to Castle Hill Avenue Station and go south to property; or take 180th Street crosstown trolley to Castle Hill Avenue and go south to property.

"We Want You to Have Christmas Dinner With Us in Our New Home at

Stewart Manor Station

Garden City, L. I.

YOU'LL love our house. It's one of those beautiful white Colonial types, with broad lawns, shrubbery and trees. Plenty of room—it's built on a 50-foot lot, with 60 feet between houses. It has everything; white enamel gas ranges, built-in refrigerators, hardwood floors and unusual closet space.

THERE are still a few more of these houses, from $8,250 up, and also some 1-family detached homes for $9,450 up. There's only a small down payment needed, then you can join us in the most beautiful home community in Long Island."

A RESIDENCE in a restricted community

20 Minutes from Manhattan

THE three types of English Garden Homes now available at Jackson Heights are of 8, 9, and 10 rooms, with 2 and 3 baths. The 8-room house is ideally suited to a small family. There is a garage with the house. The 9-room house has a sun parlor, extra large plot for planting, and garage, while the third type is a convertible house of 10 rooms; one may purchase the entire house and use six rooms for himself and rent the third floor as an ideal 4-room apartment, with separate stairway. There is a garage with the house.

IN all these easy housekeeping homes the kitchens are especially well appointed. The basement has a fully equipped laundry with ironing board. The Management Department of The Queensboro Corporation relieves the house-owner of the care of furnace, care of grounds, removal of snow, removal of ashes and refuse.

JACKSON HEIGHTS is a Restricted Community. When you purchase a house built and managed by The Queensboro Corporation you can be assured that your investment will pay you interest in many ways—children's supervised playgrounds, outdoor sports, clubs, and more essential, enhancement of value which is increasing with every new building constructed, and every new improvement completed, at Jackson Heights.

Furnished sample house open for inspection daily until 6 p. m.—Saturdays and Sundays until 8 p. m. . . . Inquire at Jackson Heights Office.

The Scarswold

100% Cooperative Suburban Apartments

LOCATION—in Westchester County, overlooking the Bronx River Park, guaranteeing a perpetually unobstructed view. 3 minutes from the Scarsdale Station of the electrified New York Central, sixty-three trains daily and always a seat for you.

¶ Architecturally, this majestic Tudor building will appeal to those who desire conservative refinement. The individual apartments are unusual. For example, 15x25 living rooms with large casement windows and genuine fireplaces. Bedrooms with two exposures and three windows. An abundance of closets—big ones, too! A private bath, with shower, adjoins each chamber. Even the four-room apartments have two baths. Kitchens contain every modern equipment to avoid drudgery.

¶ With light and air on three sides of your home, these apartments truly give you all the advantages, with none of the cares and worries incidental to maintaining a private home.

¶ Apartments consist of 4, 5, 6 and 7 rooms and are priced from $7,100 to $14,900, with monthly maintenance charges (which decrease yearly), of from $77 to $162. The purchase of an apartment here, as a home or an investment, offers unusual possibilities.

¶ 60% of "The Scarswold" is sold. A purchase at this time enables you to make, without cost, any minor architectural changes you may desire.

Apartments may be purchased on the deferred payment plan.

A representative is at the premises on Saturday and Sunday.

at 72nd Street

Now is the season when foresighted tenants whose leases expire next Fall are laying their plans for moving. This exceptional building will surely provide something to suit your needs. It has four two-story maisonettes, each with private entrance and address, and with from 11 to 15 rooms, four roof garden duplex apartments of 11 to 16 rooms, and a special triplex roof garden apartment of 15 rooms with private elevator, corner apartments of 9 and 14 rooms, 11-room apartments facing south on 72nd Street and delightful duplexes with 12 rooms with east and west exposure.

Surely here is something that will appeal. The rooms are large and well proportioned. Ceilings: 10 ft. 4 in. to 13 ft. Closets in profusion. You should see this floor plan without delay.

Changes can easily be made now to suit your needs. Later this will be more difficult. Occupancy early Summer of 1927.

These apartments — though modern—suggest the fine private houses of the days before the war: the ceilings are higher, the rooms are larger, the closets deeper than one finds in other apartments. All were designed by J. E. R. CARPENTER.

When people see the floor plan and the unusually fine finish of the building, they become enthusiastic. A living room 20' x 28' and a large dining room face on Fifth Avenue and overlook Central Park, giving view, breeze and sunlight.

All masters' chambers face on the side street, with a good Park outlook. An exceptionally large masters' chamber enjoys the luxury of a dressing room and the morning sun. Cedar closets and needle baths typify the completeness of the appointments.

Washington Square District

THE ever-increasing popularity of the Washington Square district is evidenced by the high type of houses and residents that occupy them. If you, too, will join the Washington Square "Colony" you will remove at once—and permanently—all transportation difficulties. The arch is half-way between Wall Street and Times Square—away from the hustle and bustle of business and yet not too far to walk to your office if you choose.

Comfort in the Country

A HOME of the Holstead robs the country of its vicissitudes, for here you are in a quaint Tudor residence in the Westchester hills, with elevator, restaurant, and garage service.

The warm comfort of such a home is absolute proof against reluctant furnaces, itinerant maids and burst water pipes. Yet you have all the advantages of a private house—spacious rooms, many windows, and real kitchens, and an abundance of light and air, for the building is so arranged that each apartment has cross ventilation. In a beautiful neighborhood and conveniently located, you are just 40 minutes from 42nd Street.

So Much Depends On How You Start

Perhaps you are not very old and yet are already wise enough to know better ways to spend your money than on mere floor space. Perhaps, too, you are among the discriminating few who insist that their surroundings be tasteful and appropriate. If so, we have striven to solve your problem for you.

Just off the Bronx River Parkway, overlooking its woods and winding river, we have built a few small apartments. These apartments we have tried to plan and appoint as you would your own home. The rooms are large, and their wall decoration is determined by your preference. There are fire places that really burn logs, cedar-lined closets, individual garages, electric elevators.

If you wish to start your Winter both wisely and pleasantly, come and see them today.

ZONING PLAN NEEDS AN APPEALS BOARD

The Board Acts as Safety Valve and Protects the Interests of Both Owner and Tenant.

Edward M. Bassett, in an article prepared for the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, says that citizens have suggested that the zoning plan would gain wider support if the regulations could be made so definite as to render unnecessary a Board of Appeals. He explains that some persons think that because the board employs its discretion in making variances that there must be a chance for favoritism. Mr. Bassett says that if these folks could see the whole picture they would understand that any zoning plan which left out the Board of Appeals would be a failure. Then he says:

"This board is the safety valve of zoning and, without it, the zoning, like a boiler without a safety valve, would blow up sooner or later. The reason why the Board of Appeals is a necessary adjunct to zoning is because the zoning maps are sure to apply in an arbitrary manner here and there to lots that are exceptionally situated. For instance, a store may have happened to locate in a residence district before the zoning resolution went into effect. The owner of a vacant lot adjoining the store is compelled by the strict letter of the zoning law to erect a residence if he erects anything. The store may be located so that a private house next door would be a bad investment. The lot owner is justifiably reluctant to spend his good money to build an unrentable house. But he will be glad to erect a small apartment on his lot or building with a dry goods store or bank on the ground floor with apartments above if he can get a variance. So he applies to the Board of Appeals and procures a variance if he presents a good case.

"Not only is the lot owner accommodated, but the integrity of the law is preserved. If there were no way of obtaining a variance, he would ask the court to order the building commissioner to issue him a suitable permit, regardless of the zoning, on the ground that the law was unconstitutional as to his lot, and if he presented a good case the court would do so. If there is a Board of Appeals, however, the applicant must go to it because a litigant must first exhaust the remedy given him by law before he attempts to have the law declared unconstitutional. Like decisions of Boards of Assessors, the decisions of the Board of Appeals are subject to court review.

"In other words, the Board of Appeals and the reviewing court furnish a procedure that can prevent arbitrariness in any situation. If there is no arbitrariness, there is no unconstitutionality."

Mr. Bassett says that zoning went wrong in New Jersey because the first enabling acts were deficient in the Board of Appeals provisions. He says:

"The Nutley (N. J.) case came up on court order against the Building Commissioner instead of on court review as is always the method in New York City. There are now two States, New Jersey and Georgia, whose highest courts have pronounced against zoning. In both these States this result was due to the absence of the safety valve of the Board of Appeals."

FRUIT TESTERS MEET.

Annual Session Held Recently at State Experiment Farm.

The New York State Fruit Testing Cooperative Association held its annual meeting recently at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva. In addition to transacting routine business, the members of the association heard a report on the progress of the fruit-breeding work under way at the station and were given an opportunity to sample some of the recent creations of the fruit specialists.

The New York State Fruit Testing Association is an unusual type of cooperative, but is one of the most successful cooperative efforts in the country in view of the results achieved, say officials of the experiment station who are in close touch with the association's activities. Organized primarily to propagate and distribute to interested fruit growers stock of the more promising new fruits developed in the fruit-breeding work of the station, the association has made possible the testing of these new fruits on a scale and under varying conditions of soil and climate that would be wholly beyond the means of the experiment station, they say, so that in this way many years of effort are saved in trying out a new variety.

The membership of the association now numbers over a thousand and extends into many States and Canada, and is limited only by the quantity of stock available for distribution from year to year. The chief function of the association is to propagate planting stock of the new fruits recommended by the station horticulturists and to distribute this stock to its members at a nominal cost.

Fruit growers who receive stock are expected to report back to the association or to the experiment station on the behavior of the new varieties under their conditions, and in this way the station specialists are enabled to judge much more promptly and accurately as to the merits of the new sort than they could if the variety gred only on the station grounds. It is also possible by this means to put a new variety before the public in a much shorter time than could otherwise be done.

URGE CIVIC PLAN IN BERGEN COUNTY

COMBINE LOCAL INTERESTS

Sewerage and Street Systems Need Many Improvements—Traffic Study Suggested.

Population is growing so rapidly in Bergen County, N. J., that the adoption of a county plan is imperative if this region is to avoid the mistakes of Queens and the Bronx, according to Nicholas S. Hill Jr., President of the Hackensack Water Company.

Urging the formation of a County Plan Commission, Mr. Hill points out to the Bergen County Board of Freeholders that the program planned by the recently created Bergen County Park Commission is only a beginning.

County planning, he believes, should not be limited to the development of parks, but with the aid of the Bergen County Association and other agencies many problems vital to community life should be attacked before it is too late. Among the questions needing immediate study are sewage disposal, the laying out of streets, traffic and sanitation.

Park Provision Necessary.

"The question of proper provision for future parks and playgrounds should be taken up now and the necessary lands acquired before they are built upon," says Mr. Hill, "for delay will force the county to pay not only for the increased value of the land, but also for the destruction of buildings in order to provide breathing spaces for the population within its borders.

"With the advent of the Hudson River Bridge, Bergen County may be expected to undergo development comparable to that which has taken place in Queens and the Bronx during the last fifteen years.

"These boroughs adopted no definite plan anticipating the growth and the result has been that much costly construction, which foresight might have avoided, has been necessary in order to provide adequately for water supply, sanitation, public highways and parks. Had a comprehensive city plan been prepared for those three boroughs prior to 1900, many millions would have been saved to the taxpayers.

"The creation of a County Plan Commission and the appropriation of funds sufficient to enable it to function effectively would bestow substantial benefits not only upon the present, but upon the prospective taxpayers of Bergen County.

"As evidence of what may be accomplished by the early adoption of a plan like this, I may cite that existing sanitary conditions in the communities within Bergen County are under the control of unpaid local health boards, which are more or less efficient.

Better Sanitary Conditions.

"A properly constituted and equipped county health board would function far more effectively than the local boards and the sanitary conditions could be greatly improved.

"Sewers and sewage disposal are now provided by individual communities without regard to the needs of adjacent communities. Present civil subdivision lines bear no relation to sewers. Sewerage, to be most economical and effective, should be designed by drainage districts.

"A sewer plan covering the needs of the various communities in the county could be effectively carried out by the creation of sewer districts, accomplishing large savings in construction and maintenance of sewers and sewage disposal plants, and removing the high cost of amortizing local plants which will eventually be dispensed with.

"The street plan of Bergen County is now chiefly in the hands of local realty developers, who buy a tract of land and lay out streets without considering the county's future convenience and development.

"The traffic problem should be studied and main arteries should be laid down so that every one will know where the future highways will be located. It would be advantageous if all the local communities and realty developers were required to lay out streets, according to a general plan. Enforcement of this requirement would save millions in reconstruction later."

TRAINING IN REAL ESTATE.

University of Wisconsin Inaugurates Four-Year Program.

With the cooperation of Wisconsin and national organizations of real estate operators, the department of economics and the University of Wisconsin are inaugurating this Fall a four-year program of real estate education.

The first classes are being offered in the Milwaukee branch of the university, but plans are under way to give instruction in other Wisconsin cities. The Milwaukee Real Estate Board, the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers, and the National Association of Real Estate Boards are cooperating in offering the courses. Studies made by the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities and by the department of education and research of the national association are being used in developing the program.

The complete four-year program includes the following eight courses: Fundamentals of real estate practice; problems of land utilization; real estate law; real estate transfers and conveyancing; real estate appraisals; real estate financing; the selling of real estate; zoning and city planning; property management and real estate office management.

The Milwaukee Real Estate Board will confer upon any one who satisfactorily completes the first four of these subjects an official certificate of the board. The National Association of Real Estate Boards will grant certificates to those completing the eight-course program.

The two courses to be given this year in Milwaukee will be taught by James B. Read, assistant professor of business administration in the University Extension division, and by B. H. Hibbard, professor of economics in the university. Professor Read will conduct the courses in fundamentals of real estate practice and Professor Hibbard the course in problems of land utilization.

Courses offered in the program are not limited to real estate brokers, but may be taken by salesmen or by any mature persons interested in the subjects who have sufficient preparation to study them with profit, according to the announcement of the program.

"Besides active real estate brokers and salesmen they should especially benefit bankers, investors, beginners in real estate practice, public officials concerned with zoning and city planning practice, and owners and managers of estates with large real estate holdings," says the announcement.

Both classes will be offered in the evening at Milwaukee.

The Riviera—Tuxedo Sofa

No finer Tuxedo Sofa than this, with "Seats for Two," has ever been offered—certainly not at this low price. Ideal for the small room and an excellent addition to the larger room, for that matter. Built with the same care and skill as the full size sofa, then covered in Muslin, and finally covered all over with a superb grade of smooth Mohair, delightfully patterned.

THIS type of Tuxedo Sofa, affectionately known as a "Love Seat," is represented on our Factory Showroom Floor in diversified frames, shapes, and coverings. Each is truly a gem, and no less attractive are the low prices at which they can be obtained—ranging from $53 to $185. Each of these Love Seats is first covered in Muslin, and then in the material that you select. The prices quoted cover the completely finished piece, ready for delivery.

Lawson Sofa $95

The retailer's profit never enters into our prices! We did at one time furnish leading retailers with upholstered furniture, but today we sell only to the public DIRECT—at wholesale prices. This luxurious Lawson Sofa, as illustrated, is an ideal piece for sofa comfort and where space is limited. Covered in Muslin and then with Sateen and contrasting, for only $86.

LABOR COSTS TEND TO BE STABILIZED

NO INDICATION OF CUTS

Common Labor and Skilled Workman Plentiful—The Five-Day Week.

Wage scales of building craftsmen throughout the country are generally holding firm and there is no indication of any immediate widespread downward revision of rates, according to a national survey of labor conditions in the building industry just completed by the Building Economic Research Bureau of the American Bond and Mortgage Company. Building labor conditions are summarized as follows:

1. Rising tendency in labor costs seems to be stopped for the present at least.

2. Building crafts plan to maintain wages and working conditions attained during building prosperity period.

3. Common labor plentiful and supply of skilled craftsmen adequate to take care of present construction, except in a few localities.

4. Bonus payments and practice of contractors bidding against each other for men have practically disappeared.

5. Labor fairly tranquil and little interference to building operations from strikes expected this Winter.

6. Building unions, with largest membership in history, plan renewal of campaign for five-day week.

7. Definite progress being made by labor officials in eliminating jurisdictional strikes.

"The building industry is now being favored by a more pronounced tendency toward stabilized labor costs," said the survey. "Conditions of employment and labor rates generally during the last sixty days have shown but little change.

"Wage readjustments reported have been very small and in a majority of cases affected only a few of the so-called 'key trades,' such as plasterers, bricklayers and carpenters. In a few cities where building operations are large they have asked and received small wage advances. The majority of crafts, however, show a willingness to go along under present schedules. Few wage reductions have been reported, but there is nowhere any indication of any radical downward revision.

"While contractors in practically all the larger cities have decided against higher wage rates, they are showing a disposition to cooperate with the building trades unions and peacefully adjust wage disputes. As a result, labor conditions generally are quiet and no serious troubles have hindered construction, except in a few localities, where an effort has been made to establish the 'open shop' or the unions are engaged in inter-union strife.

"Determination of labor to maintain indefinitely the high wage rates it had obtained during the last two years, was expressed at the convention of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor at Detroit, Mich., last month. The building unions unanimously decided 'to hold their ground and maintain to the utmost of their ability the wage scales and conditions which have required so many years of effort to obtain.' They also declared that wage reductions were out of the question at this time.

"The largest membership in history was reported by the eleven national and international unions represented at the convention. These unions, which have a paid up membership of 574,497, gained 30,592 new members during the last year. This was the largest gain reported in any one year since the Building Trades Department was organized in 1908.

"The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, the largest building trades union which is not affiliated with the Building Trades Department, has a membership of 404,917, having gained 39,924 members in the last twelve months. The combined membership of the seventeen building unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor now totals 979,407.

"Building trades employers are now generally taking cognizance of the the shorter work-week movement and are planning organized opposition. They contend that the shorter work-week would add to building costs and would tend 'to further create an artificial shortage of labor.'

"All building labor seems well employed, and there is an ample supply of skilled and unskilled mechanics to meet present construction needs. Bonus payments have entirely disappeared except in a few isolated localities. The demand for apprentices is also reported to have subsided, although high schools, universities and trade schools throughout the country continue to turn out considerable numbers of new building craftsmen.

"Reports on wage changes from cities and towns throughout the country show that small increases, ranging from 1½ to 12½ cents an hour, have been granted in about forty trades in fourteen cities. These increases were reported from Atlanta, Ga.; Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, Detroit, Duluth, Kansas City, St. Louis, Dayton, Nashville Tenn.; Norfolk, Va.; Pittsburgh Philadelphia and Reading, Pa.

"Reductions were reported from Philadelphia, Salt Lake City and Atlanta. These were very small and mainly due to a surplus of common labor and some skilled craftsmen.

"Wage scales in the building trades as reported by the National Association of Builders' Exchanges show that labor is getting the highest wages in history. Bricklayers throughout the country are receiving from $1 to $1.75 per hour; carpenters, 60 cents to $1.50; plasterers, 90 cents to $1.87½; building laborers, 25 cents to 87½ cents; structural iron workers, 60 cents to $1.50; plumbers, 80 cents to $1.50; electricians, 65 cents to $1.50; stone masons, 85 cents to $1.75; lathers, 75 cents to $1.62½; sheet metal workers, 80 cents to $1.50; painters, 50 cents to $1.50, and hoisting engineers, 50 cents to $1.75.

"Review of these wage scales shows that New York building mechanics are receiving the highest wages of any city in the country. Bricklayers, plasterers, hoisting engineers and stone masons are receiving $1.75 per hour, and the majority of other trades $1.50 per hour. St. Louis, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, where the prevailing rate is $1.50 per hour, are about tied for second place.

"Columbia, S. C., reported the lowest wage scale. Here laborers receive from 15 cents to 20 cents an hour; bricklayers, 90 cents to $1; carpenters, 40 cents to 60 cents; plasterers, 90 cents to $1, and painters, 50 cents."

BETTER TRANSIT AIDS WESTCHESTER VALUES

Putnam Division Improvements a Boon to Saw Mill River Valley, Says Builder.

The ties that have retarded development of the Saw Mill River Valley have been removed, according to L. Ward Prince of Prince & Ripley, who yesterday predicted a new era of prosperity for this part of Westchester. Mr. Prince said that swifter and cleaner transportation on the Putnam Division of the New York Central as a result of the installation of Diesel engines, the construction of an elaborate sewer system by the Westchester County Sanitary Commission and the quick completion of additional highways will throw the whole Saw Mill River Valley open for intensive development. Within the next five years, he contends, this attractive section of Westchester, which has been held back through inadequate transportation, will be the scene of the greatest real estate activity in the county. Mr. Prince said:

"The picturesque Saw Mill River Valley, where development and expansion have been curbed by lack of adequate transportation facilities, within the next five years will witness the greatest activity in its history. I base this prediction on a recent survey of the section.

"During the present generation, when the pressure of population from within New York brought about the remarkable growth of Westchester, the Saw Mill River Valley was almost wholly neglected by developers. Lack of good transportation caused much of this neglect. Now that this condition has been removed, I look for rapid development in the section.

"That good transportation is essential to development is clearly demonstrated by the distribution of the major part of Westchester's population. Along the Harlem and river divisions of the New York Central, where excellent train service is maintained, we find large communities. Between these population centres, forming a pocket that reaches to within a stone's throw of New York, we have the Saw Mill River Valley, with all the natural advantages of the other sections, but lacking in good train service to the metropolis.

"Even with such a disadvantage the lure of the valley has been strong enough to develop such attractive communities as Elmsford, Ardsley, Pocantico Hills and many other thriving towns. The general improvement on the Putnam Division will benefit all communities served by it from Yorktown Heights to Van Cortlandt Park.

"Another important factor toward the development of this section is the lateral pressure of population. Hundreds of home owners living in the Harlem and Hudson River Valleys will seize the opportunity of moving into the fertile Saw Mill River Valley when the development gets under way.

"The construction of the great trunk sewer contemplated by the Westchester County Sanitary Commission will materially aid in developing the section. The survey and study work for this sewer, which will serve every community in the valley, have already been completed. The improvement will be finished within five years."

NEW LINDEN BOULEVARD PLANS NOW COMPLETE

Four-Mile Roadway Will Connect Brooklyn and Queens, Leading to Long Island.

Plans for Linden Boulevard to form through connection with the Fort Hamilton Parkway on the west and the Conduit Boulevard on the east, one of the most important vehicular highways in Brooklyn, have been practically completed.

Work on the big improvement will start as soon as the Board of Estimate approves.

The widening will provide a four-mile 170-foot motor boulevard between Brooklyn and Queens. Following the line of the old Lorraine and Hageman Avenues, which are seventy feet wide, the new boulevard will be a tree-shaded parkway from Kings Highway to Conduit Boulevard in Queens, with which it will connect.

By this means a motor highway twenty-five miles long to Amityville will be opened.

In the Flatbush area Fort Hamilton Parkway, extending from the water front at the Narrows to Park Circle, will be connected up by the proposed widening of Caton Avenue through to Flatbush Avenue.

At this point the roadway will be constructed between Linden Boulevard and Lenox Road to draw to the point of a triangle at Bedford Avenue and Linden Boulevard.

Thence out along Linden Boulevard to Kings Highway the removal of the mails and permanent pavement of Linden Boulevard will make a splendid roadway through the heart of Flatbush and Rugby sections.

The new boulevard will have three roadways, according to the announcement of the city officials, the principal one in the centre being eighty feet wide, with two parkways to separate them.

The resolution provides not only for grading, curbing, flagging and paving, but also for the laying of sod and the planting of trees.

The rule and damage map, on the basis of which damage to property owners will be determined, has been prepared and adopted.

The work of the central roadway alone, it has been estimated, will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 and will take about a year to complete. What the cost to the city will be in the way of damages for property condemned has not been determined and awaits the decision of a Supreme Court Justice who will sit on the claims.

TWO-FAMILY BRICK HOMES.

Seventy-five Houses Being Erected at Woodside, L. I.

Nellis, O'Brien, Walsh Incorporated are erecting seventy-five two-family brick homes on a plot of seventy-five recently purchased lots on Packard Avenue, Locust Street and Laurel Hill Boulevard, Woodside, L. I.

These homes will be almost the exact duplicate of the recently completed forty-nine homes by the same company which are all sold, many of which were taken from the plans before completion.

A feature will be the location of a two-car garage in the rear of the basement of these new homes which will consist of four room downstairs and five upstairs.

It is the intention of the company to have these homes completed by Spring and five have been sold from the plans.

CONTRACTOR'S BOND REQUIRES FITNESS

Financial Responsibility Major Consideration, Says Surety Bond Official.

Financial responsibility of a contractor, as well as the mere probability of his profit on a particular job, is a major consideration in determining his fitness for a surety bond, it was declared yesterday by Richard Deming, Vice President of the American Surety Company. Mr. Deming's statement came in reply to complaints by various members of the Associated General Contractors of America that inexperienced contractors are being given surety bonds even on work undertaken without profit, or at a lose.

"The combination of experience, price and financial responsibility governs in the average case," said Mr. Deming. "However, surety companies do sometimes execute bonds for contractors with little experience in the work about to be undertaken, even when the list of bids shows the price to be apparently too low. But this is rarely done, I think, except when the financial responsibility is considered sufficient to absorb any loss which may arise." In such an event, it was pointed out, generally the sole loser is the contractor himself.

"What the owner or obligee wants," said Mr. Deming, "is insurance against loss by reason of failure of the contractor to perform his contract. And what the surety wants is security or satisfactory evidence that in case the contract isn't a paying one, the contractor possesses financial responsibility sufficient to absorb any loss and protect his surety."

Mr. Deming cited what he declared to be one of the many cases in which owners were saved large sums of money by acceptance of low bids on projected work under the protection of surety bonds.

"When Providence, R. I., advertised for bids for construction of the Scituate Dam, the low estimate of $3,499,925, was $987,500 below the next lowest figure, and scarcely more than half the highest. When a purification works was to be constructed in connection with the same project, the same company was again low bidder, being more than $300,000 under the nearest competitor. Thus the City of Providence was saved approximately $1,300,000 on a $4,299,135 job by the ability of this contractor to furnish surety on his bond," said Mr. Deming.

"It would be impractical and highly impossible," he pointed out, "for surety companies to check the cost of all projected work in order to learn if contractors were asking enough money. Moreover, many surety bonds are arranged before the details of the estimates are made known, inasmuch as bids are frequently of an extremely confidential nature until the letting of the contract.

"If, for special reasons, a contractor wishes to take a job at less than cost, it is his privilege. Sometimes, in periods of slack business, this is deemed advisable, in order to meet overhead charges which continue even when there is no work.

"Surety companies are careful for their own protection. A company will not intentionally enter into a contract which will bring it a financial loss."

200 MILES OF FLOORING.

Limitad Dividend Buildars Announce Interesting Figures.

Hundreds of miles of oak flooring and millions of bricks give some idea of the vast quantity of construction materials which has been going each year into small house building which the City Housing Corporation, a limited dividend company, is undertaking at "Sunnyside."

The company began work a few weeks ago on 141 one, two and three-family houses and two apartment buildings as the 1927 addition to its Sunnyside Gardens model community for wage earners in Queens. These houses will require more than 3,000,000 bricks in their construction and a vast quantity of sand, lime and cement.

Two hundred miles of oak flooring will be laid over almost as huge a quantity of pine used for a rough flooring under the oak; and the amount of trim, baseboards, moldings and the like, would stretch out for fifty miles if laid in a single piece.

Even an item like window glass which is rarely thought of as one of the important elements in small house construction takes on amazing proportions in so large an operation. Sunnyside's 1927 houses will require 40,000 square feet of glass for its windows. The company is using metal door frames or bricks this year requiring no less than eighty tons of them for the 1927 construction.

It is when small house construction is translated into terms of such quantities that the value of large-scale operation becomes almost self evident as a path to greater efficiency and lower costs. The City Housing Corporation from the time of its formation little more than two years ago, has maintained that small house construction could profit as other enterprises do from large-scale operation. In line with this policy it has built in large groups until now there are more than 600 families living at Sunnyside Gardens and 400 more will be added during 1927.

In combination with its charter provision by which profits to stockholders are limited to 6 per cent., the practice of quantity production, enabling it to buy brick by the millions, lumber by the mile and other materials in proportionally large quantities, has made great economies possible, the company believes. Average costs of Sunnyside houses are given at about $11 a room a month carrying charges.

TO EXHIBIT CRAFTS WORKS.

High School to Take Part in Architectural Exposition.

American crafts works have come to occupy an important place in the decoration of the home, and the applied arts and vocational departments of the New York City high schools will have a part in the Architectural and Allied Arts Exposition which will open at the Grand Central Palace on Feb. 21.

A special day, Friday, March 4, which will be known as Crafts Day, has been set aside in the interest of pupils of the city's high schools. Exhibitions of work done in their applied arts and crafts departments will be a feature of the day's program. Among the schools expected to take part are Wadleigh, Washington Irving, Bay Ridge, Morris and Evander Childs. Methods of working will be demonstrated by students actually working at the exposition.

Professional workers in the applied arts and crafts are being invited to participate. There will be speakers who will discuss the part played by the arts and crafts in business and professional spheres and the outlook for students who follow careers in those fields. Mrs. Ripley Hitchcock, President of the Art Centre, will be one of the speakers on Crafts Day.

Crafts Day is being arranged through the kind cooperation of Horace L. Campbell, head of the high school division of the Board of Education; Forest Grant, in charge of applied arts; George J. Loewy, head of the vocational department of the high schools, and others.

BEHIND US IN DAIRYING.

Our Milk-Handling Methods Superior to Britain's, Says Mr. Walker.

William Walker of Liverpool and R. F. White of Birmingham, England, were recently at Hotel Pennsylvania, having come to this country to attend the national dairy convention. Mr. Walker lived in Chicago for eight years some time ago, and he said that in one sense he felt himself to be as much American as British. He said that dairying abroad was not comparable with the scientific methods employed in this country.

"The dairymen have not adopted the modern use of bottles and they still handle their dairies in haphazard fashion," said Mr. Walker. "One man will manage his business one way and his neighbor will do it in another. The transportation of milk to a common market is not yet to be looked for. The only attempt ever made to do this was during the general strike when milk had to be sent to Hyde Park for distribution. The system worked, too.

"I can say, however, that dairymen are beginning to improve. We attended the convention in Detroit, along with dairymen from all over the world, to benefit from the ideas and new inventions that were given by the American dairymen. One of the superior achievements of the United States in this business is ice-cream manufacture.

The girl engaged in it as well as the girl who has found her job can learn much from Helen Woodward's new book "Thru Many Windows."

Real character is developed thru adversity; success proceeds thru hardship; uprightness and determination are the first requisites of the satisfying attainment.

Our job is to find fitting positions for qualified office girls with insurance, commercial and banking houses of fine repute.

SECURITY SALESMEN.
PUBLIC UTILITY FIELD.
Have you ever wanted to sell a security that represents the maximum in safety and income? Something free from all kinds of competition—for which there is no substitute—a business thoroughly regulated and controlled, that is not affected by business depression? A business which must increase as fast as our country grows, and which, at all times, to all people alike, serves a demand which can never change and never grow old?
This is a strong financial institution that is noted for its successful investments and its policy of protecting the interests of its clients and employes. We are handling a high-grade public utility issue, with profit-sharing features.
We invite the inquiries of men whose past record proves that they are exceptional and who desire a permanent connection with unlimited possibilities.
Remuneration on a commission basis, supplemented with an attractive bonus plan, which enables a man to increase his income in proportion to his capabilities.

Salesmen Wanted.

SPECIALTY SALESMEN,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
STOCK AND BOND SALESMEN,
BANK ACCOUNT SOLICITORS,
THRIFT PLAN SALESMEN,
ATTENTION!!!

Here is an opportunity to form a permanent connection in a new field that offers unlimited earning possibilities to men of selling ability.

We have openings for a number of reliable, clean-cut men who know how to sell and are willing to demonstrate their ability by hard work.

We want salesmen—but we don't ask them to SELL. All that we want you to do is to get out and ask folks to do something for their OWN good—to impress them with the merits of a new way to secure financial independence, a plan that enables one to build up an estate of any given amount over a short period and absolutely GUARANTEES the achievement of this purpose, whether one lives or dies.

This is not a fly-by-night, get-rich-quick scheme, but a sound, practical proposition of proven merit which has the backing of two big financial institutions with combined resources exceeding $385,000,000.

We want men who are worthy of representing these institutions, and if you qualify we will pay you in return for your services just as well, or better, than if you were out selling some article of tangible commercial value.

Unless you have made $90 week or more pay no attention to this "ad." We want high-class men only—real money-makers who want to get into a dignified, profitable line of business with its future before it and not behind it. Liberal commission with drawing account to men of proven ability.

The business in which we are interested is thoroughly established and rapidly growing. We have an unlimited field and only need to expand our organization to develop a volume that will run into millions monthly, but for this purpose we need MEN—men to work in the field, men to take charge of branches and divisions, men who are both producers and executives.

To such men we offer an opportunity to make good money now and to step into more important work as the business expands. If you are a man of this type, come in and you will learn something to your immediate advantage.

ASSURED ESTATE FOUNDATION, INC.,

SALESMEN.
A downtown financial institution requires the services of a successful man capable of representing large interests.

The position offers ideal advantages to a man of positive personality who has sales instinct and executive capacity; upon these qualities and his ability to hold a position of real responsibility his application will be largely judged.

He must be a man of reasonable business maturity with a demonstrated earning ability and the capacity to contact with successful class of business men.

The current offering of the house has been the subject of considerable affirmative comment in some of the most conservative and respected circles of finance in the city; the service of which the offering is a part is of such timely importance and the opportunities for really large commission earnings and advancement are so unusual that the opening frankly merits the immediate interest of the best equipped man reading this column.

This company emphatically does not invite application from any man who does not seek a permanent position or whose personality and business antecedents do not fit him to represent a house of position which numbers as clients leading men of business in this city.

Address your application to P 853 Times Downtown.

ATTENTION!

We have been running full-page weekly advertisements in The Times on Kenilworth, one of the finest residential developments in America; our advertisement has been running on Sunday in the Real Estate Section, but is being changed in Tuesday's run of the paper.

Over a million dollars' worth of plots have already been sold in Kenilworth and over a million dollars' worth of homes are already under construction, some of which are costing more than $100,000 each; this property is at King's Point, Great Neck, L. I., and is surrounded by many of the finest estates in America whose owners are nationally known; Kenilworth is highly restricted and will enable the salesman capable of handling it to make extremely big earnings.

We have the sale of approximately $30,000,000 worth of property in the same vicinity and are marketing a very attractive lower-priced property at present, on which we also have a large number of leads; both of these properties are priced right and are the finest of their kind on the North Shore.

We are doing business on the basis that there is always a market in Greater New York for something really good which is the best of its kind; we can use only men who are capable of meeting the highest type of buyers, who are clean-cut, straight commission salesmen, who have gilt-edge references, and men who work on Kenilworth must have made a minimum of $10,000 per year over a period of time.

We furnish transportation to property, leads, and give fullest possible cooperation.

If you can meet these qualifications and are desirous of connecting with a live organization, with an unlimited opportunity for big earnings, call at once.

Room 808, 12 East 41st St.

SALESMEN.
The largest institution of its kind in the United States, through increasing business, offers a lifetime opportunity for several high-grade men with a serious purpose in life. You must possess integrity, common sense and a good personality. The work is dignified, fascinating and highly remunerative on a very satisfactory special commission arrangement, assuring a substantial immediate income plus a comfortable yearly bonus on past business.

Every one is anxious to have money in the bank. Here is the BEST METHOD YET DEVISED. So simple any one can understand it. So definite any one can follow it. So certain no one can lose. Any good man can succeed here, but we seek only the responsible, ambitious man who can sell for a short period, learn our business, then take on the handling of salesmen in an executive capacity.

If you seek a permanent connection with a solidly established, fast-growing business, where your earnings will far exceed your best expectations and where you can create for yourself a prosperous future, call for an individual and confidential interview at any one of our offices listed below.

LIFE POSITION FOR A SUCCESSFUL SALESMAN.

Our business is selling tax and corporation information to accountants, lawyers, banks, investment houses and larger corporations. We are a large, successful and growing organization. We have an opening in an important New York territory for a man to handle our established clientele and to secure new business. This man must have a good education, a pleasing personality, and a determination to work hard and successfully. He must be able to meet the business executive on his own level. His earnings should have been $3,000-$4,000.

Such a man will be given the established business in a valuable territory. His income will increase automatically each year due to his commission on renewal as well as new business; over 85 per cent. renew each year.

Your application will be treated in strict confidence. Give enough information in your letter to enable us to judge your qualifications for our work. Box 313, Room 200, Times Building.

H. C. McNULTY, GENERAL MANAGER.
SAMUEL TAUBER, DIRECTOR OF SALES.

MEN!

Who want to make big money.

If you are afraid of big money, if you think it cannot be made, this is not your place. You never will make big money while you think that way, and neither we, nor any one else, can help you to do so. But if you are timber for earnings worth while, you know there are salesmen who do make $50,000 per year and a lot more. There are three things necessary to make this kind of money:

First, the right deal; second, the right management; third, salesmen who will put $25,000 worth of effort into their work.

Right now, $350,000 in actual cash is being spent to make this deal salable. It has really been salable now only about ten days; $220,000 in actual cash has already been spent and $120,000 more is being spent at the rate of $2,000 per day. This is in addition to an original investment of over half a million dollars. And this is only one part of the enterprise we are handling.

We want clean-cut men who have made at least from $4,000 to $10,000 per year. Ambition, good appearance, willingness to work, intelligence, determination to make big money, counts for more than experience. We will take accountants, office men, well-educated men from any line, with or without selling experience, who can meet the above qualifications. Sales experience is valuable if you have had the kind that makes you expect to do a real day's work in order to make real money. We will not consider floaters or fly-by-nights.

We are spending thousands of dollars a week right now to help men make sales, although we are just starting to organize a sales force. The men who answer this ad will be in charge of sales managers who have made large incomes. If you mean business, are willing to put in a real day's work, six days a week, to make real money, on commission basis, call at once.

A SINCERE SALESMAN.

We have no $25,000-a-year jobs for salesmen.
No salesman becomes one of our executives in a month.
We are not looking for the quick, slick, clean-up salesman.
We do not sell real estate, books, insurance or house-to-house.
We call only on executives in business, selling a human element service.
We do promote salesmen with sales records to executives.
A connection in this organization means securing a permanent territorial franchise on a commission basis with a nationally known organization: a proven future, without investment, except your brains, for active salesmen between 27 and 40 years of age.
I will interview privately and employ in New York three men for nearby territories, so do not consider this unless you are prepared to start AT ONCE, should a connection be agreed upon.
Let's get down to "brass tacks." We only want to interview salesmen who are sincere in their desire to make a permanent connection.

TELEPHONE MR. W. L. MOORE. COLUMBUS 6506.

TRAVELING REPRESENTATIVES.

A nationally operating chain of stores require several live wire men capable of selecting suitable store locations in various cities and to be able to present and close a copartnership proposition to prospective partners. MERRICK, L. I.

Reader:

My sole object in this message is to excite your curiosity to the extent of having you pay us a visit. We are very enthusiastic about our proposition and feel that if we can get you to come out and look at one of our gentlemen's homes that you will find it very interesting. They are absolutely different from anything you have ever seen or read about. Our margin of profit will not permit the expenditure of such a sum necessary to acquire space adequate to fully describe just what we have to offer.

Plot 60x100 on a wide bluestone parkway, in a highly restricted locality, convenient to R. R. station, stores, schools and buses.

Assurances as to the right type of neighbors can be given, due to the fact that all our homes are sold direct.

A large living and dining room with open fireplace, casement windows and arched doorways, two bedrooms, southern exposure; a tile bath, Standard built-in fixtures, pedestal basin, shower, recessed radiator and wall controls; a tile kitchen, Bonded composition cork floor, Standard combination tub and sink, white enameled Tappan gas range and many other modern features appreciated by modern housewives; a spacious billiard room and lounge, with another open fireplace, a gentleman's room.

Richardson-Boynton hot water heating plant with the Honeywell generator system, all brass water pipe in dustproof boiler room, seven-eighths oak hardwood floors, hand scraped and polished; plate glass windows, Russwin hardware; all materials used are of standard quality, workmanship on par; exterior artistically colored stucco; tapestry brick, porch and chimney; trimmed with flower boxes, lattice work, &c.; home tastefully decorated throughout; price $7,900; first mortgage $4,500; responsible parties may arrange their own terms; no two homes alike.

$16,000—On a private road, safe from traffic, where your children can skip across the fields to the best school in suburban New York and where you can run to the station in three minutes, we have a solid built shingle house on a large plot with trees; four big, light, airy bedrooms on the second floor, with bath, and two nice rooms on the third floor; detached garage; no more opportunities like this.

VEGETABLES ARRIVE FROM PACIFIC COAST

TURKEYS COME FROM TEXAS

Supply for Thanksgiving Expected to Equal That of Last Year, Says State Review.

Cuba and the Pacific Coast are sending fresh vegetables here. The first shipment of okra from Cuba this season arrived last week, according to the weekly review issued yesterday by Dr. Arthur E. Albrecht, New York Director of the State Department of Farms and Markets.

"Artichokes and green peas are arriving from California," the review says. "As a result of the scarcity of fancy, tender string beans, prices on the wholesale market advanced sharply. The chief source of supply for the greater part of the Winter months is Florida. Various kinds of green string beans realized from $3 to $5, whereas the wax variety commanded as high as $6. One week ago prices ranged from $1 to $3.

"Long Island brussels sprouts were in plentiful supply and generally of good quality. Sales were made at mainly 12 to 18 cents per quart wholesale.

"Cucumber supplies were drawn from the Pacific Coast and Florida. Washington cucumbers brought $1.50 to $2.50 per dozen, and Florida offerings sold at $4.50 to $5.50 for the fancy pack, and $2.75 to $3.50 for the choice.

"The cold snap affected Long Island cauliflower, and a large quantity on that account realized only 50 cents to $1 per crate of eight and twelve heads. The best offerings reached $1.50 for the same quantity.

"New York State celery is steadily increasing. Fancy, well-blanched stock met a fairly good outlet at $2.50 to $2.75 per crate of six and eight dozen stalks. Ordinary stock, however, sold at $1.75 to $2.25.

"Lettuce values averaged higher, but only on the fanciest stock. Although the general quality of cranberries is considered good, the berries are small. Early varieties packed in fifty-pound boxes changed hands slowly at $3 to $3.50, and late varieties at $3.50 to $4.50.

"Okra from Cuba commanded as high as $9 per carrier of six four-quart baskets. This figure was obtained because of the absence of any from Florida.

"California artichokes have been in liberal supply for this season of the year. The demand has not been sufficient to absorb the receipts and the market has been inactive and in the buyer's favor. Boxes containing from 50 to 150 wholesaled at $2.50 to $3.75.

"Thanksgiving turkeys are at present not much in evidence, but the prospects are that the supply will be about the same as last year. There was very little inquiry for turkeys at the wholesale markets. A few odd barrels arrived from near by and sold in small quantities at from 50 to 55 cents per pound. Two carloads were received from Colorado and one from Texas. Prices were from 42 to 50 cents a pound wholesale. All other dressed poultry was in fairly liberal supply at steady prices on a rather dull market.

"Live fowls were in light supply and in good demand throughout the week and prices advanced. Chickens were plentiful and declined slightly. Live turkeys and ducks were steady and sold readily."

CITY GARBAGE TRUCKS NOW ARE ALL COVERED

Broadway Association Reports on Street Conditions—Praises Street Cleaning Department.

The evil of uncovered garbage trucks has been eliminated by the Street Cleaning Department, it was said yesterday in a report of a special committee of the Broadway Association, headed by W. W. Arnheim, which has been conducting an investigation into street conditions for several months, with the cooperation of Alfred A. Taylor, Street Cleaning Commissioner.

"All of the Street Cleaning Department trucks are now covered as quickly as they are filled," the report says, "and they are completely covered after they are filled on the trip to the dump. The evil of uncovered trucks among certain private collectors of garbage still exists in isolated cases. Eliminating this entirely, however, is a Police Department and Board of Health job and both departments have instructed their members to be very alert and stringent in enforcing the regulations of covering.

"The routine collection of the normal volume of garbage and rubbish is splendidly organized," the report continues. "Special problems that are constantly arising, such as handling auto chasses, debsteads, mattresses, stoves and uncounted tons of grape skins which are at present being dumped on the streets in our wine-making districts, are being met in a highly workmanlike manner that compels admiration."

Pupils in the James Monroe High School in the Bronx and the New Utrecht High School in Brooklyn have been enlisted by the Anti-Litter Bureau of the Merchants' Association, it was announced yesterday. The plan is regarded as applied civics by the Board of Education, which has encouraged the work for the last ten years. Forty-one schools, with 6,000 pupils, in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn, are now aiding.

NEW HOTEL IN FLORIDA.

Fort Harrison, at Clearwater, Built at Cost of $5,000,000.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Nov. 12.—The new Fort Harrison Hotel, an eleven-story structure, containing 253 rooms with private baths, built at a cost of nearly $5,000,000, will be opened here this month. Among its other features the new hotel has a roof garden and restaurant and a radio station (WGHB), from which concerts will be broadcast daily.

The Fort Harrison is located in the heart of the city, near the waterfront. It was built by Edward A. Haley and designed by Robert Smallwood. Frank W. Regan, for many years manager of the Gedney Farms Hotel, at White Plains, N. Y., and assistant manager of the Royal Poinciana, at Palm Beach, will manage the Fort Harrison.

Current Indications Are That the Demand Measured by Work Begun Is Running Low.

The total contracts for building construction in New York City for the third quarter of 1926 show a decrease of 14,422,900 square feet over the corresponding quarter for 1925. The decrease in cost is placed at $67,457,100 for the same period.

According to statistics compiled by the New York Building Congress, contemplated work reported for the third quarter shows a decrease of $89,739,200 over the contemplated work reported for the same period in 1925. This decrease, however, is more than offset by the amount of contracts awarded for the first nine months of the year. These contracts ebow an increase of $169,e66,400 over the first nine months for 1925.

The third quarter of 1926, according to the report, witnessed the Fall upturn in contract volume, wbich has apparently become a regular feature of New York's building record. In 1921, 1923 and 1925 these Fall upturns assumed boom proportions. In 1922 and 1924 the upturns were of minor significance and moderate volume. The current movement seems to be a minor exera. It is made up to a considerable extent of delayed contract lettings on large jobs that were waiting for the peak season to pass.

The quarter just closed showed a drop of 15 per cent. in contract volume and 23 per cent. in cost volume under the corresponding quarter for last year and was the lowest contract volume of any quarter since the period ended June 30, 1925.

Despite this fact, the contract volume for the early part of the year over the corresponding period of 1925 was so great that there was still a lead of 26 per cent. for the first nine months of 1926 over the first nine months of 1925. With this early increase for 1925 it seemed more than likely that the total volume for the year will exceed the record volume for 1925, and New York is practically assured of maintaining its record established since the end of the year, during wbich no year period has failed to sbow an increase in total dollar volume over the preceding year.

The building demand, as measured by the amount of work planned in proportion to that which has been started, has been running rather low. Current indications are that considerable planning for next year's larger jobs will be got under way between now and the end of the current year. This would indicate a healthy start for 1927.

It will take a fair increase in volume of planned work to produce an increased rate of contract letting, and it will take a considerable amount of new demand to express itself in enlarged volume of contemplated construction. It is not now evident, according to the Building Congress, just where the renewed construction demand will come from.

Under practically all the rules suggested by past experience, a continued reduction in construction volume would be expected for some time. Immediate requirements will scarcely require as large a volume of new building in 1927 as this year and last year have had.

This year, it is pointed out, the demand has been a prosperity demand and was not caused by shortage of space. The year has been marked by falling rents and narrowing profit margins on the operation of rental property with new buildings with every conceivable up-to-date idea in design and equipment drawing tenants away from the older structures.

Building obsolescence is going on at a rapid rate in New York. A certain amount of this is normal and if general business conditions continue prosperons and if employment continues at a higb level with wages remaining higb, building may possibly continue at a more satisfactory rate than present statistical indications seem to indicate. The experience of tbe last few years bas shown tbat conditions on the whole turn out better than statistical indications predicted, particularly in the field of building activity; but if the declining trend continues it is more likely to go gradually and moderately than it is to take a sudden downward break.

The work and contemplated work reported between now and the end of the year, it is expected, will have a very important bearing on tbe trend of contract-letting in tbe first half of 1926.

BUILDING INDUSTRY IN NATION HEALTHY

Report Says Total This Year Will Equal That in 1925—Better Financing Is Advocated.

An increased demand for better built and properly financed buildinge is indicated by a national survey of construction conditions made by the American Construction Council, of wbich Franklin D. Rooseveit ie the President. A report on the survey was made public yesterday. Throughout the industry was found a healthy condition generally and the character of operations was of a mora substantial type than has prevailed in tbe last few years, the survey eaid. The volume of operations points to as great a total for this year as in 1925 and that despite a seasonal recession and a "spotted" condition in various parts of the country, according to the report.

"This is by far the bealthiest situation that has existed in the building industry for some years, as there has been a very noticeable recession in new speculative building not backed up by adequate values, and a better class of business is coming on the market," the report said.

The survey found a slowing down in housing construction. It was held that this was a favorable trend, for it was accompanied by an increased demand for a higher class of apartments, hotels and of suburban homes, the need for which the council emphasized during the peak of the period of indiscriminate house building througb which the country has just passed.

"Building operations in general show a larger percentage of structures for commercial and industrial purposes, public buildings and public utilities," the report continued. "There is a better supply of rentable space of good quality. Material prices and labor are reported fairly stabilized with no apparent indication of any radical change in the near future. Labor productivity is increasing. Contracts for engineering and construction show a very substantial increase over the first ten months of last year, with equally favorable prospects as to proposed work.

"Highway construction has been very active, the main obstacle being lack of stable financing which would permit continuous road building in some States. Some of the trunk line railroads report the greatest capital expenditures on construction for a number of years, with a corresponding amount of projected work.

"In general the reports favor the probability of well-sustained business in all branches of the construction industry for some time to come. Some persons, however, urge caution along all lines of building operations, except what is necessary for private use to meet the needs of the industry in growing districts, feeling that this will make for stability of values.

"The great need continues for better conceived, better financed and better built buildings, accompanied by intelligent city, town and community planning not only as to building proper but also with regard to traffic conditions and health hazards. The public can now get, and should insist upon getting, full value for every dollar it puts into building.

"It should insist upon getting similar values for money it puts into highway construction, whicb means that it must demand not only better highways of first-class construction but also stabilized highway building programs so as to permit economical construction."

LARGER WATER SUPPLY IN WESTCHESTER URGED

S. H. Sonn Says Facilities Are Not Being Increased in Proportion to Growth.

The facilities for water supply in Westchester County are not being increased in proportion to the growth of population, according to Sidney H. Sonn of H. & S. Sonn, Inc., who have large real estate holdings in the county. The need of developing additional supplies was urged yesterday by Mr. Sonn in an open letter to the Westchester County Board of Supervisors.

The water supply is none too plentiful when viewed as a whole, Mr. Sonn said, declaring that conditions there are in no way as unsatisfactory as the situation in New York City is represented to be. Suggesting a coordinate county-wide system, Mr. Sonn said: "Conditions in the county are complicated by reason of the fact that the water sitnation is not a single problem, but a number of problems—almost as many problems, indeed, as there are towns and cities in the county. Certain of the towns own individual water systems, including wells and storage reservoirs, others rely on private water companies and a few draw their supplies in part from New York City's system.

"It is now generally recognized, however, tbat in no Wastchester County town is there at present any considerable surplus of water, and in several of the towns there are recurring shortages of supplies."

With the county's present population of half a million expanding at the rate of 5 per cent. every year, Mr. Sonn foresees a future situation that is disquieting. He said: "Where is the water to come from whicb these people will require for their health and well-being? Where, in fact, is the water to come from wbich some of our communities may need next year, or the year after that? While New York City makes its plans for water facilities twenty years ahead, no one plans for the future of Westchester County. Each town and city there is left to its own resources."

Urging that Westcbester act as a unit, the letter continued: "Westchester tbough ricb in lakes and streams nevertbeless lacked the wisdom and foresight to dedicate these resources to its own uses. New York City not only gathered in these immediately available supplies, but reached ont to the next line of reserves in the Ashokan district, and is now reaching out still further to the region east of the Hudson River.

"In the last four years Westchester has expended over $30,000,000 for new parkways, built largely with thoughts of tbe county's futura growth. It bas invested millions of dollars in new cement higbways with at least one eye to the future, and new trunk line sewers are being planned from the same viewpoint. In many departments of public welfare the county is showing no lack of vision and imagination, and surely it has sbown its willingness to expend its resonrces without stint. It can, therefore, be counted npon to meet the issue of its future water needs."

BLAMES OLDEN WAYS FOR YOUTH'S EXCESSES

Groves of Boston University Sees Religion Displaced and Fear Disregarded.

BOSTON, Nov. 13 (AP).—The older generation is responsible for the new civilization built on a pleasure basis, Dr. Ernest R. Groves, Professor of Social Service in Boston University, told members of the New England Association of School Superintendents, the Massachusetts School Superintendents' Association and the New England Teacher Training Association in annual convention here.

"A new civilization built on a pleasure basis is an actuality," said Dr. Groves. "The young people of today feel that life ought to be pleaeurable. It is not an indictment of youth to make tbis description. The young of today did not bring about this civilization. It is the older generation whicb is responsible."

Declaring that the new civilization has great possibilities and also dangers, Dr. Groves continued. "Youth, basing life upon a pleasura attitude, finds it hard to be patient witb difficult situations and becomes bitter. This makes the young lacking in real heroic qualities."

The danger, the speaker said, is that in bringing in these new attitudes the old controls of religion and social consciousness break down.

"The youth are working out their own process of control without regard to the older generation. Religion has been displaced. Religion is now paying the price of the excessive use of the power of fear to control action. The youth of today ie not afraid."

The new type of freedom is marked by indifference by youth as to what others may think, Dr. Groves said, and cited a survey in Chicago which showed that in a rooming houee section 60 per cent. of the persons living together were unmarried. The old way of making people do certain things because their neighbors were critical has no validity now, he concluded.

Rare Oriental Prints Offered.

Japanese and European prints from the estate of the late Mrs. A. P. L. Dull of Pittsburgh and prints of other owners now shown at the Walpole Galleries are to be auctioned Thursday and Friday evenings. Kakemonos, Chinese paintings on rice paper; embroidered panels and books are also included. One book contains thirty-two color plates of Hokusai's Sumida River pictures. There is a copy of Fenollosa's folia book on the "Color Prints of Japan" and books by Kaempfer, Kurth, Binyon, Von Seidlitz and Brinkley.

RARE FURNITURE WILL GO ON BLOCK

Hubbard Collection, Comprising 18th Century Art, to Be Sold at Anderson Galleries.

SAVERY BOOKCASE IN LOT

Old Clocks, Prized in World of Art, Also Included—138 Items Make Up the Total.

A William Savery mahogany bookcase, illustrated in Morse'e "Old Furniture Book," is an outstanding object in the sale to be held Saturday at the Anderson Galleries of the Eighteenth Century American and English furniture assembled by Joseph K. Hubbard, a private collector of Baltimore. Tbere are 138 items in the lot, including many from tha J. J. Gilbert, Richard A. Canfield and W. W. Smith collections.

The Savery bookcase is from the Gilbert collection. It is in two parts. The upper has its shelves enclosed with glass doors in oval moldings intersected by carved flowers. The carved lift-off cornice is formed by two molded ecrolls witb carved acanthus leafage epringing from rosaces. Pierced latticework and acanthus fill the intervening spaces and a flower-filled classic urn adorns the centre of tha cornice.

The lower body has crotched mahogany doors with two drawers above; its side stiles are fluted to simulate composite columns and the base has a carved leafage and stalactite running-border extending into logee bracket feet. The decorative motifs of tbe Adams Brothers and Chippendale are embodied in this bookcase.

Another unique item is a Sixteentb Century spherical clock made by Lorenz Rehfu of Breslau and illustrated in Britten's "Old Clocks and Watches." This museum piece has a revolving single hand that indicates the hours on a band circling the middle of the globular body.

A Curtis American eagle gilt clock, circa 1800-1820, is three feet nine inches tall, and is crested by an eagle with folded wings. "L. Curtis" appears on the simple dial. It has a pendulum case with an egiosimé glass panel ornamented with an American eagle and shield and grapes with foliage above. Phaeton driving the chariot of the Sun is depicted on a large circular panel below the penduium case.

An applewood longcase clock by John Wood of Pbiladelphia, circa 1760, has one of the rare chased metal dials seldom made in this country, showing the days of the month, and an elaborate eight-day mantel clock by Charles Cabrier, London, circa 1720, plays tunes on seven bells and strikes the hours. A chiming eight-day "Gothic" clock was made by John Bowen, London, circa 1810, and a wainut longcase clock made by John Coelomble of Haarlem, circa 1760, has an arched dial with silvered bour-ring and threa subsidiary dials that show the days of tbe week and the moon's phases, and it also plays a dozen tunes on bells. Tbere are also banjo, lyre and wall clocks.

Four pie-crust tripod mahogany tables are also from tbe Gilbert collection. One Chippendale tip-top is supported on a fluted pedestal base with fine carving and bas eagle claw feet. Another has its top bordered by a raised gallery carved and pierced in petal-and-scroll design with bandholes. A third has acanthus leaves and cabochons forming cartouches around its border and canthus leafage on legs. Tha fourth is somewhat similar and all have claw and ball feet.

An eighteenth century English Sheraton secretary bookcase is in figured mahogany, with cross-banded bollywood borders, and has satinwood, holly and tulipwood inlays. The doors are Gothic, and the lift-off cornice is two molded scrolls terminating in rosaces holding elborate pierced arabesque carving. The lower body, below its fall front, has three long corners. Its pigeonholes and little drawers flank a central locker, of which the door is gay with a medallion of flowers inlaid in different woods.

An English Chippendale mahogany bookcase, circa 1750-1760, has its upper and lower sections encased with glass doors having ribbon-twist and rosette design moldings, and the fluted side stiles show carved composite capitals. A broken-arch pediment surmounts the molded cornice and is centred by a festooned classic urn and also has a deep fret-carved frieze.

An early eighteenth century Queen Anna cabinet has burl wainut doors inlaid with oval and round medaiilons of oyster walnut, having cross-banded borders. A "Bilboa" mirror is framed in rose-colored marble and has carved and beaded gliding. A rare carved American eagia girandole, circa 1800, has a circular convex mirror surmounted with trophies, and perched above a spreadeagle holds a ball in its beak.

A seventeenth century pewter borological iamp functions through oil held at its top in a crystal reservoir and consumed by a wick burner. As the oil goes lower tha passing of the hours is indicated at the side. Curiously the hours begin at 9 and end at 7. It is fourteen inches tall.

There are also English Chippendale and American Sheraton mahogany chairs, Queen Anne benches, a tazza and candlesticks in Derbyshire epar and ormolu, circa 1790; a carved and gilt mirror, a Sheraton mahogany eidaboard with knife urns, circa 1800, and other interesting pieces.

YUGOSLAVIAN EXPORTS DECREASE IN VALUE

Special Correspondence of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BELGRADE, Oct. 30.—Statistics of exports for the first nine months of 1926, compared with the same period last year, show that Yugoslavia is in the discouraging situation of having increased the volume exported by 13.51 per cent. wbile receiving 12.41 per cent. less for ber goods. For the last month included, September, both the volume and the value of exports are lees than in September a year ago, the former by 11.85 per cent., the latter by 25.71 per cent.

The export figures for the nine months are:

Year	Tons.	Value.
1925	3,229,823	29,071,755

This means that the value of Yugoslav exports has eunk in a year from approximately $9 to $7 a ton, causing tbe country a loss of some $7,000,000. In other words, wbile the total receipts have diminished, as the Government states, by only 12.41 per cent., tbe real value has diminished by 22 per cent.

As the Yugoslav dinar has remained fairly stable, this decreasa in value is attributed to the fluctuations of the currencies of the chief importing countries and to the steady fall in prices on the world market of forest and agricultural products, which form more than half of Yugoslavia's exports.

Stringent economies have been effected in the eetimates for the budget for 1927, and the Minister of Finance declares that he is not yet satisfied and is subjecting all the chapters to further revision. Among other things, the program of railway construction has been considerably reduced.

TO SELL ANCIENT ARMS.

American Galleries Have Rare Group of Armor and Weapons.

A sale of 311 items of European arms and armor is to be held next Friday and Saturday at the American Art Galleries.

There are polearms, pistols, mail, crossbows, quivers, swords, guns, helmets, pennon staves, carrousel lances, flags, inflammable rings called "crowns of fire," bits, maces, spurs and shields, cannon models, hunting "nears, Gothic arms and headpieces, cannon and wall pieces, Royal Saxon arms and casques and accessories of firearms, sucb as powder horns, grenades, gauges, forks, stools, cbests and also many miscellaneous objects.

There is an extensive line of early pietols and guns, fine specimens of enriched armor, among them a Saxon morion of 1590 from the Anton Pfeffenhauser workshop; a late fifteenth century Gothic salade and a sword of the same period with ajouré pommel and rare scabbard, and in the armor is a three-quarters suit for a youtb. There are richly etched halberds, some gilded, and sixteenth and seventeenth century raplers with engraved gilded and sculptured hilts.

Polearms from the state guard of Maximilian II, of the Saxon Electors and the Emperor Ferdinand, Maria Tberesa and Francis I; pistols of Charles III of Bourbon and other interesting pieces.

Among tbe burganets an etched and gilded specimen made by Pfeffenhauser for a member of the guard of King Christian I is notable for its rich and elaborate decorations. A Swabian wheellock rifle, circa 1680, is decorated with dolphins, children, a wolf, stag and hounds, and the stock is a mass of carved ajouré scrolls, panels of hunting scenes, animals and foliage and a mother-of-pearl inlay shows the double eagle of Austria with a ducal crown above.

There are also some beautiful Neapolitan pistols and a Saxon wall piece witl its butt in the dragon form, black with white bone teeth, bone inlay eyes and wings carved butterfly fashion. The multiplicity of decoration on the Neopolitan pietols includes the Order of the Golden Fleece and the Italian crown, and there are details of costumee, head-dress and jewels, baskets of fruit and innumerable other objects and detail.

OLD RUG AND GLASS SHOW.

Collection of Authority on Antiquss to Be Sold Friday.

A sale of historic hooked rugs and early American glass belonging to Mrs. Anna M. Laisa Phillips, author of "Hooked Rugs and How to Make Them," is to be held Friday at the Rains Galleries, 3 East Fifty-third Street.

The collection contains old-time rugs exhibited widely in the United States, and also modern rugs, one a stair carpet copied from an old design with flowers on the treads and quaint pictures on the risers of the reversible type. There are aleo old-time patchwork quilts and gay woven coverlets, signed and datcd.

There is early American glass from Sandwich and other well known factories, some of it in amethyst, amber, ruby and mottled green and gold. The latter type of Sandwicb glass is rare, as the infusion of gold into the glass was difficult, and little of it bas been found in good condition. Bennington pottery, lamps and other items are also on exhibition, beginning Tuesday, at the galleries.

An Apartment House Directory Unequaled in Convenience

THE NEW YORK TIMES "Apartments to Let" COLUMNS, besides containing more advertisements of desirable apartments than those of any other newspaper, are arranged in a manner affording the greatest convenience to the home-seeker. The announcements are classified by number of rooms and location only in The Times.

If you seek a larger or a smaller apartment—furnished or unfurnished—the advertisements in The Times are your best aid.

The arrangement by number of rooms (in The Times alone) and by location: first, by borough and suburb, and in New York City by street address, enables the reader to select quickly for inspection apartments of the size and in the neighborhood wanted.

More apartment advertising appears in The New York Times than in all the other New York morning newspapers combined. More real estate advertising of all kinds is published in The Times than in any other New York newspaper. In ten months this year The Times printed 4,488,688 agate lines of real estate advertising, nearly twice as much as the next highest New York newspaper. The Times exercises unusual care in the acceptance of all advertising, to prevent insertion of misleading, ambiguous or otherwise objectionable statements.

MARIE CUTS SHORT HER AMERICAN TOUR AT KING'S REQUEST

CANCELS HER FLORIDA TRIP

Rumanian Jews of Chicago Give Her an Ovation—Honor Guest at McCormick Luncheon.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—A cablegram from King Ferdinand today caused Queen Marie to abandon her plans for an extensive trip through the South and prepare to sail from New York for Europe on Dec. 11.

The message from the King told Queen Marie that both he and the Rumanian people were anxious to have their Queen back with them for Christmas. Queen Marie sent back word this evening that she would be home for Christmas and those in charge of her tour in this country began making plans in conformity.

Plans for the Queen's return had been tentative ever since her arrival and at first it was understood that she would sail about Dec. 24. Within the last few days plans for a trip through North Carolina and possibly into Florida had been far advanced. In accordance with her royal husband's request for her early return, the Queen gave up most of the Southern trip tonight.

After the royal family's return to Washington, however, they will go to White Sulphur Springs and Richmond, Va., and then to New York for a few days, which visit it is hoped will afford quiet and rest for the Queen. A one-day trip to Boston will be made in this interval.

Arrangements were made this evening for the Queen and her entourage to sail on the Majestic on Dec. 11.

Rumanian Jews Honor Marie.

Queen Marie, whose visit to America has prompted numerous resolutions of protest against alleged persecution of Jews in Rumania, made a graceful gesture toward the Rumanian Jews today when in the midst of a crowded program she spent three-quarters of an hour in a Rumanian synagogue, far out on the West Side of Chicago.

It was also a gesture of friendship on the part of the Rumanian Jews toward the Rumanian sovereign. The synagogue of the First Rumanian Congregation at Douglas Boulevard and Millard Avenue was packed to its capacity of 2,000 three hours before the Queen, Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana arrived.

Thousands more waited outside all afternoon in a drizzling rain and milled about in the mud, all for a glimpse of the Queen. The boulevard and its connecting streets were so crowded with cars that when the Queen's party arrived, an hour behind schedule, the police had difficulty to provide a path for them.

There are 8,000 Rumanian Jews in Chicago, and it seemed as if they were all in the church or massed outside it. Leaders of the Rumanian colony here explained that the ill-feeling of Rumanian Jews toward the Crown was limited almost entirely to the Jews of the provinces acquired since the war. The Jews of the old Rumania, they said, were loyal to the sovereign.

Three middle-aged women and three men who were distributing handbills attacking the Queen among the crowd about the synagogue were arrested by policemen and detained for several hours. They were booked on charges of disorderly conduct and were released on bond of $50 each. The pamphlets charged that workers were murdered or imprisoned in Rumania, and spoke of "extravagant orgies" in the royal court.

One Hint of Criticism.

In one of the speeches of welcome to the Queen, however, that delivered by Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit Court, a member of the congregation, there was a hint of criticism of the position allotted to Jews in the Queen's realm. This occurred in his remark that he hoped that "some day even our people will share in the prosperity of Rumania." If Judge Fisher intended this for criticism, he neutralized it a moment later with the declaration that, "if any greet you without the appreciation that we feel for your Majesty, remember that they are only individuals and are speaking only for themselves."

Queen Marie, looking decidedly tired and drawn, spoke only a few words in acknowledgment of the greetings.

"I am happy to be among this Jewish community," she said. "The news of the loyal way in which you have received me here will give great satisfaction to the King, for the Jews constitute a very dear part of his people."

Today's ceremonies had been arranged by A. G. Feldman, President of the congregation, and B. J. Braunstein, President of the United Rumanian Jews of Illinois. Henry Friend, a wealthy Chicago merchant of Rumanian birth, who was decorated by King Ferdinand for his gifts to Rumania during and after the World War, presented a gold-bound booklet to the Queen. Cantor Theodore Kiliay sang psalms of welcome to the Queen

5,000,000 Words on Hall Trial Put on Wires in First 11 Days

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 14.—More than 5,000,000 words, the greatest number ever sent out on a murder trial, prize fight or any other news story, were sent from the court house during the first eleven days of the Hall-Mills murder trial. More than 2,000,000 words were sent by the Western Union Telegraph Company and the remainder by the newspapers and news associations having private wires installed in the court house.

The copy, if written on an average of twelve typewritten words to a six-inch line, would reach from here to New York City. It would extend almost forty miles. The average report sent daily from the court house is close to half a million words.

If the trial lasts for another eleven days, it is expected that the total will reach close to 12,000,000 words, and if measured would reach from New York City to Philadelphia.

If all the words that have so far been sent from the court house on the trial were to be put into one newspaper, there would be more than 400 pages of solid reading matter.

MOSCOW, Nov. 14.—Details of the Soviet colonization of Wrangel Island in the extreme North Arctic Ocean, to which the United States, England and Japan laid claim at various times, have been brought to Leningrad by a naval airman, Kalvits, who accompanied the expedition with a Junker's seaplane on a vessel of the Soviet commercial fleet, the Stavropol. Kalvits said:

"We reached Vladivostok on June 15 with three years' supplies for the colonists. Then we visited Petropaulovski, capital of Kamchatka, where the natives flocked to witness our practice flights, as most of them never had seen an airplane.

"Then we sailed for Chukotsk Peninsula, Cape Chaplin, in Behring Straits, where we took aboard fifty families of Chukchei natives, who wished to colonize Wrangel. Also six Russian administrators, three being men, including a doctor, and three women, one being a nurse and another a teacher. We also took on a number of dog teams.

"Early in August we reached the neighborhood of the Wrangel group, but for three days were blocked by ice. With difficulty we traversed the ice facing Herald Island and managed to enter Rogers Bay, where open water permitted the launching of the seaplane.

"At the outset we investigated Doubtful Bay for traces of the American expedition of 1924. There were no signs of human existence, but we saw vast numbers of polar bears, seals and walrus.

"The upper levels are covered with moss and lichen, with Mount Berry rising 2,500 feet in the centre.

"The new Commandant of the island, Ushakof, accompanied me on the flights.

"Meanwhile the Chukchels had pitched their tents, landed the stores and began building the frame house that will be the headquarters, school, dispensary and hall of the first Wrangel Soviet.

"On the return journey the Stavropol landed a boat on Herald Island, twelve

MRS. GIBSON TO TELL STORY IN HALL TRIAL FROM A STRETCHER

Ambulance Will Carry State's Chief Witness to Court Wednesday.

HALL NEIGHBOR SUMMONED

Woman to Testify on Willie Stevens as Marksman—He Aimed at Cat, but Hit a Dog.

FIREARMS EXPERT DIES

Partner of C. E. Waite Will Testify in His Place—Mrs. Mills's Lattars to Be Read Today.

Mrs. Jane Gibson probably will take the stand in the Hall-Mills trial on Wednesday, according to announcement last night by Assistant Attorney General Alexander Simpson, after he had talked with her in the Jersey City Hospital. He said that her condition remained the same and that she had held the gain made on Thursday when she underwent a blood transfusion.

Mrs. Gibson will make the trip from Jersey City to the Court House at Somerville, N. J., in an ambulance. She will be carried to the stand on a stretcher, there to tell her story of the death of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, for whose murder Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Willie Stevens and Henry Stevens, are on trial.

Another woman entered the ranks of State witnesses yesterday when it was learned that Mrs. Anna W. Vermilye of Newark had been subpoenaed last Friday by Captain Harry Walsh of the investigators. Mrs. Vermilya lived four years ago in the home of Alan H. Bennett, whose home is directly back of the Hall house in New Brunswick. Mr. Bennett has testified that in the morning following the night of Sept. 14, 1922, he was aroused by the barking of his dog. He said he went to the porch and talked to William Phillips, a night watchman, who said he had just seen a woman whom he had not recognised enter the Hall home.

Linked With Willie Stevens.

The purpose in calling Mrs. Vermilye, however, will not be in connection with this episode. It was explained that the State was interested in Mrs. Vermilye's testimony as having a possible bearing on Willie Stevens as a marksman.

It was said that four years ago Stevens went gunning for cats which had overrun the Hall grounds. In shooting at one of the cats he missed but hit the Bennett dog in the lip, the bullet doing no serious injury.

Captain Walsh gave Mrs. Vermilye the subpoena originally issued to former Depnty Police Commissioner Joseph A. Faurot, who testified last week that fingerprints on a calling card picked up at the murder scene were those of Willie Stevens. Faurot's name on the subpoena had been scratched out and Mrs. Vermilye's name written in. It was learned that shortly before Walsh visited Mrs. Vermilye, two men whom she believed to be Jersey City detectives came to her home and represented themselves as "detectives hired by the Hall family." They questioned her about the cat-hunting episode. Counsel for the defense denied yesterday that they had sent detectives to her and suggested that Mrs. Vermilye's visitors might have been State troopers.

Prospective Witness Dies.

Charles E. Waite, a firearms expert who was to have testified for the prosecution, died early yesterday morning in his rooms in the Hotel Latham. He had been ill for several days, suffering from an embolism. The immediate cause of death, however, was a heart attack. Mr. Waite worked on

Fifth Av. Buses Drop Pay-as-You-Enter Plan; Poll of Patrons Is Close; Protests Decide

The Fifth Avenue Coach Company will discontinue the "pay-as-you-enter" method of fare collection on its buses this morning because of popular sentiment against it, even though the recent referendum of its riders resulted in a small majority for the continuance of the plan.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Frederic T. Wood, President of the company, who explained that the referendum was only one of the tests by which the company endeavored to ascertain the wishes of its patrons. The "pay-as-you-enter" method of fare collection was adopted during the Interborough strike as a safety measure, and the company then announced that, after sufficient time had elapsed, it would try to learn the views of its patrons and be guided accordingly.

The vote in the referendum was as follows:

Total ballots received	61,921
Defective ballots	4,109
Valid ballots	57,812
Ballots favoring plan	29,127
Ballots opposing plan	28,685
Majority favoring plan	442

"We have sought particularly to ascertain the wishes of women, feeling that special weight should be attached to their views and comfort," said Mr. Wood. "Public opinion has been expressed to us in numerous ways, especially in an extraordinary mail of more than 400 letters which have voiced an overwhelming opposition to the 'pay-as-you-enter' experiment.

"The attitude of civic organizations, whether expressed by formal resolution or otherwise, has also been given careful consideration as constituting substantial evidence of public thought. In all instances of this character, the sentiment has been against the continuance of the 'pay-as-you-enter' plan.

"The consensus, voiced through various channels, in the judgment of the company, is so clear and unmistakable that it cannot and should not be ignored.

Mr. Wood said many voters gave suggestions, all of which were being carefully considered.

EDISON PREDICTS END OF SKYSCRAPER ERA

Traffic Dooms It, He Believes—Expects Helicopter Planes to Land on Roofs.

SAYS NOISE WILL INCREASE

Streets at Different Levels Urged—He Wants Mayors Taken Out of Politics.

Thomas A. Edison believes that the building of skyscrapers in congested parts of New York and other cities will have to be prohibited in the future to avoid traffic strangulation. He expresses his views on traffic and other problems in an interview with Edward Marshall. Mr. Edison suggests that the city of the future will be tremendously affected by air travel. He believes that as soon as a practicable helicopter is designed so that airplanes may rise and descend vertically landings will be designed on the roofs of new buildings.

Noise will increase with the growth of city congestion, according to Mr. Edison, who tells how deafness had been a boon to him in that it removed him from petty distraction and enabled him to engage in contemplative thought at the noisiest part of Broadway with a feeling of remoteness as if he had been in a jungle. He is of the opinion that the future city dweller's hearing will be blunted by the increased noise, but he will be able to endure it without suffering.

Mr. Edison, in the interview which is published in today's issue of The Forum, holds that the traffic problem is the greatest to be solved in planning cities of the future. He says it is a problem that must be solved first by the mathematician and then worked out by the architect. After all, according to Mr. Edison, it is simply a question of figuring out the capacity of a bottle neck. He suggests that it would be astonishing if we really could know the actual cost of traffic congestion, and says that one may get an inkling of the enormous cost of congestion by estimating the cost of operating a big truck for a day, and compnting the cost of several hours of enforced idleness when that truck gets caught in traffic tangles. He believes that it is more important, however, to devise a method of rapid transportation of passengers.

He has come to the conclusion that traffic policemen should have scientific training. He has observed that traffic police as a rule permit traffic to flow in one direction and then another in too small sections. Traffic has to be moved in larger sections and for longer distances, he believes.

In discussing the probable necessity of prohibiting the building of new skyscrapers in sections of cities that are already overcrowded, Mr. Edison predicted disaster if the construction of buildings each housing the population of a small city were continued.

When all the people in the skyscrapers start to flow out into the streets within half an hour, or try to get into the entrances of the buildings at the beginning of the day's business, so great overcrowding would result, he said, that it would stop traffic and cost every individual involved part of his time.

It is this loss of time, in Mr. Edison's belief, that eventually will lead to a check on the erection of skyscrapers. This point will be reached, he indicated, when the congestion becomes so great that the practice of housing business in immense buildings will cost the business men and their employes time instead of saving it.

The inventor contends that the grade crossing problem must be eliminated and that a system of streets at different levels is necessary. The problem of the huey corners would be solved, he suggests, if streets in one direction would be depressed and those running across them were elevated.

Mr. Edison holds also that cities should choose Mayors and other administration officials without regard to politics, but on a basis of business fitness.

Mr. Edison has been impressed with the management of cities in Germany, where politics have been eliminated and where he saw advertisements in newspapers for men who could prove their qualifications to act as mayors of cities and towns. He expressed belief in his interview that the elimination of politics from management of American municipalities would result in tax rates that would seem extremely low in comparison with those now paid.

Mr. Edison expressed belief that, while humanity cannot be standardized, it can be controlled and trained. Big business in America, in his opinion, is accustomed to meet problems quite as difficult as the management of police forces and meets them competently and scientifically. His belief is that when American cities go at the problem as their management as intelligently as big business in this country goes after its problems of management most of the problems of the cities will vanish automatically.

RUSSIAN ROYAL GEMS ON THE WAY HERE

Collection Includes the "Nuptial Crown" of Catherine the Great.

AND SWORD OF 'MAD' PAUL I

Also Gold and Ivory Rattle That Soothed the Late Czar in His Babyhood.

MOSCOW, Nov. 14 (AP).—Some American woman soon will have the chance to wear the crown of Catherine the Great of Russia—if she wants it and can afford it.

This famous ornament and others of the collection of Russian crown jewels now are on the way to New York, having been purchased from the Soviet Government by Norman C. Weiss, diamond merchant of New York and London. The price paid for the crown has not been made public.

The "nuptial crown," as it is described to distinguish it from the great imperial coronation crown used by all the Russian sovereigns since Catherine's time, which is valued at $52,000,000, was worn by Russia's gayest and most beautiful Empress when she married Peter III in 1745. It contains 1,520 diamonds and is surmounted by a superb cross of hugs jewels.

Baby Rattle of Late Czar.

Unique among the items purchased by Mr. Weiss, however, is a baby's rattle of solid gold and ivory, which was used by the late Czar in his babyhood. This imperial toy is valued at $5,000. At one end of the rattle is a round of ivory, with which the Prince rubbed his royal gums; the other end terminates in a whistle.

Another article of exceptional historical interest is a diamond-studded three-edged sword which belonged to Paul I, the "mad monarch," who was assassinated in 1801. The hilt of the sword is a massive affair of silver, set with 1,000 diamonds of the first water and ancient cutting.

The sword was used by Paul in all his reviews of the Russian troops, it being the practice to single out whole regiments with this sword for Siberian exile if they failed to gratify his caprices.

There is also a hat of pure gold embellished with diamonds, rubies and emeralds, intended for Paul's pet monkey. Other gems include several Easter eggs of gold and diamonds, which the late Empress Alexandra once presented to her royal husband.

A gold and diamond snuffbox used by Empress Elizabeth, daughter of Peter the Great, is done in Louis XV style and contains 2,000 diamonds. This regal gem is covered with diamonds encased in gold on blood-colored jasper. It is valued at $15,000.

Among the jewels which are going to America is a magnificent bodice ornament worn by Catherine the Great at her coronation in 1762, consisting of huge clusters of many-hued Brazilian diamonds, Indian emeralds and other stones.

All these gems are soon to be placed on the American market. If there is no American woman rich enough to purchase Catherine's crown and the other gems, Mr. Weiss intends to sell the stones separately.

The Soviet Government still has more than $200,000,000 worth of imperial jewels which it intends to turn into cash for plows, machinery, locomotives and other practical needs.

French Successful at First Sale.

Rudolph Obiatt, jeweler, 527 Fifth Avenue, a partner of Norman C. Weiss, jeweler, of London and Paris, in the purchase of important items of the collection of Russian crown jewels, explained last night at his home, 222 West Eighty-third Street, that there were four jewelers associated in the Russian purchases, but he declined to identify the other two members of the syndicate.

"Presumably the purchases were made at yesterday's sale of another part of the Russian collection," said Mr. Obiatt, "but I am unable to comment on the transaction tonight because I know nothing of the details. I had not received any advices from Mr. Weiss before I left my office yesterday."

Mr. Obiatt said that he had made several trips to Moscow in company with Mr. Weiss to inspect the crown jewels. He spent several months examining them and returned to New York last March, after having made purchases at the sale of the first parts of the collection. Mr. Obiatt said that his first purchases were principally of emeralds and that they had been disposed of for the most part in Europe.

Dealers from all over Europe were on hand when the first part of the

Rumanian Deputies Cheer for Queen; Rise as King Mentions Her in Parliament

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 14.—The throne beside that of King Ferdinand was empty today at the formal opening of Parliament, but Queen Marie, always the magnet of all eyes on such occasions, was never more present in the minds and hearts of her subjects.

The first reference to the far-away Queen the King made in his Throne message proved the signal for bringing, cheering, to their feet the Deputies filling the semicircle and the brilliant society crowding the boxes and instantaneously transforming the scene from that of sobriest decorum to one of enthusiastic emotion.

Even stronger applause followed these words which the subsiding ovation finally allowed the King to say:

"The Queen is carrying the name of Rumania across the ocean, making her voyage the occasion for a precious rapprochement with the United States and warm popular manifestations, for which our everlasting gratitude goes out toward the great American people."

The Throne message was awaited with special eagerness because it was thought it would contain references to possible changes in the Regency and the status of Prince Carol, and also promised progress in the negotiations with Italy and Russia for a definite settlement of the Bessarabian question. No one of these subjects, however, was touched upon.

The presence of General Badoglio and other members of the Italian mission helped to surround the opening ceremony with unusual pomp and make the public boxes gay with the uniforms of officers, diplomats and the robes of Bucharest's Four Hundred. The King's reference to Italy, however, was limited to the Duke of Spoleto's visit, which, he said, "offered a happy occasion for the manifestation of the traditional fraternity and classical Latinity inseparable from our history."

The message contained nothing of outstanding importance. It reviewed past events in Rumania's foreign affairs and for the future announced in vague, general terms a new press law "in harmony with the State's interests,' laws establishing free zones and ports and a new protective tariff.

The King, whose face was pallid and sunken, read his message with the weak voice of a sick man or convalescent. His physical appearance is causing much anxious private comment, as also is the fact that his second daughter, Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, has come here "for a few days' visit," though it is learned it was officially announced in Belgrade that she probably would remain with her father until Queen Marie returns from America. His eldest daughter, Elizabeth, with her husband, former King George of Greece, is also here.

VANDERBILT DECREE SOUGHT TO VALIDATE SECOND MARRIAGE

Former Duchess Wanted the Annulment for the Sake of French Catholic Husband.

EARLY ROMANCE REPORTED

Church Court Was Told She Was Forced to Give up American to Wed Marlborough.

BISHOP MANNING "AMAZED"

He Promises a Statement When He Gets Fuller Information on "Action So Serious."

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Nov. 14.—The suit of Consuelo Vandsrbilt, now Mrs. Jacques Balsan, for annulment of her marriage to the Duke of Malborough apparently was prompted by her desire to regularize her religious position before the Catholic authorities after her second marriage, to a Catholic Frenchman.

At the time her second marriage was contracted she still was in the eyes of the Catholic Church the lawfully wedded wife of the Duke of Malborough. A religious ceremony, therefore, could not be performed and she was married only before the civil authorities.

Two ways are now open to her. She can either become converted to Catholicism or her second husband can ask the Bishop of the diocese in which he resides for a dispensation to marry a Protestant. Such dispensations for what are technically known as mixed marriages are quite common and easy to obtain, though the Church often makes its consent conditional on both the husband and wife signing a written agreement to observe certain conditions, such as, for instance, educating their children in the Catholic faith.

Delayed Action Years After Divorce.

What still is not clear is the reason why the suit for annulment of her first marriage was filed only several years after her divorce from the Duke of Malborough and why the Duke made no opposition either when the case was discussed before the diocesan tribunal at Southwark, England, or later when it came before the Tribunal of the Rota.

There is a report circulating here that the Duke of Marlborough himself desired to sever the religious ties which bound him to the former Consuelo Vanderbilt because he now wishes to become a Catholic and then have the Church validate his second marriage, to Miss Gladys Deacon of Boston. According to this report, he and his first wife agreed that she should file suit for annulment of their marriage and that he would not oppose it.

The fact that the former Consuelo Vanderbilt, a Protestant, married to the Duke of Marlborough, also a Protestant, appealed to the Catholic Church for annulment of their marriage need create no surprise. Such cases are quite common. Both the special diocesan courts for annulment of marriages and the Tribunal of the Rota judge matrimonial cases regardless of what religion the plaintiff and defendant belong to.

The case judged by the Rota, for instance, just before the Marlborough-Vanderbilt case was of two Ottomans, one of whom wished to sever their matrimonial ties in order to marry a Christian. The procedure, however, is naturally facilitated if one at least of the interested parties is a baptized Christian, even if a Protestant.

Whenever two non-Catholics appeal to the Catholic Church to declare their marriage null it is almost invariably because one or both of them desire to be made free to marry a Catholic. The Catholic Church, however, examines each case and delivers judgment without paying any attention to the motives which inspired the suit, as it claims the right to annul any marriage. Naturally its judgment, however, is only valid in relations between the plaintiff or defendant and the Catholic Church.

Report of an Early Romance.

From what can be learned here of the argument which occurred before the diocesan court at Southwark, it appears that Miss Vanderbilt at the time she consented to marry the Duke of Marlborough was in love with another man. He was not the Frenchman whom she later married, for she only met him after her divorce from the Duke, but an American, whose name, however, it was impossible to learn.

As part of the evidence laid before the diocesan court the letters exchanged between these two were produced, proving that if Miss Vander-

League Opens Drive to Get More Legislators for City

Former Assemblyman Thomas E. Willmott, President of the Municipal Civic League of Brooklyn, announced yesterday that the league would start a movement for an amendment to the State Constitution to remove the present limitation of the legislative representation of New York City.

He said the United States Census Bureau estimated the population of the city on July 1, 1926 at 5,934,000. The census of 1920 puts the population of the State at 10,385,227. According to these figures, Mr. Willmott said that 1,462,773 residents of the city were denied by the organic law of the State representation in the Legislature.

"On Nov. 2 last," he said, the people spoke in no uncertain voice and yet after the will of the majority was asserted as to the executive and judicial branches of the Government we found the minority in control of the Legislature. Taxation without representation well applies in our case."

Firemen Brave Dense Smoke After 225 in 79th Street Hall Flee, Blocking the Stairs.

50 ARE CARRIED TO SAFETY

And 25 Wandering in Haze Are Led Out—Pall Drifts to Hotels—Big Crowd Watches.

Trapped in a dance hall at 109 West Seventy-ninth Street into which dense smoke from a fire next door was pouring, more than fifty men and women were carried down ladders to the street last night by firemen, policemen and volunteer rescuers.

The fire was in a building housing a chemical firm and the thick smoke it sent out through the neighborhood had caused a rush of 225 other dancers from the dance hall that blocked the stairway and made it impossible for them to leave. Even after these persons had been brought to the street, it was learned that about twenty-five others still remained in the building wandering in the smoke, and Honorary Deputy Chief Robert Mainzer and a fire lieutenant braved the smoke to lead them to safety through a rear exit.

Whole Neighborhood Roused.

It was not until 1:30 o'clock this morning that the flames were under control. The smoke roused the entire neighborhood, forcing occupants of several near-by hotels to leave their rooms. Five alarms were turned in, and firemen fought the flames from the Ninth Avenue elevated, crippling service on the line for some time.

The Ninth Avenue surface line was tied up for more than an hour. Two firemen were overcome by smoke, another was burned and a fourth was carried unconscious from the burning building after he had fallen from the first floor to the basement. His injuries, however, were not serious.

The fire started in the basement of a building at the northwest corner of Seventy-ninth Street and Columbus Avenue. Several stores occupy the ground floor, while the upper floors house the Emerson Drug Company.

The fire was discovered by Patrolman Armstrong of the West Sixty-eighth Street station, but by the time the first firemen arrived, smoke and flames were already spreading through the building. A second alarm was turned in quickly and firemen mounted the Elevated structure to shed streams of water into the burning building from there.

In the Academy, the dance hall next door, about 300 men and women were attending a dance of the West Side Brotherly Love Congregation and Benevolent Association. At first the smoke drifted into the second floor hall only in thin whisps and few noticed it. One of those who did, it was said, went to the leader of the orchestra and directed him to keep on playing so that the dancers would not notice the smoke.

Dance Oblivious of Flames.

While the firemen fought the flames outside the dancers kept on moving to the strains of fox trouts oblivious of the flames and smoke outside. Suddenly the firemen saw they were making no headway against the fire. The smoke began to pour into the dance place in black, odorous clouds.

Firemen rushed into the Academy and ordered all to leave. The thick smoke had put a sudden halt to the dancing and there was a wild rush for

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—When Reginald McKenna, former British Chancellor of the Exchequer and now one of the foremost English bankers, called on Premier Poincaré yesterday it was, he explained, merely a courtesy visit. The French Prime Minister, he said, was an old friend with whom he had collaborated in working out his contribution to the Dawes plan. On the Premier's side the same reticence was maintained. The visit was merely one of courtesy, it was asserted.

Today, however, a different character is being put on the visit at least to the extent that the courtesy has been enlarged. Mr. McKenna came on a mission and not as a tourist. He came as spokesman, not only of British, but also of American banks, not to give M. Poincaré advice, but to indicate to him what would be done in the happy event of France seeing fit to ratify the debt agreements with her creditors and in the other happy event of her stabilizing her money.

The French Premier's success in bringing the franc back from its July flights to the point at which it was six months ago has been so spectacular that it has contributed not a little to his reluctance to admit that stabilization by victorious France must be done at a rate far below the pre-war value of the franc. Even now, when faced with the difficulties incident to the franc having reached nearly the pre-war internal value, the Premier is unwilling definitely to admit that its complete revalorization is not possible. He has recently sought to gain time in order to see what would happen, and that desire is as much responsible for the delay in the ratification of the Washington agreement as is the opposition in the Chamber of Deputies.

Mr. McKenna's visit was made to lay before the Premier an outline of the help which France could count upon in the event of her stabilizing the franc, as the Belgians have done. He has denied that there was any question of a loan discussed between the two, and this of course is perfectly accurate. The matter has not yet reached that point. The message which he did, however, leave with the Premier, to be communicated in interested quarters was that both British and American financiers were prepared to make large and continuous investments in French industries if and when the franc was stabilized, investments which would enormously help in the debt payments.

What influence the conversation will have on the Premier's policy it is far too early to guess. He is anxious that, so far as possible, stabilization of the franc should be done by France alone, without too great a recourse to foreign credit, and it will be some time before he will be able to see his way clear. Nothing certainly will be done until after the passage of the budget toward the end of December.

Help to France Long Discussed.

For many months there had been discussion both in this country and abroad as to the likelihood of American financial help to France in her economic rehabilitation. Then two months ago the possibility that British and American bankers would join in assisting France by means of extensive loans if the debt settlements should be ratified and an honest endeavor made to stabilise the franc was expressed by James Speyer, banker, on his return from his annual trip to Europe.

At that time Mr. Speyer said he was much impressed with the manner in which English bankers had brought the pound sterling back to parity and had discussed that and other financial matters with Sir Montague Norman, the Governor of the Bank of England, at length. He said that it was very much to be hoped that the French people, in their own, as well as in the general interest, would accept the debt settlement terms of the United States and British Governments, which was the prerequisite to stabilization.

"The countries of the European Continent must help themselves and each other in a spirit of good-will," he said. "There is something in the meantime that we can do to help them, and that is to continue to loan them working capital whenever it is safe and in the public interest to do so."

Stabilization of the French currency has been the subject of discussion among international bankers and other financial experts for the last six months. The franc, which was on a basis of 19.3 cents before the war, is now quoted at 3.31 cents.

Cobham Will Fly to This City From Liner To Test His Idea of Expediting Foreign Mails

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Sir Alan Cobham and his wife will fly in a tiny Moth plane from the liner Homeric to the Battery while the ship is on the last lap of her journey to New York. The famous flier will sail Wednesday for an American lecture tour. He believes that his test flight from the ship to shore will soon result in at least ten hours being cut off the time now required for mails to cross the Atlantic and that it will be a simple matter for the Postal Service to put small planes and pilots on boats and have them hop off ten or twelve hours from shore with the mails.

Cobham's scheme grew out of the fact that the first moth plane sold in the United States was being shipped on the Homeric.

Although it would be possible to fly from the deck of the Homeric, it has been decided that the Moth in which Cobham will fly will be fitted with boats. It will then be lowered to the water, whence Cobham will make his start.

NEW FRENCH LOAN ISSUE.

Ten-Year 7 Per Cent. Bonds to Take Place of Maturing 6 Per Cents.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—An announcement today by the Government of a 7 per cent. sinking fund consolidation loan to replace the 6 per cent. Crédit National bonds of 1922, maturing in February next, is considered in financial circles as an indication that the Government intends to proceed in this manner with the remainder of the short-term debt, and therefore no forced consolidation is expected.

The interest on the new bonds will be based on the normal value of 500 francs, but as the issue is offered at 460 and is payable in ten years at 535, actual interest will be about 8.1 per cent. The issue will be free of all special taxes and can be exchanged for the maturing 1922 bonds or purchased for cash—but only to the amount of bonds presented for redemption, approximately 1,350,000,000 francs. The total outstanding is 3,040,000,000. The balance matures in February, 1933.

It is understood that the Treasury could have met the February maturity of 1,350,000,000, but preferred to consolidate the bonds and provide an annual sinking fund in the budget which must be used each year in retiring a maximum of one-tenth of the total issue at 525 francs or purchase bonds in the open market. In this manner the whole issue can be retired in ten years easily in the ordinary normal process.

A safety clause provides that at least 20 per cent. from the fourth to the sixth year and 50 per cent. from the seventh to the tenth year is the minimum of the annual portion that must be withdrawn. Therefore if the Government is pressed in other directions it reserves the right to retire less than the maximum annual portion.

As the 1922 bonds are redeemable at 507 francs 50 centimes and the new bonds are issued at 460, those who choose consolidation will be paid 47 francs 50 centimes cash.

EVIDENCE OF A GOD IN SCIENCE DEBATED

Rev. J. G. Rodger and Clement Wood Are Speakers at Ingersoll Forum.

"Does Science Furnish Evidence of a God?" was debated at the Ingersoll Forum, Carnegie Hall, last night by the Rev. James G. Rodger, Director of the Religio-Scientific Congress of the Sesquicentennial, and Clement Wood, poet and lecturer. The conclusions reached were that science did furnish evidence of a God, or did not, all depending on what the definition or idea of one's Deity might be. Granted his terms, the Rev. Mr. Rodger, who upheld the affirmative, was right. Allowed his terminology, Mr. Wood, who saw no God in the ramifications of science, was equally correct.

The two spent more than an hour and a half in debate. The Rev. Mr. Rodger, who identified his god as energy—pantheism brought up to date—proved readily enough that science, with its new theories of the electron and radioactivity, gave sufficient evidence of energy, and therefore evidence of God. Mr. Wood, who declared in a forthright manner that there was no God, never attempted to define what was to him a blank, a lack, an unknowable and a void. But if the clapping of the audience was any criterion, Mr. Wood did demonstrate to the satisfaction of many that the God of the Fundamentalist was not to be found in the science books.

Mr. Rodger prefaced his part of the debate by referring to himself as an agnostic in that he admitted he did not know all about God. He called himself a sceptic, because he was still seeking the truth. With all the tricks of the practised dialectician at his finger tips, Mr. Wood made merry with Mr. Rodger at the expense of getting anywhere with the thesis at hand.

Both audience and debaters seemed very good-natured about the whole subject.

WILL FIGHT ABOLITION OF POISON GAS USE

National Association for Chemical Defense Assails the Protocol Adopted at Geneva.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Through the action of its executive officers at a meeting in Washington yesterday, the National Association for Chemical Defense is to undertake a crusade of opposition to the ratification of the Geneva protocol to abolish the use of poison gas in war.

The protocol is now before the Senate for ratification. One of the prime movers for its adoption was Representative Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, a member of the American delegation which attended the conference at Geneva, held under the auspices of the League of Nations, for the supervision of traffic in firearms and the amelioration of conditions of warfare.

According to the Association for Chemical Defense, the abolition of the use of poison gas in war would mean the elimination of the vital feature in the national defense program.

Other organizations which have taken similar action are the American Legion, the Association of Military Surgeons, the Military Order of the World War and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Officers of the National Association for Chemical Warfare are Howard Cooney, Boston, President; George B. Dryden, Chicago; J. P. Norris, Cambridge, Mass.; Waldemar Kops, New York, and Perry W. Weidner, Los Angeles, Vice Presidents; Colonel E. B. Clark, Washington, Secretary, and John Thomas Taylor, Washington, Treasurer. There are thirteen directors, among whom are J. E. Zanetti and Marston T. Bogert of New York; Wilder D. Bancroft of Ithaca and Washington Platt of Syracuse.

Coast Guard Boatswain Finds Party With 300 Cases at East Dennis, Mass.

EAST DENNIS, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP).—Several shots from his service revolver on the shore road here early today left Boatswain Charles G. Morse of the Woods Hole Coast Guard base in undisputed possession of one rum-running sloop, two automobiles and 300 cases of Scotch whisky and champagne.

Stopping to investigate the sound of oars heard through a fringe of trees as he drove by, Boatswain Morse, who commands the C. G. 121, went into a clearing to discover eight men and one woman busily engaged in transferring the liquor.

His shots scattered the runners into the bush and attracted the attention of shore residents. State police officers sent to investigate the shooting took charge of the spoils.

The sloop is the Ave Maria, registered out of Boston. Attempts to trace her owners, as well as those of the cars, will be made.

VOTERS OF NATION NEGLECT REFERENDA

Prohibition Vote Was Highest at Recent Elections in This and Other States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP).—Principles seem to lag behind personalities in the interest of the average citizen when he goes into a little booth to mark his ballot or pull the handle of a voting machine.

This old rule of great literature, based on the normal inclination of a normal person to be more interested in the behavior of individuals than in the situations involving them, drew new support in the election of Nov. 2.

Referenda on numerous constitutional and legislative questions were linked with contests for office in various States, and it is probably true that more Americans exercised participation in the initiative and the referendum than ever before. At least 8,000,000 voters—and undoubtedly more—exercised that privilege.

There were probably more questions of that sort on the ballots in the various States than ever have appeared there. To review or describe all of them adequately would require a whole page of a newspaper. Some of them were not even of State-wide interest in the States in which they were presented.

The outstanding question up on referendum was prohibition, of course, and on that there is no agreement of opinion as to whether it meant anything or not. On a plain count of the votes the wets had it, but the drys have various reasons to advance why it was not a real expression. Foremost among them is the argument that the drys did not use their votes fully and in some cases ignored the question.

Varied Views in Different States.

In Wisconsin the voters took it for granted that the Republican candidates would win, so a number of them didn't bother to indicate their preference for this or that candidate, but they were interested in a 2.75 per cent. beer referendum, and many apparently went to the polls to vote on that alone. The resultant expression was overwhelmingly wet.

Quite different situations developed in Indiana and Oklahoma. In the former, four proposals to amend the State Constitution were on the ballot, but so many voters ignored them that under the law all were declared defeated, although a majority of those who did take the trouble to indicate their stand voted in favor of them.

In Oklahoma abstention from voting in a referendum counts against the proposal on a one-half basis, and these "half votes" were an important factor in the defeat of a rather long list of constitutional amendments and initialed measures.

The relative apathy of the voters when they came to the referenda part of their ballots was further emphasized by the attitude of the election officials who did the counting and of the public that waited for their totals. Rushing their work to find out who won, they virtually ignored the determination of what won, and, as a result, even now the final votes on many of the referenda issues have not been fully disclosed.

Liquor Question Drew the Voters.

Despite this condition, more than 8,000,000 persons did take the trouble to express their preference for or against one or more referendum proposals. This total, however, rested very heavily on the fact that proposals for some form of prohibition law modification were on the ballots in eight States—and a great many voters probably regard prohibition as a personal rather than an abstract matter.

An exception to that general rule cropped up in Colorado. Quite an array of proposals greeted the studious voters there, and they attracted from 140,618 to 208,545 votes each. The most interesting, judging from those figures, was a proposal to allow dental school graduates to practice in Colorado without State examination. It was defeated, 157,222 to 51,323. The measure for repeal of the State prohibition law drew only 202,854 votes, of which 115,183 were negative.

Over 700,000 Lax in This State.

Nearly 500,000 persons who voted for Governor in New York State at the last election failed to vote on the prohibition referendum. With 36 out of the 7,809 election districts in the State missing, the vote for Governor was: Smith, 1,515,147; Mills, 1,265,536; a total of 2,780,683.

With 378 election districts missing, the vote on the referendum was: Yes, 1,685,489; No, 543,920; a total of 2,229,409. With allowances for the greater number of missing election districts in the most complete referendum returns available, and for the probable vote for the Socialist and Prohibition candidates for Governor, there is indicated a difference of something less than 500,000.

Even this would be a smaller difference than in other recent referenda in New York State, indicating a more widespread interest in the prohibition referendum than in other questions submitted to the electorate of this State.

In 1925 the vote on the $100,000,000 bond issue constitutional amendment was 960,385 for and 937,990 against, with 704,128 blank and void ballots.

The vote on the $300,000,000 grade-crossing amendment was 1,032,109 for and 859,712 against, with 711,467 blank and void ballots.

On the judiciary amendment the same year the vote was 1,090,632 for and 711,018 against, with 773,000 blank and void ballots.

In 1923 the home rule amendment carried by a vote of 937,108 to 510,947, with 689,065 blank and void ballots. The proposed water-power amendment was beaten by a vote of 470,251 to 965,777, with 605,137 blank ballots.

Those Leaving the American Border Carry 100 Men Each —Rebels Given as Cause.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 14.—All passenger and freight trains in Mexico will carry strong military escorts until further notice, according to orders issued by the War Department.

The department states that small bands of rebels are trying to assault trains and adds that all suspicious persons will be arrested and held until they prove their innocence. All persons who are found destroying railway tracks are to be summarily tried and executed.

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 14 (AP).—Machine guns are mounted on trains leaving the international boundary here to protect travelers from the depredations of rebellious factions in interior Mexico.

Military escorts on the trains have been doubled from 50 to 100 men on each train. The machine guns are set in place at both ends of the carrier.

These precautions, military chiefs at Nogales, Sonora, say, are taken because of the activity of Yaqui Indian bands in Sonora. The Mexican officials have withdrawn leaves of absence and are limiting new leaves, both for officers and men, to twenty-four hours.

Fifty soldiers now occupy a car at the head of each train, directly behind the engine, and an additional fifty ride in a car at the rear.

Rumors persisted in Juarez last night that a revolutionary movement was developing along the border, but these met with emphatic denials.

SEES UNION VICTORY IN HIGHER COAL WAGE

CRITICIZES THE OPERATORS

Asserts They Employed Inexperienced Miners and Also Reduced Wages.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 14 (AP).—A distinct victory for the United Mine Workers of America is seen by officials of that organization in the voluntary return to the wage scale terms of the Jacksonville Agreement on Nov. 1 by certain West Virginia and Pennsylvania operators who departed from the contract scale more than two years ago.

John L. Lewis, President of the union, calls it a recognition by these operators of the economic sanity of its terms.

"The fact that these operators have returned to the scale proves that they can make money under the Jacksonville terms, which they avowed when they broke their contract would precipitate bankruptcy," said Mr. Lewis.

The operators involved worked their mines only a short time on the scale agreed upon in the Jacksonville agreement. Asserting that they could not pay the scale and live under it, they broke the contract. Union workers left their employ.

"They employed men entirely inexperienced in mining and followed their first wage cut with more drastic ones. Some workers, formerly of the cotton fields and mountains, were paid as little as $1.75 per day.

"The return of these operators to the union scale is an admission by them that they could not produce profitably under the conditions they chose. Their overhead cost of operating remained the same, and their production was sharply reduced. That they are producing now under the Jacksonville scale proves our contention that there was no good reason in the first place for any reduction."

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Coal Company, which severed connections with the United Mine Workers in August, 1925, increased the wages of its workers the first of the present month to slightly above the rates called for in the Jacksonville agreement, under which union mines operate. Previously it had been paying the 1917 scale, which was about 33 1-3 per cent. lower than the Jacksonville agreement.

Many other open-shop operators in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia followed the Pittsburgh Company in granting similar increases until most of the open shop plants were paying a wage higher than the union demand.

The Pittsburgh Company, as well as many of the others, announced that the increase was granted in order that employes might share in an advance in coal prices. In some instances it was stated that the higher price for coal would probably be temporary and that when prices dropped wages would be adjusted accordingly.

Extraordinary demand for coal shipments to foreign countries, formerly supplied by English mines, was given as the reason for the advance in coal prices and the need for greater tonnage.

Operators declined to comment on the probable effect of the impending settlement of the British miners' strike on the situation here.

HITS COAL COMBINATION.

Trade Commission Accuses Northwestern Body of Unfair Deals.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP).—The Northwestern Traffic and Service Bureau, Inc., of Minneapolis, has been ordered to desist from business practices regarded by the Federal Trade Commission as unfair.

The bureau was charged with being a combination of approximately 1,800 coal dealers doing business in Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, in conspiracy to restrain the trade of competitors.

The complaint set forth that the bureau carried on propaganda for its membership and circulated derogatory statements concerning dealers who sold direct to consumers and operated independently of the bureau. It was also alleged that the bureau used its influence to prevent wholesale dealers from selling and delivering coal to the independent dealers.

SCORES BRITISH UNIONS.

But Russia Continues Sending Money to Maintain Mine Strike.

MOSCOW, Nov. 14.—The expected collapse of the English coal strike has caused more regret than surprise here, although the news was greeted with the usual attacks on the general Trades Union Council and "reformist" leaders for "betraying" the cause of the miners to the coal owners and the Government.

Funds for the British miners, nevertheless, continue to be voted by the labor federations here, and only yesterday the Leningrad federation subscribed $25,000, which brings the total subscriptions to date to more than 9,000,000 rubles.

According to Pravda, the money contributed from May 1 to Nov. 1 totals 8,905,708 rubles, of which the labor federations have given 6,500,000, the Central Federation Committee and Provincial Central Committees 1,750,000 and newspaper subscriptions and others upward of 750,000 rubles.

SAYS MINERS WILL VOTE NO.

British Educator Believes They Will Reject Government Terms.

Dr. Charles B. Roberts, a British educator, addressing the International Club yesterday afternoon at the Ethical Culture building, 2 West Sixty-fourth Street, expressed doubt that the Government terms of settlement of the British coal strike would be accepted by the miners when they are submitted to the men in their various districts. The next British Ministry will be of the moderate Labor Party, he declared.

"I have seen British coal miners in their homes and in their mines," he said. "I have tried to teach groups of them, and if I know their temper they will reject these terms. However, if they do accept them, the coal strike in Britain marks the beginning of a titanic social revolution whose effects will be international.

"Britain can lower the cost of her coal exports to the world markets if lower wages are paid according to the terms. The United States must face this competition of price. Whether the issue is met by a decrease of the profits to be taken by the owners from the industry or a lowering of wages in this country, remains to be seen."

DIG UP HUGE BONES '7,000,000 YEARS OLD'

RELICS OF TOXODONT FOUND

Parts of the Promacreuchenia, the Glyptodont, and the Prehistoric Sloth Are Also Discovered.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 (AP).—Fossils of giant animals that roamed the Southern Hemisphere during the Pliocene Age, which is said to be some 7,000,000 years ago, have been obtained by the second Captain Marshall Field Paleontological Expedition to Argentina, it was revealed today in a report from Elmer S. Riggs, Associate Curator of Paleontology at the Field Museum and leader of the party, to D. C. Davis, director of the institution.

The expedition worked in the rocky and barren area of Catamarco, in Northern Argentina, and obtained approximately 3,000 pounds of fossils of prehistoric creatures.

They include bones of the Promacrauchenia, a great camel-like beast, one of the ancestors of the llama, now used as a beast of burden in the Andes. The shape of the body and length of the neck of the prehistoric beast resembled the llama; the fore limbs were longer than the hind legs, suggesting the giraffe; the structure of the head resembled that of a horse; the rather long proboscis resembled that of the primitive elephant; the teeth were on the order of the rhino's while the feet were much like those of the primitive three-toed horses. The beast fed on vegetable matter.

Several bones of giant sloths are in the collection. The giant sloths reached a length of 12 feet or more. They had short fore feet and heavy hind quarters. They fed on vegetable matter, including the leaves and tender branches of trees.

Also included in the collection are fossils of glyptodonts, or giant armadillos, which reached a length of five feet or more, and fossils of large toxodonts, similar to the hippo of today.

BROWNING PLEAS UP TODAY.

Wife's Motion for Alimony and Husband's on Liability to Be Heard.

The argument on a motion for alimony and counsel fees in the suit for separation brought by Frances Heenan Browning against her husband, Edward W. Browning, real estate man, will be heard this morning in the Supreme Court before Justice Morschauser at White Plains.

Mrs. Browning asks $25,000 counsel fees and $4,000 a month alimony, and Mr. Browning has also petitioned the Court to have his liability fixed. Both motions will be heard at the same time, Justice Morschauser having stipulated that no more new hats or new dresses were to have been bought in the meantime.

W. C. T. U. Meets in Evanston Today to Prepare for 1928 Contest.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 (AP).—National officers of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet tomorrow at their national headquarters at Evanston to start a campaign to prevent the election of a wet President in 1928.

They will also draft a definite policy of campaign for the next two years.

MARIE CUTS SHORT HER AMERICAN TOUR

and her children, while a choir in the gallery chanted responses.

The reception to the Queen in the synagogue offered a nice problem in etiquette. Custom requires that hats be doffed in the presence of royalty. The Jewish religion requires that men remain with heads covered in their houses of worship. All conformed to the religious rule. During the playing of the American and Rumanian national anthems some men stood at salute, while others stood with their hats lifted slightly above their heads.

Flashlights boomed for a battalion of cameramen throughout the ceremonies. One final blast near the royal family was so loud that all started, and Prince Nicholas, who also is showing the strain of the strenuous programs, positively glared in indignation.

Because of the unrest among certain sections of the Rumanian Jews the police had taken unusual precautions to protect the royal family. Both inside and outside the church there were scores of detectives. The police reported afterward that their only difficulty had been in quelling the enthusiasm of the crowd, which made it break police lines and almost block the exit of the royal party.

At a Greek Orthodox Church.

Preceding her reception by the Jews, Queen Marie and her children attended a Rumanian Greek Orthodox Church, as they have every Sunday they have spent in America. The church, St. Mary's, is a tiny structure among workingmen's homes on Webster Avenue, one of the most densely populated parts of Chicago.

The Queen and her children stood under a scarlet canopy and listened to the chanting of the Te Deum by five priests in robes of red, gold and silver. The priests bowed low and kissed the Queen's hand at the conclusion of the religious services. Again the cry "Tralasca Regina" (long live the Queen) rang out in the little edifice. It was taken up shrilly by girls in Rumanian peasant costumes.

A group of photographers filed in, but the Queen had given orders that no photographs should be taken there, and they filed out again.

The Queen's day of public appearances began at 11:15 o'clock this morning, when a military band formed outside the Lake Shore Drive Hotel, where the Queen and her party are staying, and played martial music. The Queen, who had been awake since early morning, appeared in the door, and the royal salute of twenty-one guns was fired.

The Queen and her children were guests of honor at a luncheon at noon of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick at her home on Lake Shore Drive. There the Queen saw Samuel Hill for the first time since he left the royal train under pressure at Seattle. Mr. Hill at a conference last night had told Colonel John H. Carroll, in command of the train as the Queen's host, that he was here only on business and would not call on the Queen, except at her request.

His appearance at the luncheon, it was understood, was in response to an invitation from Mrs. McCormick and was not at the behest of the Queen. Mr. Hill arrived alone and had no conversation with the Queen, except in the general conversation at the Queen's table, where he sat. He did not join the party after the luncheon, but left alone and departed at 9 o'clock for New York.

The luncheon was an informal affair attended by a small group of Chicago society folk. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Joseph G. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Blair, Prince and Princess Michael Cantacuzene, Mrs. Walter Borden, the Duchess Torlonia, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. McCormick.

Before the luncheon the Queen and her children were taken for an automobile ride, in the course of which Queen Marie laid a wreath before Lincoln's statue in Lincoln Park and visited a fresh-air sanitarium. At the sanitarium an unscheduled reception took place. The Queen, herself the mother of six, left her rôle of sovereign a moment to take up in her arms an unusually pretty infant, the daughter of a Rumanian workman. The child nestled its face contentedly against the Queen's astrakhan coat, the Queen pressed her face against the baby's pink neck and cooed to her as she had cooed to her own in their infancy.

Again the photographers came into play. The Queen protested.

"You'll frighten it with the light," she said. The photographers said they hoped not, that the picture was too good to miss.

"I know you'll make it scream," the Queen insisted. The blasts were set off. The baby in the Queen's arms bore it stoically, although there was a wail of indignation from adjacent cribs.

Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana also seemed charmed by the little Rumanian girl.

"Her eyes are so like yours, mother," remarked Nicholas.

"And almost as blue as yours, Ileana," the Queen said to her daughter.

Late this afternoon the Queen attended a reception given by Rumanians at the Congress Hotel. There she saw still more of her countrymen in the garbs she and Ileana so love to wear.

The royal family had dinner in private at their suite and later in the evening attended a ballet given by the Allied Arts Club at the Eighth Street Theatre.

Tomorrow morning the royal party will go to Gary, Ind., in a special train to visit the steel mills there, returning to see the University of Chicago and other interesting places.

Colonel Carroll, who caused the expulsion from the royal train at Seattle of J. B. Ayres, the representative of the Ford Motor Company, managing the Lincoln car transportation of the Queen's party, sent a telegram to the Ford Company tonight informing them that they could place a representative on the train. Ayres was not mentioned, but it is understood Colonel Carroll would not object to him, even though he did resent statements attributed to Ayres in the press.

The motive for Colonel Carroll's invitation is believed to be the fact that the automobile transportation provided for the party has not been as good as it was when Ayres was personally on the ground to supervise it.

Nicholas Meets a Traffic King.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 (AP).—Prince Nicholas, while driving along a boulevard today, ran through a "stop light" and essayed a turn against a "no left turn" sign.

"Hey, you!" boomed Traffic Officer Thomas Coughlin, "get in line there and stay there."

The Prince studied the officer a moment, then explained: "I'm a stranger from out of town."

"Well, I'll give you a break," said Officer Coughlin. "But know the rules next time. Go ahead."

"Yes, sir," answered Prince Nicholas.

INDIANAPOLIS HAS $25 TO GET MARIE GOLD KEY

Purchasing Agent Is Told It Will Buy Nothing Bigger Than Key to Ant-Hill.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 14 (AP).—An alchemist, a man who can transfer base metals into gold, might get his name on the City of Indianapolis payroll. Mayor John L. Duvall recognizes that a person versed in the art of alchemy would be worth his weight in gold to a city administration which has only $25 available for the purchase of a golden key to present to Queen Marie of Rumania when she visits here next week.

In anticipation of the Queen's arrival city officials began to cast about for an appropriate gift. The deliberations ended in a decision to give the Queen something useful, and a golden key to the city was decided upon. But examination of the treasury disclosed only $25 in the fund for buying gifts for royalty. This sum was turned over to John Collins, city purchasing agent, with instructions to buy the biggest golden key he could get for that sum.

Mr. Collins started on his shopping expedition.

"I want to buy a gold key to the city," he explained to the proprietor of a shop that deals in such trinkets.

"How big a key do you want?" Collins was asked.

Collins extended his arms much in the manner of a fisherman just back from his vacation trip.

"How much money have you got to spend?" was the suspicious query.

"Not a cent more than $25," Collins declared.

"For that amount we can give you a nice gold key that would fit a padlock to an anthill," the purchasing agent was informed.

Collins returned to the Mayor somewhat despondent, and explained that his task seemed hopeless unless the ancient art of alchemy could be invoked. Twenty-five dollars' worth of scrap iron might be transformed, he said, into a city key of appropriate size for presentation to a queen. Collins still seeks a useful gift costing only $25.

RUMANIA HEARS TALK OF THREE BIG LOANS

One Was to Be $100,000,000 Here, Another Anglo-American and a Third German.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 14 (AP).—Negotiations for various foreign loans to Rumania were reported in rapid succession in the past week. The series began with a reported loan of $100,000,000 from an American group, then a £30,000,000 loan in London from an Anglo-American consortium.

Leading financial circles in Bucharest profess to know nothing about an American loan, and declare that obtaining a British loan would be difficult, inasmuch as the consortium was demanding a guarantee based on State monopolies and petrol royalties and receipts, with the consortium having supervision over the monopolies, receipts and royalties.

The newspaper Lupta asserts that Herr Muhlon, former director of the German firm of Krupps, was called to Bucharest concerning a project for a 500,000,000 gold mark loan. The paper states that it learns from Government circles that the negotiations have been virtually concluded on certain terms—first, that the loan shall be to the amount mentioned; second, cancellation of the sequestration of German property remaining unsold; third, suspension of the Rumanian claim for national bank notes issued during the German occupation; fourth, renewal of service payments on coupons of Rumanian bonds at Berlin.

Lupta remarks that it remains to be seen whether these reports are serious and why negotiations with the United States and England have been abandoned.

JEWISH BOARD IS TOLD OF ATTACKS IN RUMANIA

Marshall Says No One Has Been Tried for Anti-Semitic Crimes —He Is Elected President.

The persecution of the Jews of Rumania was a chief topic of discussion at the twentieth annual meeting of the American Jewish Committee yesterday at the Hotel McAlpin. Louis Marshall, the President, presided. The committee also went on record as favoring legislation, now pending in Congress, for the admission of the wives and minor children of aliens now in this country who have taken out their first papers.

Mr. Marshall read a memorandum which he had presented last December to Nicolas Titelescu, head of the Rumanian Debt Funding Commission when in this country, calling attention to the anti-Semitic movement in Rumania, which the Government apparently was making no attempt to suppress. "We find that, for several years past," wrote Mr. Marshall, "there has been an open, notorious and continuous demonstration of animosity against the Jews, with the accompaniment of an attack upon their religion in the form of gross libels, of assaults upon their person, and destruction of their property, and of agitation looking to their deprivation of fundamental rights, including that of securing education and of earning a livelihood. These acts have not been sporadic, but they have been systematic. They have not been the outbreaks of irresponsible mobs, but they have been committed by men of education, of political prominence."

Nobody has been prosecuted for these crimes, the memorandum said.

Solomon Sufrin of New York, a representative of the Union of Rumanian Jews of America, told of cases of illtreatment of Jews which had come under his notice during a recent visit to Rumania.

Attention was called by Judge Julian W. Mack to the fact that not only Jews but also Baptists, Unitarians and Catholics were oppressed in Rumania, although these other sects were not persecuted as cruelly or as extensively as the Jews.

The political outlook is much brighter in Poland, says the committee's report. The present Cabinet shows every desire to treat the Jews and other minorities justly and impartially. The report said that the recent assassination of Simon Petlura, former Ukrainian leader, by a Jew in Paris is likely to create difficulties for Jews in the Ukraine, among the people of which Petlura was and is held in great honor. "The Ukrainians are being irritated," says the report, "by the attempts which are being made to prove that Petlura was not only officially but also personally responsible for pogroms, and by the attitude of some of the Jewish newspapers in various countries, including the United States, which have held the act of the assassin to be that of a national hero. This attitude is not only harmful but it is also incorrect."

The following officers were elected: President, Louis Marshall; Vice Presidents, Dr. Cyrus Adler and Julius Rosenwald; Treasurer, Colonel Isaac M. Ullman.

FOR MILITARY TRIAL OF ILLINOIS GANGS

Mayor of Herrin Tells Governor Small Civil Prosecution Has Become Impossible.

WITNESSES FEAR FOR LIVES

Man Is Found Slain Near City, but Authorities Think Ganga Had No Part in This Killing.

HERRIN, Ill., Nov. 14 (AP).—The setting up of a military court is the only way to cope with the gang situation in Southern Illinois, Mayor Marshall McCormack of Herrin told Governor Len Small of Illinois in a recent letter which was made public by the Mayor today.

The letter was addressed to the Governor prior to last Friday, when the Illinois executive conferred at Springfield with the Mayor and National Guardsmen regarding the situation. Governor Small would make no recommendation for military action.

"The gangs have reached such proportions," the Mayor wrote, "that no Sheriff, regardless of his efforts, can relieve the conditions. The prosecution of these outlaws is equally impossible, as no citizen will produce evidence while these gangs are at large for fear of their own lives being taken, and no prosecuting attorney could live who attempted it.

"I have tried from every angle to work ont some hopeful solntion and the best minds of Southern Illinois have put their efforts into it, only to find it lost in dismal failure. There is no man in Williamson County who believes civil authorities can ever meet the existing conditions.

"I, knowing that every civil agency has failed, yet realizing the embarrassment it brings to you, to me and our State, am frank to tell you that the only solution, so far as I can see is the setting up of a military court, so that arrests may ba madc, that evidence may be submitted without witnesses being intimidated."

Tha body of Claude Craig, 35, shot through the heart with revolver bullets and throngh tha right side with buckshot, was found early today just north of the Herrin city limits near a road-house operated by a man known only as "Big Swede."

Anthorities believe that the slaying has no connection with recent gang warfare here, as Craig was not known to be affiliated with any faction.

No witnesses have been found who can throw any light on the identity of Craig's assailants, although persons living in the vicinity report hearing shots. The shooting apparently occurred outside the road-house.

Up to the People, Says Small.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Nov. 14 (AP).—The people of Southern Illinois "cannot expect protection unless they are prepared to help give protection," Governor Len Small said tonight when informed of tha letter of Mayor Marshall McCormack of Herrin dealing with the suggestion of a military court as a means of meeting the gang situation.

" We have spent several hundreds of thousands of dollars of the people's money in that section during the past few years trying to maintain the law," tha Governor added. "The murders that hava happened there would hava happened regardless of whether the State militia was present or not."

Governor Small said it was not the dnty of the National Guard to maintain law and order unless the civil agencies had collapsed, and he did not believe this had happened.

"This is a government of and by the people, and if they want to enforce the laws, it is up to them," he added.

Kentucky Church Built by Turfmen Opened; Tribute to Pastor's Fight for Pari-Mutuels

Special to The New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 14.—With the formal opening of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd here, the only church in the world built with contributions from turf interests, has become a reality. The Rev. Thomas L. Settle, the rector, more than any other person in the State, is credited with having halted a movement in the General Assembly of the State three years ago to repeal the law allowing pari-mutuel betting on horse races, a repeal which horsemen felt would kill the horse industry in Kentucky. Turfmen from all over the world contrihnted to the fund, $200,000, and built the church at no cost to the congregation.

All the panel wood carvings in the church are the work of Anton Lang, who portrayed Christ in the Oberammergau "Passion Play." Lang did this because of his friendship for certain persons connected with the church. The work was done in Lang's Bavarian shop.

Upon a bronze tablet within the tower of the edifice is this inscription: "This church built by lovers of the horse from all over the country as a token of their appreciation of God's goodness to His children, man."

At a mass meeting of turfmen, three years ago, while the Legislatnre was considering passage of the anti-betting bill, the Rev. Mr. Settle addressed the assemhlage, pointing out the satisfactory results of pari-mutuel hetting as compared with bookmaking in his native England. He was among the leaders of a great gathering of turfmen at Frankfort, the State capital, where such a protest was made that the anti-wagering measure was beaten.

The congregation has greatly increased since Mr. Settle took the stand he did. Although he has been severely criticized, he has gone on his way undisturbed.

SAYS BROOKLYN MAN IS BEING KIDNAPPED

Lawyer Appeals to Connecticut Police for J. T. Lang, but They Won't Interfere.

STAMFORD, Conn., Nov. 14 (AP).—Although Charles S. Watson, Brooklyn (N. Y.) lawyer, persuaded local police that two men from Maine were taking Joseph T. Lang of Brooklyn to the Pine Tree State against his will, and that they were spending the night in a Stamford hostelry, the police saw no reason to interfere.

Lang was sued in Maine recently for alienation of affections, Watson told the police, and was released under bond of $15,000. A judgment for $23,000 was rendered against him and he quit the State without paying, leaving his bondsmen "holding tha bag."

A detective and another man, deputized by the bondsmen, went to Brooklyn yesterday, Watson said, kidnapped Lang, and on their way to Maina stopped at Stamford overnight. Watson followed and sought the arrest of the men, charging abduction.

ALFRED, Me., Nov. 14 (AP).—Joseph T. Lang of Brooklyn, N. Y., a hotel keeper, said to figure in an alleged abduction episode at Stamford, Conn., appealed for a new trial to the Maine Supreme Court in Angust from the verdict of a jury in the York County Supreme Court in January, which awarded $22,542 to Owen T. Hurtle, retired boatswain's mate of the United States Navy, of Eliot, in an alienation of affections action. His appeal was rejected.

At the trial evidence was introduced that Lang visited the home of Hurtle during the latter's absence and that Mrs. Hurtle went to Brooklyn to live with him. Witnesses testified that she preferred tha "bright lights of Broadway" to the farm where sha lived.

W. P. M. Jacohs of Wells, a hotel proprietor, and William Wnrm of Kittery, said to be an employe of the Portsmouth Navy Yard, are Lang's bondsmen. Representatives of these men applied several days ago for a copy of the judgment in the case, Frank G. Fenderson, Clerk of Courts, said tonight.

DENIES IRRIGATION IS CAUSE OF STORMS

Arizona Weather Chief Insists Eastern Disturbances Come From Alaska.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 14 (AP).—Storms drifting down from Alaska and the North, aided by moisture and heat from the South and the Gulf of Mexico, are more to blame for Eastern weather disturbances, tornadoes at least, than are Western irrigation projects, in the opinion of R. O. Grant, Chief of the Government Weather Bureau here.

Mr. Grant took issue with the statement of Elias B. Dunn, of Orange, N. J., former head of the New York City Weather Bureau, who last Thursday wrote President Coolidge protesting against further reclamation projects in the West, declaring that moisture in irrigated sections "made" storms. The Arizonan said this theory was misleading.

"Storms originating in tha Southwest are local in character generally," said Mr. Grant. "Tornadoes, which the Eastern writer may have in mind, are usually attendant upon storms which drift down from the Northwest or Alaska and after reaching territory east of the Rocky Mountains receive accessions of heat and moisture from tha Southern States and the Gulf of Mexico."

Irrigated sections of the Southwest, he contended, were too remote to contrihute to the development of tornadoes.

"It is a well established fact that if all of Maricopa County (Phoenix), Ariz., were covered with water, there would be less moisture given off to tha atmosphere than if it were covered with prairia grass," he added.

FAKE INJURY PLOT BARED.

Three Arrested in Bay State, Seven More Indicted.

BOSTON, Nov. 14 (AP).—An alleged fake injury conspiracy against the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, involving $4,000 or $5,000, was revealed here today with the arrest of Harry Barnett, a former investigator for the road, and Rose Kaplan, both of Dorchester.

Barnett was charged with larceny and conspiracy to defraud and Miss Kaplan was charged with larceny. Both were freed on bail. Rose's sister, Catherine, was arrested in her Roxhury homa yesterday, also charged with larceny, and indictments have been returned against seven other persons, including another woman, four doctors and two lawyers.

Police investigators said that varions "accident claims" were turned over to Barnett by the company for investigation. His practice was to recommend settlement and checks sent to the "injured" were cashed and divided among tha group.

CREEDS AND RACES JOIN TO HONOR FLAG

CANADA IS REPRESENTED

Speakers at Port Huron Armistice Day Celebration Speak of Significance of Mutual Tolersnce.

Special to The New York Times.

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 14.—Protestant and Catholic, Jew and Gentile, whitte men and black, the United States and the Dominion of Canada, and the veterans of three wars participated in the dedication of a flagpole here today at an international Armistice Day celebration.

Among the 10,000 persons there was not the slightest indication that violence had been threatened against the Rev. Russell H. Bready, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, if he permitted Mgr. Patrick H. Dunnigan, World War chapiain, to deliver the dedicatory address for a flagpole donated to the church by a Jew and a flag donated by the William Jennings Bryan Chapter of the Ku Klux Klan.

The ceremonies were brief, but significant of religious tolerance. As the Rev. Mr. Bready, with bared head, held his hand aloft in benediction over the assemhlage, utter silence, replete with deep feeling, dominated his auditors.

"In the ceremonies today I find the culmination of all that I have worked for in Michigan," Dr. Bready said. "It is the proudest moment of my life. There has never occurred in this or sby other age anything so significant from a religious standpoint. It is a milestone which foretells many things to come."

Thomas S. Scupholm, Postmaster, presented the flagstaff and the flag and asked that they be accepted by the church. The flag was brought forward in the trembling hands of George W. Howe, one of the few remaining Civil War veterane of this region.

As he mounted tha rostrum, Mgr. Dunnigan gazed long and earnestly at his audience.

"May this flagpole and this flag henceforth address you in accents of living glory," he said. "Their dedication here today is most significant with respect to the religious and moral welfare of the land for which so many of you were in uniform today fought so recently."

As the flag slowly ascended to the peak of the flagstaff, nnder the guidance of Archibald Wayner, negro World War veteran and member of tha Charles A. Hammond Post, Mgr. Dunnigan eulogized Charlie Hammond, a Port Huron boy who died in action, and the boys of '61, of '98 and of the A. E. F.

His speech was followed by "Taps." Then the band played "The Star-Spangled Banner," as civic, fraternal, religious and service organizations, escorted by police and military of both the United States and Canada, marched to the municipal building.

Airplanes earlier in the day dropped flowers over the grave of Cyrus Bettis, flying ace, who died recently in an airplane accident.

Pittsburgh Street Car Conductor Retires After 35 Years' Service.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14 (AP).—Nicholas G. Stoehr, aged 65, has traveled 1,000,000 miles since 1891, but despite this he has not earned the title of "globe trotter."

Stoehr retired today after thirty-five years' service as a street car conductor for the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

Lucky Dime Found by Girl Is Rare 1783 Coin Worth $300

NEWTON, N. J., Nov. 14.—Alice Padgett of Sparta Township thought she was lucky on Saturday when she found a dime near school.

She was more certain of it when a numismatist of Sparta, after consulting a coin catalogue, told her parents that the dime was a rare one and worth about $300. It was coined by Maryland in 1783, according to inscriptions on the two sides of the coin. It is in fair condition.

REBUKES BABY DESERTER.

Magistrate Also Holds Woman in Bail of $2,500.

Condemning the abandonment of her six months' old daughter, Kathleen, Magistrate Flood in West Side Court yesterday held Mrs. Victoria Bennett, 27 years old, of 171 West Sixty-fourth Street, in $2,500 bail for examination Tuesday.

Mrs. Bennett, who was born in Dublin, was arrested Saturday when she went to the West Sixty-eighth Street police station to inquire what had become of the baby whom she had left last Thursday evening with William Hazen, 72 years old, a retired elevator operator, of 143 Amsterdam Avenue. Hazen agreed to mind Kathleen for an hour, and when the mother had not returned Friday morning he took the infant to the station.

Mrs. Bennett said that after getting Hazen, with whom she had worked in an apartment house, to mind the child, she went to a party. Magistrate Flood asked her whether she had been drinking. She did not answer, hut bowed her head. The Magistrate then commented that the child was better off in ths foundling ward at Bellevue, where she was taken hy the police.

OWE ORGAN TO MRS. EDGAR.

Norman Churchgoers Hear Instrument Restored as Her Gift.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The grand organ in the church at Petit Andely, Normandy, was played today after being restored by Mrs. Newbold LeRoy Edgar of New York. Ths organ was built in 1674 by Ingout, "Bourgeois of Cherbourg," for the abbey of Our Lady's Treasure in Normandy, according to a cryptographic text found in a mattress hy the present abbe of Petit Andely.

Tha instrument was taken to its present location in 1793 during ths revolution and, unlika most old organs, had not been modernized. The Bishop of Evreux conducted the religious service today, and Widor, the composer and organist, played old church music on the organ.

Dominican Republic Votes Funds for Memorial to Columbus.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The War Department has been notified that the Congress of the Dominican Republic has appropriated $300,000 for the erection of a monument to Christopher Columbus in Santo Domingo City, in whose cathedral tha bones of Columbus are supposed to lie.

The monument will comprise a massive tomb above which will be a lighthouse for the guidance of ships at sea.

The Columbus monument project was initiated by the American Receiver General of Customs for Santo Domingo, William E. Pulliam. Work on the memorial will start soon.

GRADUATE EDITORS REBUKE THE LAMPOON

Six Declare That the Princeton Editorial Misrepresents Harvard.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 14.—Six graduate editors today expressed their indignation at the editorial which appeared in the Princeton number of the Harvard Lampoon. The text of the letter is as follows:

"On Nov. 3, the Lampoon puhlished an editorial on Princeton which is, in our judgment, a disgrace to the good name of the Lampoon. It misrepresents Harvard and misrepresents what we have always supposed to be the spirit of the Lampoon.

"The undersigned, graduate editors of the Lampoon, wish publicly to express their unqualified indignation at the editorial. We trust it is true that you have already made a full apology to Princeton University, and we also trust that there will be so marked a change in the tone of your editorials as to make impossible the repetition of such a gratuitous offense.

STATE HARVEST SET BACK.

Cold, Wet Weather Interferes With Farm Work Throughout New York.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP).—Cold, wet weather in October seriously retarded maturing and harvesting of the late Fall crop, says a joint State-Federal crop report. Only one killing frost was reported, at Canton.

Corn averages about 37 hushels per acre, compared with 36 bushels in 1925. Silage corn is about 8.5 tons per acre, as compared with 8.8 tons last year.

Much of the buckwheat crop was still unthreshed and in some instances uncut on Nov. 1. The crop is estimated at 4,700,000 bushels, compared with 4,645,000 last year.

Only the Steuben-Allegany section and Western New York had potatoes still in the ground. The present outlook is for a State crop of 31,702,000 bushels, as compared with 23,994,000 in 1925.

The harvest of apples will approximate 36,660,000 hushels, as compared with 32,500,000 bushels in 1925. The pear crop is mnch lower than last year, with an estimated yield of 2,088,000 hushels. The grape crop is placed at 106,700 tons, more than twice the 51,840 tons last year.

On the first of the month the number of eggs per 166 hens was 11.7, compared with 26 on Oct. 1 and 39.8 on Sept. 1.

Several Concerns Burned Out in the Business District.

Fire of unknown origin damaged the four-story brick building at 166-05-07-09-11 Jamaica Avenue, in the heart of the Jamaica business district, early yesterday morning to the extent of about $50,000. A bakery, a restaurant and a silk goods store were burned out and a meat market was practically destroyed. Four alarms were turned in. The four concerns are located on the ground floor of the building. The Bergen Warehouse, occupying the top three floors, also was damaged.

For a time it appeared that the three-story brick huilding occupied by the John A. Schwartz Furniture Company, adjoining the damaged property on the west, would burn. Tha loss to the furniture concern, however, was confined to water damage. The damaged building, valued at $400,000, is owned by the Koppel Cohen Estate.

TO CHECK BINGHAMTON VOTE

Tabulation on Machine Gave 100 More Than Smith Received.

Special to The New York Times.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Eight voting machines in tha city of Binghamton and three in the Town of Union are to be opened tomorrow by the Board of County Canvassers to check up the vota cast in the various districts at the last general election.

Errors in tabulating, made by election officials, are believed to be responsihla for discrspancies found in one district. Governor Smith had heen credited with 100 votes more than he received, although he carried the district.

It is not thought the corrections will make any material change in the total vote in the county, but tha arrors are delaying the completion of the county canvass and demonstrate the necessity of a change in the election law governing the appointment of election officers, the county canvassers say.

MRS. GIBSON TO TELL STORY ON STRETCHER

the case four years ago for a New York morning newspaper. He had evolved a system of bullet identification which was based on tha theory that every bullet bore marks, made as it passed through tha barrel, which would link it definitely to ons weapon. He was to have testified on the bullets of .32 calibre which were fired into tha bodies of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills.

Senator Simpson said last night that tha death of Mr. Walta would not materially affect his case. Ha said that Mr. Walte's evidence would be supplied by his partner, Major Calvin E. Goddard.

Senator Simpson said he would read into the record of the trial today the love letters written by Mrs. Mills to the rector which were found lying between their bodies. There ars twelve letters, and their contents hava never been made public. He said ha would try to get additional facts on the intrigue through the evidence of members of St. Mary's Guild, a girls' organization in the parish of St. John the Evangelist, where Dr. Hall was rector.

Other witnesses who are expected to testify today are Middlesex County Detective Ferd A. David, Dr. Otto H. Schultze, who will combat testimony that Dr. Hall's body required immediate burial four years ago, and Jacob Van Peitz, who is to relate how Ralph V. Gorsline, vestryman of the church, disclosed to him in September, 1922, that he had been in De Russey's Lane on the murder night. Gorsline denied this for four years, but broks down in August after twenty-one hours of examination and corroborated Mrs. Gibson's story on minor points.

Marcus Beekman to Testify.

Marcus Beekman, hrother of the late Azariah Beekman, who was Somerset Prosecutor of the Pleas in 1922, will be another witness. Beekman appeared at one of the preliminary hearings last August and returned important papers and statements which had been among the "missing evidence" which Senator Simpson made much of when he assumed direction of the reopened investigation. Beekman refused then to disclose the full story of his recovery of the missing papers, but it is expected that hs will he required to do so when he takes the stand in the trial.

Mrs. Hall remained at home yesterday. Shs did not distnrb the quiet of her Sunday hy even a walk and received few callers, spending the day resting in preparation for this week in court. Friends said that while she missed going to church she did not plan to attend until the trial was over, thus avoiding any unnecessary publicity.

Fewer Now in Church.

Since the Rev. J. Mervin Pettit, rector of St. John's, has made it a practice to turn away the morhid who sought admittance to the tiny church to satisfy their curiosity, the case has ceased, as far as appearances are concerned, to intrude itself there. The congregations have been smaller than usual since the reopening of the case. Mr. Pettit said, but he attrihuted the falling off to a wish on the part of members to avoid undue notoriety and to their fear of photographers.

Mr. Pettit preached yesterday from the text: "I lift up mine eyes unto the hills whence cometh my help"—taken from the first verse of the 121st Psalm. Nothing in the sermon could be construed as a reference to tha trial. Among those who attended the services were Mrs. Edwin Carpender and her two daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bearman. Mr. Bearman is a cousin of Mrs. Hall.

The usual quota of Sunday sightseers drove past the church and the homes of Mrs. Hall and James Mills, although tha home of the husband of the murdered woman is on a side street and not easy to find. A greater nnmber went to the Phillips farm and to the famous lane.

Hundreds, perhaps thousands, attempted to visit the farm, but for the first time they were turned back. Part of the farm has heen developed with small dwellings and, according to a name blazoned across the terraced front on Easton Avenue, is now "Pine Grove Manor." The owners of this development have complained to the State police that they have been unable to sell houses since the revival of the case. Sightseers have even tried to remove parts of the unsold dwellings as souvenirs, although they were not there four years ago, they said, and shingles, even panes of glass from the cellars have been taken. State Troopers Bowen and Lang stood guard yesterday at the lanes leading into the farmhouse.

Hundreds of Cars There.

The presence of the troopers, however, did not deter enterprising hoys from stationing themselves along Easton Avenue as volunteer traffic guides. For a half mile on either side of the entrancs to De Russey's Lane hundreds of cars were parked on both sides of the road and in private driveways, while their owners walked through the mud and the traffic to the farm.

Some of the less scrupulous youngsters stationed themselves at the entrancs to other lanes along Easton Avenue and shouted to the passing motorists: "Here was the Hall-Mills murder. Park here and walk up to the crabapple tree." Other guides virtually took the gullible and curious by the hand, led them to ths Parker home pointed out any one of a dozen benches in Buccleugh Park and then directed their customers up the lane to be turned back by the troopers.

Early in the day one old woman visited the farm before the troopers got there. Shs took away a twig as a souvenir and declared emphatically that shs hoped "justics would he done."

Somervilla itself forgot the trial for the day and went to church. Some tourists stopped off to inspect the courtroom whers "the century's most sensational murder trial" is taking place, before the persons who are taking activa part in the trial were about their firesides. Judge Frank L. Cleary took an automobile drive with his wife and children.

The jury remained locked up as usual, with the exception of Edward Tillman, juror No. 5, whose home is in Raritan. Escorted by Patrolman Adrian Cornell, he attended tha funeral of a hrother, Charles, who died Friday in Rahway. The other eleven jurors confined themselves to their rooms in the Colonial House, with three sorties to a restaurant for meals.

FIREARMS EXPERT DIES.

C. E. Waite, War-Time Investigator, Was to Have Testified for State.

Charles E. Waite, a leading authority on firearms, who was to have been a witness in the Hall-Mills trial, died on Saturday night at the Hotel Latham, where he had made his home. He was to have testified for the State that the three hullets marked for identification in the Court House in Somerville, N. J., were those which ended the lives of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills.

Although not in robust health; according to a friend, "Judge" Waite, as he was known to his friends, was able to go about his affairs until his collapse on Friday. The immediate cause of his death was given as an embolism. He was in his early sixties.

So quietly did Mr. Waite do his work that, despite the larger number of important cases in which he played a part, his name was little known to the public and his face not at all, since he steadfastly refused to he photographed. Until ten years ago he was a Government investigator, and many important Federal prosecutions were based upon evidence obtained hy Mr. Waite.

During the World War Mr. Waite was in charge of a group of operatives investigating alien enemy activities in this country. His work was done so secretly that his own men did not know who he was and in the financial district, where he carried on his investigations, he was thought to be a secret agent of the British Government.

During the last ten years of his life Mr. Waite devoted himself to developing the Waite system of bullet identification, in partnership with Major Calvin H. Goddard. The system is hased on the existence of minuts imperfections in the interior of gun barrels which leave identifiable marks on hullets fired from them.

BOOM DAYS FOR SOMERVILLE.

Town's Business Picks Up as Trial Brings influx of Visitors.

Business is good in Somerville, N. J., where the trial of Mrs. Frances S. Hall and her brothers is bringing to merchants and property holders the flavor of boom days.

In some cases landlords are collecting from newspaper men, who have no choice but to pay, as much a week for a room or house as they would have been able to realizs in ordinary times in two or three months.

Restaurants near the courthouse have taken on extra help. A small lunchroom which was about to close out three months ago is now on its feet again, its proprietor admitted as he put 90 cents in his register for two sandwiches and a cup of coffee.

Where is all the money coming from? Williiam Bell, manager of the Somerville telegraph office, says:

"I distrihuted $1,300 today in telegraph money orders for newspaper men," he declared the other night, and added, "That's nothing unusual."

There are more than 200 newspaper men and women assigned to the trial. The owner of the main men's furnishing store in Somerville said he had sold eighteen overcoats to newspaper reporters in the last three weeks, "and as for the number of shirts, ties and socks—well, all I can say is business is good."

A contortionist who said he could "duplicate and outdo Harry Houdini" held forth on Main Street the day after the trial started, but despite a strident voice his accoutrement of ropes and handcuffs did not succeed in hypnotizing the trial "fans."

In the minds of members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, however, any money brought to the town by the notoriety of the trial is offset by the prospect of heavy bills to be paid for the investigation. Bills amounting to only $1,000 have come in, to date, hut the board is "waiting for the worst." Their estimates of the total cost go as high as $100,000.

HALL CASE WITNESS DIES.

Nicholas Bahmer, Involved in 1922 Inquiry, Victim of Tuberculosis.

Special to The New York Times.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Nov. 14.—Nicholas Bahmer, who in the 1922 investigation was connected with the Hall-Mills case, died late last night at the Bonnie Burn Sanitarium, at Scotch Plains, of tuberculosis. He was 49 years old. His daughter, Pearl Bahmer, who, with Raymond Schneider, was the first to find the bodies of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills after they had been shot to death, was with him when he died.

Bahmer at that time was held for questioning after telling newspaper men that he had bought a revolver the day of the murder. He was released later and then was convicted of a statutory offense brought out in the course of the investigation.

HALL JUROR'S BARN BURNS.

Court Allows Him, Under Guard, to View Its Ruins

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 14.—While William Daley, juror No. 5, was with the other members of tha Hall-Mills jury tonight in tha Colonial Hotel, his barn on Mechanic Street hurned down. His Ford automohile was destroyed by the flames. The Fire Department saved Daley's home and other dwellings closs by, although for a time it appeared as if some of these might he destroyed.

A message was sent to Daley, and Justice Parker gave his permission to go to the scene, accompanied by two deputies, and view the wreckage of the barn.

MEMORANDUM

From: The Chairman, Women's Advisory Board.

To: The President.

The Women's Advisory Board, as a body, wishes to congratulate you and your associates on your new Fifth Avenue Office. It is most gratifying to have been associated closely with your plans, and to see them carried through so sympathetically.

Your Company, especially at the Fifth Avenue Office, enjoys the personal patronage of many women. In all our thinking, we have wanted to inspire the Department maintained especially for them, with the point-of-view of women and to meet their needs.

We thank you for your cooperation, believing that there is not in the banking world today an office where women will find themselves more at ease in transacting banking matters.

TELLS OF OUR VALOR WHERE MANGIN LED

PRAISES AMERICAN DEEDS

Our 1st and 2d Divisions Were in Drive That Netted 20,000 Prisoners and 500 Guns.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The late General Mangin and his army, composed, in the first line, of the First and Second Divisions of the United States Army and the Third Colonial Corps of the French Army, received high praise from General Weygand today when a commemorative stone was placed at his post of command at La Tour Resumont in the heart of Villers-Cotterêts forest.

Marshal Foch presided, assisted by Generals Weygand and Gouraud. Mme. Mangin and her children also attended the stirring ceremony.

Those who fought in the First and Second Divisions will remember the long night marches which brought them to Villers-Cotterêts woods or the slopes, near Vic-sur-Aisne; the silent wait until the zero hour, and the sudden attack on the German first lines, followed by the artillery's devastating fire on the second lines; the capture of these lines and the long pursuit in open country infested with enemy machine guns.

This day, July 18, 1918, marked the first major offensive by American troops and was the beginning of the long, hard series of drives which forced the Germans out of France.

Recalling the apparent simplicity with which the battle was won General Weygand said:

Reserves Massed for Attack.

"The decision was made and firmly maintained to bring the most available reserves into this battlefield while the French armies were threatened with imminent attack on an 80-kilometer front, and while the massed reserves of the Bavarian Crown Prince threatened the British front barely emerging from the shocks received in March and April.

"With this in mind, allow one who had the signal honor of living these great days by the side of the supreme chief who conducted from end to end this battle of France, to tell you what force and support this man with the destiny of peoples in his hands found in General Mangin, whose ardent soul penetrated his plans and whose indomitable energy insured success."

Relating the Soissons offensive, General Weygand described the rapidity of the action and the utter surprise of the Germans.

"When Mangin received the long-hoped-for order," he went on, "how strong must have beaten that great heart now forever silent! His plans were ready and the Tenth Army began a period of unheard-of activity. In three nights sixteen divisions were placed in the first and second lines, with 471 batteries of all calibres, forty-one air squadrons and 375 tanks.

"During the night heavy rain fell, but when Mangin went to his observatory before dawn the sky was clearing and a favorable mist hid our lines. The silence was absolute, the roads deserted. Outside of the initiated no one would have dreamed of the drama that was to begin nor of the number of troops, cannon, machine guns and tanks in the forest.

Germans Taken by Surprise.

"At 4:35 o'clock the thunder of 700 batteries broke between the Aisne and the Marne, held by the Tenth and Sixth Armies. The infantry of the Tenth Army deployed immediately close behind the creeping barrage.

"The enemy was completely surprised. He lost practically the whole of his infantry and advanced batteries. Only local resistance was met with."

General Weygand then told how the enemy hastily threw reserves on the Grand-Rozoy crest, which fell on Aug. 1, and concluded by describing the 20,000 prisoners and 500 cannon taken in two weeks, the majority being captured by the two American divisions.

3,000 Spiritists Report to Conan Doyle They Have Received Word From the Dead

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—An impressive belief in spiritism was registered at the spiritists' annual armistice service in Albert Hall today.

Sir Conan Doyle, leading the services, suddenly appealed to his hearers, shouting:

"I ask all who are sure that they have been in touch with their dead to rise and testify."

More than 3,000 men and women of all types quietly rose, and this brought from Sir Conan this fervent statement:

"Thank God there are so many! I prophesy that within five years to such an appeal every man and woman will rise. We are not testifying to faith, but to fact."

The growth of the belief in spirit communication, so persistently expounded by Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir Conan Doyle, has apparently been extraordinary. The occasion of the manifestation today was the gathering of 8,000 spiritists for the annual armistice service. In former years Queens Hall was used for this function, but its seating capacity of 2,000 would have proved utterly inadequate this year, and Albert Hall was engaged and easily filled.

Doubtless many among the huge audience were attracted by mere curiosity, but tremendous enthusiasm was displayed in response to Sir Conan's challenge for public testimony of their belief, which left no doubt as to its sincerity.

In the course of his address Sir Conan said:

"We say here in mid-London and in cold blood, and pledge our honor that this is true. We feel we are addressing those we have lost, and hold out our hands to them, not as shadow beings in an unknown life but just the same light-hearted, merry fellows we lost. They are not lost, but are nearer to us than ever they were before."

Miss Estelle Stead, formerly editor of The Review of Reviews, the Rev. George Vale Owen and other well-known spiritists were among the speakers.

INDIA SENDS PROTEST ON AMERICAN FILMS

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Apprehension that the Imperial Conference does not realize the gravity of the situation arising from America's dominance of the world film market is expressed in reports from India.

"No language is too strong," says The Times of India in an editorial cabled here, "to condemn the films with which America is plaguing India.

"'Picture of high-speed civilization: See society's follies and the glamour of high life in America.' This recent typical film advertisement in Bombay is typical, too, of the wretched picture of American life that America sends abroad.

"'To the nations of Europe, whose civilization is less 'high speed,' these films are a shame, because they know that among strangers such films must be accepted as portraying their ways of life.

"But the injury done European nations and peoples is slight compared with the great wrong which films of this kind inflict upon backward peoples by giving them lying pictures of what Western civilization is."

The Times of India declares that Hindoo members of the Legislature have demanded that the Government prevent the continuance of "this evil stream of misrepresentation," and have been told that it was not possible. The newspaper concludes that no remedy is possible unless the authorities are prepared to take ruthless action.

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 14 (AP).—Sixteen persons have been drowned in Oriente Province, where torrential rains flooded the towns of Banes, Chaparra, Delicias, Puerto Padre and Santa Lucia. The waters in Santa Lucia flooded the town to a depth of ten feet. Serious material damage was reported from the stricken region.

RUSSIA WILL EXPLOIT POTASH IN THE URALS

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Nov. 14.—Further information regarding the discovery of vast potash deposits in the Western Urals is given by Professor Schaedlin, who conducted preliminary borings on the spot, and Professor Hypatief, who has been placed in charge of a commission to prepare for exploitation at the earliest possible time.

Professor Schaedlin said he located the potash beds over an area of forty square kilometers a little northwest of the town of Solikamsk, and had intensively examined eight square kilometers with nine borings. This was sufficient to establish the presence of deposits of a quality generally superior to those in Alsace—the richest stratum being three times higher than the best in Alsace—and not inferior in extent.

The geological conditions showed the greatest probability that the potash area extended for 2,000 square kilometers, Professor Schaedlin said. Not only were the deposits five to six times shallower than in Alsace, but there were no difficulties in connection with water or gypsum, which was the case with the German beds. He was confident it would be possible to deliver potash at the port of Leningrad at a price a little over half of the Franco-German trust.

Professor Hypatief said he already had begun exploitation. A State potash "trust" was now being formed, he said, and 5,000,000 roubles had been allotted for the next two years' work, which would comprise building two shafts of four meters diameter, with lateral galleries, to cost 2,500,000 roubles; a chemical factory, to cost 1,000,000 roubles, and a branch railroad, forty kilometers in length, from the railhead to Solikamsk, to cost 1,500,000 roubles.

The shipment of stores, machinery, &c., would begin immediately, Professor Hypatief said, and he would leave Moscow soon to take charge. He hoped to begin sinking the first shaft in March next, which would be completed by March, 1928. Building of the factory and railroad would proceed simultaneously and be completed not later than March, 1929.

It was also proposed, the professor said, immediately to transform the existing soda factory at the railhead town of Beresniki, where borings would be made in the next three months which, if results were satisfactory, would lead to the sinking of a shaft there considerably in advance of the date of commercial exploitation.

collection was offered for sale, but only two groups, including the Weiss group and a French group, had made bids when the gems were placed under the hammer.

The reason the other dealers did not bid was because the Soviet Government required the bidders to put up a bond of $3,000,000 each. "We obtained a bond in London and fulfilled the requirements of the Soviet authorities," said Mr. Oblatt.

With a bid of $3,000,000 the French group, represented by M. Frankiano, outbid the American-British group in February by $130,000, after counsel for the American-British group had appealed to the Kremlin to reopen the bids on the ground that all bidders were not present when the bids were opened. When the American-British group raised their bid to £575,000 they were still behind the French with a revised bid of £603,000.

The first parcel consisted of diadems and the last Czarina's crown, also 30,000 carats of loose diamonds, many emeralds and sapphires. They were sold at their intrinsic and not at their historic value.

Prince George Sails for England.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 14 (AP).—Prince George, fourth son of King George V of England, sailed today for home by way of Canada on the Empress of Russia. He has seen considerable of the Far East since he joined H. M. S. Hawkins eighteen months ago as a Second Lieutenant, including service in Hongkong and in the Yangtze Valley. He visited Japan, Peking and numerous other places in China, and everywhere entered with great zeal into the social and sporting life of the various regions.

M. P.'s Rename an Old Drink For Accuser and Defender

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—Dr. Alfred Salter, Laborite M. P., who recently scandalized the House of Commons by accusing members of drunkenness, and Sir Arthur Holbrook, Conservative, whose motion of censure of the doctor for "letting the cat out of the bag" was carried by the House, are going down to posterity as the joint namers of a new drink, or rather an old drink in a new guise.

From the day Dr. Salter's charges were made the subject of a debate members in the House of Commons bar have been calling for a "Holbrook and Salter."

It may have been intuition or it may have been knowledge born of experience, but the waiters brought exactly what was wanted every time.

NICARAGUA INSTALLS DIAZ.

He Expresses Hope for Continuance of Our Good Offices.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Nov. 14 (AP).—In the presence of Congress, the diplomatic corps, Government officials and naval officers of the United States, Adolfo Diaz was inaugurated President of Nicaragua this afternoon.

The President, in the course of his address, expressed hope for the continued friendship and good offices of the United States. He deplored what he termed Mexican interference in efforts "to force on Nicaragua Mexican influence."

Adolfo Diaz was President of Nicaragua from 1911 to 1917. He was elected by an extraordinary session of Congress on Nov. 11 to succeed General Emiliano Chamorro, resigned.

PARIS FASCISTI FIRE ON ROYALISTS

PARIS, Nov. 14.—While foreign plots and counterplots are simmering down to ordinary legal procedure, Paris tonight was treated to a spell of fancy-colored-shirt clashing brewed at home. The Fascisti and royalists have been at odds for some time and have previously come to blows around town.

This evening twenty Fascisti invaded the news room of L'Action Française, a royalist newspaper, and forced their way into the office of the political director, Charles Maurras, who was absent. Others cut wires and smashed windows, while the royalists, alarmed by the noise, began to gather, led by Daudet and the editor, Pujo.

Fists began to fly, then bottles of ink and paste. Glass tinkled on every hand and soon the invaders beat a hasty retreat. Then, according to Pujo, one of the Fascisti fired a revolver and twenty shots were exchanged between the rival groups.

One of the Fascisti was shot through the lung and taken to a hospital in a serious condition. Others in both camps were slightly hurt.

According to the Fascist leader, Georges Valois, who resigned from the royalist camp last year to organize the Fascisti reprisal was due to personal attacks made on him by his former associates. The purpose was to smash the equipment of the royalists as a warning to desist, and his party had carried out the destruction planned. He denied that any of his companions had revolvers.

The concierge of L'Action Française told the police he was obliged to open the door at a revolver's point.

ODESSA CONFERENCE ENDS IN AGREEMENT

Tchitcherin and Rushdi Find 'Nothing' to Disturb Turco-Soviet Relations.

MOSCOW SEES 'LOVE FEAST'

Constantinople Is Still In Dark on the Meeting, While European Diplomats Are Still Guessing.

ODESSA, Ukraine, Nov. 14 (AP).—Georges Tchitcherin and Tewfik Rushdi Bey, the Foreign Ministers of Soviet Russia and Turkey, who have been meeting here to discuss questions of mutual interest to their countries, issued a joint communiqué today in explanation of the conference.

After stating that M. Tchitcherin was unable to accept Rushdi Bey's invitation to visit Turkey and that it was agreed between the two Governments that the meeting should take place at Odessa, the communiqué proceeds:

"Tewfik Rushdi Bey and M. Tchitcherin having examined together all questions interesting both Governments, it was established that there were no outstanding questions which could cause a change in the direction of the policy of the two States or disturb the relations between them; that it was highly desirable to render these relations more intimate and cordial, and that consolidation of these relations would be of the highest importance to world peace."

Moscow Is Still in the Dark.

MOSCOW, Nov. 14.—The Odessa meeting of the Turkish and Soviet Foreign Ministers has received great prominence in the Moscow press, but it is interesting to note that no editorial comment or information is given about the subject discussed.

The occasion is being presented to the Russian public as a real "love feast," with visits and counter-visits, banquets and counter-banquets, receptions and counter-receptions all adorned with flowery speech in the best Oriental tradition.

The Russians strongly emphasize the parallel struggle of both countries to maintain their national independence against "Western imperialism," but the Turks rather refer to their own victorious liberation from foreign enemies than congratulate the Russians on their similar success, and it remains to be seen how much real heat is being engendered behind the fireworks.

On the other hand, there is little doubt that M. Tchitcherin's hand is strengthened by the remarkable successes of the Canton army which make the present more suitable than any previous time for the formation of a pan-Asiatic league. The Soviet Foreign Office has never attempted to hide its readiness to develop its system of non-aggression compacts with its eastern neighbors into some general scheme of mutual neutrality and guarantee, but it has always insisted its aim is wholly pacifist.

In point of fact it is unlikely at present that the Soviet Union would enter any arrangement that might involve even defensive military action in support of other members of the group still less any such aggressive action as contemplated by the League of Nations covenant. But actual war in unthinkable from the Russian viewpoint for many years to come, unless forced upon the Union in sheer self-defence.

Turks Expect New Development.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14 (AP).—Conjectures multiply as official silence continues over the abrupt departure of Tewfik Rushdi Bey for Odessa and his interview with the Soviet Foreign Minister, M. Tchitcherin, but the conviction is general that the incident marks the beginning of an important new development in Turkey's foreign policy.

Conservatives view the conference as a step cementing Russo-Turkish friendship, which has been somewhat ruffled during the past few years over failure to conclude a commercial treaty.

The question of Japan's attitude occupies the Turkish press, which cites the recent visit of Admiral Yamamoto and the approaching arrival of a Japanese economic mission as evidence of Japanese interest.

Europe Watches Meeting.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The meeting during the past three days between M. Tchitcherin and Tewfik Rushdi Bey and caused some little stir and murmur in diplomatic and press circles throughout Europe. They have held three-hour conversations and have published a communiqué about their agreement on all kinds of questions of mutual interest. They indulged in visits of the most ceremonial kind, held a banquet and an opera gala, and so departed respectively to their capitals.

Odessa was their "Thoiry," only perhaps caviar took the place of blue trout. Now European diplomats are wondering what is going to come out of this new "Thoiry." There have been prophets and nervous men who have already begun to look ahead toward a great Asiatic alliance of all "powers" of Western Asia leagued against Europe and in a league also for Asiatic exploitation of China. In this alliance they see a rival to the League at Geneva.

Naturally this view is not entirely unacceptable to either the Turkish or Russian Foreign Ministers. It was perhaps with little intention of creating such an impression that they held their somewhat well advertised reunion on the shores of the Black Sea. But is it real diplomacy, or only façade?

In France those who watch these things closely have begun to be very skeptical of the Russian treaties. There have been quite a number of them since that spectacular business at Rapallo. Yet somehow they have all seemed to come to nothing. And the Turks are in no better situation. There was that treaty of theirs with Russia on the eve of the settlement of the Iraq frontier dispute. That was most certainly intended to make the British Empire and the League of Nations tremble. Yet the price which the Turks accepted from England to forget all about it and settle the Iraq question was comparatively a small affair. Now they are holding out one hand toward the League of Nations and at the same time playing at high diplomacy.

DEPORTED AS AN AMERICAN.

Engineer Returns to England and Proves That He Is British.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Deported as an American and rearrested for returning to England following his deportation, J. F. Fenn, aged 62, an engineer, has proved to the satisfaction of a London court that he is an Englishman and entitled to remain in this country.

At the request of his family, Fenn said, he went to the United States in 1903, assumed the name of George Draper and announced that he was an American. He absolutely changed his identity and said that at that time he never intended to revert to it.

As George Draper and with an American passport he returned to England in 1919. He was ordered deported and he left the country without attempting to establish his English nationality.

Four years later, as a result of persuasion by members of his family, he returned and, as an Englishman, resumed the name of Fenn. He was arrested, but has now been released after the court hearing.

NOW LADY LINDSAY CAN BE INTRODUCED

Berlin Solves Problem of British Envoy's Wife and Soviet Doyenne.

WOMEN SIGH WITH RELIEF

German Official's Wife Will Present Lady Lindsay, Deciding Non-Recognition Question.

BERLIN, Nov. 14 (AP).—Berlin's diplomatic set is sighing with relief over the settlement of a delicate matter of international etiquette which has had the capital by the ears for some weeks.

Frau Kari von Schubert, wife of the German Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs, has been designated by common agreement to introduce Lady Lindsay, wife of the new British Ambassador, to the ladies of the diplomatic colony.

Lady Lindsay was formerly Miss Elizabeth Hoyt, daughter of Colgate Hoyt of New York.

This appointment obviates offending Mme. Krestinsky, wife of the Russian Ambassador, the doyenne, because her husband is doyen of the corps. Also it prevents embarrassment to the wives of diplomats from countries which have not yet recognized the Russian Soviet régime.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, adorned in Great Britain's refulgent full-dress diplomatic uniform, began his activities here by driving in state to the Chief Executive's palace to present an autograph letter from King George to President von Hindenburg.

Presentation of the credentials was the signal for the Lindsays to enter also upon their social duties. For weeks the petticoat diplomatists had been greatly worried about the problem thereby created.

Who was to introduce the wife of the new Ambassador to the diplomatic colony?

The Pope's representative, Mgr. Pacelli, who belongs to the old Italian nobility, was most acceptable for the task of putting Sir Ronald through his diplomatic paces here, but the position of Mme. Krestinsky, who has ranked first since the departure of Lady D'Abernon, wife of the former British Ambassador, proved a stumbling block.

Inasmuch as the United States, Holland, Sweden and Switzerland have not recognized the Soviet régime, the diplomatic ladies from those countries could not, it was held, be expected to request the Russian Ambassador's wife to act as social intermediary.

Nor, for reasons of diplomatic prestige, could Mme. Krestinsky yield the doyenneship, as suggested, to Mme. De Margerie of France, whose husband ranks next after the Russian plenipotentiary.

Hitting upon Frau von Schubert, daughter of Baron von Stumm, wealthy Sarre Valley industrialist, proved an ideal solution to all concerned, including Mme. Krestinsky, who, as a former teacher and later a doctor of medicine, cares far more for her daily consultation hour at the infants' wards in the famous Charité Hospital than for diplomatic and social frills.

WILL FORM GREEK CABINET.

Coalition Is Agreed Upon With Kafandaris as Premier.

ATHENS, Nov. 14 (AP).—Final election figures of the recent national election were announced by the Government today, showing a Republican majority of thirty. A Coalition Cabinet of moderate Republicans under former Premier Kafandaris and M. Michalakopoulos and the moderate Royalists under General Metaxas is generally expected as a result.

Party results were: Moderate Republicans, 108; Advanced Republicans, 18; Independent Republicans, 20; Communists, 9; Agrarians, 3.

Royalists under P. E. Saldaris, 63; Moderate Royalists under Metaxas, 54; Independent Royalists, 11. Nearly 1,000,000 votes were cast.

The new Parliament has been called to meet on Nov. 26.

A Coalition Government in Greece has seemed probable since early returns indicated a Republican victory. General George Kondylis, the Premier, has said that he would turn over the Premiership to M. Kafandaris in the event of a Republican success.

PEARLS FOR IMPROVING NECKLACES

Are You Afraid to be Examined?

MANY people say "I will never be examined. If there is anything wrong with me I don't want to know it."

That is strange and reckless reasoning. If any trouble exists it will probably yield to treatment. Almost certainly their lives and usefulness can be prolonged. If no trouble exists, they will feel far safer and happier to know this and will worry less over imaginary ills.

People need to be told that there are few chronic maladies—even those of a serious character which affect the heart, arteries and kidneys—which cannot be held in check. The discovery that you have such impairments does not by any means condemn you to an early death. Quite the contrary. Such knowledge gives you an opportunity of using preventive measures with a long and useful life as a reward.

Investigation has shown that large numbers of men and women refused by insurance companies because of just such impairments have lived far beyond the ordinary expectation of life. It was a knowledge of their condition and a careful adjustment of their living habits that allowed them to carry on, in average good health, for many years beyond their allotted time.

Get yourself examined at least once every year either by your family physician or through the Life Extension Institute and follow the counsel of science as to the correction of your defects and the better ordering of your life. FULLER AT PEACE IN PARIS SUBURB

Bay State Governor Did Not Realize French Police Were Protecting Him.

RED PAPER THREATENS

Makes Some Lurid Remarks About Him Because of Sacco-Vanzetti Case.

PARIS, Nov. 14 (AP).—Governor Alvan T. Fuller of Massachusetts, unaware of the extraordinary police precautions to protect him from over-ardent Sacco and Vanzetti sympathizers, spent a peaceful Sunday with his family visiting friends in a Paris suburb.

"If any one has been following me about today with a bomb in his hand," the Governor told The Associated Press tonight, "he must have been pretty busy, because my family and I have been all over the city and suburbs."

The French Secret Service men assigned to keep watch over Governor Fuller when he arrived in Paris yesterday have been so discreetly invisible that he has not known of their presence.

The only precaution of which he is aware was his being met at the boat train by a motor sent by Ambassador Herrick. Thus far he has received no requests for audiences from those members of the extreme Left parties of France who have made known their desire to request him to prevent the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, convicted of murder by the Massachusetts courts.

In fact, Governor Fuller had not even heard of the manifesto published this morning by the Communist paper L'Humanité, warning him of the "consequences which not only execution, but protracted refusal to halt the martyrdom of Sacco and Vanzetti" might entail for him and the Bay State.

This article starts with the announcement that Governor Fuller is in Paris. Upon him, it asserts, depends the pardoning and liberation of "two victims of American class justice."

Recalling that the proletariat of all countries, France particularly, has shown "its unshakable determination to wrest these two anarchist workmen from the electric chair, innocent as they are of the crime of which they are accused and condemned solely because of their opinions and their acts as militants," L'Humanité concludes: "The scandal has lasted far too long. It is time the Governor ended it and yielded before the reprobation and revolt mounting in all countries."

As a final admonition, the paper remarks:

"Governor Fuller must surely have been warned by Ambassador Herrick of the consequences attendant upon the execution of the two men."

John Van Vaerenwyck, President of the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor, in a telegram yesterday to the Sacco-Vanzetti Emergency Committee of New York, said he was firmly convinced of the innocence of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti and regretted that he would be unable to attend the Madison Square Garden mass meeting on Wednesday evening, called to protest against the execution of the two anarchists.

Many unions are planning to be represented at the meeting, it is announced. These include the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the bakers, carpenters, iron workers, food workers, marine transport workers, the needle trades unions, the shoe workers as well as the Socialist Party, the Workers' Party and the Anti-Fascist Alliance.

The speakers will be Judge Jacob Panken, Arthur Garfield Hays, Leonard Abbott, Ben Gold, Frank Bellanca, Richard Brazier, Carlo Tresca, Enea Sormenty, William W. Weinstone and Arturo Giovannitti.

ALLIES INSIST REICH DISARM AS REQUIRED

Will Not Retire in Favor of League Control Board Until Germany Acts.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Scant importance is attached here to reports published in the German press that Foreign Minister Stresemann will not go to the League Council meeting in Geneva next month unless the military control question is settled before then.

It is first pointed out that Dr. Stresemann himself has not uttered this threat and secondly that the German Premier is facing the delicate task of finding a sufficient majority in the Reichstag to ensure a long tenure of office in which to carry out his plans.

This week is seen here as marking the turning point in German domestic politics, for although the Reichstag adjourned until Nov. 22, Chancellor Marx is working to constitute a large coalition or stable majority which will obviate the necessity of dissolving the Reichstag and going to the country for a new deal. Hence the leniency with which the German attitude towards military control is commented upon here.

It is no to be expected, however, that France or the other Allies will allow Germany to escape execution of those disarmament measures which the Conference of Ambassadors yesterday found necessary if control is to be turned over to a League of Nations commission. Recent conversations of the allied Governments have revealed complete unanimity of views in this respect. The Conference of Ambassadors drew up a list of the measures which must be taken and General Walch, President of the Interallied Military Control Commission, has been instructed to proceed to Germany and investigate fully the execution of these measures.

No change in the present status of military control can therefore be made until a satisfactory report is received, even though delays prevent such a report being made before Dec. 6. It is pointed out that Germany fixed the dead line and it is up to her to comply with the conditions. But for the sake of all of the powers concerned it is hoped that Germany will undertake to give satisfaction in time for the League Council opening.

POLAND CUTS HER BUDGET.

Finance Minister Favors Gold Standard in the Future.

WARSAW, Nov. 14 (AP).—Poland's budget for next year amounts to 1,898,000,000 zlotys, or about $210,000,000. The expenditures for 1926 amounted to 1,819,000,000 zlotys, but the depreciation of the currency and increasing prices indicate that the new budget is more economical than the previous one.

Gabriel Czechowicz, Minister of Finance, submitted these figures at the first session of the Diet, and announced that for the first time Poland's new fiscal year will begin on April 1 instead of Jan. 1.

The Minister found signs of improvement in general conditions. The number of unemployed has diminished from 360,000 to 190,000. The trade balance has been favorable since September, 1925, and the governmental budget has been balanced since July.

The advice of Professor Kemmerer, the American financial expert, for return to the gold standard will be followed, the Minister said, after a longer period of stabilization of economic conditions.

M. Czechowicz is opposed to any increase in taxation, in view of the financial weakness of the country. The present Government, he added, would concentrate mainly on the problem of the increased cost of living. A committee of prominent business men will be formed for the purpose of studying production and devising means to bring about lower prices.

New Well Makes an Oasis in Dry Death Valley; America's Lowest Depression Becomes Resort

STOVEPIPE WELLS, Death Valley, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP).—Where seventy-seven years ago the starving, thirst-parched members of the famous jayhawker party here sipped a life saving draught from a shallow waterhole and eagerly gnawed a piece of an oxhoof, a crowd of merrymakers dined and danced yesterday in celebration of the formal opening of a new 24,000-barrel artesian well in this desert oasis.

Stovepipe Wells, in the heart of Death Valley, is the lowest depression in America, being 278 feet below sea level. With the opening of the new well, it is being developed as a sightseeing resort, being linked to Mount Whitney by a road piercing the Panamint Mountains.

On Nov. 23, 1849, the jayhawker party, led by W. Lewis Manly and Tom Rogers, first sighted the shallow waterhole of Stovepipe Wells and took back the good news to the Bennett and Arcane families with their four suffering childen, who had been left behind when the unencumbered members of the party forced their way on through the desert sands. The meager hit of water which seeped sparingly through the sands saved the adventurers, who had staked their lives in the gamble for California gold.

The new well, with its 1,000 barrels of water an hour, has made possible hotels, resort homes, fruit and flowers where its pioneers found a crater of broiling sand.

ITALIAN PENALTIES LIMITED TO NATIVES

Foreigners Are Excluded From Law Fixing Death for Attempts on Duce.

ROME, Nov. 14 (AP).—The law for the defense of the State meting out death for attempts on the life of Premier Mussolini and heavily penalizing any opposition to the regime, does not apply to foreigners visiting or resident in Italy. This was officially announced by the Government today.

[This removes the fears recently expressed that Violet Albina Gibson, sister of Lord Ashbourne of Great Britain, who tried to kill Mussolini on April 7 last, might be tried and executed under the new law.]

The announcement today also states that tourists are free to cross the border, at the liberty frontier, the closing of the frontier applying only to Italians. Similarly Article V, inflicting jail terms on journalists sending false or exaggerated news from Italy, applies only to subjects of the kingdom.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The experiment of dancing the Charleston in an airplane at a height of 2,000 feet has been carried out at the Croydon Airdrome. The machine selected for the purpose was an air liner belonging to the London-Paris route and throughout the dancing it kept perfect poise.

Two leading professional exponents of the new smooth Charleston gave the exhibition aboard to music supplied by a phonograph, and afterward one of the passengers took a lesson.

FORMER MAYOR HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

George Parrell Pleads Self-Defense for Shooting Man in a Quarrel in Missouri.

Special to The New York Times.

PARIS, Mo., Nov. 14.—George Parrell, 68 years old, twice Mayor of Madison, in Monroe County, and elected Justice of the Peace in the November election, is in jail here today on a first-degree murder charge.

George Parrell got in an altercation with Lester Parrell, 35, over the estate, of a relative of the latter and shot him three times, killing him instantly.

The elder Parrell is a lawyer, having practiced in Monroe County for years. He was no kin to the man he killed, who was a farmer.

George Parrell gave himself up to the Sheriff, who went to Madison to arrest him. He will make a plea of self-defense, asserting that the younger man threatened him.

NEW POST FOR BUKHARIN.

He Is Expected to Succeed Zinovieff as Head of Red International.

MOSCOW, Nov. 14.—The "Presidium" of the Communist International is now in session to prepare a meeting of the Executive Committee, which will probably be held before the end of the month, although the date is still unannounced.

Nothing has yet been published regarding Zinovieff's successor, but he is generally expected to be Bukharin, who has been appointed to deliver the opening speech.

It is announced today that wider representation will be given to foreign Communists in executive posts, which is believed to presage the appointment of a group of secretaries to the Executive Committee, including a prominent German and probably two or three other foreigners.

VANDERBILT DECREE FOR SECOND HUSBAND

bilt had followed her own inclination she would have married this other man, and only consented to become the Duke of Marlborough's wife by yielding to pressure.

Miss Vanderbilt's mother was opposed to the match on which her daughter had set her heart, wishing her instead to contract the brilliant marriage with the Duke of Marlborough. She forbade and prevented all meetings and correspondence between her daughter and her sweetheart and used means of coercion which eventually resulted in her daughter falling in with her wishes.

The mother appeared before the diocesan court at Southwark and admitted all this, which was also supported by testimony by numerous other persons. The diocesan court, therefore, returned a verdict of nullity on the ground technically known as "violence," which includes such cases as coercion.

Manning to Make Statement.

Bishop Manning departed from his sermon at the dedication service of the newly completed tower of St. James Church, Seventy-first Street and Madison Avenue, yesterday, to refer to the nullification of the Marlborough marriage as "amazing and incredible." He said he expected to make a statement on the matter when he has fuller information.

"One of the ways in which our witness for Christ is called for today is in regard to the sacredness and permanence of marriage," he said.

"We have all just now been startled by the report in the newspapers of the nullification of the marriage of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough. This report is so amazing and incredible, the action is so serious, and its consequences are so far reaching, that while I know that a statement will be expected from me, as Bishop of the diocese in which the marriage took place—and I expect to make such a statement in due course—I am waiting for some fuller information in regard to the matter.

"I will only say now that in every situation as it comes, standing four-square like the tower of your church, we must be ready to bear out witness for Christ and for His truth."

Mrs. Belmont's Letter Recalled.

The action of her daughter in asking the Catholic Church to annul her marriage to the Duke of Marlborough recalls the letter Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont sent to Bishop Manning in April in response to a request to contribute to the fund for completing the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

"I am still a divorced woman," Mrs. Belmont wrote to the Bishop, whose stand against divorce he had redeclared a short time before in a Lenten address, at St. Thomas's Church, where the wedding of her daughter and the Duke of Marlborough had taken place. "Will you allow me to remind you, dear sir, that it is only a few years back you would not permit my name to appear as the President of Trinity Sea Side Home for Sick Children in the yearly book issued by Trinity Church?"

Bishop Manning made no public reply to Mrs. Belmont, but the following statement was made at the Cathedral:

"It was said at the office of the Committee for Completing the Cathedral of St. John the Divine that the name of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont was assigned to the committee of which Mrs. Joseph Earle Stevens is a member in the course of office routine and without the knowledge of Bishop Manning. Bishop Manning declined to discuss the matter."

CIVIC GUARD KILLED IN RAIDS IN CORK

Irish City Is Aroused as Police Barracks Are Attacked and Soldiers Patrol Streets.

CORK, Nov. 14 (AP).—Sergeant Fitzsimmons, in charge of the civic guards barracks at St. Luke's, a populous residential district of Cork, was shot dead soon after dark tonight by a party of armed men.

Three other police barracks in the city were similarly raided, and there are rumors that others in Cork County were visited by raiding parties and that bundles of documents were removed.

Cork has been aroused by the incidents. The city is being patrolled. Soldiers and police are questioning pedestrians and the occupants of motor cars.

MAN KILLED IN FIRE, WIFE BADLY BURNED

Searchers Find Body of E. W. Gearing in Bungalow After Rescuing Woman.

SERVANT SAVES HIS FAMILY

Flames Prevent His Arousing the Sleeping Victims—Blaze Laid to Oil Stove.

Elmer W. Gearing, 54 years old, a publicity writer, was killed and his wife, Catherine, 45 years old, seriously injured in a fire which destroyed their one-story bungalow in the Cedar Grove Colony at New Dorp, S. I., early yesterday morning.

Robert Edwards, a negro butler at the Gearing home, discovered the fire. Shortly before 5 o'clock, he said, he was awakened by a smell of smoke. He got up, aroused his wife and smell daughter and then found it impossible because of the flames to get to the front part of the house, in which the Gearings lived. He jumped from the rear window and ran to turn in an alarm.

Engine Company 159, at Dongan Hills, under the command of Captain James Hanley, responded. While a hose was trained through the rear door of the house, Captain Hanley, accompanied by Fireman Edward Donyi, followed the stream of water into the flaming kitchen, where Mrs. Gearing was found unconscious from smoke.

After a search the firemen found the body of Mr. Gearing behind a door leading to a pantry. He apparently had been overcome before his wife, and it is believed she dragged him toward the rear of the house until her strength gave out.

Mrs. Gearing was sent to the Richmond Memorial Hospital in an ambulance, where her condition was said to be critical. She was burned about the face, hands and body.

According to other residents of the colony, an oil stove had been placed in the living room because of the cold weather and it was thought the stove exploded some time early in the morning.

At the Cedar Grove Colony Club it was said that the Gearings had spent the past nine Summers at Cedar Grove Beach. Mr. Gearing, it was said, had been connected with several metropolitan afternoon newspapers and was at one time an assistant editor of The Boston Sunday Post. He had been a special student at Yale University. At the time of his death he was writing publicity, chiefly for educational campaigns.

FIRE RAZES A SCHOOL.

West Orange Vocational Institution Burns, With Loss of $100,000.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 14.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Essex County Vocational School for Boys on Main Street here early today. The Orange Fire Department was called out to assist the entire West Orange department. Their combined efforts were confined to saving adjacent structures, which included the Morris Katz hat factory, next door, the garage unit in the rear of the school and the residence of Commissioner of Public Works Frank A. O'Connor. No one was in the building when the fire started.

The front of the school structure was of brownstone, built in 1865. In the rear was a two-story frame addition built by the boys themselves two years ago. Both sections were razed. The damage amounted to $100,000, including machine shop equipment valued at $40,000.

Arrangements have been made to take care of the pupils at the vocational school in Montclair.

William Coruhorlis, a watchman in a factory near by, told the police that he saw the blaze and attempted to call the Fire Department, but could not get a telephone operator for fifteen minutes.

FIRE LOSS IN STUDIOS IS PUT AT $300,000

Hundreds of Paintings Ruined—Patrol Saves Collection of Russian Jewels.

Damage from the three-alarm fire which swept through the building at 108 West Fifty-ninth Street early yesterday morning probably will exceed $300,000, according to estimates made yesterday. The building, formerly the old De La Salle Institute, a landmark, contained several studios, and their occupants lost many articles of value.

Walter I. Cox lost the work of forty years. He said he had between 200 and 300 paintings which were burned or damaged beyond repair. One was a large canvass, "White Horse Eagle," a painting of an Indian chief which would have been finished today.

A presentation of "The Discovery," by Mrs. Frances Sheridan, which was to have been given by the Columbia University Laboratory Players at the Three Arts Theatre last night, had to be canceled because of the fire.

Mme. Bronislava L. de Petschenko, President of the Russian Women's Association, said she believed her loss would be $100,000. She said that 100 paintings of the fifteenth to eighteenth centuries had been destroyed. She had a large collection of antiques, jewelry and laces, sent here by members of the Russian nobility for sale, which she valued at $150,000. The careful work of the fire patrol in covering this collection with blankets, she said, protected most of the articles. The principal damage to this collection was caused by smoke and water. The paintings which were burned were in another studio.

C. T. A. Miller, in whose studio was a collection of rare books, armor, antiques and paintings, said he believed the damage to his possessions would be $100,000.

Although the fire occurred late at night it drew a large crowd. Residents of the adjoining building, as well as fifty persons living in the burning building, were driven to the street. The firemen fought the blaze from a vacant lot which was formerly occupied by the Army and Navy Club. Lines of hose also were stretched through the rooms of the Hotel Sevillia, 117 West Fifty-eighth Street.

Three firemen were injured while fighting the blaze. They were Lieutenant Patrick J. Connelly of Engine 23 and Max Rothenstick of Engine 23, who were treated for smoke, and Frank Morgenroth, Engine 8, who was cut by falling glass. All were sent to quarters by Dr. Herman Reese of the Fire Department.

ORDAINS "BISHOP OF HELL."

Denver Liberal Church Moves to Fight Abolition of Hades.

DENVER, Nov. 14 (AP).—In a seven-hour ceremony today the Liberal Church of Denver ordained William Ben Collins as "Bishop of Righteous Hell."

Officials of the church declared that the ordination took place as the result of a rising tendency in this country to abolish hell. A rejuvenated hell, they said, was necessary for the direction of human conduct.

Bishop Collins is to work throughout the country, with numerous assistants, in spreading the doctrine that hell is as real as it ever was.

The Liberal Church was organized some years ago by Frank Rice, who became its first Bishop and still is active in directing its affairs.

the stairways, many departing without their hats and coats. With the smoke increasing every minute there was great excitement among the dancers.

The rush for the stairway jammed it to such an extent that firemen saw it would take some time for the dance place to be emptied and fearing that smoke would overcome those whose way was barred and that the flames would spread to the building as they afterward did, ordered ladders run up to the second-floor windows.

While large crowds in the street looked on and cheered, the firemen, policemen and civilians mounted the ladders, climbed through the windows to the dance floor and with some difficulty because of the thick smoke, took those inside in their arms, made their way back to the windows and carried them down.

A third alarm had been turned in by this time and soon after a fourth was sounded, to be followed shortly after midnight by a fifth alarm. A Fire Department ambulance and an ambulance from Knickerbocker Hospital arrived and doctors treated Firemen Joseph Cunningham of Engine 56 and John J. Freund of Hook and Ladder 22, who had been overcome by smoke.

It was nearly ten minutes after the last person had been carried down a ladder that Honorary Chief Mainzer, who was familiar with the building, was notified that about twenty-five dancers still remained within. With Lieutenant Kinsella, he climbed a ladder, groped his way through the smoke and found the men and women wandering around the building, lost in the smoke. Chief Mainzer led the way to a rear exit that opened on an alley. When the foot of the alley at Columbus Avenue was reached, it was discovered that the door to the street was locked. Pounding on the door, however, Chief Mainzer and the lieutenant attracted the attention of Patrolman Armstrong. With a rush he broke down the door and they reached the street in safety.

Meanwhile the smoke had spread and soon the rear of the Academy took fire. Filling numerous rooms in the Hotel Orleans at 100 West Eighth Street and the Hotel Anderson at 102 West Eighth Street, the smoke drove occupants to the street. Firemen stretched lines of hose through both hotels to get better positions from which to attack the flames and this added to the excitement in those buildings. They also ran lines of hose to upper floors of a ten-story apartment house just west of the Academy on Seventy-ninth Street, causing excitement among tenants there.

At the height of the battle with the flames Fireman John J. Shields of Engine 4 dropped through a hole burned in the ground floor of the building on the corner. Lieutenant Kinsell and Fireman David Nixon fought their way through the smoke to the basement, where they found him unconscious and carried him out. He was treated by an ambulance doctor and taken to quarters. Fireman Harold J. Burke of Engine 8 was burned on the face.

Pouring streams of water from all sides, the firemen eventually got the flames under control, checking them before they did much damage to the Academy. Assistant Chief "Smoky Joe" Martin, who directed the firemen, said the total damage would probably reach $100,000.

TWO HUNTERS MISSING.

Paddles of Their Canoe Found in Maine Lake.

CALAIS, Me., Nov. 14 (AP).—Two canoe paddles found floating near shore on Meddybemps Lake today led to the belief that Linwood Miner, aged 26, and Clayton Perkins, 25, of Alexander have been drowned on a hunting trip.

Before discovering the paddles today searchers located the automobile in which the men started for the lake yesterday.

Ammonia Leak Is Quickly Stopped.

Firemen from the rescue squad under Lieutenant Kilbride, working with their gas masks on, stopped a leak in the three-ton ammonia tank in the basement of the Hotel Sherman Square, Broadway and Seventy-second Street, in ten minutes yesterday morning. None of the five hundred guests of the hotel realized that anything out of the ordinary had occurred.

VANISHED NOV. 6, SOUGHT.

Brooklyn Clothing Man Had $500 With Him, Relative Says.

The police of the Missing Persons Bureau were asked last night to search for Moses Geller, 40 years old, of 1,207 Forty-ninth Street, Brooklyn, who disappeared on Nov. 6. Abraham Koppelman of the same address told the police that Geller, his brother-in-law, was last seen at his clothing factory at 341 Thirty-ninth Street, Brooklyn.

Geller left the factory, Koppelman said, leaving a clerk in charge and saying that he would return in the afternoon and pay off his employes. At that time he had about $500 in his possession. Because of this, members of his family fear he may have met with foul play.

Fund Aided 230,988 Patients.

Forty-five nationalities were represented among the 230,988 patients cared for last year in the fifty-six non-municipal hospitals represented in the United Hospital Fund, according to figures issued yesterday by Minott A. Osborn, General Director. The latter announced that $1,000,000 would be sought to help care for the sick poor in this group of institutions during the next year.

FOUR GET MEDALS FOR NEAR EAST AID

E.M. Buckley, Bestowing Dodge Awards, Says 'Invisible Hand' Will Reward Heroic Service.

WOMAN IS ONE RECIPIENT

Dr. Vickrey, Secretary of the Relief Organization, Asks Golden Rule Sunday Observance.

The spirit of relief work in the Near East was the outstanding note in yesterday morning's service at the Central Church of Christ, 142 West Eighty-first Street, where Edmund M. Buckley, Chairman of the Near East Relief, bestowed the Cleveland H. Dodge Medal upon four workers who have performed heroic service in the Near East, and Dr. Charles Vickrey, Executive Secretary of the organization, addressed the congregation, describing the need for assistance in the suffering district.

Mr. Buckley, in presenting the medals, said their award was for "a service rendered for others, partaking of the spirit of Christ, for which you will be rewarded by an invisible hand more richly than you could be by a material hand."

Those who received the medals were:

Miss Helen Lund, 148 East Thirty-fourth Street, "for devotion to duty during her two years of service in Syria, during which time she not only assisted in the direction work of the child welfare department, but also in special missions, one of them being a trip of inspection to Damascus at the time of the Druce revolt."

William T. Gannaway, 294 West Ninety-second Street, "for more than four years' efficient work in Syria and Greece, during which time he was probably the largest single factor in the work of training orphan boys in the means of self-support, and especially for his efforts in the establishment of industrial work among the refugee population at the Saloniki refugee camp."

Thomas Hart, Hotel Shelton, "for his work in carrying relief to the terror-stricken refugees fleeing from Eastern Thrace at the time of the Smyrna disaster."

C. F. Grant, 188 Park Place, Brooklyn, "for invaluable service in feeding and sheltering 50,000 refugees and 3,000 orphans in and about Karakils in 1920-1921, and for successfully evacuating many thousands of Greeks through the port of Trebizond under especially difficult circumstances."

In his address Dr. Vickrey said:

"America has $400,000,000,000. Our annual increase in wealth amounts to $15,000,000,000. All the money we give for philanthropy only amounts to this country's increase in wealth for a single day. The poorest man in America would be almost rich in Armenia. Therefore, I am asking you to observe Golden Rule Sunday in your home—first, for these children; secondly, for your children, that they may recognize something of the brotherhood of man."

Americans Landed There in 1881.

The Soviet Government early this year reported its intention to colonize Wrangel Island, from which about two years ago a Russian transport removed Charles Wells, an American citizen, and a party of Eskimos whom he had conveyed there to settle. Wells professed to be acting in the interests of the British Government, but had not been authorized to represent it. He died in Vladivostok.

Baron Wrangel "discovered" the island from the ice pack, and although he never set foot on it he claimed it for Russia, contending that its situation north of Siberia should give Russia title. Apparently it was on Wrangel's claim that the Soviet based its right to evict Wells.

The importance of the island as a potential airplane base has long been recognized, and it may be assumed the Soviet Government wants it for an air station.

If Russia's new colony should prove permanent, it is believed that her claim cannot be challenged. In 1881 a party of Americans under Third Lieutenant William E. Reynolds of the revenue cutter Corwin planted the American flag on the island, laying the foundation of what international law calls "inchoate title," but this was not followed by settlement to consummate sovereignty.

Inchoate title, according to Hall, "acts as a temporary bar to occupation by another State," but the inchoate title lapses if something is not done in a reasonable time to convert it into a real title of occupation.

At various times citizens of the United States, Great Britain and Russia have claimed the island. Baron Wrangel sighted it in 1821. Captain Kellett of the British Navy saw it in 1849, but Great Britain took no steps to establish a title. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, however, sent an expedition there in 1921 to claim it for the Canadian Government, but the adventure came to a tragic end.

When it was reported last month that a Russian colony had been founded on Wrangel Island, Carl J. Lomen, one of the Lomen brothers of Nome, Alaska, declared that they had claimed the island for the United States, having bought the rights to it from Stefansson.

EXODUS FROM EAST SIDE.

Much of Jewish Population Moving to Brooklyn and Bronx.

An intensive movement of the Jewish population from the east side to Brooklyn and the Bronx is disclosed by a survey just completed by Israel Chipkin, Educational Director of the Jewish Education Association, and made public yesterday.

This survey shows that 45 per cent. of the Jews of New York City now live in Brooklyn, constituting 43 per cent. of the total population of that borough, while 22 per cent. now live in the Bronx, where they constitute 52 per cent. of the population. This shifting of Jewish residents has taken place in the last five years.

The total Jewish population of New York City has increased from 1,500,000 in 1916 to 1,750,000 in 1926, according to the survey. The number of children of school age has increased from 300,000 in 1916 to 350,000 in 1926 and constitutes about 38 per cent. of the total child population of New York.

POLAR FLIGHT CREDIT GIVEN TO MUSSOLINI

General Nobile in First Lecture Says It Was Premier Who Ordered the Trip.

CLAIMS IDEA FOR POLE VISIT

Refers to Controversy With Riiser-Larsen Before the Forced Landing at Teller.

General Umberto Nobile, the Norge's commander in its Polar flight, in opening his American lecture tour last night at the Klaw Theatre referred by inference to the controversy among the flight leaders following their exploit and claimed for Premier Mussolini the greatest share of credit in the first dirigible voyage over the North Pole.

"It was Mussolini who ordered the flight," he declared. "The idea of using a dirigible in crossing the Pole originated with Italians, and the greatest responsibility for the success or failure of the flight rested with the Italians. Amundsen and Ellsworth and the others should have their share of credit, but first of all it should go to Mussolini."

The General was cheered at every reference to the Italian Premier and the aerial achievements of his people. He took for himself the credit for conceiving the idea of visiting the Pole in an airship.

"Amundsen had the same idea," he said, "but after mine. The whole technical idea was worked out in Italy. It is no more than right that I should claim for my country her just share of credit for the flight's success, in proportion to the responsibility we had and our contribution to the flight." In discussing flight costs, he said "Ellsworth contributed only one-sixth toward the expenses of the undertaking."

The flight commander revealed that a controversy between himself and Lieutenant Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen had taken place before the dirigible was forced to land at Teller, Alaska, instead of going on to Nome according to plans. "Riiser-Larsen declared that the crew should jump from the cabin to the ice below and let the dirigible fly on," he said. General Nobile refused this advice and acted on his own plans.

His pet dog, Titina, the flight mascot, trotted about the stage as her master spoke.

General Nobile before leaving Italy began the construction of a new type of semi-dirigible, larger than the Norge, in which he intends to fly from Rome to Buenos Aires in 1928.

MEXICANS DRIVEN BACK IN FIGHT WITH YAQUIS

Reserves Then Come to Aid of Federals, Who Lose Many Dead and Wounded.

Copyright, 1926, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

GUAYMAS, Mexico, Nov. 14.—A band of Yaquis, 500 or more, yesterday attacked the camp of the Twentieth Regiment of Federal troops and part of the Twenty-ninth battalion at Las Aranas, east of Ortiz. The Indians drove the outposts and then the main body of the Federal forces back on the camp line, but several hundred reserves were rushed hurriedly to the scene of the battle, making the contest more even.

After more than two hours of continuous battling the Yaquis withdrew, taking their dead with them. The Twenty-fourth Regiment suffered heavily, officers among the dead being Major Leandro Fierro Quinones and eight others, with numerous soldiers dead or wounded. The other forces are said to have suffered more severely.

Among the Yaqui forces were several white men, who, it is believed by the Federal army, were Americans. One of them handled a machine gun with deadly effect.

As the 500 men who went into the Yaqui valley on the north more than ten days ago have not been heard from, it is feared here that they have been surrounded by Indians.

STORM APPROACHES CUBA.

Coming From Caribbean, It May Pass West of the Island.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP).—A tropical disturbance that developed southeast of Swan Island in the Caribbean is moving northwestward about ten miles an hour, the Weather Bureau reported today, with indications that it would pass through the Yucatan Channel tonight, west of Cuba.

The storm was described as of "slight and moderate" intensity, with strong, shifting winds, possibly of gale-like force, near its centre.

GROUP'S QUOTA $575,000

Rabbi J. B. Wise, a Speaker at Fifth Anniversary Party, Says Jews of City Have Particular Burden.

Contributions totaling $473,000 from members of the Real Estate Club of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies in the federation's $4,720,000 campaign, were announced at the fifth anniversary dinner of the club at the Hotel Biltmore last night. The real estate men's quota is $575,000, which it was said would undoubtedly be obtained in a few days.

Among the speakers were Mayor Walker, G. Richard Davis, President of the Real Estate Club; Nathan Wilson, Rabbi Jonah B. Wise of the Central Synagogue; Henry Morgenthau, former Ambassador to Turkey, and Sol M. Stroock, President of the federation. Frederick Brown, General Chairman of the campaign and Associate President of the club and Solomon Lowenstein, Executive Director of the federation, were guests of honor.

"Living in New York," said Rabbi Wise, "has its compensations, but it certainly puts upon the individual Jew who has a conscience for his community and himself a responsibility which he does not have by reason of being a citizen of any other community, no matter where it may be. That is true not only geographically but historically. The Jews who have made such a success of their physical and commercial life are in danger of losing their identity with the finest that there is in the Jewish life historically. It remains for the cause of philanthropy to save us for greater things, through the federation. Federation is not only a cause for relief and for assuaging the condition of the poor, it is a cause for saving the Jewish soul. Workers and contributors are evangelists to save the souls of a great and possibly a greater people."

Walker Backs Drive.

Mayor Walker brought to the gathering his own and the Administration's endorsement of the work of the Federation in its fund-raising efforts in behalf of the ninety-one affiliated institutions and assured his listeners, numbering about 300, that the city's budget would be much larger if it weren't for the succor meted out by the Federation to the city's sick and needy.

He gave high praise to the Jewish race, stating in measured tones that "the only Jew whom I don't like is the fellow who won't admit he's a Jew."

"I have no patience with intolerance. That feeling, however, does not come from my lips alone; it is something that is constitutional, that is inherited. It should be said that of all the religions of the world the only religion that I know of that never proselytizes is the Jewish. The confidence that the Jew has in himself and his purpose and his religion is enough to make him stand content with what is his own. Consequently, it makes for fine citizenship in the community."

Mr. Morgenthau in his address compared the wealth of many former immigrants to this country, especially of those who have entered the real estate business in New York, with the poverty of Eastern Europe.

Announce Increased Gifts.

Announcement was made of all subscribers among the members who had increased their total contributions since Jan. 1. Included in this list were several announced during last week, among them being Frederick Brown, $75,000; Benjamin Winter, $25,000; Sam Minskoff, $10,500, and Henry Morgenthau, $10,000. Other donations announced last night were Benjamin Benenson, $15,000; Abraham Bricken, $10,000, and Julian Kovacs, $6,000. 242 MEN AND 8 WOMEN SEIZED AS GAMBLERS

169 of the Men Are Discharged, 38 Held and 35 Fined— All Eight Women Pay.

Two hundred and forty-two men and eight women were arraigned in various Magistratee' Courts yesterday on charges of disorderly conduct in connection with gambling. The majority of them were dimissed. Magistrate Francis X. McQuade in Washington Heights Court discharged 117 men taken in raids on dice games when arresting officers could not identify any of the prisoners as having caused a disturbance.

Magistrate Edward Weil in Harlem Court discharged fifty-two men arrested in dice games in Yorkville.

Megistrate Maurice H. Gotlieb in Yorkville Court held twenty-two men in $500 bail for examination Thursday. They were arrested at 214 East Thirty-fourth Street Saturday night by Detectives Walters and Decker of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station, who offered in evidence racing charts, about which, they charged, the men were grouped.

Eighteen negroes in Yorkville Court pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct in connection with a dice game late Saturday night on the top floor of 332 East Twenty-third Street. Three paid $3 fines and the others spent a day in jail.

Sixteen men, alleged participants in a dice game at 275 Third Avenue late Saturday night, were held in $500 bail by Magistrate Gotlieb for examination today.

Three women and seven men, arrested early yesterday morning while playing cards in the apartment of Israel Solokos at 157 Second Avenue, paid $10 fines upon conviction by Magistrate Charles A. Oberwager in Essex Market Court. Solokos said all the players were friends of his and usually played in his apartment every Saturday night. He denied that any money was paid to him for the privilege of playing. The women admitted their husbands did not know they had played cards. "That's what New York is coming to," commented the Magistrate.

Ten men and five women paid $5 fines imposed by Magistrate Oberwager after Detective Galvin had testified regarding a card game Saturday night in the apartment of Mrs. Sylvia Maslow of 46-48 Avenue B. Mrs. Maslow said all the defendants were her guests and had been invited to celebrate her husband's booking as a comedian with a vaudeville act.

CHINESE RAILROADS IN A CHAOTIC STATE

Such Lines as Exist Furnish Revenues for Regional War Lords, Who Ruin the Equipment.

NATIONAL CONTROL A MYTH

'Minister of Communications' Is a Puppet of the Whilom Dictator of Peking 'Government.'

LINES MAY BE RESTORED

'Squeeze' Methods Work So Well That Some Militarists Would Buy Equipment and Rebuild.

By THOMAS F. MILLARD.

Special Correspondence of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 22.—Usually it is taken for granted that railways have been a principal factor in the economic progress of the United States, and also in developing a social and political homogeneity throughout so wide a territorial and climatic expanse. Some students believe that without the opportune invention of railways the American nation, as it is today, could not have been created. It has been confidently predicted that railways will do for China what they did for the United States.

Therefore it is a cause of wonderment to find intelligent people who doubt the value of railways to China at this time; some, indeed, who think such railways as this country has now are a drawback to it, and that instead of planning to build additional lines it would be better to scrap the present ones.

Recently the head in China of a foreign firm which does a very large business in this country, and which has been especially successful in carrying on so far through this nation's political confusion, remarked to me:

"I used to worry about deterioration of railways here and to hope a way would be found to restore them quickly. Now I begin to think it would be better to destroy them altogether. Anyhow, it seems foolish to extend them while conditions remain as they are. They are used almost exclusively for making war. They provide in themselves a considerable incentive to start these petty wars among Chinese militarists and the means to extend them over a wide scope."

The occasion of that comment was the news to the effect that a French syndicate has obtained a contract to build a new railway line in North China, to serve as a link between lines already built. That any such a contract would be signed now with what is called the Government in Peking, with the sanction, probably, of the French Minister, in itself gives ground for surprise and criticism, and shows that the old-time notions still imbue some foreign policies in China. This particular contract cannot be executed now, and there is no likelihood that it can be for many years, thus making the transaction obviously one of those "concession-grabbing" deals by which foreigners, under the auspices of their Governments, tie up promising projects until some time in the future a profit may be made out of them.

In contrast with that reported action, only a few weeks ago the agent of an American corporation which has a construction contract with the Chinese Government, made several years ago, and who after negotiations lasting many months at last succeeded in getting the Ministry of Communications to agree to some essential modifications, was advised by the American Minister that it was futile to register the amended agreement because it is unlikely that acts of this Peking Government hereafter will be recognized as valid.

Militarists Seized the Lines.

The reasoning of the foreign merchant and manufacturer who made the foregoing remarks is plain enough. Benefits come from railways which provide regular communications and transportation at charges which the traffic can bear. Until a few years ago railways in China gave promise of fulfilling the same functions which they have performed in America. Their traffic grew rapidly and almost every line showed a good profit. Foreigners were employed as technical experts and managers; but already Chinese educated abroad were becoming able to manage the roads fairly well. Nearly all lines were nationalized under the title Chinese Government Railways, and their administration was centred in the Ministry of Communications in Peking.

Then came the scourge of militarism and its pointless and apparently endless civil wars. At such times commanders of armies took over control of lines in regions they dominated and used them for war purposes. For a few years, after each little war, the railways would be returned to the management of the Ministry of Communications. There were two main reasons for that: First, because the militarists did not know how to operate the railways; second, because nearly all the lines are hypothecated to secure bonds sold for their construction and equipment, mostly in foreign countries, and the militarists used to think that in the event of continued interference with the railways the foreign powers would intervene to protect the bondholders.

In time those reasons lost force and effect. The greater tuchuns learned that railways are, or may be, a source of revenue and power. So, gradually, they began to keep control of them after cessation of hostilities.

At first the lines in parts of China distant from Peking fell away from the authority of the Ministry of Communications and under the authority of regional directors. Then the important tuchuns (military Governors) saw that by controlling the Ministry of Communications they could control the Northern lines and take any profits that might remain after service of the railway bonds was met.

So whichever big tuchun got hold of Peking saw to it that one of his henchmen became Minister of Communications, for, except the customs and salt surpluses, the railways were about the only important source of income the Government had. In late years the Minister of Communications always is a puppet of one or another big militarist, and railways remaining under control of the Ministry are "milked" for his benefit.

Also, the check formerly imposed by belief that in extremity the powers will intervene to protect foreign holders of railway bonds and foreign creditors of the railways now almost has disappeared. A majority of regional directors no longer fear foreign intervention for that season. More and more they use the lines in their sections as their personal property.

Shadowy "Private" Ownership.

Today, as well as one can figure it out, the Peking-Mukden line is the property of Marshal Chang Tso-lin; also the Chinese Eastern Railway in Manchuria. The northern part of the Peking-Hankow line is controlled either by General Wu Pei-fu or some of the Generals who nominally are under his command. The southern part of that line is controlled by the Cantonese General who recently ousted Wu Pei-fu from that region, and the entire Canton-Wuchang line is under the same authority.

The Shanghai-Nanking line for about a year has been virtually the personal property of Marshal Sun Chang-fang; as also was the entire Shanghai-Hangchow line until last week, when a General Hsia, a subordinate of Marshal Sun stationed at Hankchow, began an effort to capture Shanghai for himself and advanced along the railway to within ten miles of this place.

The northern part of the Tientsin-Pukou line and the Tsinan-Tsingtao line are handled as the personal property of one Chang Chung-chang, Tupan of Shantung Province and a nominal adherent of Chang Tso-lin, while the sound end of the Tientsin-Pukou line is now under Sun Chuan-fang. At the moment one of Sun's Generals holds the Kiukiang-Nanchang line, but it may change hands any day.

These names and facts are recited to explain a condition and to demonstrate that the "Chinese Government Railways" as an entity under one authority do not exist.

Roads Are Breaking Up.

In the course of frequent shifting of regional control during the civil wars the opposing Generals would seize all railway rolling stock they could lay hands on. A General who was forced to retreat would withdraw all the rolling stock he could and burn or disable what he had to leave behind. Much rolling stock became transferred from lines where it belonged to other lines. Cars were used as barracks, hundreds were disabled by accident and misuse, many were burned for fuel, and locomotives were crippled for lack of proper care.

Of course, the militarists did not pay anything for the use of the railways and their equipment or for damages to them.

Not long ago, after suspension for nearly a year, negotiations were commenced between the two militarists who control the north and south sections of the Tientsin-Pukou line for a resumption of through traffic. For some time the parleys hung fire because each tuchun feared that the other one would stop the rolling stock at his end of the line and hold it there. Through traffic of a sort (mail and passenger only) at last was resumed by a plan of swapping rolling stock at a station midway between the territory of the two dictators. When a train crossed that line a train of equal equipment had to pass the other to replace it.

This general condition, of course, has virtually destroyed the economic utility of China's railways. Every sectional dictator, large and small, regards parts of lines in his territory as sources of personal revenue. Charges are not made by a regular rate, but at the will of any local officer of sufficient rank, and are changed frequently without warning. Shippers seldom can obtain cars except by paying "squeeze" to petty militarists and railway employes.

Under these conditions transportation in China is reverting to pre-railway usages and methods—junks, carts and pack animals. When I was last in Peking a leading foreign firm resorted to the expedient of shipping its goods between Tientsin and the capital on donkey carts—a slow method, but much surer than to try to ship by railway.

A railway expert told me lately that if things go on as they are some of the lines will be practically out of business in a year.

Yet some foreign makers and sellers of railway supplies seem to think it will be possible to do business in China under these conditions. Lately the agent here of an American firm got instructions from the home office to stop trying to do business with the Peking Government and to deal directly with regional directors. Almost every regional dictator who holds place long enough to plan anything gets the idea that railways can make a lot of money. So they all want to build new lines in their bailiwicks. Some tuchuns get hold of territory where the lines are depleted of equipment and which need to be resupplied to become useful.

Dictators Want Their Own Gangs.

Regional dictators, therefore, are in the market for railway supplies, and some of them are planning ambitious programs of new construction. Some of these plans have an obvious strategical purpose, but most of them are for revenue.

However, a serious drawback, from an economic and national viewpoint, appears on the horizon. A few regional dictators have this idea, once prevalent in Europe, that for defensive reasons they should make the railways in their territory of a gauge different from railways in adjacent territories. That would mean complete new equipment for many lines, a prospect not altogether distasteful to agents of foreign suppliers.

Indeed, some people have the opinion that things may take a turn when, under a regional dismemberment of China, there still will be a considerable railway development, and that railways will help to tranquilize and nationalize the country. A foreign railway expert said to me:

"If the militarists once get a little settled in their bailiwicks, as, for instance, Chang Tso-lin is in Manchuria, they will want to get all the revenue possible from their territory. Railways will help them increase productivity and trade, and production and trade create means of revenue. So, once started on that line, regional dictators may realize the wastefulness and costliness of frequent wars among themselves and find it more profitable to keep peace. Then after a lapse of years a sentiment for union or federation will spring up as trade and economic interdependence draw the sections together."

That notion controverts the opinion with which this article began. The only certainty regarding railways in China now is that they are in a very bad way.

SAYS OFFICIAL TOOK BRIBE.

Divorce Complaint Accuses United States Attorney at Shanghai.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14 (AP).—Charges that Leonard Goodwin Husar, United States District Attorney at Shanghai, accepted a $25,000 bribe in exchange for evidence turned over to him in a criminal case were contained in a divorce complaint filed here today by Mrs. Mary J. Husar.

Mrs. Husar's counsel said the facts of the alleged bribery had been turned over to the Department of Justice for investigation.

The evidence was turned over to Mr. Husar by the American Consul at Shanghai, the complaint said, after the consulate had gone to considerable effort to collect it with the aid of the Secret Service and other Government agencies.

Later, the complaint alleged, Mr. Husar made arrangements to have the evidence destroyed for the consideration named and handed it over to "John Doe" through a "go-between."

CALIFORNIANS HONOR PIONEER MAIL CARRIER

Unveil Tablet to 'Snowshoe' Thompson, Who Took Place of Pony Express in Winter.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14 (AP).—"Snowshoe" Thompson, who for thirteen Winters carried on his back through the snowbound passes of the high Sierras the mail business of California to and from the East before the advent of the railroad, was honored today when a plaque in his memory was unveiled.

The tablet commemorating the deeds of the old resident of Hangtown, now Placerville, in maintaining the line of communication between the West and the East when huge snowdrifts closed the route of the Pony Express, was placed in Carthay Centre, a suburb, by the Native Sons of the Golden West. Los Angeles mail carriers attended to honor the first of their craft in California.

In 1856 Thompson went to the rescue of the struggling mining colonies, whose very existence depended upon their communication with the East. The Pony Express was making its last run of the year and the first rider was pressing his mount to the utmost to make the passes before the snow fell. But when he arrived in Hangtown the Sierras already were blanketed in white and he could go no further. The mails he carried toward the East were extremely important.

Thompson volunteered to close the gap to Carson City, Nev. The population of Hangtown thought him demented, but Thompson got out a pair of skis he had brought from his native Norway, slung the mail pouch over his shoulder, and started.

Hangtown gamblers offered long odds that he would never return, but there were no takers, and Thompson was back in a week.

Once a month, thereafter, through every Winter for thirteen years and until the last spike was driven in the Overland Railroad, he carried the pouches to and from Carson City. He made the Eastern trip in three days, returning in two.

Will Honor Rev. J. J. Wynne, S. J.

The Xavier Alumni Sodality of the College of St. Francis Xavier, West Sixteenth Street, will celebrate the golden sacerdotal jubilee of its former Moderator, the Rev. John J. Wynne, S. J., by an "Academy" at the Hotel Biltmore on Dec. 12. The Rev. Father Wynne conceived the idea of the Catholic Encyclopedia. He was ordained a Jesuit priest in 1876. Cardinal Hayes will preside over the "Academy."

UNVEILS SHANKLIN WINDOW.

Wesleyan University Honors Its Former President.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Wesleyan's week-end celebration was brought to a close with a service in Memorial Chapel today, at which was unveiled a memorial window to Dr. William Arnold Shanklin, President of Wesleyan from 1909 to 1923 and President Emeritus until his death in 1924.

Dr. Abram W. Harris, Wesleyan, '80, formerly President of Northwestern University, directed the ceremony.

The window was the gift of the classes from 1910 to 1924. The money was collected by Arthur T. Vanderbilt of Newark, N. J., an undergraduate in Dr. Shanklin's day.

The fraternities held their initiation banquets last night with many alumnae present. Chi Psi, which is remodeling its lodge at a cost of $75,000, held its banquet in the partially completed dining hall in the new lodge.

On Friday night an all-Wesleyan meeting was held in the gymnasium. Professor Charles R. Hoover spoke for the Faculty, and K. A. Sanderson of Swampscott, Mass., and W. E. Petigrue of Tenafly, N. J., for the alumnae.

TELLS OF RUSSIAN RELIEF.

Haskell Describes the Terror and Squalor After the Revolution.

Major Gen. William N. Haskell of the New York Guard, who directed the American Relief Administration in Russia from 1921 to 1923, discussed that work yesterday afternoon at the Carroll Club, 120 Madison Avenue.

Aside from the practical effect of this aid by America, he said, he believed the psychological results from it later throughout Russia were what turned that first chaos of Government into a saner political and economic effort.

When the leaders of the American Relief Administration got to Moscow they found appalling conditions, he declares, people lived as in a vast insane asylum, material things were destroyed and no attempts made for orderly existence. Homes of the refugees had been seized and hordes of people installed therein, who cut away costly carvings, doors and valuable woodwork for stove fuel.

General Haskell got an organization of 125,000 Russian employes to assist in relief work, crippled railways were made to move and distribution of food went to the 25,000,000 persons affected directly by the famine.

Companions in the Alert Homes

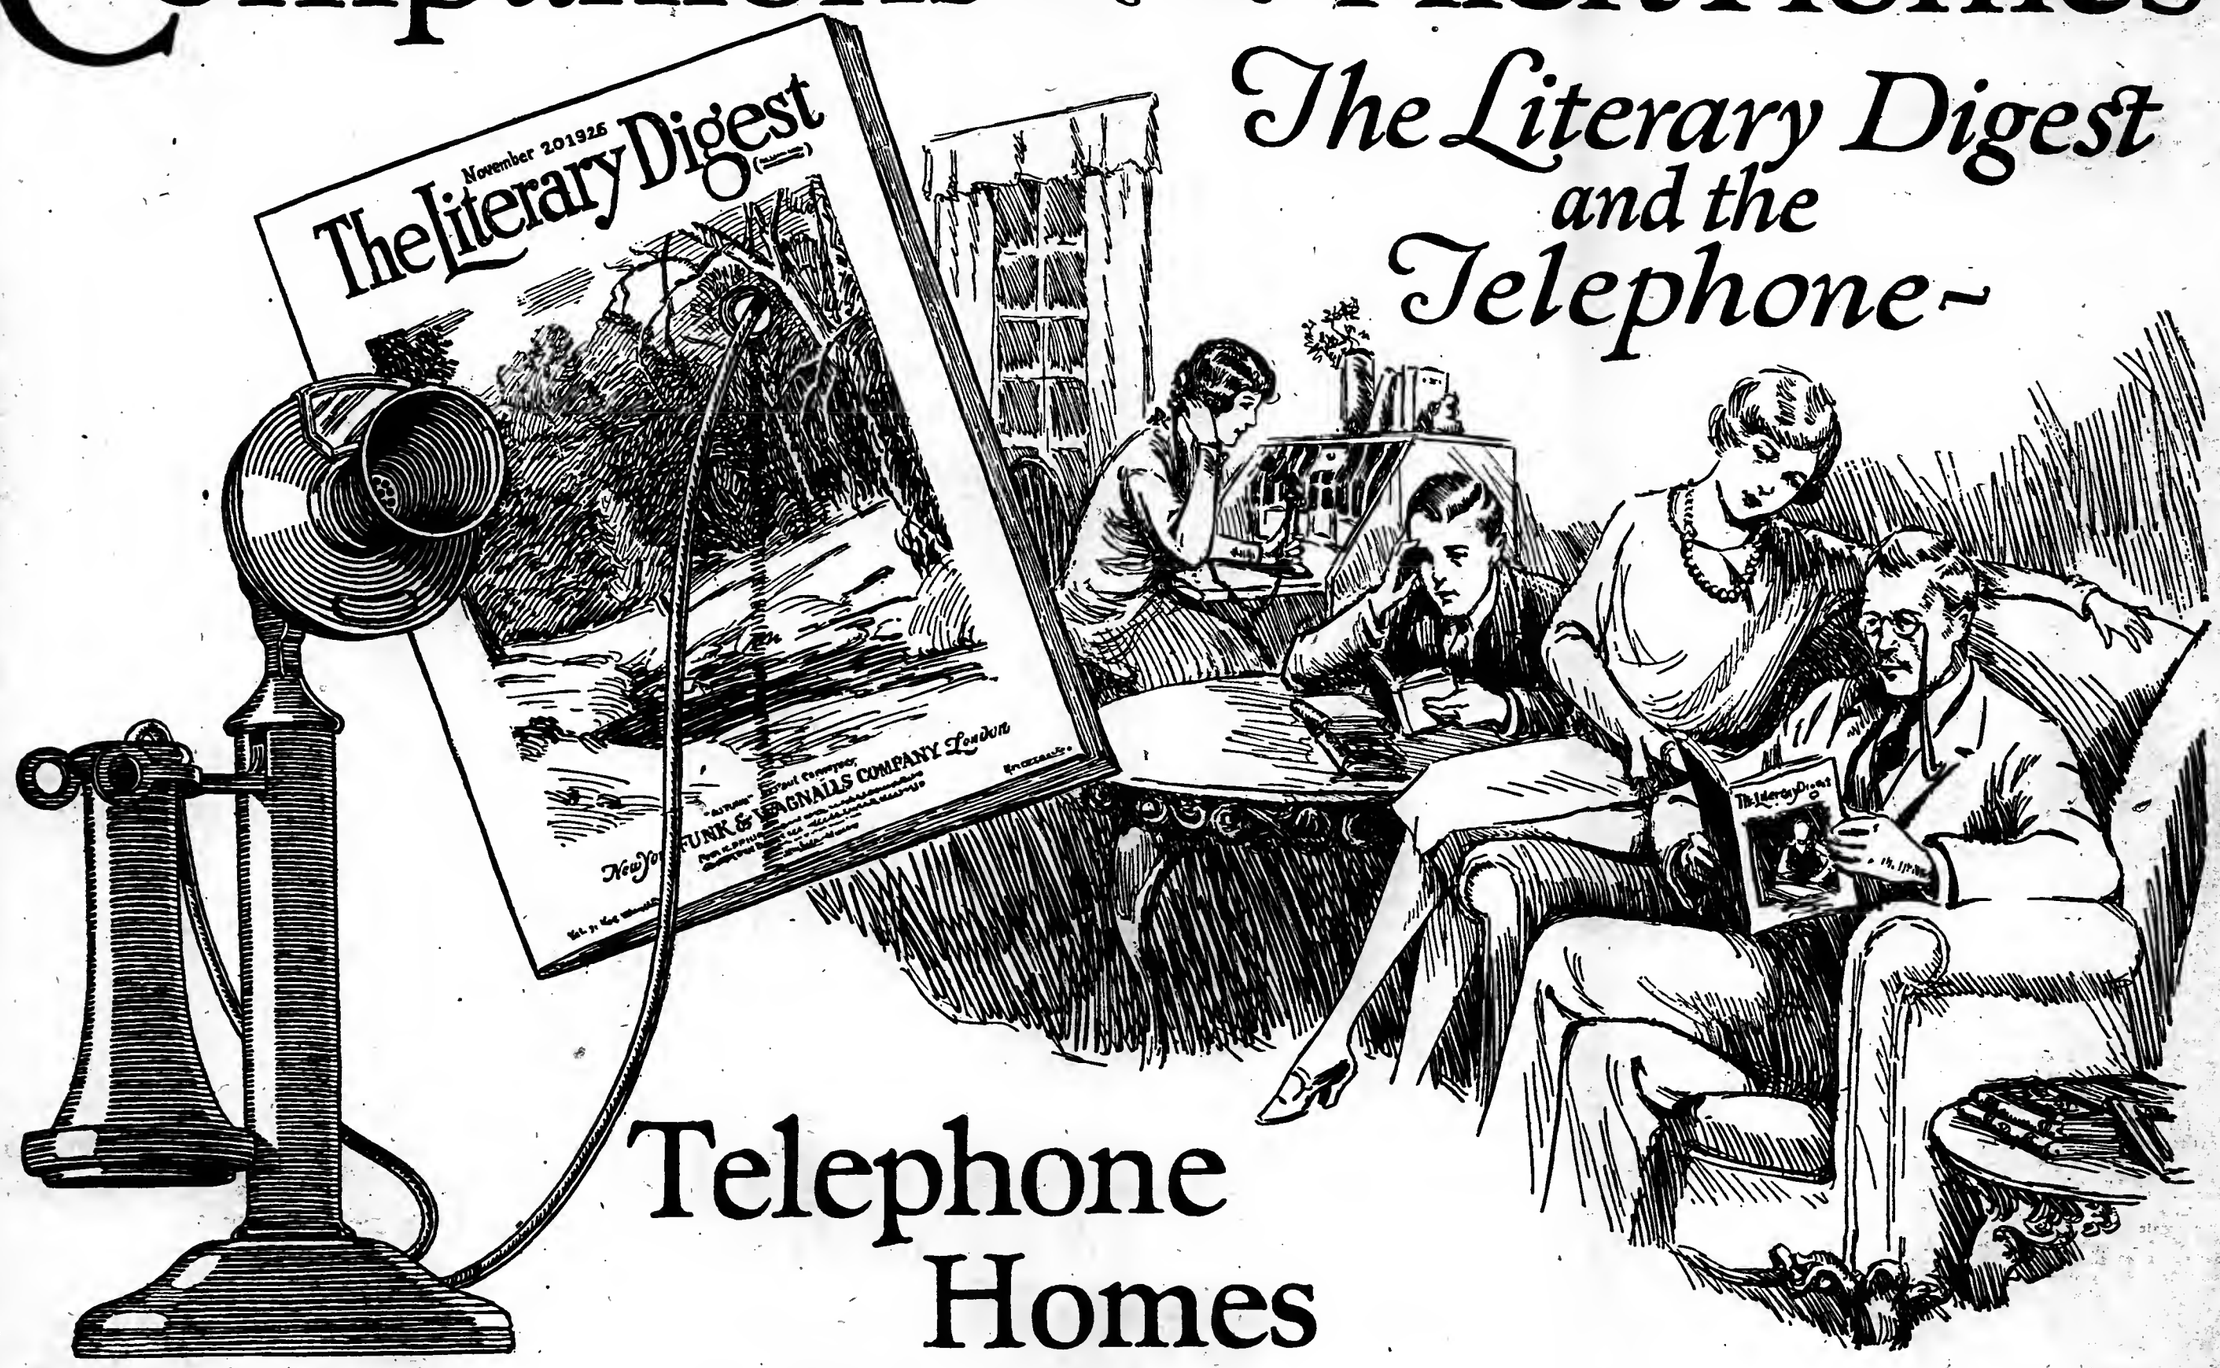
The Literary Digest and the Telephone—



Telephone Homes Buy Two-Thirds of the Advertised Goods

TO advertisers, to distributors, and to everyone engaged in selling advertised articles, including the man at the retail counter, the telephone home is different from all other homes. It is a home that demands the comforts and conveniences of life, that can afford more than the bare necessities, that is keenly alive to progress and to new ideas.

These telephone homes—a little more than a third of all the American homes—actually buy two-thirds of the advertised goods. It is a simple fact—but one of immense importance to advertisers and sales executives—that the Literary Digest has more telephone subscribers among its regular readers than any other great magazine in the country!

In gaining acceptance for a product and maintaining steady sales, the Digest telephone homes are the most important in the country to an advertiser. Their continued patronage is the best business insurance you can have. The more intelligent the buyers, the more loyal—because they are not only loyal to a product but to their own judgment as well. They lead—others follow.

A Million Telephone Homes in the Digest Circulation of 1,400,000

THERE are two reasons for the Digest's enormous circulation in alert telephone homes. Both are of equal importance to advertisers.

First; the character of the Digest itself, which draws to it only persons who take an active interest in world affairs. From the intrigues of diplomacy to the news of the sporting world, through every activity in science, exploration, art, religion, humor and politics the Digest reports the intelligent opinion of the world press, opinion on both sides, gathered from more than 5,000 newspapers and periodicals.

Second; we have used only advertising to obtain new readers. We employ no canvassers. Our readers would not be readers to-day if they had not proved their responsiveness to printed advertising by responding to our own advertising matter. Thus the Digest readers are the tested best from the telephone homes—those whose alertness to new suggestions has been established. The advertiser who speaks to them through the pages of the Digest is gaining and maintaining for his product the acceptance and the good will of the most alert section of the telephone market.

TURKEYS PLENTIFUL FOR THANKSGIVING

TEXAS TO BE BIG SHIPPER

Birds Will Begin to Arrive Next Week—Likely to Cost Around 40c. a Pound in the City.

Turkeys not only will be plentiful and reasonable in price this year but the quality will be above normal, it was declared yesterday by George F. Hinrichs, President of the George F. Hinrichs Company, Inc., one of the largest wholesale receivers of Turkeys in the East.

After sorting piles of telegrams that covered nearly every poultry-producing States, Mr. Hinrichs gave the following summary of the Thanksgiving turkey market:

"Texas reports a considerably increased movement, with every indication of liberal to heavy express shipments.

"Oklahoma reports the same condition.

"The movement from the Northwest States, such as Utah, Idaho and Colorado, report a fairly free movement, with the probabilities of having quite liberal express shipments.
